LXXIX. Any goods warehoused at any port in India may be removed by sea or by inland carriage to any other Indian Port in which the like kind of goods may be warehoused on importation, under the provision of this or any other law relating to the customs, to be re-warehoused at such other port; and may again be removed as often as may be required to any other such port to be there re-warehoused; or may be removed, with the permission of the proper Officers of Customs, from any warehouse in any port to any other warehouse in the same port, under such Regulations and with such security as the Board of Revenue or other Chief Customs Authority may direct, on the delivery to the proper officer, by the person requiring such removal of a request note, stating the particulars of the goods required to be removed, the name of the port or of the warehouse, if in the same port, to which the same are intended to be removed, and such other information, in such manner and form, as the Board of Revenue or the proper Officer may direct or require.

Officers at port of removal to transmit account of goods to Officers at port of destination.

LXXX. On the delivery of any goods for removal, an account containing the particulars thereof shall be transmitted by the proper Officers of the port of removal to the proper Officers of the port or place of destination, and the persons requiring the removal thereof shall enter into bond, with one sufficient surety, in a sum equal at least to the duty chargeable on such goods, for the due arrival and warehousing thereof at the port or place of destination within such time as the Board of Revenue or other Chief Customs Authority may direct, such bond to be taken by the Collector or other proper Officer, either of the port or place of removal, or the port or place of destination, as shall best suit the residence or convenience of the parties interested in such removal, and if such bond shall have been given at the intended port or place of destination, a certificate thereof, under the hand of the Collector or other proper Officer of such port, shall, at the time of the entering of such goods, be produced to the Collector or other proper Officer of the port of removal, and such bond shall not be discharged, unless such goods shall have been produced to the proper Officer and duly re warehoused at the port of destination within the time allowed for such removal; or shall have been otherwise accounted for to the satisfaction of the Collector of Customs, nor until the full Duties due upon any deficiency of such goods not so accounted for shall have been paid; but any remover may enter into a general bond, with such sureties, in such amount, and under such conditions as the Board of Revenue or other Chief Customs Authority may approve, for the removal, from time to time, of any goods from one warehouse to another, either in the same or different ports, and for the due arrival and re-warehousing of the same at the place of destination, within such time or times as the said Board or other authority may direct.

Goods on arrival at port of destination to be subject to same regulations as goods on first importation.

LXXXI. Upon the arrival of such goods at the port or place of destination, they shall be entered and warehoused in the same manner and under the same Laws, Rules, and Regulations, in so far as the same can be made applicable, as are required on the entry and warehousing of goods on the first importation thereof.

Goods brought into one Indian Port, but intended for another Indian Port, may be transhipped without payment of Duty, on security being given.

LXXXII. When any goods are brought in any ship into any Indian Port, and application is made to tranship such goods to another ship for removal to some other port in British India, such transhipment shall be allowed without the payment of Duty at the port of transhipment, provided that the person requiring such transhipment shall enter into a bond, with such security as may be required of him, in a sum equal to the Duty chargeable on such goods, for the due arrival and entry thereof at the port or place of destination within such time as the Collector of Customs may direct; and such goods shall thereupon be treated and considered in every particular as warehoused goods, removed under the provisions of Section LXXIX of this Act. Provided that an Officer of Customs shall in all cases be deputed to superintend the removal of such goods from vessel to vessel.

On arrival of goods at port of destination, they may, after formal re-warehousing, be entered for exportation or home use on payment of Duties.

LXXXIII. If, upon the arrival of goods so removed as aforesaid at the port of destination, the parties shall be desirous forthwith to export the same, or to pay Duty thereon for home use, without actually lodging the same in the warehouse for which they have been entered and examined to be warehoused, the Officers of Customs at such port may, after all the formalities of entering and examining such goods for re-warehousing have been duly performed, permit the same to be entered and shipped for exportation, or to be entered and delivered for home use, upon payment of the Duties due thereon, as if such goods had been actually lodged in such warehouse, and all goods so exported, or for which the Duties have been so paid, shall be deemed to have been duly cleared from the warehouse.

Goods in warehouse may be sorted, repacked, &c.

LXXXIV. With the sanction of the Collector of Customs, and after such notice given by the respective importers or proprietors, and at such times and under such regulations and restrictions as the Board of Revenue or other Chief Customs authority shall, from time to time, require and direct, it shall be lawful in the warehouse to sort, separate, pack, and repack any goods, and to make such alterations therein as may be necessary for the preservation, sale, shipment, or disposal thereof (such goods to be repacked in the packages in which they were imported, or in such other packages as the Collector shall permit); and also to fill up any casks of wine or spirits from any casks of the same respectively secured in the same warehouse; and also to mix any wines of the same sort, erasing from the cask all import brands, unless the whole of the wine so mixed be of the same brand; and also to take such samples of goods as may be allowed by the Collector of Customs, with or without entry, and with or without payment of Duty, except as the same may eventually become payable on a deficiency of the original quantity; and after such goods have been so separated and repacked in proper or approved packages, the Collector of Customs may, at the request of the importer or proprietor of such goods, cause or permit any refuse, damaged, or surplus goods occasioned by such separation or repacking (or, at the like request, any goods which may not be worth the Duty) to be destroyed, and may remit the Duty payable thereon.

If goods be damaged by fire, &c., the importer not entitled to compensation.

LXXXV. The owners and consignees of goods shall not be entitled to claim from the Collector of Customs or warehouse-keeper, any compensation for any loss or injury that may occur to such goods while they are being passed into or out of a warehouse, or while they remain therein, unless such loss or injury shall be proved to have been occasioned by the wilful act or neglect of the warehouse-keeper or the Officers of the Customs.

Customs Authorities may remit Duties on warehoused goods lost or destroyed, and if goods are damaged, Duty to be levied on actual value.

LXXXVI. If any goods warehoused, or entered to be warehoused, or entered to be delivered from the warehouse, shall be lost or destroyed by unavoidable accident, either on ship-board, or in landing, or in receiving into the warehouse, or in the warehouse, the Board of Revenue or other Chief Customs Authority may remit or return the Duties due thereon. Provided that, if any goods be destroyed in a private warehouse, notice thereof be given to the Collector of Customs within forty-eight hours of the discovery of the accident, and if goods, when lodged in a warehouse, shall receive damage through unavoidable accident, they shall be assessed for Duty according to their actual value, and bond for the same shall be executed for the unexpired term of warehousing.

Permission for entry outwards to be obtained before export cargo is put on board.

LXXXVII. No vessel shall be entitled to entry outwards, or to take on board any part of her export cargo, until a written application for such purpose shall have been made by the Master of such vessel, or by his authorized agent, to the Collector of Customs, nor until an order shall have been given by the said Collector for shipping export cargo, and in the written application to be made as aforesaid, the name, tonnage, and nation of the vessel shall be described, as also the name of the Master, and the name or names of the place or places for which she is bound, and if any goods be taken on board any ship at any port before she shall have been entered outwards at such port, the Master shall forfeit the sum of 1,000 Rupees.

Goods not to be shipped except on proper days and places, nor until entry and clearance.

LXXXVIII. No goods shall be shipped, put off, or water-borne to be shipped for exportation from any port or place in British India, except on days not being Sundays or other holidays, or days on which the lading of cargo may be prohibited by the Chief Customs Authorities; nor from any place, except some wharf or other place duly appointed for such purpose; nor without the presence or authority of the proper Officer of Customs; nor before the due entry outwards of such ship, and due entry of such goods; nor before such goods shall have been duly cleared for shipment. And it shall be lawful for the Custom House Officers to open all packages, and fully to examine all goods shipped or brought for shipment at any place in British India; and all goods shipped or attempted to be shipped contrary hereto shall be liable to confiscation, together with the boat, lighter or craft in which they are water-borne for shipment.

On entry outwards bond for the shipping and landing shall be given.

LXXXIX. Before any warehoused goods, goods subject to Duties of excise, or entitled to any drawback of customs on exportation, or exportable only under particular Rules, Regulations or restrictions, shall be permitted to be exported, the exporter or his agent shall, if required so to do, deliver to the Collector a bond-note or account of such goods, and give security by bond in double the amount of Duty payable by law upon the importation of such goods, with one sufficient surety, that such goods shall be duly shipped and exported, and shall be landed at the place for which they are duly entered outwards, or otherwise accounted for, to the satisfaction of the Collector of Customs; and such bond-note, when certified by the proper Officer, shall be the export entry for such goods.

Exporter to deliver shipping bill before shipping any goods.

XC. Before any goods shall be shipped, or water-borne to be shipped, for exportation, the exporter or his agent shall deliver to the Collector of Customs or other proper Officer a shipping-bill of such goods in the following form, or according to such form as may, from time to time, be prescribed by the Board of Revenue or Chief Customs Authority, and containing the particulars indicated therein as required thereby:—

Shipping Bill.

1. Warehouse or drawback goods.
2. Foreign goods not for drawback.

Exporter or Agent.

Dated day of Collector.

No vessel to depart without a port clearance.

XCI. No vessel shall depart from any port of British India without a port clearance being granted by the Collector of Customs or other Officer duly authorised to grant the same. Applications for port clearance shall be made at least twenty-four hours before the intended departure of the vessel; and if any vessel shall depart or attempt to depart without a port clearance the master shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding 1,000 Rupees, which may be recovered from the master or any owner of the vessel.

The master of a vessel, on applying for port clearance, to deliver a manifest and certificates.

XCII. The master of every vessel intending to leave any port of British India shall, at the time of applying for port clearance, deliver to the Collector of Customs or other duly authorized Officer, a manifest, in duplicate, according to such form as may, from time to time, be prescribed by the Customs Authorities, containing a full and true specification of all goods to be exported in the vessel, and shall also deliver to the Collector of Customs or other duly authorised Officer, such certificates as the Collector of Customs, acting under the general instructions of the Local Government, may demand or require. And the Collector of Customs, or other duly authorised Officer, on being satisfied with the said certificates, and with the correctness of the manifest, shall grant a port clearance to the master, returning at the same time to the master one copy of the manifest duly countersigned by the proper Officer of the Customs.

XCIII. The Collector of Customs shall be competent to refuse port clearance until the required manifest and certificates are produced, and until port dues and all other charges or penalties, due either by the ship or the master thereof, are duly paid.

Port clearance not to be granted until all documents are delivered and charges paid.

XCIV. If any goods liable to any Duty on importation, or taken from the warehouse to be exported, or entitled to drawback on exportation, which are enumerated in the manifest of any ship, shall not be duly shipped before the departure of such ship, or shall not be duly certified by the proper Officer as short-shipped, such goods shall be liable to be forfeited; or if any goods shall be taken on board such ship, not being enumerated in such manifest, the master of such ship shall forfeit the sum of 50 Rupees in respect of every package of such goods; and if any goods duly shipped on board such ship shall be landed at any other place than that for which they shall have been cleared, unless otherwise accounted for to the satisfaction of the Collector of Customs, the master of such ship shall forfeit a sum equal to treble the value of such goods so landed.

Goods on board to correspond with the manifest.

XCV. If any goods shall be shipped, put off, or water-borne to be shipped without being duly cleared, or otherwise contrary to the provisions of this Act, the same shall be forfeited.

Goods shipped contrary to the provisions of this Act to be forfeited.

XCVI. Upon any goods liable to duty that may be passed through the Custom House for shipment, the application for which shall be presented after port clearance shall have been granted, double of the prescribed Duty shall, in all cases, be levied; and if the goods be free or have already paid import Duty, or have been imported free under certificate, 5 per cent upon the market value shall be levied thereon; or if the same be imported goods entitled to drawback, the drawback shall be forfeited; but no separate duty shall be levied on drawback goods. Provided, however, nothing in this Section shall be deemed to apply to shipments of treasure or of opium.

Goods passed for shipment after port clearance has been granted how to be treated.

XCVII. Upon an application being made, the duty levied upon goods not shipped or upon goods shipped and afterwards re-landed may be returned to the exporter; but no such refund shall be made, unless such application shall have been made before port clearance is granted to the vessel on which the goods were intended to be shipped, or from which they were re-landed.

Duty on goods not shipped or re-landed may be returned, if application be made before port clearance.

XCVIII. When a vessel having cleared out from any port shall put back from stress of weather, or it shall, on account of any damage or from other cause, be necessary that the cargo of a vessel that has cleared out shall be unshipped or re-landed, a Customs Officer shall be sent to watch the vessel and take charge of the cargo during such re-landing or removal from on board; and the goods on board such vessel shall not be allowed to be transhipped or re-exported free of duty, by reason of the previous settlement of duty at the time of first export, unless the goods shall be lodged in such place as shall be allowed by the Collector of Customs, and shall remain, while on land, or while on board of any other vessel, under special charge of the Officers of Customs, until the time of re-export; and all charges attending such custody shall be borne by the exporter. Provided that, in all cases of return to port, after port clearance, on account of damage or from stress of weather, it shall be lawful for the owner or for the master, to enter the vessel and land the cargo under the rules for the importation of goods; and the export duty shall, in that case, be refunded; and the amount paid in drawback be reclaimed; and if goods on account of which drawback has been paid be not found on board the vessel, the master shall be liable to a fine not exceeding the entire value thereof, unless he account for them to the satisfaction of the Collector of Customs.

Goods re-landed from a vessel put back from stress of weather, how to be disposed of.

XCIX Before any ship shall depart in ballast from British India for any port beyond the seas, not having any goods on board, except stores, the Collector shall clear such ship in ballast by notifying such clearance and the date thereof, in a blank form; and shall deliver the same to the master of such ship; and the master of such ship shall answer to the Collector such questions touching her departure and destination, as shall be demanded of him; and ships having only passengers with their baggage on board, shall be deemed to be in ballast; and if any such ship, whether laden or in ballast, shall depart without being so cleared, the master shall forfeit and pay the sum of 1,000 Rupees.

Vessels departing in ballast to take out port clearance.

C. The time at which any goods shall be shipped on board any export ship shall be deemed to be the time of exportation of such goods; and the time of the last clearance of any ship shall be deemed to be the time of departure of such ship.

Time of exportation and departure defined.

CI. Upon the re-export, by sea, of any goods, except salt and opium, imported from ports beyond British India, or from ports beyond the sea, upon which the duties of customs have been paid on importation, or for the payment of the import duties on which a bond shall have been given, there shall be retained one-eighth or such other portion as from time to time may be directed by the Governor-General of India in Council, of the amount of the import duty levied, and the remainder may be repaid as drawback; provided that the goods shall be identified to the satisfaction of the Collector of Customs, and that the re-export shall be made within two years from the date of import, as shown by the Custom House Register, or within such extended term as the Board of Revenue or other chief customs authority, on sufficient cause for such extension being shown, shall in any case determine.

Drawback of customs allowed on the re-export of certain goods under certain conditions.

CII. No drawback shall be allowed upon the exportation of any goods entered for drawback, which shall be of less value than the amount of the drawback claimed; and all such goods so entered shall be forfeited.

Goods not entitled to drawback if of less value than the amount of drawback claimed.

CIII. No payment of drawback shall be made upon any goods re-exported from any port in India, unless the claim to receive such drawback shall be made and established at the time of re-export, nor unless the amount due thereon be demanded within one year from the date of entry for shipment in the Custom House Registers.

No drawback to be allowed, unless claim is made at the time of re-export, and the amount demanded within one year.

CIV. No drawback shall be allowed upon goods not included in the export manifest, nor upon articles shipped as stores, neither shall drawback be allowed upon goods shipped in native coasting craft not navigated by European Pilots, and not having a Custom House Officer on board. Provided that nothing herein contained shall be deemed to apply to goods duly manifested and exported in native craft, other than native coasting craft, under such rules and restrictions as the Local Government may, from time to time, impose.

No drawback to be allowed on goods not entered in ships manifest, or on goods shipped on native coasting craft.

CV. No drawback shall be allowed upon goods re-exported back from one Indian Port to another; but such drawback may be allowed upon goods which, after having been charged with duty at one Indian Port are thence re-exported to another Indian Port, and are thence again exported out of India. Provided that the identification of such goods shall be effected to the satisfaction of the Collector of Customs.

No drawback allowed on the export of goods from one Indian port to another in the same Presidency, but if thence again exported out of India, drawback may be allowed.

CVI. Any person claiming drawback on any goods duly exported, or his agent duly authorised by him for that purpose, shall make and subscribe a declaration, that the goods mentioned therein have been actually exported, and have not been re-landed, and are not intended to be re-landed in any port of India; and that such person at the time of entry and shipping was and continued to be entitled to the drawback thereon.

Declaration to be made by parties claiming drawback.

CVII. If any goods which have been cleared to be exported for any drawback, shall not be duly exported to ports beyond the seas, or shall be unshipped or re-landed in any port of British India, (such goods not having been duly re-landed or discharged as short-shipped under the care of the proper Officers,) the same shall be forfeited, together with any ship, boat, or craft which may have been used in so un-shipping, re-landing, landing, or carrying such goods from the ship in which the same were shipped for exportation; and the master of such ship, and the person by whom, or by whose orders or means such goods shall have been so un-shipped, re-landed, landed, or carried, or who shall aid, assist, or be concerned therein, shall forfeit a sum equal to treble the value of such goods, or a penalty of 1,000 Rupees, at the election of the Board of Revenue or other Chief Customs Authority.

Drawback goods, if not exported, or if re-landed, to be forfeited.

CVIII. No payment of drawback shall be made until the ship carrying the goods, in connection with which the claim is made, shall have put out to sea.

Drawback not to be paid until the exporting ship has put out to sea.

CIX. A drawback of the whole of the duties of customs shall be allowed for wine intended for the consumption of Officers of HerMajesty's Navy, on board such of Her Majesty's Ships, in actual service, as they shall serve in, not exceeding the quantities of wine in any one year for the use of such Officers hereinafter respectively mentioned; that is to say—

Drawback of duties on wine allowed for Officers of the Navy.

	Gallons.
For every Admiral	1,260
Vice Admiral	1,050
Rear Admiral	840
Captain of the 1st and 2nd rate	630
Captain of 3rd, 4th, and 5th rate	420
Captain of an inferior rate	210
Lieutenant and other Commanding Officers, and for Marine Officer, Master, Purser, Surgeon	105

unless such wine be taken from the warehouse, without payment of duty, under such regulations as the Board of Revenue or other Chief Customs Authority may direct. Provisions and stores for the use of Her Majesty's Navy shall, in like manner, be passed free of duty, and where duties shall have been paid on such provisions and stores, drawback in full of all such Duties, whether of Customs or Excise, shall be allowed on the production of a certificate from the Officer commanding the ship for which they are intended, or from some other Officer duly authorized to grant the same.

CX. The person entering wine as provided in the last preceding section, and claiming the draw back for the same, shall state in the entry, the name of the Officer for whose use such wine is intended, and of the ship in which he serves; and such wine shall be delivered into the charge of the Officers of Customs at the port of shipment, to be shipped under their care; and when the Commanding Officer for the time being of such ship shall have certified the receipt of such wine into his charge, and the proper Officer of the Customs shall have certified the shipment, the drawback shall be computed and passed, and delivered to the person entitled to receive the same.

Persons entering such wine for drawback to declare the name and rank of Officer claiming the same.

CXI. The Officers of Customs may permit the transfer of any such wine from one Officer to another as part of his proportion, whether on board the same ship or another, or the transhipment from one ship to another, for the same Officer, or the re-landing and warehousing for future re—shipment; and the Officer of Customs at any port may receive back the duties for any of such wine, and deliver the same for home use; but if any such wine be not laden on board the ship for which the same was intended, or be unladen from such ship without permission of the proper Officer of Customs, the same shall be forfeited.

If the wine be not laden on board, or be unladen without permission, it shall be forfeited.

CXII. All trade by sea from one port of British India to any other port thereof, except the port of Aden and the Settlement of Prince of Wales' Island, Singapore, and Malacca, shall be deemed to be a coasting trade, and all ships while employed therein shall be deemed to be coasting ships; and no port of British India, with the exception of the Settlement of Prince of Wales' Island, Singapore, and Malacca, and the Port of Aden, shall be deemed, for the purposes of this Act, to be ports beyond the seas; and if any doubt shall at any time arise as to what shall be deemed a passage by sea, the Local Government, subject to the orders of the Governor-General of India in Council, may determine and direct in what cases the trade by water from one port or place in British India to another port or place of the same, shall or shall not be deemed a trade by sea, within the meaning of this or any other Act relating to the Customs. Provided that any ship or craft trading between British Ports, and calling at any intermediate port not subject to the Government of India, shall not be considered as a ship engaged in the coasting trade, within the meaning of this or any other Act relating to the customs.

Vessels proceeding from port to port in British India excepting free ports, to be considered as coasting vessels except when they may touch at ports not subject to the Government of India.

CXIII. No duties of customs shall be charged on any goods lawfully carried from any port in British India to any other port in British India. Provided that nothing contained in this Section shall apply to ports in the Settlement of Prince of Wales' Island, Singapore, and Malacca, or to the port of Aden, which, for the purposes of this Act, shall be treated as foreign ports; and that nothing contained in this Section shall apply to opium, salt, or spirits, or to goods imported from a foreign port, into any Indian Ports, and there transhipped for, or carried thence in the same ship to, any other Indian Port, without payment of duty; or to goods removed in bond.

No duties under certain exceptions to be charged on goods carried from port to port in British India.

CXIV. No goods shall be carried in any coasting ship except such as shall be laden to be so carried at some port or place in British India; and no goods shall be laden on board any ship to be carried coastwise until all goods brought in such ship from foreign ports, or ports beyond the seas, shall have been unladen; and if any goods shall be taken into, or put out of, any coasting ship at sea, or over the sea, or if any coasting ship shall touch at any foreign or free port, or place over the sea, or deviate from her voyage, unless forced by unavoidable circumstances, or if the master of any coasting ship which shall have touched at any foreign or free port, or place over the sea, shall not declare the same in writing under his hand to the Collector at the port in British India, where such ship shall afterwards first arrive, the master of such ship shall forfeit the sum of 1,000 Rupees and shall further be liable to pay treble duty upon all goods landed at or exported from such foreign or free port, or place beyond the sea.

Coasting vessels confined to coasting voyages.

CXV. If any goods, unless with the written consent of the Collector of Customs, shall be unshipped from any ship arriving coastwise, or be shipped, or waterborne to be shipped to be carried coastwise, on Sundays or holidays, or unless in the presence or with the authority of the proper Officer of Customs, or unless at such times and places as shall be appointed or approved by such Officer for that purpose, the same shall be forfeited, and the master of the ship shall forfeit the sum of Rupees 500.

Times and places for landing and shipping of goods.

CXVI. The master of every coasting ship shall, if required by the Customs Authorities, keep or cause to be kept a cargo book, stating the names of the ship, the master and the port to which she belongs, and of the port to which she is bound on each voyage, and shall at every port of lading enter in such book the name of such port, and an account of all goods there taken on board such ship, stating the descriptions of the packages, and the quantities and descriptions of the goods therein, and the quantities and descriptions of any goods stowed loose, and the names of the respective shippers and consignees, so far as such particulars are known to him; and shall at every port of discharge of such goods note the respective days on which the same or any of them are delivered out of such ship, and the respective times of departure from any port of lading, and of arrival at every port of discharge; and such master shall, on demand, produce such book for the inspection of any Officer of Customs who shall be at liberty to make any note or remark therein, and if upon examination, any package entered in the cargo book as containing foreign goods, shall be found not to contain such goods, such package, with its contents, shall be forfeited; or if any package shall be found to contain foreign goods not entered in such book, such goods shall be forfeited; and if such master shall fail correctly to keep such cargo book or to produce the same, or if at any time there be found on board such ship any goods not entered in such book as laden, or any goods noted as delivered, or if any goods entered as laden, or any goods not noted as delivered, be not on board, the master of such ship shall forfeit the sum of Rupees 200.

Master of coasting vessel to keep a cargo book.

CXVII. Before any coasting ship shall depart from the port of lading, an account, with a duplicate thereof, in the form or to the effect following, or according to such form as may from time to time be prescribed by the Board of Revenue or other Chief Customs Authority, and signed by the master, shall be delivered to the Collector or other Officer in charge of the Custom House, and the Collector or such other Officer shall retain the duplicate and return the original account dated and signed by him, and such account shall be the clearance of the ship for the voyage, and the pass for the goods expressed therein; and if any such account be false the master shall forfeit the sum of 200 Rupees.

Coasting vessels to deliver in manifest of export cargo and obtain port clearance before leaving the original port of lading.

CXVIII. The Collector of Customs may, on good and sufficient reason, refuse port clearance to any vessel described to be bound to any port or ports in British India, until the owner, agent, or master shall have given a bond with sufficient security by which such parties or their agents shall be bound to produce to the Collector of Customs a certificate from the Officer in charge of the port to which such vessel is said to be bound, of her arrival at such port, within a fair and reasonable time to be prescribed by the Collector in each case, and on failure of producing such certificate, or showing sufficient reason for its non-production, the parties to the bond aforesaid shall be bound to pay a penal sum equal to double the amount of customs which would have been chargeable on the export cargo of the said vessel had she been declared bound to a foreign port.

The Collector of Customs may require a bond from the owner, agent, or master before port clearance is granted.

CXIX. The Board of Revenue or other Controlling Authority may, whenever it shall appear to them expedient, permit a general pass to be given under such regulations as they may direct for the lading and clearance and for the entry and unlading of any coasting ship, either at the ports of despatch or destination, or at any intermediate ports at which she may touch for the purpose of receiving goods and passengers, and the same may be revoked by notice, in writing, under the hand of the proper Officer, delivered to the master or owner of any ship, or to any of the crew on board.

The Customs Authorities may make rules in respect to the discharge and taking in of cargo at intermediate ports by coasting vessel without compelling the vessels to regularly enter and obtain port clearance at such intermediate ports.

CXX. Within twenty-four hours after the arrival of any coasting ship at the port of discharge, and before any goods be unladen, the pass, with the name of the place or wharf where the lading is to be discharged noted thereon, shall be delivered to the Collector, who shall note thereon the date of delivery, and if any of the goods on board such ship be subject to any duty of excise, the same shall not be unladen without the authority or permission of the proper Officer of Excise; and if any goods shall be laden on board any ship in any port or place in British India, and carried coastwise, or having been brought coastwise, shall be unladen in any such port or place contrary to this or any other Act relating to the customs, such goods shall be forfeited.

Masters of coasting vessels to report arrival and produce other papers within 24 hours after arrival at the port of discharge.

CXXI. Any Officers of the Customs may go on board any coasting ship in any port or place in British India, or at any period of her voyage, search such ship, and examine all goods on board and all goods then lading or unlading, and demand all documents which ought to be on board such ship, and the Collector may require that all or any such documents shall be brought to him for inspection, and the master of any ship refusing to produce such documents on demand, or to bring the same to the Collector when required, shall forfeit and pay the sum of Rupees 200.

Customs Officers may go on board and examine any coasting ship.

CXXII. A drawback of duty of excise paid on spirits manufactured in the country after the English method, and exported by sea in the manner hereinafter prescribed, to any port not subject to the Government of India, or to any free port, may be allowed by the Collector of Customs at the port of exportation: Provided always that the exportation shall be made within one year from the date of the payment of such duty, and that the spirits, when brought to the Custom House, shall be accompanied by the pass in which such payment is certified.

Drawback of excise duty on country spirits manufactured after the English method.

CXXIII. Spirits may be removed from any licensed distillery for exportation, without payment of duty under such rules and restrictions as may be from time to time prescribed by the Board of Revenue or other Controlling Authority, on the person removing them executing a bond with one or more sureties to the Government according to form "F." hereunto annexed, or such other form as may from time to time be directed by the Controlling Authority for the payment of the prescribed duty upon such portion of the said spirits as may not be exported within four months from the date of the bond, or upon such portion as may be exported to any other port within British India, not being a free port, proof of the landing whereof and of the payment of the duty chargeable whereon at the port of import shall not be furnished to the satisfaction of the Board of Revenue or other Controlling Authority within six months from the date of such bond: Provided that it shall be lawful for the Collector, with the sanction of the Board of Revenue or other Controlling Authority, on sufficient cause shewn, to extend the period allowed for the exportation of the spirits, or as the case may be, for the production of such proof as aforesaid for a further term of four months.

Removal of spirits from distillery under bond without payment of duty.

CXXIV. Spirits brought to the Custom House for exportation by sea shall, previous to shipment, be gauged and proved by an Officer of Customs. The amount of drawback to be allowed upon spirits for which duty has been paid shall be regulated according to the strength and quantity of the said spirits as ascertained by such proof and guage, and the quantity of spirits for which credit is to be given in the settlement of any bond shall be determined in the same manner. Spirits under bond shall be taken from the distillery direct to the Custom House under passes to be granted for that purpose by the Officers of Excise.

Rules to be observed in the exportation of spirits.

Duty to be recovered on any deficiency in spirits under bond.

CXXV. When spirits are passed from a distillery under bond, duty shall be recoverable upon any difference between the quantity of spirits so passed from the distillery and the quantity ascertained by guage and proof at the Custom House, less such allowance for ullage and wastage as may be prescribed by the Board of Revenue or other Controlling Authority.

Spirits intended for exportation may be removed for local consumption.

CXXVI. Spirits brought to the Custom House under bond for exportation may nevertheless be removed for local consumption under passes to be granted for that purpose by the Collector of the Excise Revenue, upon payment of the prescribed duty; and credit for such payments shall be given on the settlement of the bond.

Spirits how to be shipped, and when shipped for exportation, not to be re-landed.

CXXVII. No drawback shall be allowed on any duty-paid spirits, nor shall the duty due on any spirits under bond be remitted, unless the spirits shall be shipped from the Custom House, and upon a vessel to which a Custom House Officer has been appointed to superintend the receipt of export cargo; and spirits shipped for exportation shall not be re-landed without a special pass from the Collector of Excise Revenue in addition to the usual order of the Collector of Customs.

No drawback allowed on spirits exported to Indian Ports but such spirits may be shipped under bond for eventual payment of duty at place of import

CXXVIII. No drawback shall be allowed on spirits exported to any port in British India not being a free port. But it shall be lawful to export or ship spirits to such ports under bond; and such bond shall be cancelled on the production, by the exporter or his agent, of a certificate from the Collector of Customs at the port of importation of the due arrival and entry at the said port of the full quantity of such spirits exported, less such allowance for ullage and wastage as may from time to time be prescribed by the Board of Revenue or other Controlling Authority.

Duties on spirits exported from any port in British Territories and imported at any other port within said Territories how to be adjusted.

CXXIX. Spirits manufactured within the British Territories in India, and exported from any port in those Territories, to any other port within the said Territories, shall be liable on such importation to such rate of duty as the Local Goverment may from time to time direct. Provided, however, that the rate of duty so fixed shall not exceed the rate of duty leviable on spirits imported from ports beyond the continent of India, and that if the said spirits be accompanied by a document signed by a competent authority, certifying that a duty, whether of customs or otherwise, has been paid on the said spirits within the British Territories in India, credit shall be allowed for the sum so paid in settling the customs at the port of import, and that if the sum formerly so paid equal or exceed the full amount leviable on import, then the spirits on which duty has been paid shall be admitted free of duty.

Rum shrub, &c., how to be charged with duty. May be exported under the same rules as spirits.

CXXX. Rum shrub, cordials, and other liquors prepared in a licensed distillery under supervision of the Surveyor or Officer in charge of the distillery, shall be charged with duty according to the quantity of spirit used in the preparation; and all the provisions contained in this Act respecting spirits manufactured after the English method, except such as relate to guage and proof, shall be applicable to such liquors. When any such liquors are removed for exportation, without payment of duty, the bonds to be executed by the persons removing them shall be in the form annexed marked "F.," or according to such other form as may from time to time be prescribed by the Board of Revenue or other Controlling Authority.

Penalty for irregularly re-landing spirituous liquors.

CXXXI. Every person who shall re-land, or attempt to re-land, any spirituous liquors shipped for exportation, without a special pass from the Collector of the Excise Revenue at the place of exportation, shall forfeit for every such offence a sum not exceeding 500 Rupees; and the liquors, together with the casks and vessels containing the same, and the carts, boats, and animals employed in carrying them, shall be liable to confiscation.

Commanders of tug steamers to be fined if they receive on board or discharge from their steamers any goods without due authority.

CXXXII. If any goods, wares, or merchandize be put on board of any tug steamer from any sea going vessel inward-bound, or if any goods be put out of any tug steamer for the purpose of being put on board of any outward bound vessel, or if any goods on which drawback of duty shall have been granted shall be put on board any tug steamer for the purpose of being re-landed without the order or authority of the Officers of Customs, the commander or person in charge of such tug steamer shall, in every such case of transhipment be liable to a penalty not exceeding 1,000 Rupees.

Commanders of vessels not bringing to at prescribed stations to be fined.

CXXXIII. If any ship departing from any port in British India shall not bring to at such Stations as shall be appointed by the Board of Revenue or other Chief Customs Authority, for the landing of Officers from such ship, or for further examination previous to such departure, the Master of such ship shall forfeit the sum of 200 Rupees.

Goods irregularly landed, and prohibited goods, liable to forfeiture.

CXXXIV. If any goods shall be landed or shipped without due authority from the proper Officers of Customs, or if any prohibited goods whatever shall be imported or brought into any port of British India, or if any goods whatever which shall have been warehoused or otherwise secured in British India, either for home consumption or exportation, shall be clandestinely or illegally removed from or out of any warehouse or place of security, or if any goods shall be brought for the purpose of being imported or exported at any place other than a port declared under Section VI of this Act, or if any goods which are prohibited to be exported shall be put on board any ship or boat with the intent to be laden or shipped for exportation, or shall be brought to any wharf or other place in British India in order to be put on board any ship or boat for the purpose of being exported, or if any goods which are prohibited to be exported or imported shall be found in any package produced to any Officer of Customs as containing goods not so prohibited, or if any goods subject to any duty or restriction in respect of importation or exportation, or which are prohibited to be imported into or exported from British India, shall be found to have been concealed in any manner on board any ship or boat within the limits of any port of British India, or shall be found, either before or after landing or shipment, to have been concealed in any manner on board any such ship or boat within such limit as aforesaid, then in every such case all such goods shall be forfeited, together with any goods which shall be found packed with or used in concealing them.

Ships in port with a cargo and afterwards found in ballast and cargo unaccounted for forfeited.

CXXXV. If any ship or boat whatsoever shall be found within the limits of any port in British India with a cargo on board, and such ship or boat shall afterwards be found light or in ballast, and the master is unable to give a due account of the port or place in British India where such boat or ship shall have legally discharged her cargo, such ship or boat shall be forfeited.

Ships and boats used in removal of run goods to be forfeited.

CXXXVI. All ships, boats, carriages, or other means of conveyance, together with all horses and other animals made use of in the removal, carriage, or conveyance of any goods liable to forfeiture under this or any other Act relating to the customs, shall be liable to be confiscated.

Persons concerned in shipping or landing goods at any place other than a duly appointed port, or knowingly concealing such goods to be punished by nearest magistrate.

CXXXVII. Any person or persons found shipping or landing goods, or aiding in the shipment or landing of goods or who shall knowingly keep, or conceal, or knowingly permit or cause, or procure to be kept or concealed, any goods shipped or landed, or intended to be shipped or landed, contrary to the provisions of this Act, or who shall be found to have been on board any ship or boat, liable to forfeiture under this Act for being found to have been within any port, bay, harbour, river, or creek, other than such as are declared under the provisions of Section VI of this Act, shall be detained by any duly authorized Officer of Police, Customs, or Excise, and shall be taken by him before the nearest magistrate or justice of the peace, and shall be liable, on conviction before such magistrate or justice of the peace, to a penalty not exceeding 1,000 Rupees, and in default of payment to imprisonment for six months.

Penalty on Officers for misconduct.

CXXXVIII. Any Officer required to take any such person before such Justice, Collector, or other superior Officer of Customs, shall do so with all reasonable despatch; but if such Officer shall require any person to be searched, not having reasonable ground to suppose that he has uncustomed or prohibited goods about his person, such Officer shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding 100 Rupees.

Persons concerned in importing prohibited or restricted goods, or in unlawfully removing goods to be punished.

CXXXIX. Every person who shall be concerned in importing or bringing into British India any prohibited goods, or any goods the importation of which is restricted, contrary, to such prohibition or restriction, and whether the same be unshipped or not, and every person who shall import or assist or be otherwise concerned in the importation of any goods which are prohibited or of any goods which are restricted and imported contrary to such restriction, or of any goods liable to duty, the duties for which have not been paid or secured; or who shall remove any goods imported into British India from any ship, wharf, or other place, unless under the care or authority of the proper Officer of Customs; or who shall knowingly keep or conceal, or shall knowingly permit or cause or procure to be kept or concealed, any such goods or any goods which shall have been illegally removed without payment of duty from any warehouse or place of security in which they may have been deposited, or to whose hands and possession any such goods shall knowingly come; or who shall assist or be concerned in the illegal removal of any goods from any warehouse or place of security, in which they shall have been deposited as aforesaid, or who shall be in any way knowingly concerned in conveying, removing, depositing, concealing, or in any manner dealing with any goods liable to duties of customs, with intent to defraud Government of such duties or any part thereof, or who shall be in any way knowingly concerned in any fraudulent evasion or attempt at evasion of such duties or any part thereof, shall, in each and every of the foregoing cases, forfeit treble the value of the goods, or the penalty of 1,000 Rupees, at the election of the Board of Revenue or other Chief Customs Authority.

Persons making false declarations to be punished.

CXL. If any person shall knowingly make and subscribe any false declaration, or sign any declaration, certificate, or other instrument required by this Act to be verified by signature only, the same being false in any particular, or if any person shall knowingly make or sign any declaration made for the consideration of the Collector of Customs, or any application presented to him, the same being untrue in any particular, or if any person required by this or any other Act relating to the customs to answer questions put to him by the Officers of Customs, shall not truly answer such questions, or if any person shall counterfeit, falsify, or wilfully use when counterfeited or falsified, any document required by this or any other Act relating to the Customs, or any instrument used in the transaction of any business or matter relating to the Customs, or shall fraudulently alter any document or instrument, or counterfeit the seal, signature, initials, or other mark of, or used by, the Officers of Customs for the verification of any such document or instrument, or for the security of goods, or any other purpose in the conduct of business relating to the Customs, or under the control of the Collectors of Customs or their Officers, every person for every such offence shall forfeit 1,000 Rupees.

Any person escaping may be afterwards detained.

CXLI. If any person liable to be detained under this or any other Act relating to the Customs shall not be detained at the time of committing the offence for which he is so liable, or shall, after detention, make his escape, such person shall and may at any time afterwards be detained and taken before any magistrate or justice of the peace, to be dealt with as if detained at the time of committing such offence.

When persons are taken before a Justice for any offence under any Act relating to the customs, such Justice may order them to be detained a reasonable time or admit them to bail.

CXLII. When any person shall have been detained for any offence against this or any other Act relating to the customs, and taken before any Magistrate or Justice of the Peace, such Magistrate or Justice may, if he see reasonable cause, order such person to be detained in gaol or in the custody of the Police, a reasonable time, to obtain the orders of the Officers of Customs; but any person so detained may be liberated by giving recognizance or other security to the satisfaction of the Magistrate or Justice, or in the amount of the penalty sought to be recovered, to appear at such time and place as shall be appointed by such Magistrate or Justice for hearing the case.

Offences for the adjudication whereof no special provision is made, how punishable, and penalties how to be recovered.

CXLIII. All offences against this Act for the adjudication of which no special provision is hereinbefore made, shall be punishable in a summary manner by a Magistrate: and whenever a penalty or fine may be adjudged against any person under the provisions of this Act, it shall be competent to the Magistrate or other judicial authority adjudging the same, in case the amount be not discharged, either to enforce payment by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of the defaulter, or to award a period of imprisonment in commutation, according to the following scale, in addition to such imprisonment as such Officer or authority may be specially empowered to adjudge.

If the amount of the fine or penalty do not exceed fifty Rupees, the term of imprisonment to be awarded in commutation shall not be less than fifteen days nor more than one month. If the amount of the fine or penalty exceed fifty and be less than 100 Rupees, the term of imprisonment to be awarded in commutation shall not be less than one month nor more than two months. If the amount of the fine or penalty exceed 100 Rupees, and be not more than 500 Rupees, the term of imprisonment to be awarded in commutation shall not be less than two months nor more than four months. If the amount of fine or penalty exceed 500 Rupees, the term of imprisonment to be awarded in commutation shall not be less than four months nor more than six months.

Imprisonment to terminate upon payment of the fine.

CXLIV. The imprisonment which is imposed in default of payment of fine shall terminate whenever that fine is either paid or levied by process of law.

Termination of imprisonment upon payment of proportional part of fine.

CXLV. If, before the expiration of the term of imprisonment fixed in default of payment, such a proportion of the fine be paid or levied that the term of imprisonment suffered in default of payment is not less than proportional to the part of the fine still unpaid, the imprisonment shall terminate.

Customs Officers committing or conniving at frauds how punishable.

CXLVI. If any Officer of Customs or other person or persons duly employed for the prevention of smuggling, shall practise or attempt to practise any fraud for the purpose of injuring the Customs Revenue, or shall abet or connive at any such fraud or at any attempt to practise any such fraud, every such Officer or other person shall be liable to imprisonment for any term not exceeding two years, or to fine, or both.

Customs Officers if guilty of breach of duty how punishable.

CXLVII. If any Officer of Customs or other person or persons duly employed for the prevention of smuggling, shall be guilty of a wilful breach of the provisions of this or any other Act relating to the customs, or shall accept, or obtain, or attempt to obtain, from any person any property, gratuity, or benefit, as a consideration for doing or forbearing to do any official act, every such Officer or person shall be liable to imprisonment for any term not exceeding two years, or to fine, or both.

Obstruction to Customs Officers punishable.

CXLVIII. Whoever intentionally obstructs any Officer in the exercise of any powers given by this Act to such Officer, shall be liable to imprisonment for any term not exceeding six months, or a fine not exceeding 1,000 Rupees, or both.

Offering bribes how punishable.

CXLIX. Any person who shall offer a bribe to any Custom House Officer in order to induce such Officer to act in a manner inconsistent with his duty, shall be liable for every such offence to a fine not exceeding 1,000 Rupees, or to imprisonment for any term not exceeding six months, or both.

Stations to be appointed for Custom House Officers to board and also land from ship.

CL. The Board of Revenue or other local Controlling Authority may, from time to time, appoint stations or places for ships arriving at or departing from any port or place to bring to for the boarding or landing of Officers of the Customs, and may also direct at what particular part or parts of any harbour, dock, or other place in any port, dhoonies, country craft, and other small vessels, not brought into the port by Pilots, shall be required to anchor and moor, and the Collector of Customs of any port, or any other authorized Officer, may station Officers on board any ship or craft while within the limits of any port in British India.

The Local Government may make rules respecting passengers' baggage and mails.

CLI. The Local Government of any Presidency or Province may, from time to time, issue such rules as appear expedient for the landing or shipping of passengers' baggage and the passing of the same through the Custom House; and also for the landing, shipping, and clearing of parcels forwarded by Her Majesty's or other mails, or by other regular packets and passenger vessels; and when any baggage or parcels are made over to the Custom House Officer, for the purpose of being landed, a fee of such amount as the Local Government may from time to time direct, shall be chargeable thereon, as compensation for the expense and trouble incurred in landing and depositing the same in the Custom House.

Duties short levied or paid in excess to be re-adjusted if application is made within six months.

CLII. Where duty has been short levied through inadvertence, error, or misconstruction on the part of the Officers of Customs, the person chargeable therewith shall pay the deficiency, on demand being made within six months from the date of the first assessment thereof; and it shall be lawful for the Officers of Customs to refuse to pass any goods belonging to such person until the said deficiency be paid; and no duty of Customs which shall have been charged and paid, and of which repayment is claimed in consequence of the same having been charged or paid under an erroneous construction of law or from other error, shall be returned, unless such claim is made within six months from the date of such payment; Provided that no claim for refund on account of over-valuation shall be admitted in any instance in which duties have been paid without objection having been raised at the time of assessment.

In case of dispute the duty to be deposited pending orders of the board or other Controlling Authority.

CLIII. If any dispute shall arise as to the proper rate of duty payable in respect of any goods imported into or exported from any Indian Port, the importer, exporter, consignee, or his agent, shall deposit in the hands of the Collector of Customs at the port of importation or exportation the amount of duty demanded by such Collector, pending the decision of the Board of Revenue or other Chief Customs Authority, as to the amount of duty which is due and payable upon such goods; and upon payment of such deposit and the passing of a proper entry for such goods, as hereinafter provided, such Collector shall cause the goods to be delivered to such importer, exporter, consignee, or agent, in virtue of such entry.

Articles not entered in the tariff to pay duty on the net market value of the like kind of goods previous to the payment of duty.

CLIV. In all cases in which goods are liable to duty according to the value thereof, and for which a value has not been fixed as hereinafter provided, such value shall be estimated and taken according to the wholesale cash price for which goods of the like kind and quality are sold or are capable of being sold at the time and place of such importation or exportation, without any abatement or deduction whatever, except of so much as the duties payable on the importation or exportation thereof shall amount to.

Local Government may fix a tariff value on any articles.

CLV. It shall be lawful for the Local Government of any Presidency or Province, from time to time, by notice in the Official Gazette, to fix a value for any articles liable to ad valorem duty, and the value so fixed by the Local Government shall, till altered by a similar notice, be taken to be the value of such article for the purpose of levying duty on the same.

Undervalued goods may be purchased on account of Government.

CLVI. If, upon the examination of any goods entered for duty, which are chargeable with duty upon the value thereof, and for which a specific value has not been fixed as above provided, it shall appear to the Officers of Customs that such good are not valued according to the true value thereof at the time and place of such entry, or that they are properly chargeable with a higher rate or amount of duty than that to which they would be subject according to the value thereof as described in such entry, it shall be lawful for such Officers to detain the same; in which case they shall forthwith give notice in writing to the person entering the same, of the detention of such goods and of the value thereof, as estimated by them, and the Collector of Customs shall, within (2) two days after the detention of such goods, determine either to deliver such goods on the entry of such person, or to retain the same for the use of Government, in which latter case he shall cause the full value at which such goods were so entered to be paid to the person entering the same, in full satisfaction for such goods, in the same manner as if such goods had been transferred by ordinary sale, and the Collector shall cause the said goods to be disposed of to the best advantage; and if the proceeds arising therefrom shall exceed the sums so paid, together with the duty to which the goods are liable and all charges incurred by Government, a portion not exceeding one-half of the overplus shall, at the discretion of the Board of Revenue or other Chief Customs Authority, be payable to the Officer who detected the under-valuation of the goods; and if the proceeds arising from such sale shall not exceed the amount so paid, together with the duty and charges, the Officer reporting the under-valuation shall, in like manner, be liable to pay one-half the net loss that may accrue from such sale; Provided, that if the Board of Revenue or other Chief Customs Authority shall have good and sufficient reason to believe that such under-valuation was solely the result of accident, they shall be competent to permit the owner or importer, on his application for that purpose, to amend such entry at such value, on payment of such increased rate of duties, or on such other terms as they may direct; and in all cases in which goods shall be so taken and purchased on account of Government, the duties payable thereon shall not be levied from the proprietor, importer, exporter, or consignee thereof.

Goods brought to be passed through the Custom House for importation and exportation to correspond in all particulars with description given of them in the application to pass.

CLVII. When goods shall be brought to be passed through a Custom House either for importation or exportation by sea, if the packages in which the same may be contained shall be found not to correspond with the description given in the application for passing them through the Custom House, or if the contents thereof be found not to have been properly described in such entry by the denominations and with the characters and circumstances according to which such goods are charged with duty, or may be imported and exported, or if the contents of such packages shall have been mis-stated in regard to sort, quality, or quantity, or if any goods not stated in the entry be found concealed or mixed up with the articles specified therein, or packed to deceive the Officers of Customs; then in every such case all such packages, together with the whole of the goods contained therein, shall be liable to confiscation.

Period allowed for the discharge and lading of cargo.

CLVIII. A term of thirty-five working days shall be allowed for the discharge of import cargo, and a further period of thirty days for the shipment of export cargo on board vessels of and exceeding the burthen of 600 tons, and twenty-five days and twenty days respectively as above for vessels below that burthen; and if the period occupied be in excess of that allowed, the ship shall be charged with the expenses of the Preventive Officer at the rate of five Rupees per diem (Sundays and holidays excepted) for the excess period. Provided that due allowance shall be made for such period as a vessel may be laid up, after the completion of the discharge of import cargo, by the withdrawal of the Preventive Officer upon application from the commander of the vessel; and if the commander of the vessel so laid up shall, before application is made by him or his agents for a Custom House Officer to superintend the receipt of cargo, cause or suffer to be put on board of such vessel any goods whatever, such Commander shall be punished with a fine not exceeding 1,000 Rupees, and the goods, if protected by a pass, shall be liable to be re-landed for examination at the expense of the ship, and if not protected by a pass shall be liable to confiscation.

No import duty to be levied on goods intended to be "carried on the same bottom" if duly manifested accordingly.

CLIX. Any portion of an import cargo intended for another port, or stores intended for the home voyage, may, with the special sanction of the Collector, be retained on board the vessel, and such cargo or stores shall not be subject to the payment of any duty; provided that all such goods are entered in the manifest, and in the outward clearance of the vessel, as part of the import cargo not landed, and on which no duty has been paid; and that nothing in this Section shall prevent the Collector from sealing up any portion of such cargo or stores, during the vessel's stay in port, in the event of his seeing reason for so doing.

Importer and exporter to pay expense incidental to compliance with Custom House Rules.

CLX. The unshipping, carrying, and landing of all goods, and bringing them to the proper place for examination and weighing, putting them into scales, opening, unpacking, repacking, bulking, sorting, lotting, marking, and numbering, where such operations respectively are necessary or permitted, and the removing of goods to, and the placing of them in, the pr per place of deposit, until duly delivered, shall be performed by or at the expense of the importer; and the importer or person entering any timber or wood, to be charged with duty by measurement, shall, at his expense, pile, sort, frame, or otherwise place the same n such manner as the Collector of Customs may deem necessary to enable the Officers to measure and take the account thereof; and in all cases when the same is measured in bulk, the measurement shall be taken to the full extent of the pile, and no allowance shall be made by the Officers on account of any interstices.

Cargo boats to be licensed. Goods found in unlicensed boats to be confiscated, and owners of boats fined.

CLXI. In any port with regard to which the Local Government shall have notified that they have deemed it expedient, for the security of Customs at such port, to maintain special establishments of boats for the landing and shipping of merchandize, or to license and register the cargo boats plying in such port, it shall not be lawful for any person to convey goods to or from any vessel in such port, otherwise than in the boats so authorized and prescribed, except under special permit from the Collector of Customs of such port, and any goods that may be found on board of any boat not so authorized for the port, shall be liable to be seized by any Officer of Customs, and shall be liable to confiscation, and it shall be lawful for the Local Government to direct the levy from the owner of every boat so license of such amount of fee for every such license as may, from time to time, be considered expedient.

The Collector of Land Revenue to perform duties of Customs Officer, where there is no separate Customs Officer.

CLXII. At any port where there is no Officer of Customs, the Collector of Revenue of the District shall be deemed to be the proper Officer for the performance of all such duties with respect to such goods as are hereby required to be performed by the Officers of Customs.

Officers of Customs may, on probable cause, stop carts, &c., and search for goods.

CLXIII. Any duly empowered Officer of Customs or Excise or other person acting in his or their aid, or duly employed for the prevention of smuggling, may, upon reasonable suspicion, stop and examine any cart, waggon, or other means of conveyance, for the purpose of ascertaining whether any smuggled goods are contained therein; and, if no such goods shall be found, the Officer or other person so stopping and examining such cart, waggon, or other conveyance, having had probable cause to suspect that such cart, waggon, or other conveyance had smuggled goods contained therein, shall not, on account of such stoppage and search, be liable to any prosecution or action at law on account thereof; and all persons driving or conducting such cart, waggon, or other conveyance, refusing to stop or allow any such examination, when required so to do, shall forfeit the sum of 1,000 Rupees.

Officers authorized by writ of assistance may search houses for uncustomed or prohibited goods.

CLXIV. Any Officer of Customs or other person acting under the direction of the Collector of Customs, having a writ of assistance countersigned by the Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner of Police, or other Chief Executive Officer of Police, may, in the day time, enter into and search any house, shop, cellar, warehouse, room, or other place; and in case of resistance, break open doors, chests, trunks, and other packages, and seize and bring away any uncustomed or prohibited goods; and put and secure the same in the Custom House; and may take with him any constable, Police, or other public officer for the purpose of assisting him in such search and seizure.

Ships, boats, goods and persons may be seized or detained, and goods delivered to the proper Officer.

CLXV. All ships and boats and all goods whatsoever, liable to forfeiture, and all persons liable to be detained for any offence under this or any other Act relating to the customs, shall and may be seized or detained in any place, either upon land or water, by any Officer or Officers of Customs or Excise or any person having authority from Board of Revenue or other Controlling Authority, to seize, or duly employed for the prevention of smuggling; and all ships, boats, and goods so seized shall, as soon as conveniently may be, be delivered into the care of the proper Officer appointed to receive the same; and the forfeiture of any ship shall be deemed to include her tackle, apparel, and furniture; and the forfeiture of any goods shall be deemed to include the package in which the same are found, and all the contents thereof; and the forfeiture of any cart, waggon, or other conveyance, shall be deemed to include the cattle employed in drawing the same.

Police Officers seizing goods to carry them to the nearest Custom House.

CLXVI. If any goods liable to forfeiture under this or any other Act relating to the Customs, shall be stopped or taken by any public Officer or other person acting by virtue of any Act or Regulation, or otherwise duly authorized, such goods shall be carried to the Custom House nearest to the place where the goods were stopped or taken, and there delivered to the Officer appointed to receive the same, within forty-eight hours after the said goods were stopped and taken; provided that, if there be no Custom House within a convenient distance of the place of seizure, such goods may be delivered to the nearest Revenue Officer.

Goods stopped by Police Officers may be detained until trial of persons charged with stealing them.

CLXVII. If any such goods shall be stopped or taken by any Police Officer on suspicion that the same had been feloniously stolen, the said Officer may carry the same to the Police Office to which the offender is taken, there to remain until, and in order to be produced at, the trial of the offender, and in such case the Officer is required to give notice in writing to the Collector of Customs or other Officer exercising the functions of Collector of Customs, of his having so detained the said goods, with the particulars of the same; and immediately after the trial of such offender all such goods shall be conveyed to and deposited in the Custom House as aforesaid, to be proceeded against according to law; and in case any Police Officer making detention of any such goods shall neglect to convey the same to such Custom House, or to give notice of having stopped the same, as before prescribed, such Officer shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding Rupees 100.

The Customs Authorities may restore seizures.

CLXVIII. The Board of Revenue or other Chief Customs Authority may, by any order made by them for that purpose, direct any ship, boat, goods, or commodities whatever, seized under this or any Act relating to the customs, to be delivered to the proprietor thereof, whether condemnation shall have taken place or not, upon such terms and conditions as the said Board or other Chief Customs Authority respectively may prescribe.

Ships and goods seized may be disposed of as the Customs Authority may direct.

CLXIX. All ships and boats and all goods whatsoever, which shall have been seized and condemned for breach of any law relating to the customs, shall be disposed of as soon as conveniently may be after the condemnation thereof, in such manner as the Board of Revenue or other Chief Customs Authority may direct.

Persons may be searched if Officers have reason to suspect smuggled goods concealed upon them.

CLXX. Any Officer of Customs not below the rank of Preventive Officers, duly employed in the prevention of smuggling, may search any person on board any ship or boat within the limits of any port in British India, or any person who shall have landed from any ship or boat, provided such Officer shall have good reason to suppose that such person has any uncustomed or prohibited goods secreted about his person; and if any person shall obstruct any such Officer in going, remaining, or returning from on board, or in searching such ship or boat or person, every such person shall forfeit a sum not exceeding 500 Rupees, and if any passenger or other person on board any such ship or boat, or who may have landed from any such ship or boat, shall, upon being questioned by any such Officer whether he has any dutiable goods upon his person or in his possession deny the same, and any such goods shall after such denial be discovered to be or to have been upon his person or in his possession, such goods shall be forfeited, and such person shall forfeit treble the value of such goods.

Persons before search may require to be taken before a Justice or principal Officer of Customs.

CLXXI. Before any person shall be searched by any such Officers as aforesaid, such person may require such Officer to take him before any Justice, or before the Collector or other acting principal Officer of the Customs, who shall, if he see no reasonable cause for search, discharge such person, but if otherwise, shall direct such person to be searched. If a female, she shall not be searched by any other than a female.

Persons in Her Majesty's Service detained, to be secured on board until warrant procured.

CLXXII. Where any person or persons, being part of the crew in any of Her Majesty's ships or vessels, or of any ship or vessel in Her Majesty's employment or service, and liable to detention, shall have been detained under any law relating to the customs, such person or persons, upon notice thereof by the detaining Officer to the Commanding Officer of the ship or vessel, shall be placed in security by such Commanding Officer on board such ship or vessel, until such detaining Officer shall have obtained a warrant from a Magistrate or Justice of the Peace for bringing such person or persons before him or any other Magistrate or Justice of the Peace to be dealt with according to law, which warrant such Magistrate or Justice of the Peace is required to grant upon complaint made to him by such Officer of Customs stating the offence for which such person or persons is or are liable to detention.

Powers of Commissioners, Collectors, Deputies, Assistants, and other Officers in respect to confiscation and fines defined.

CLXXIII. In all cases in which, under this Act, goods are liable to confiscation or increased rates of duty; and in all cases in which, under this Act, any person in charge of or owning a vessel, or landing or unshipping goods or passing them through the Custom House, is liable to a penalty, a Commissioner or Collector of Customs may adjudicate such confiscation or such penalty; or when the Local Government may see fit so to direct, the same may be adjudged by a Deputy or by an Assistant Collector of Customs or other Officer. Provided that the power to adjudicate confiscation shall not extend, as regards a Deputy Collector, to goods beyond the value of Rupees 1,000, nor, as regards an Assistant Collector or other Officer inferior to the grade of an Assistant Collector, to goods beyond the value of Rupees 100; nor shall any Deputy Collector impose any fine beyond the amount of Rupees fifty, nor any Assistant Collector or other Officer inferior to the grade of an Assistant Collector beyond the amount of Rupees ten; and all cases adjudicated by a Deputy or Assistant Collector or other Officer shall be liable to revision on appeal to a Collector or Commissioner of Customs or other Controlling Authority.

Goods may be detained, and port clearance may be refused pending the payment of fines to which the parties concerned may be liable.

CLXXIV. If any person in charge of or owning a vessel, shall have become liable to any fine on account of any act or omission relating to the Customs, the Collector of Customs may refuse port clearance to such vessel until the fine is discharged, and in like manner if any person passing goods through the Custom House shall have become liable to any fine, the Collector of Customs may detain such goods until the fine is discharged.

Rewards may be granted to persons making seizures.

CLXXV. Whenever any goods are seized and confiscated, or any penalty levied in mitigation of confiscation, or whenever any penalty is inflicted for breach of any rule or for any other act committed, the Collector of Customs or other Controlling Authority may grant rewards to the persons through whose assistance or information the seizure was made or an offender fined. Provided that in respect to seizures of all goods, except salt, opium, spirits, and tobacco, all Government demands shall be deducted from the gross proceeds realized, and any portion or the whole of the net remaining proceeds then paid as reward, at the discretion of the Collector or other Controlling Authority. In awarding rewards for the seizure of salt, opium, spirits, and tobacco, the whole or any portion of the sale proceeds may be paid as such rewards at the discretion of the Collector or other Controlling Authority without making any deduction on account of Government demands.

Agents transacting business for others must be duly licensed.

CLXXVI. At such ports and places as the Chief Customs Authority may direct, no person shall act as an agent for transacting in the Custom House business which shall relate to the entrance or clearance of any ship, goods, or baggage, unless authorized so to do by license of the Collector of Customs, who may require a bond to be given by every person to whom such license shall be granted, with sufficient securities, in any sum not exceeding 5,000 Rupees, for the faithful and incorrupt behaviour of such person, as regards the Custom House Regulations and its Officers; and every person who shall act as such agent, not being so licensed, shall for every such offence be liable to a fine not exceeding the sum of 500 Rupees. Provided that nothing herein contained shall prevent the clerk or servant, or known accredited agent of any person or of any mercantile firm, from transacting business at the Custom House, on account of such person or firm, without such license.

Agent to produce authority if required.

CLXXVII. Whenever any person shall make application to any Officer of Customs to transact any business on behalf of any other person, such Officer may require of the person so applying to produce a written authority from the person on whose behalf such application shall be made, and in default of the production of such authority, may refuse to transact such business.

Rates of wharfage fees and warehouse rent of Government warehouses to be fixed by the Local Government.

CLXXVIII. The Local Government of any Presidency or Province may fix and from time to time alter the rates of rent to be charge on goods placed in the Government warehouses, or which may be beyond such period as may be determined by the Local Government, lying on the Custom House Wharf, or other authorized landing places.

Saves anchorage and harbour dues, also special dues on opium, tobacco, ganja, spirits, and salt.

CLXXIX. Nothing hereinbefore contained shall be construed to prevent the levy of any anchorage or harbour dues now leviable at any port in British India, or the levy of any special duties on opium, tobacco, ganja, spirits, or salt, which are or may be established by any law.

Customs Officers not to serve on any jury or inquest.

CLXXX. No Commissioner, Collector Officer, Clerk, or other person acting in the management or collection of the customs, shall be compelled to serve on any jury or inquest.

Duty of customs or excise paid on salt at any place in the Bombay Presidency, to be allowed credit in settling the duty leviable thereon at another port in India.

CLXXXI. Salt which has paid customs or excise duty at any port or place within the Bombay Presidency, shall, on being exported to any other port in India, be furnished with a certificate of such payment; and, on import of the said salt at any other port in India, credit shall be allowed for the amount so previously paid in settling the amount of customs or excise which may be leviable on it at the place of import.

Duplicates may be granted and amendments made on payment of fee.

CLXXXII. Duplicates of any certificate, manifest, bill, or other Custom House document, may, at the discretion of the Collector of Customs or other Controlling Authority, be granted, provided he is satisfied that no fraud has been committed or is intended, on payment of a fee not less than one Rupee and not exceeding ten Rupees. The Collector of Customs or other Controlling Authority may also authorize any amendment to be made in any document, after it has been entered and recorded in the Custom House, upon payment of a like fee for any document so amended.

Transhipment of stores from one vessel to another of the same owner allowed on payment of duty.

CLXXXIII. If two or more vessels belonging to one and the same owner or owners, are at any port of India at one and the same time, bonâ fide stores and provisions may, at the discretion and with the permission of the Collector of Customs or other Controlling Authority, be transhipped from one of the said vessels to another of the said vessels, on payment of the reserved duty of one-eighth of the import duty.

CLXXXIV. Provisions and ship's stores bonded at the time of import, may, at the discretion of the Collector of Customs or other Controlling Authority, be exported on payment of the reserved duty of one-eighth for use and consumption on board vessels proceeding to ports beyond the sea. All articles of Indian produce or manufacture, including rum bond fide required for use on board any ship proceeding to a port beyond the sea, may also be exported free of duty, whether of customs or excise, in such quantities as the Collector of Customs may determine, with reference to the tonnage of the crew and passengers, and the length of the voyage on which she may be about to depart. Provided that no spirits shall be shipped free of duty on any ship not going to ports beyond the seas, or going on a voyage of less than thirty days' duration.

Provisions and stores may be exported from bond for consumption at sea on payment of duty.

CLXXXV. If, upon the consideration of the facts and circumstances under which any forfeiture, penalty, or confiscation has been adjudged by an Officer of the Customs, or by a Magistrate or Justice of the Peace under the provisions of this Act, the Board of Revenue or other Chief Customs Authority shall be of opinion that such penalty, forfeiture, or confiscation, ought to be remitted, they may remit or forego the same accordingly; or in case they shall be of opinion that a mitigated penalty should be imposed and enforced, they may mitigate any such penalty or forfeiture to such amount as they may deem a sufficient satisfaction for the breach of law or regulations complained of; or they may, if they see reason so to do, commute the order of confiscation to a penalty not exceeding the value of the goods ordered to be confiscated.

If a penalty is adjudged by a Justice of the Peace, the Revenue Board may call for the proceedings and remit or mitigate the penalty.

CLXXXVI. The following words and expressions in this Act shall have the meanings hereby assigned to them, unless there be something in the subject or context repugnant to such construction, that is to say; the words "British Territories in India" or "India" shall mean the Territories which are or may become vested in Her Majesty by the Statute 21 and 22 Vic. c. 106, entitled "An Act for the better Government of India;" the expression "Local Government" shall, when used in respect to any port or place, mean the person or persons for the time being immediately administering the executive Government of that portion of the British possessions in India, in which the port or place in question is situated; the expression "free port" shall mean any port at which no customs duties are levied; the expression "coasting vessel" shall mean any vessel plying between one port in India and another port in India without touching at any intermediate port not belonging to India; the words "master or commander" shall include every person (except a Pilot) having command or charge of any ship; the expression "warehouse" shall mean any place at which goods entered to be warehoused may be lodged, kept, and secured; the term "foreign goods" shall mean all goods not being the produce or manufacture of British India; the term "foreign ports" shall mean all ports situated beyond the continent of India, and all ports which, although situated within the continent of India, are not under the direct control and management of the British Government in India, and all free ports; the word "vessel" shall include any thing made for the conveyance by water of human beings or property.

Definition of expressions and terms used in the Act.

CLXXXVII. This Act shall come into operation on and from the of 186 , and in citing it in other Acts, and in legal instruments, it shall be sufficient to use the expression "The Indian Customs Consolidation Act of 186 ."

M. WYLIE,
Clerk of the Council.

THE following Act, passed by the Legislative Council of India, received the assent of the Right Honorable the Governor General on the 21th July 1861, and is hereby promulgated for general information :—

ACT No. XX OF 1861.

An Act to amend Act XXV of 1858 (for appointing Municipal Commissioners and for raising a Fund for Municipal purposes in the Town of Bombay.)

Preamble. WHEREAS it is expedient to amend Act XXV of 1858; It is enacted as follows :—

Removal of an elected Municipal Commissioner.

I. It shall be lawful for the Governor in Council of Bombay to remove from office any Municipal Commissioner elected or who may hereafter be elected by the Justices of the Peace in Sessions assembled, if the said Justices in Sessions assembled shall recommend such removal. In the event of a vacancy occurring by such removal, the Justices shall, as soon as convenient, elect a person to supply the vacancy until the next triennial election.

Vacancy so occurring how to be filled up.

Annual rate how payable.

II. So much of Section X of Act XXV of 1858 as prescribes that the annual rate thereby imposed shall be payable in quarterly instalments is repealed, and it is hereby enacted that the annual rate imposed by the said Section upon houses, buildings, and lands in the Town of Bombay shall be payable by the owners thereof by yearly payments or by quarterly instalments as the Governor in Council, by a Notification to be published in the Government Gazette before the commencement of the year in which such rate is to have effect, shall think fit to require the same to be paid.

Levy of additional Town duties.

III. In addition to the Town duties leviable under the said Act, the following duties shall be levied in respect of the articles hereinafter mentioned when the same are imported from any place into the Town of Bombay and are intended for use therein, (that is to say)—

		Rs.	As.	Pie.
Bricks	... „	2	0	}	per thousand.
Tiles	... „	2	0	}

The said duties shall be deemed Town duties within the provisions of the said Act relating to Town duties, and shall be levied and collected accordingly by and under the management of the Commissioner of Customs of Bombay and his subordinate Officers, and shall be paid into the General Treasury to the credit of the Municipal Commissioners.

Town duty may be levied subsequently if not ascertainable at time of importation.

IV. If it appear to the Commissioner of Customs of Bombay that the amount of Town duty leviable in respect of any articles cannot be ascertained at the time of importation by reason that the whole of the articles may not be intended for consumption or use within the Town or for any other reason, it shall be lawful for the said Commissioner to levy and collect such amount at any subsequent period.

Port of Bombay to be deemed a Warehousing Port as regards Timber.

V. The Port of Bombay shall, after the passing of this Act, be held to be a Warehousing Port within the meaning of Act XXV of 1836 so far as regards the Warehousing of Timber ; and the provisions of the said Act, so far as the same are applicable, shall be applied to the Warehousing of Timber in the said Town.

Construction of Act XXV of 1836.

In the construction of this Act and of Act XXV of 1836 in conjunction with this Act, the Import Duty in Act XXV of 1836 shall be construed to mean the Town Duty leviable on Timber under Act XXV of 1858.

Warehousing of Timber not paying Town Duty at time of importation.

VI. If the Town Duty leviable under the said Act upon Timber is not paid at the time of importation, the Timber may be Warehoused or deposited in some place of security to be appointed or approved by the said Commissioner of Customs. Such Warehouse or place shall be deemed a public Warehouse within the meaning of Act XXV of 1836, and the importer shall pay the Town Duty on the said Timber on its removal from such Warehouse or place for consumption in the said Town.

Remission of Town Duty on re-exportation of Timber.

When Timber so Warehoused or deposited is re-exported to any place beyond the limits of the said Town, the whole of the said Town Duty shall be remitted.

Commencement and construction of Act.

VII. This Act shall take effect on and from the 1st day of September 1861, and shall be read with and taken as part of the said Act XXV of 1858.

M. WYLIE,
Clerk of the Council.

THE 27TH JULY 1861.

ACT No. XXI of 1861.

An Act for limiting in certain cases for the year commencing from the 31st day of July 1861, the amount of Assessment to the Duties chargeable under Act XXXII of 1860 (for imposing Duties on Profits arising from Property, Professions, Trades, and Offices) and Act XXXIX of 1860 (to amend Act XXXII of 1860).

Preamble. WHEREAS it is expedient to limit in certain cases for the year commencing from the 31st day of July 1861, the amount of Assessment to the Duties chargeable under Act XXXII of 1860 (for imposing Duties on Profits arising from Property, Professions, Trades, and Offices), and Act XXXIX of 1860 (to amend Act XXXII of 1860) ; It is enacted as follows :—

Issue of General Notice regarding the rate and amount of assessment of duties under Schedules 1 and 2 for the year commencing 31st July 1861.

I. It shall be lawful for the Governor-General of India in Council, by an order to be published in the Government Gazette, to direct that, within the Territories or any part of the Territories subject to the local Government of any Presidency or place, the general or special notices required by Sections XXXVII and XXXVIII of the said Act

XXXII of 1860 shall not be issued for the year commencing from the 31st day of July 1861 in respect to the duties contained in Schedules 1 and 2 of the said Act, and that in such Territories or part of such Territories the Returns of profits or income chargeable with duties under the said Schedules, as prescribed by Section XXXIX of the said Act, for the year commencing as above, shall not be required; but that in the place of such notices a general notice shall be issued in such Territories or part of such Territories to the effect that, except as hereinafter provided, the assessment of the duties contained in the said Schedules for the year commencing as above upon the several persons liable thereto either on their own behalf or on behalf of any other person, shall be at the same rate and on the same amount at and on which such persons were or shall be assessed for the year ending on the 31st day of July 1861.

Form and publication of General Notice.

II. The general notice to be issued under the last preceding Section shall be in the form appended to this Act or to the like effect, and shall fix a period of two months after which the assessments under this Act shall be made. Such notice shall be published in the Official Gazette of the Presidency or place within which it is issued, and in such other manner as the local Government shall direct, and copies of such notice shall be affixed at the several places within such Territories or part of such Territories which are mentioned in Section XXXVII of the said Act XXXII of 1860.

Assessments to be made and recovered without requiring Returns of profits or income.

III. After the expiration of the period specified in such notice, the Officers within such Territories or part of such Territories whose duty it is to make assessments under the said Acts XXXII and XXXIX of 1860, shall proceed, except as hereinafter provided, without requiring the Returns prescribed by Section XXXIX of the said Act XXXII of 1860 for the year commencing from the 31st day of July 1861 in respect to the duties contained in Schedules 1 and 2 of the said Act, to assess the several persons in their respective jurisdictions liable to the said duties either on their own behalf or on behalf of any other person, for the year commencing as above, at the same rate and on the same amount at and on which such persons were or shall be assessed to the said duties for the year ending on the date above-mentioned, and shall proceed to collect and recover the amount of such assessments under the provisions contained in the said Act XXXII of 1860 which are hereby declared applicable to the assessments so made.

Payment of duties.

IV. The assessment ordered to be the assessment for the year commencing from the 31st day of July 1861 under the last preceding Section, shall, in the case of every person aforesaid who shall not claim to be assessed under Act XXXII of 1860 as hereinafter provided, be the assessment on every such person under Schedules 1 and 2 of the said Act XXXII of 1860 for the year commencing as above, and the duties imposed by the said Acts XXXII and XXXIX of 1860 under such Schedules shall be payable on such assessment, in the same manner as if it had been made on a fresh Return made under Section XXXIX of the said Act XXXII of 1860; and all the provisions of the said Act XXXII of 1860 for the collection and enforcement of payment of duties assessed and payable under the said Act shall be applicable to the collection and enforcement of payment of the duties under the assessments herein provided for.

Claims to be assessed under Act XXXII of 1860.

V. If any person within such Territories or part of such Territories chargeable with the duties contained in Schedules 1 and 2 of the said Act XXXII of 1860 or either of them, for the year commencing from the 31st day of July 1861, shall object to the assessment provided by this Act, and shall claim to be assessed under the said Act XXXII of 1860, he shall apply to the Assessor within whose jurisdiction he resides, for forms of Returns of profits or income chargeable under the said Schedules or either of them, and such person shall, within the period mentioned in such general notice, deliver the Return for the year commencing as above, filled up in the manner and containing the declaration prescribed by the said Act XXXII of 1860, at the Office of such Assessor or of the Special Commissioner, or Collector, and claim to be assessed thereon in the same manner as if this Act had not passed. No such claim to be assessed under the said Act XXXII of 1860, shall be received unless made within the period aforesaid.

Mode of assessment in such cases.

VI. When any claim shall be made under the provisions of the last preceding Section within the time therein allowed, it shall be the duty of the Assessor or the Special Commissioner or Collector, as the case may be, to whom such claim is made, to assess the person making it on his profits or income chargeable under the said Schedules for the year commencing from the 31st day of July 1861, in accordance with the provisions of the said Act XXXII of 1860, and all the provisions of the said Act shall be applicable to the Return and Declaration made by such person and to the assessment made upon him.

Saving of issue of special notice to a person who has made no Return for the year ending 31st July 1861, &c.

VII. Nothing in this Act shall be held to debar the Commissioners of any Presidency Town or any Collector from issuing or ordering the issue by an Assessor of a special notice, according to the form and in the manner provided by Section XXXVIII of the said Act XXXII of 1860, to any person residing within the jurisdiction of such Commissioners or Collector whom they or he shall consider liable to the duties chargeable under the said Schedules 1 and 2, or either of them, for the year commencing from the 31st day of July 1861, but to whom a special notice requiring such person to make a return of his profits or income under the said Schedules for the year ending on the date above-mentioned shall not have been issued within such jurisdiction; or to any person whom such Commissioners or Collector shall have reason to believe made a fraudulent return of his profits or income under the said Schedules or either of them for the said last mentioned year, and who shall not have been surcharged upon such return; or to any person who shall have been assessed to the duties under the said Schedules or either of them on a return of profits or income calculated upon any period less than a whole year. Provided that no notice shall be issued under this Section after the expiration of three months from the date of the general notice mentioned in Section I of this Act.

Procedure on Special Notice.

VIII. When a special notice shall be issued to any person under the provisions of the last preceding Section, all the provisions of the said Act XXXII of 1860 as to special notices shall apply thereto, and to any Return and Declaration made by such person and to the assessment of such person.

Case of transfer of immoveable property.

IX. When any transfer of any immoveable property which shall have been or shall be assessed to the duties contained in the said Schedule 1 of the said Act XXXII of 1860 for the year ending upon the 31st day of July 1861, shall have taken place subsequently to the date at which such assessment shall have been or shall be made, the person in the enjoyment of the profits or income arising from such property, at the time that the assessment of duties thereupon for the year commencing from the said 31st day of July 1861 is made, shall be liable to be assessed on the profits of such property under the Rules contained in the said Act XXXII of 1860 in the same manner as if this Act had not passed.

Act not to apply to duties under Schedules 3 and 4.

X. This Act shall not apply to the duties contained in Schedules 3 and 4 of the said Act XXXII of 1860, or to the assessment, collection, and recovery of such duties.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT.

From Military Finance Department, to Secretary to the Government of India, Military Department, No. 412 A., dated the 12th July 1861.

With reference to Docket No. 647, dated 5th July 1861, forwarding a Report from the Audit Board, dated 21st June 1861, and Resolution No. 7872, of 27th June, in the Financial Department, passed thereon, on the mode of inserting in the Public Accounts the charges for April 1861, I have the honor to state that the object of the Audit Board's Proceedings is to cause the cash payments made within the year to be considered the expenditure of the year; now this is the principle on which the English Public Accounts are kept, but with this marked difference in its partial effect, viz., that in England the cash payments made within the year agree in most instances with the liabilities incurred within the year, and for which the grants are made, that is the pay of the Troops for March being payable in England in March, the year's liabilities and the year's payments run together for the year ending in England the 31st March, the actual expenditure of the year is rightly closed with the disbursements of the year. In India, on the contrary, the payments for April's charges are made in arrears, those for April being only paid in May, and the year ending 30th April closes with the last month's charges undisbursed, that is omitted from their accounts. So, in like manner, as respects payment for most of the supplies delivered in April, the ordinary practice being to pay the value thereof in arrears, thus the payments in the year do not cover the liabilities of the year, or, in other words, the charges disbursed in the year are not the charges of or for the year. The result of the Board of Audit's reference now affects the Military Estimates in a way which will not again occur; these Estimates have been prepared in the only way which Estimates could be drawn out on a calculation as to the probable liabilities arising between 1st May 1861 and 30th April 1862. In the month of April 1861, there was a larger sum due for the Pay, &c., of the Army than that which will be due for April 1862; for instance, I calculate that 120 lakhs were paid in April 1861, and I hope only one 100 lakhs will be required in April 1862, the April's payments for 1861 being paid in May, it has been ruled that sums so paid fall into the accounts of the year

1861-62, instead of into those of 1860-61. As the charges for April 1861 will exceed those of April 1862 by about twenty lakhs, the actual expenditure in 1861-62 will appear to be above the Estimate for the Military charges of 1861-62 to that amount, but in reality there will be no such excess for this alteration in the mode of exhibiting the cash disbursements will only add the money outlay to the accounts of 1861-62, instead of the past year 1860-61.

2. The great principle should, however, be kept in view, so that the payments and the charges of the year may be in unison. Any great discrepancy between these two transactions opens out wide difference and complications in the comparisons between the charges of one year and another; but I am willing to act on the decision of the Board of Audit even although it occasions a serious difference between the liabilities and payments of the year, and I must now endeavor to carry out the details so as to ensure a closer agreement between the expenditure and the liabilities.

2. The general Conditions of the Sale now advertised will be the same as usual. They may be ascertained by reference to the Notification issued on the 10th November 1860, and published in the Government and Exchange Gazettes, or on application at the Office of the Board of Revenue.

3. The latest dates for deposit and clearance will be the 10th and 20th August 1861 respectively, that is to say, no Sub-Treasurer's Receipts, Company's Paper, or other Public Securities that may be tendered for deposit in redemption of Promissory Notes given by purchasers at the Sale will be received after 4 P. M. of Saturday, the 10th August 1861, and no Treasury Receipts in full payment of Lots will be accepted after 4 P. M. of Tuesday the 20th August 1861.

4. In addition to the quantity above advertised for Sale, the following quantities, more or less, of Behar and Benares Opium of 1859-60, will be brought to Sale in the present year on or about the dates specified below. The Board, however reserve to themselves the right of altering these dates should circumstances render it expedient to do so :—

Notice.

In substitution of the Notice dated the 9th February last, published in the Government Gazette of the 13th idem, page 465, the following Regulations for the submission of Indents for Instruments, have been approved by the Military Finance Department:—

1. With reference to the Orders of the Government of India, No. 1222, dated the 21st December 1860, transferring the responsible control of the Calcutta Mathematical Instrument Depôt and Work-shops to the Surveyor-General of India from the Inspector-General of Ordnance, the undersigned has the honor to request that all Military and Civil Officers who may have occasion to indent for Instruments will be good enough to address their communications to the Superintendent, Mathematical Instrument Department, Calcutta, and who will take the necessary steps for the early compliance with all requisitions in that Department.

2. All Indents for Instruments required by Departmental Officers must, in the first instance, receive the sanction and approval of the Heads of Departments, and in the case of Civil Functionaries, of the Government under which the Indenting Officer may be serving, before the Surveyor-General can authorize compliance with the demands made on the Mathematical Instrument Department.

3. The ordinary Form of Indent is annexed, and it will save much delay and inconvenience if full instructions are given as to the mode of transit, and the name of the Station to which the packages are to be addressed. The mere address of Camp such a place whilst on the march is not sufficient.

FORM.

Indent on the Calcutta Mathematical Instrument Depôt, for Instruments required for the use of

Dated the 186 .

Description of Instruments.	Quantity in Number in use or store.	Quantity Number indented for.	Purpose for which required.	Quantity Number admitted.	How and where to be dispatched.

I do hereby certify that the articles specified on this Indent are indispensably necessary for the purposes set forth, according to the best of my knowledge and belief, after the most careful examination.

Signature of Indenting Officer with designation of appointment in full.

RECOMMENDED.

Countersignature of Approving Authority.

4. As it is deemed necessary by the Military Finance Department that the probable demands on the Instrument Depôt should be made known as far as practicable at one time, so as to admit of carrying out the Budget system of Estimates in anticipation for a year's consumption, the 1st of January of each year is fixed as the latest date for the submission of all Indents. All Officers are therefore requested to consider well the whole of their wants, and to provide for the same in a single Indent by the above date.

5. The Mathematical Instrument Department is one merely of receipt and issue. It has therefore nothing to do with the furnishing of the Accounts of Officers.

H. L. THUILLIER, Lieut.-Col.,
Surveyor-General of India.

SURVEYOR-GENL.'S OFFICE;

PRIZE

FOR ESSAY ON COTTON CULTURE.

To any person who shall produce, on or before the 1st May 1862, an approved Essay on the culture of Cotton in India from Foreign Seed, the sum of one thousand Rupees, and the Gold Medal of the Manchester Cotton Supply Association.

RULES FOR COMPETITION.

1. The Essay must be of a practical character, containing the results of the Writer's own observations or experiments, and not merely a compilation from books.

2. The copyright of the Essay, to which a premium shall be awarded, shall become the property of the Society, for publication in their Journal or otherwise.

3. The Society are not bound to award a prize, unless they consider the Essay deserving of it.

4. In all reports of experiments, the expenses shall be as accurately detailed as practicable.

5. The pound avoirdupois and the Company's Rupee are the only weight and currency in which calculations are to be made.

Company,

Shareholders of, residing in England, their profits liable to Income Tax.

Act XXXII. of 1860.
Schedule 2.
Section XCVIII.

An application having been made on behalf of the Assam Tea Company for exemption from Income Tax, upon such portion of the profits of the Company as was paid to the Shareholders in England, the application was declared to be inadmissible.—(Financial Department Order No. 8001, dated 24th June 1861.)

No. 145.

Officers,

Acting Allowances of, how to be assessed to the Income Tax.

Act XXXII. of 1860.
Section C.
Rules 1 and 2.

A question having been raised as to the rule to be observed in making assessments to the Income Tax in the case of Acting Officers, where, for instance, the pay of the substantive appointment, held by the Officer, was below the limit of taxation, but the acting allowance, for the period for which such allowance was drawn, brought it within the incidence of the Tax, or where, in consequence of absence, the incumbent, who was liable to Income Tax on his salary, drew during the time of his absence less than the lowest sum liable to taxation, it was observed that the Income Tax was chargeable upon the yearly Income, and that the Offices of Audit, Civil and Military, should deal with each month's salary, &c., by itself, and consider at the end of the year any claims to exemption or abatement which might then be preferred.—(Financial Department Order No. 10437, dated 12th October 1860.)

Consolidated Salary, of Military Officer, drawn in the Civil Department, liable to Income Tax on entire sum, unless Tentage or Horse allowance is expressly included therein

Act XXXII. of 1860. Section CXXIX.

THE Civil Pay Master at Madras having enquired whether he had acted rightly in granting exemption, under Section CXXIX., Act XXXII. of 1860, to certain Military Officers in that Presidency, who draw consolidated salaries in the Civil Department, in a sum equal to the Tentage of their Military Rank, it was held that, where in any case Tentage or Horse allowance is expressly included in the consolidated salary of a Military Officer, drawn as above, exemption should be allowed for the same under the Section of the Act quoted; but that otherwise the entire consolidated salary is subject to Income Tax.—(Financial Department Order No. 8202, dated 2nd July 1861.)

SATURDAY, AUGUST 3, 1861.

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL OF INDIA.

THE 20th JULY 1861.

THE following Bill was read a second time in the Legislative Council of India on the 20th July 1861, and was referred to a Select Committee who are to report thereon after the 27th October next:—

A Bill for the Consolidation and Amendment of the laws relating to the collection of Customs Duties.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient that the laws relating to the management and collection of customs duties, the prevention of smuggling, the warehousing of goods, and the importation and exportation of goods by sea, should be consolidated and amended; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Acts repealed.

I. The following Regulations and Acts and parts of Regulations and Acts of the Government of India, in so far as they relate to the import and export of goods by sea, are repealed; that is to say, Bengal Regulations IX. 1810, III. 1830, and VI. 1833; Acts XIV and XXV of 1836; Act XVI of 1837; Act XXV of 1843; Act VI of 1844; Act I of 1852; Act VII of 1859; Section III of Act XXII of 1859; Sections III and IV of Act X of 1860, and Sections I and II of Act XXIII of 1860; except in so far as they repeal the whole or part of any other Regulation or Act, or relate to duties leviable on Salt and Opium; and except as to acts done, offences committed, and liabilities incurred before the passing of this Act.

Rules and practice not repealed, altered, or repugnant to the provisions of this Act, to remain in force.

II. The rules and practice heretofore in force, for the levy of Duties of Customs on goods imported into or exported from any Port in India, shall continue to be in force, and shall continue to be observed and applied for the levy of Import and Export Duties, unless repealed or altered, or repugnant to the provisions of this Act.

Board or other controlling authority may revoke or alter previous orders.

III. The Board of Revenue or Commissioners of Customs or other chief customs authority, for the time being, may, from time to time, revoke any order or may make any alteration or addition to any former order made by them, not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act.

Local Government to appoint the necessary Officers.

IV. The Local Government shall appoint such persons as it may deem proper to exercise or perform the powers and duties conferred or imposed by this Act or any portion thereof.

Local Government may delegate its powers to Board of Revenue or other authority, and subordinate Officers liable to be punished by the authority appointing them.

V. The Local Government may delegate the whole or any portion of the powers with which it is invested by the preceding Section to any Board of Revenue, Commissioner, or other Controlling Officer of Customs; and all subordinate Officers who may be appointed by virtue of such delegated power, shall be liable to be dismissed, suspended, or fined to an extent not exceeding two months' pay, by the authority by which they were respectively appointed.

Ports for shipment and landing of goods to be declared by notification in the Gazette, and all goods shipped or landed at any place not so declared to be forfeited.

VI. It shall be lawful for the Governor or Lieutenant-Governor of any Presidency to declare by public notice in the Gazette what places alone within the territories of such Presidency shall be ports and sub-ports for the shipment and landing of merchandise, and to declare the limits thereof, and to appoint proper places within the same to be legal wharves for the landing and unlanding of goods, and to declare the bounds and extent of any such wharf, or annul the limit of any port, sub-port, or wharf, or alter or vary the names, bounds, and limits thereof; and all ports, sub-ports, and the respective limits thereof, and all wharves appointed, set out, and existing as such at the time of the passing of this Act, shall continue to be such ports, sub-ports, and wharves until annulled, varied, or altered by an order of Government; and all goods which may be landed or shipped, or which an attempt may be made to land or ship, or which may be brought into any river, creek, or arm of the sea for the purpose of being landed or shipped at any port or place other than such as shall be declared as above, shall be liable to confiscation, together with all ships, boats, carriages, or other means of conveyance engaged in such landing or shipment or attempt to land or ship.

Appointment of places to be legal wharves.

Local Government may declare warehousing ports.

VII. The Governor or Lieutenant-Governor of any Presidency may from time to time declare any port within the territories of such Presidency to be a warehousing port for the purposes of this Act; and the Board of Revenue, Commissioner of Customs, or other chief customs authority, may by their order, from time to time, approve and appoint warehouses or places of security in such ports, and direct in what different ports or in what divisions of such warehouses or places, and in what manner, any goods, and what sort of goods may, and may only, be warehoused, kept, and secured without payment of duty upon the first entry thereof; and the Board of Revenue or such other chief customs authority may also from time to time fix the amount of rent which shall be payable in respect of any goods deposited or secured in any of the Goverment warehouses; and all ports which may, previously to the passing of this Act, have been declared warehousing ports, or which may be existing as such at the time of the passing of this Act, shall continue to be such warehousing ports until annulled, varied, or altered by order of Government.

Board of Revenue or other controlling authority to fix rent for Government warehouses.

Import Customs.

VIII. Duties of customs shall be levied on goods imported by sea into any port or place in British India, not being a free port, from any port or place not subject to Her Majesty's Indian Government, and from any port or place in the Settlement of Prince of Wales' Island, Singapore, and Malacca, and from the port of Aden, according to such rates and with such exemptions as may now be in force by law, or may from time to time be enacted by the Legislature.

Export Customs.

IX. Duties of customs shall be levied on goods exported by sea from any port in British India, not being a free port, to any port or place not subject to Her Majesty's Indian Government and to any port or place in the Settlement of Prince of Wales' Island, Singapore, and Malacca, and to the port of Aden, according to such rates and with such exemptions as may now be in force by law, or may from time to time be enacted by the Legislature.

No exemptions from payment of duty except under special order except also on baggage.

X. No goods or articles whatever on which duties of customs are directed to be levied by any Act now in force or which may hereafter be enacted, shall be exempted from the payment of such duty or any part thereof, except under special order from the Board of Revenue or other controlling authority acting under the general orders of the local Government; provided that it shall be lawful for the Collector of Customs or other Officer in charge of a Custom House, to pass free of duty as heretofore, any baggage in actual use, at his discretion; and in case of any person applying to have goods passed as such, the Collector, acting under the general orders of the Board of Revenue or other chief controlling authority, shall determine whether they be baggage in actual use or goods subject to duty.

Prohibitions and restrictions.

XI. It shall be lawful for the Governor General in Council, by public Proclamation or Notification in the Gazette, to prohibit or restrict the importation or exportation of any particular class of goods; and if any of the goods enumerated in the subjoined table as goods, the importation or exportation of which is prohibited or restricted, or if any goods, the importation or exportation of which may hereafter be prohibited or restricted, shall be imported into or exported from British India, contrary to such prohibition or restriction, then, and in every such case, such goods shall be forfeited and shall be destroyed or otherwise disposed of as the Board of Revenue or other controlling authority may direct.

A Table of Articles the importation or exportation of which into or from British India is prohibited.

1. Books printed in infringement of any rights and privileges appertaining to copyright works as admitted by the customs authorities in England.

2. Coin, viz., false money or counterfeit Indian or English money.

3. Coin Silver, of India or England, or any money purporting to be such, not being of the established standard in weight or fineness.

4. Indecent or obscene prints, books, cards, lithographic or other engravings, or any indecent or obscene articles.

5. Articles of foreign manufacture or any packages of such articles bearing any names, brands, or marks being or purporting to be the names, brands, or marks of manufacturers resident in the United Kingdom.

6. Arms and ammunition, except fowling pieces and sporting powder bonâ fide imported or exported for private use under such rules as the customs authorities, acting under the general orders of the local Government, may from time to time direct.

7. Parts of articles, viz., any distinct or separate part of any article not accompanied by the other part, or all the other parts of such articles so as to be complete and perfect; also any article which, in consequence of its not being properly labelled or marked, would in such state be deteriorated in value. Provided that nothing herein contained shall apply to articles or parts of articles which are proved to the satisfaction of the Collector of Customs not to have been imported with any intent to defraud the customs revenue.

When new duties are imposed, old duties to remain in force, until new duties become chargeable.

XII. In all cases where new duties of customs are, or may be, imposed by an Act or Acts in lieu of any former duties payable at the time of the passing of such Act or Acts, such former duties shall be and continue payable until such new duties imposed in lieu thereof shall become chargeable, save and except in cases where the Act or Acts imposing such new duties shall otherwise provide.

Goods in warehouse when entered for home consumption to be chargeable with duties in force at the time of such entry.

XIII. All goods whatever which are, or may be, deposited in any warehouse or place of security under any Act passed or to be passed for the warehousing of goods without payment of duty on first importation thereof, or which may be imported and on board any ship, shall, in the event of any change of duties, or of the fixed valuations for duty, taking place before they are cleared for home consumption or re-exportation, be considered in every respect in relation thereto as if they were new importations, save and expect in cases where special provision shall be made in any such Act or Acts to the contrary.

Appeals how and by whom to be adjudicated.

XIV. If any dispute shall arise in respect to the construction of this Act or of any Act relating to customs duties, or in respect to any matter whatever relating to the importation or exportation of goods or merchandize or relating to the levy or the collection of the duties thereon, the Board of Revenue, the Commissioner of Customs or other chief Customs authority of the port at which the same may take place, shall settle the same, subject, however, to an appeal to the local Government acting under the general instructions of the Government of India.

Importation and Prohibition.

XV. It shall be lawful to import into British India any goods which are not, by this or any other law or by any order of the Governor General in Council, in force at the time of importation thereof, prohibited to be so imported. And it shall be lawful to warehouse, under the laws in force for the warehousing of goods, in warehouses duly approved for the warehousing of goods, without payment of duty on the first entry thereof, any goods subject to duties of customs, the importation and warehousing whereof is not prohibited or restricted by any law in force at the time of such importation.

Time of importation and time of arrival of Ships defined.

XVI. If upon the first levying or repealing of any duty, or the first permitting or prohibiting of any importation or at any other time, or for any of the purposes of this, or any other Act relating to the Customs, it shall become necessary to determine the precise time at which an importation of any goods shall be deemed to have had effect, such time shall be deemed to be the time at which the ship importing such goods had actually come within the limits of the Port at which such ship shall in due course be reported and such goods discharged.

Places may be fixed by the Local Government beyond which inward bound Vessels are not to proceed until a manifest has been delivered.

XVII. It shall be lawful for the local Government of any Presidency or Province by an order printed in the Government Gazette to fix a place in any River or Port, beyond which place it shall not be lawful for any inward bound vessel whether laden or in ballast arriving from Ports beyond the seas, to pass, until the Master or Commander thereof shall have delivered to the Pilot, Preventive Officer, or other person duly authorized to receive the same, a report or manifest made out in such form and containing such particulars as to the name, nation, tonnage, cargo and ports of lading of such ship, as may from time to time be directed by the Chief Customs Authority of the Port.

On failure Master to forfeit 1,000 Rupees.

XVIII. If such master shall wilfully fail to deliver such Report according to the particulars hereinbefore set forth as far as the same are applicable to such ship, cargo and voyage, or if such Report shall not contain a full and true specification of all the goods imported in the said ship, or if the particulars or any of them contained in such Report be false, such Master or Commander shall in each and every such case be liable to a penalty not exceeding 1,000 Rupees to be adjudged by the Collector or other Chief Officer of Customs.

Penalty for failure to report when vessel anchors below reporting station or to deliver a manifest of the Cargo.

XIX. And if any inward bound vessel arriving from Ports beyond the seas shall remain outside or below the limits fixed as above by the Local Government, the Master or Commander shall in like manner deliver to the Pilot or other duly authorized Officer, so soon as the vessel shall anchor, a manifest or report as above described; and if any vessel entering a Port for which there is a Custom House established, shall be at anchor therein for the space of twenty-four hours, and the Master and Commander thereof shall neglect to deliver the said manifest, or report to the Pilot on board, or other Officer authorized to receive the same, he shall for such neglect be liable to a fine not exceeding Rupees 1,000 to be adjudged by the Collector or other Chief Officer of Customs.

Vessel to come quickly to place of mooring or unlading.

XX. If any ship coming into any Indian Port, shall not come as quickly up to the proper place of mooring or unlading, without touching at any other place, as the nature of the Port will admit; and on proceeding to such proper place shall not bring to at the Stations appointed by the local Government for the boarding of ships by the Officers of Customs; or if, after arrival at such place, such ship shall remove from such place, except directly to some other proper place of mooring or unlading and with the knowledge of the proper Officer of the Customs, the Commander thereof shall be liable to a fine not exceeding Rupees 1,000, and the ship shall not be allowed to enter until such fine is paid.

Officers of the Customs to board ships, but Collector may direct discharge of cargo without Preventive Officer.

XXI. It shall be competent to the Collector of Customs at any Indian Port at his discretion, to send one or more Officers of Customs on board of any vessel at any time, and the Custom House Officer so sent shall remain on board of such vessel by day and by night, until it be otherwise ordered by the Collector of Customs. Provided always that it shall be in the power of the Collector to direct the discharge of cargo taking place without the presence of a Preventive Officer whenever he may see fit so to do.

Penalty for refusing to receive Custom House Officer on board.

XXII. Any Master or person in charge of such vessel, who shall refuse to receive a Custom House Officer on board, when so deputed, as above provided, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding the sum of Rupees 500 for each day during which such Officer shall not be received on board, which fine shall be adjudged by and at the discretion of the Collector of Customs; and the vessel, by the Master or person in charge of which such fine shall have been incurred, shall not be moved until the same shall have been paid.

Accommodation of Officers.

XXIII. The Commander of every vessel, who is bound to receive a Custom House Officer or Officers on board of such vessel, shall also be bound to receive on board one servant of such Officer or Officers, and to provide such Officers and such servants with suitable shelter and accommodation, and likewise with a due allowance of fresh water, and with the means of cooking on board; and if any Commander of a vessel shall wilfully disobey the directions contained in this Section, he shall be punished with fine not exceeding Rupees 500, to be adjudged by the Collector of Customs.

Custom House Officers to have free access to every part of the ship. May seal and secure goods, and Collector may authorize search and open locks.

XXIV. The Officers of Customs deputed as above provided on board any ship, shall have free access to every part of the ship, with power to fasten down hatch ways or entrances to the hold, and to mark any goods before landing, and to lock up, seal, mark, or otherwise secure, any goods on board such ship; and if any place or any box or chest in any such ship be locked, and the keys be withheld, such Officer shall report the same to the Collector of Customs, who may thereupon, if he shall see cause, issue his warrant or written order to search to the Officer on board, or to any other Officer under his authority; and, upon production of such order, the Officer bearing such order shall be competent to require that any such place or box or chest be opened in his presence; and if it be not opened upon his requisition, to break the same open; and any goods that may be found concealed therein, and that shall not be duly accounted for to the satisfaction of the Collector of Customs, shall be confiscated; and if any Master or person in charge of a vessel shall resist such Officer, or refuse to allow the vessel to be searched, when so ordered by the Collector of Customs; or if the Officer of Customs shall place any lock, mark or seal upon any goods, and such lock, mark or seal shall be wilfully opened, altered or broken, before due delivery of such goods; or if any such goods be secretly conveyed away; or if the hatchways or entrances to the hold, after having been fastened down by the Officers of Customs, shall be opened without his permission, then, and in every such case, the Master or person in charge of such ship shall be liable, upon conviction before a Magistrate or Justice of the Peace, to a penalty not exceeding Rupees 1,000.

Penalty for resistance or concealment of goods.

Bulk not to be broken until ship is entered at Custom House and bills of lading, &c. delivered.

XXV. No vessel arriving from ports beyond the seas shall be allowed to break bulk until the report or manifest described in Section XVII of this Act, and a copy thereof to be presented at the time of applying for entry inwards, shall have been received by the Collector of Customs, and order shall have been given by the said Collector for the discharge of the cargo; and the said Collector may refuse to give such order, until any port clearances, cocketts or other papers, known to be granted at the places from which the vessel is stated to have come, shall likewise have been delivered to him. The Master of every ship arriving from ports beyond the seas, shall also, at the time of applying for entry, deliver to the Collector of Customs, if required so to do, the bill of lading or a copy thereof for every part of the cargo laden on board, and shall answer all such questions relating to the ship, cargo, crew, and voyage, as shall be put to him by such Collector; and in case of failure or refusal to answer such questions truly, or to produce any such bill of lading or copy thereof, or if any such bill of lading or copy thereof shall be false, or if any bill of lading be altered or produced by any Master, and the goods expressed therein shall not have been bonâ fide shipped on board such ship, or if any bills of lading uttered or produced by any Master shall not have been received or made by him previously to his leaving the place where the goods expressed in such bill of lading or copy were shipped, or if, after the arrival of any ship within twenty miles of the coast, bulk shall be broken, or any alteration made in the stowage of the cargo of such ship, so as to facilitate the unlading of any part of such cargo, or if any part be stowed, destroyed, or thrown over board, or any package be opened, unless accounted for to the satisfaction of the Collector of Customs, in every such case such Master shall forfeit a sum of Rupees 1,000 to be adjudged by the Collector of Customs.

Penalty for false entry or report.

No goods to leave ship until entry of ship is made. Goods not agreeing in description and quantity as declared in the manifest how to be dealt with.

XXVI. No goods shall be allowed to leave any vessel, unless the same be duly entered in the report or manifest of such vessel, and if any goods be found on board in excess of the report or manifest, or not corresponding with the specification and description therein contained, a report thereon shall be made by the Custom House Officer on board, and all such goods shall be liable to be seized and confiscated, or shall be charged with such increased rates of duty as the Collector or other Controlling Authority may direct; and if goods entered in the report or manifest shall not be found on board the vessel, or if the quantity found be short, and the deficiency be not duly accounted for, the Master or Commander shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding Rupees 500 for every missing or deficient package of unknown value, and for twice the amount of duty chargeable on the goods deficient and unaccounted for, if capable of being assessed therewith; provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent the Collector of Customs from permitting the Master or Commander of any vessel to amend obvious errors, or to supply omissions from accident or inadvertence, by furnishing an amended or supplementary manifest, but the receiving of such shall always be discretionary, and it shall further be lawful for the Collector aforesaid to levy such fees on the receipt of an amended manifest as the Board of Revenue or other Controlling Authority may from time to time direct.

XXVII. If the contents of any package intended for exportation in the same ship shall be reported by the Master as being unknown to him, the Officers of Customs may open and examine such package on board, or bring the same to the Custom House for that purpose, and if there be found in such package any goods which are prohibited to be imported, such goods shall be forfeited unless the Board of Revenue or other Controlling Authority shall permit them to be exported.

Packages reported "contents unknown" may be opened and examined, and all prohibited goods contained therein forfeited.

XXVIII. The Captain, Master, Purser, or other person, in charge of any ship (having commission from Her Majesty or from any Foreign State) having on board any goods laden in Ports beyond the Seas, shall, on arrival, at any Port of British India, and before any part of such goods be taken out of such ship, or when called upon so to do by any Officer of the Customs, deliver an account in writing under his hand to the best of his knowledge of the quality and quantity of every package or parcel of such goods, and of the marks and numbers thereon, and of the names of the respective Shippers and Consignees of the same, and shall make and subscribe a declaration at foot of such account, declaring to the truth thereof, and shall also truly answer to the Collector such questions concerning such goods as shall be required of him, and on failure thereof such Captain, Master, Purser or other person shall forfeit the sum of Rupees 1,000, and all such ships shall be liable to such searches as merchant ships are liable to, and the Officers of Customs may freely enter and go on board all such ships and bring from thence on shore into the Custom House any goods found on board any such ship as aforesaid, subject nevertheless to such Regulations in respect of such ships of war, belonging to Her Majesty as shall from time to time be directed in that respect by the Governor-General in Council.

Person in charge of commissioned ships, British or Foreign, having goods on board to deliver an account, or forfeit Rupees 1,000

XXIX. No goods with the exception of passengers' baggage shall be discharged from any ship arriving from Ports beyond the seas on Sundays or on such other Holidays, or days on which the discharge of cargo may be prohibited by the Chief Customs Authorities, except with the written consent of the Collector of Customs; nor shall they be so discharged on any other days, except between such hours as may from time to time be appointed by the Board of Revenue or other Controlling Authority; nor shall any goods be discharged unless in the presence or with the authority of the proper Officer of the Customs; and the Master of any vessel who shall cause or suffer goods to be removed contrary hereto shall be liable to a fine not exceeding 1,000 Rupees, and the goods shall be liable to confiscation.

Goods landed on Sundays and other Holidays unless with permission liable to confiscation.

XXX. No goods which shall have been discharged under the authority of the proper Officer of the Customs shall be landed, except at such wharf or other place as shall be appointed for the landing of goods; nor shall any such goods, after having been discharged as aforesaid into any boat or craft, to be landed, be transhipped into any other boat or craft previously to their being landed, without the permission of the proper Officer of the Customs; and, if any such goods be landed, transhipped or removed contrary hereto, the same shall be liable to forfeiture; and if any goods shall be removed from any importing ship for the purpose of being landed and passed for importation, such goods shall be forthwith removed to and landed at the wharf or other place at which the same are directed to be landed; and if such goods are not so removed or landed, or if the boat or other craft containing such goods be found out of the proper track, between the ship and such wharf or other proper place of landing, and such deviation be not accounted for to the satisfaction of the Collector of Customs, then in each such case such goods shall be liable to be forfeited together with the barge, lighter, boat, or other vessel employed in receiving the same.

Goods landed at any other except appointed wharves and places, and in boats found out of proper track, liable to confiscation.

XXXI. When goods shall be sent from on boardship, for the purpose of being landed and passed for importation, there shall be sent with each boat-load or other separate despatch, a boat-note, specifying the number of packages, and the marks and numbers or other description thereof, and each boat-note shall be signed by an Officer of the vessel, and likewise by the Customs Officers who may be on board, and when there is no Preventive Officer on board by an Officer of the vessel alone; and if any imported goods be found in a boat proceeding to land without a boat-note, such goods shall be liable to be confiscated.

Goods landed without a boat-note liable to confiscation.

XXXII. If any person, after goods have been landed and before they have been passed through the Custom House, removes or attempts to remove them with the intention of defrauding the Revenue, such goods shall be forfeited.

Goods removed after landing and before due entry to be forfeited.

XXXIII. The importer of any goods liable to Duties of Customs, and intended to be delivered for home use on the landing thereof from the importing ship, or his agent, shall make entry of such goods, by delivering to the Collector of Customs a Bill of Entry thereof in such form and containing such particulars as may, from time to time, be directed by the chief customs authority of the port or place of import; and the particulars of such entry shall correspond with the particulars given of the same goods and packages in the report or manifest of the ship; and whenever the value of any goods is required to be stated in the entry, the importer, consignee, or his agent, shall subscribe a declaration of the truth of such value at the foot of such entry; and it shall be competent to the Collector of Customs whenever he shall see fit, to require the party so subscribing to attend and confirm the said written declaration and signature in his presence. Provided, however, that if the importer, consignee, or his agent, shall make a declaration before the Collector of Customs, to the effect that he is unable, from want of full information, to state the value and contents of any case, package, or parcel of goods, then the Collector shall permit him to open such case, package, or parcel, and examine the contents in the presence of the proper Officer of the Customs, previous to the full entry thereof.

Entry for home consumption.

XXXIV. Any person subscribing or attesting any declaration of the value of any goods upon an application to pass such goods through the custom house, not being the importer, exporter, proprietor, or consignee of the goods mentioned in such declaration, or not having proper and sufficient authority from the real importer, exporter, proprietor, or consignee of such goods, shall be liable for every such offence to forfeit a sum not exceeding 1,000 Rupees.

Any person not being the owner or the authorized agent attesting any declaration of the value of goods, to be fined.

XXXV. If the Duties on goods imported by sea, together with all charges of landing, freight, removal, and warehouse rent, be not paid; or if the goods be not duly warehoused within two months, from the date of the entry inwards of the ship in which they were imported; or within such further period as the Collector of Customs may direct, such goods may be sold and the proceeds thereof applied to the payment of duties, freight, and other charges; and the overplus, if any, shall be paid to the proprietor of the goods on his application for the same; provided that such application be made within one year from the date of the sale of the goods, or good reason be shown why such application has not been so made.

Goods not claimed or cleared within two months from the date of entry to be sold.

XXXVI. All articles of Indian produce or manufacture re-imported into any Indian Port, from any Port which is not an Indian Port, shall be deemed and taken to be, and be entered as foreign, and shall be liable to the same Duties, Rules, Regulations and restrictions, as such goods would be liable to on the first importation thereof, unless the same shall be re-imported within five years, after the exportation thereof, and it shall be proved to the satisfaction of the Collector of Customs, that the property in such goods has continued and still remains in the person by whom or on whose account the same had been exported, in which case the same may be entered as Indian goods, in such form and manner as the Chief Customs Authority of the Port may direct. Provided always, that all goods, for which any drawback of excise shall have been received on exportation, shall be deemed and taken to be foreign goods, unless by special permission of the Chief Customs Authority, and on repayment of such drawback.

Re-imported articles of country produce to be deemed foreign, unless re-importation takes place within five years, and unless it is proved that the property in such goods remains in the person who exported the same.

XXXVII. Upon the entry of any goods, the importer, his agent, or the consignee, as the case may be, shall deliver to the Collector of Customs two or more duplicates of the Bill of Entry thereof, according as the Collector of Customs may require. In such duplicates all sums and numbers may be expressed in figures.

Importer to deliver two or more duplicates of the Bill of Entry.

XXXVIII. Every importer, agent, or other person entering any goods, who shall fail to comply with the foregoing Regulations, in so far as they are respectively applicable to the goods so entered by him, shall forfeit and pay to the Government a sum not exceeding 200 Rupees.

Penalty for non-compliance with the foregoing regulations.

XXXIX. If any goods be taken or passed, without entry duly made, out of the Custom House or Wharf, or out of any warehouse, the same shall be forfeited. Provided always, that no entry shall be required in respect of the baggage of passengers, which may be examined, landed, and delivered under such Regulations as the Board of Revenue or other Chief Customs Authority may direct; but if any prohibited or uncustomed goods shall be found concealed in any such baggage, either before or after landing, the same shall be forfeited, together with the other contents of the package containing the same.

Goods delivered without entry to be forfeited.

No entry, however, requisite, for passengers' baggage.

XL. The Officers of Customs may, on the entry of any goods or at any time afterwards, take samples of such goods for examination, or for ascertaining the duties payable on such goods, or for such other purposes as the Collector of Customs may deem necessary; and such samples shall be disposed of and accounted for as the Board of Revenue or other controlling authority may direct.

Customs Officers may take samples of goods.

XLI. If the importer or consignee of any goods, except such as may have been previously declared by the master as not to be landed, shall not land such goods within fifteen days after the entry of the ship importing the same, or within such further period as the Collector of Customs shall direct, the Officers of Customs or master of the vessel may carry such goods to the Custom House; and if the cargo of any ship shall have been discharged within such period of fifteen days with the exception only of a small quantity of goods, the Officers of Customs may forthwith carry such remaining goods to the Custom House; and at any time after the arrival of such ship, the Collector of Customs or other Officer in charge of the Custom House, with the consent of the master of the vessel, may cause any small packages or parcels of goods to be taken thence to the Custom House, there to remain for due entry during the remainder of such period of fifteen days; and if the duties due upon such goods so conveyed to the Custom House, together with the freight, primage, charges of landing and removal, warehouse rent, and other charges to which such goods may be liable, shall not be paid within two months from the date of entry of the ship, or within such further period as the Collector of Customs may direct, such goods may be sold and the proceeds thereof applied first to the payment of freight, primage, and charges as aforesaid, next to the payment of duties; and the overplus, if any, shall be paid to the proprietor of the goods or his agent on his application for the same; but if such goods or any of them shall be of a perishable nature, the Collector of Customs may forthwith direct sale thereof and apply the proceeds in like manner, provided that if any earlier period than fifteen days after the report or entry of any ship is specified in the bills of lading for the discharge of her cargo or any part thereof, and if the importer, owner, or consignee of such cargo or his agent shall neglect to enter and land the same within such specified period, at any Port or place approved by the Collector of Customs, the master of such ship may, immediately on the expiration of such period, himself enter and land such goods, and the Collector of Customs shall thereupon be bound to take charge of the said goods, and to hold the same subject to the ship's lien for freight, primage, and other charges as aforesaid.

Claims to abatement of duty on account of damage how to be treated.

XLII. No claim for any abatement of duty in respect of any goods imported into any Indian port shall be allowed on account of damage, unless the damaged condition of such goods be ascertained and certified on the first examination thereof by a Custom House Appraiser, or such other Officer as the Collector may appoint to that duty.

Damaged goods to be sold by auction and duty levied on amount of gross sale proceeds, less duty.

XLIII. Goods which are ascertained to the satisfaction of the Collector of Customs or other Controlling Officer to be damaged, may be allowed to be sold by public auction within thirty days from the date of entry, at such time and place as the Collector of Customs shall approve or appoint; and the duty thereon shall be adjusted on the gross amount realized by the bonâ fide sale of such goods, as proved by the original account sales, without any abatement or deduction whatsoever, except of so much as the duties payable on such gross amount shall consist of. Provided that in respect to goods for which a value has been fixed under the provisions of Section of this Act, no abatement of customs shall be allowed unless they be deteriorated to the extent of one-fifth of their value, as per tariff valuation.

Goods derelict and wreck to be treated as foreign goods.

XLIV. All goods derelict, jetsam, flotsam, and wreck, brought or coming into any Indian Port, shall at all times be subject to the same duties as goods of the like kind are subject to on importation at such Port, unless it shall be shown to the satisfaction of the Collector of Customs that such goods are the growth, produce, or manufacture of any country or place, by virtue whereof the same are entitled to be admitted duty free, or that the same, if liable to duty, are entitled to an abatement in respect of damage.

The Collector may, in certain cases, direct that goods may be weighed or measured on board-ship before landing.

XLV. The Collector of Customs, whenever he shall see fit, may require that goods brought by sea, and stowed in bulk, shall be weighed or measured on board-ship, before being sent to land, and may levy duty according to the result of such weighing or measurement.

When goods are weighed or measured on board, the Collector may require the owner to make a cash deposit as security on account of Duty.

XLVI. When the Collector of Customs shall see fit to require such weighment or measurement to be made, it shall be competent to him to demand that a deposit in cash be paid over by the importer previous to an order being given for such weighment or measurement; and out of such deposit the sum ascertained to be payable as Duty shall be deducted according to the result of such weighment or measurement.

Goods irregularly or unauthorizedly removed to be confiscated.

XLVII. If any goods to be imported shall be removed from any ship, craft, wharf, or other place, unless with the sanction of the proper Officers of Customs, or if any goods entered to be warehoused or to be re-warehoused shall be carried into the warehouse, unless with the authority, or under the care of the proper Officers of Customs, and in such manner, by such persons, within such time, and by such roads or ways, as such Officers shall direct, such goods shall be liable to be forfeited.

Importers may, under certain restrictions, warehouse goods.

XLVIII. It shall be lawful for any person who imports goods into any warehousing port, to lodge such goods in any public warehouse, or in any private warehouse licensed in the manner hereinafter described. Provided that nothing herein contained shall be construed to render it incumbent on Government to provide accommodation for the warehousing of goods.

Application to be made for the admission of goods into warehouse. Goods first to be assessed for Duty, ware house-keeper to be answerable for weight or guage of the Custom House, allowing for wastage.

XLIX. Applications for the admission of such goods into such warehouses as aforesaid shall be made in Form A attached to this Act, or according to such other form as may, from time to time, be prescribed by the Board of Revenue or other Controlling Authority; and the form shall be signed by the importer, owner, or consignee; and no goods shall be lodged in any such warehouse until they shall have been assessed for Customs Duty, in the same manner as goods intended to be passed for home consumption; and the keeper of every such warehouse shall be answerable for the weight or guage reported by the Custom House Officers, who shall have assessed the said goods, deducting the wastage hereinafter allowed.

Misdescription of goods punishable. Errors to be rectified before and not after entry into warehouse.

L. When goods shall be passed by tale, or by package, every omission or misdescription tending to injure the revenue shall be an offence punishable with fine, not exceeding ten times the greatest amount of Duty which could have been lost to Government in consequence of such omission or misdescription; and if goods shall have been overstated in quantity or value, the error may be rectified prior to the lodging of the said goods in such warehouse as aforesaid, but not after the goods have been so lodged.

Packages to be marked and numbered before reception into warehouse.

LI. No package of goods shall be admitted into any public or licensed warehouse, unless numbered and marked in plain and legible characters, with the initials of the owner, importer, or consignee, or other distinguishing mark, and with a description of the goods contained therein; and all such goods shall be deposited in the warehouse, in the packages in which they shall have been imported, except such goods as are permitted to be bulked, lotted, sorted, packed, or re-packed, in the warehouse, after the landing thereof; in which case they shall be deposited in the packages in which the same shall be when the account thereof is taken by the proper Officer; and if any such goods are not so deposited, or if any alteration shall afterwards be made in goods so deposited, or in the packing thereof in the warehouse, or if the same shall be removed from the room in the warehouse in which the same are deposited, without the presence or sanction of the proper Officers, except for delivery under the proper warrant, order, or authority for that purpose, they shall be forfeited, and the Board of Revenue or other Chief Customs Authority may direct what goods may be bulked, lotted, sorted, packed or re-packed; and determine in respect to what goods the account may be taken in any warehouse, and within what time after the landing thereof, and on what conditions.

Bonds under what circumstances to be taken, and under what conditions.

LII. When the Import Duty chargeable upon any goods warehoused under the provisions of this Act shall exceed the sum of 100 Rupees, the importer or consignee shall be allowed to execute a bond for the amount of Duty so chargeable in the form B hereunto annexed, or according to such other form as may, from time to time, be prescribed by the Board of Revenue or other Chief Customs Authority; and when such bond shall have been executed, the goods shall be allowed to remain in warehouse for a period not exceeding fifteen months, without being liable to the demand of Import Duty thereon. The bond to be taken under this Section shall be for twice the amount of Import Duty assessed on the goods, and shall stipulate for interest at such rate, not exceeding 6 per Cent., as shall be fixed by the Board or other Chief Customs Authority, to be payable from the date of the demand of any sum due on account of the goods; and the party executing the bond shall be bound thereby for the payment of all duties and charges that shall be claimable on account of the goods, and of any penalties that may be incurred for violation of the Customs Laws in respect to the same.

Collector to have power to proceed against goods or under the bond at his option. And to detain goods and sell after ten days, if the demand be not paid. Proceeds of sale to be written off on the bond, and surplus paid over to the owner of the goods. No transfer to bar this process.

LIII. If any owner, importer, or consignee shall omit to pay any Duty or penalty that may fall due on account of goods warehoused under this Act, it shall be lawful for the Collector of Customs, at his option, either to proceed upon the bond, or to cause such portion, as to him shall seem fit, of the warehoused goods, on account of which the Duty or penalty may be demanded, to be detained in satisfaction thereof; and if the demand be not discharged within ten days from the date of such detention, (due notice thereof being given to the importer, owner, or consignee), the goods so detained shall be liable to be sold in satisfaction of the demand; and the proceeds of any sale so made of goods so detained, shall be written off upon the bond in discharge thereof to the amount received, less the charges of the sale; and if there be any surplus obtained from such sale, beyond the amount demanded, such surplus shall be paid over to the owner or consignee of the goods; and no transfer or assignment of the goods shall prevent the Collector from proceeding against goods in the manner above provided for any demand of Customs Duties or penalty claimed thereon.

Bonds may at the discretion of the Board of Revenue or other controlling authority be renewed.

LIV. If at the end of fifteen months the owner or consignee of goods shall desire to keep them in warehouse for a further period, the Board of Revenue or other Chief Customs Authority shall be competent to permit him so to keep them for a further period, not exceeding fifteen months, on the bonds being renewed by the parties so making application.

Goods relanded from a vessel put back may be warehoused without bond.

LV. When a vessel, after having cleared from the port, shall return, and the owners, agents, or shippers of the cargo of such vessel, or any part thereof, shall desire to land the same for re-export, such goods shall be admitted to the warehouse; and, being so declared and registered, re-export may be made thereof under the previous settlement for duty; and no bond shall be taken on account Section IX of Act XXV of 1836, of duties for such relanded goods, unless the goods shall be liable to duty on being passed through the Custom House for importation.

Reserved Duty to be paid on the re-exportation of bonded goods.

LVI. Upon the re-exportation, by sea, of goods imported and warehoused under bond for the Duty, as provided in this Act, within the period during which such goods are by this Act permitted to continue in warehouse, and upon payment of all reserved duty which may be due on account of such goods, and of any charges of penalties that may have been incurred on account of such goods, the bond executed at the time or lodging the goods in warehouse shall be deemed to have been discharged, and shall be cancelled accordingly.

Customs Officer to take account of goods for warehouse.

LVII. Upon the entry and landing of any goods to be warehoused, or within such period as the Collector of Customs shall direct, with respect to the same or any of them, the proper Officer of Customs shall take a particular account of such goods on the wharf at which they shall be so landed or in the warehouse, if they be goods of which the account is permitted to be taken in the warehouse, and shall cause to be marked on each package of which such account shall be taken, the contents thereof, and shall enter in a book prepared for that purpose, containing the name of the importing ship, and of the person in whose name they are entered, the marks, numbers, and contents of each package, the description of the goods, and the warehouse or place in the warehouse in which the same shall be deposited; and when the same shall have been so deposited, with the authority of such Officer, he shall certify that the entry and warehousing of such goods is complete, and such goods shall, from that time, be considered goods warehoused, and if any such goods shall be delivered, withheld, or removed from the proper place of examination, before the same shall have been duly examined and certified by such Officer, such goods shall be deemed to be goods not duly entered or warehoused, and shall be forfeited.

LVIII. If the occupier of any warehouse shall neglect to stow the goods warehoused therein so that easy access may be had to every package and parcel thereof, he shall, for every such neglect, forfeit the sum of 50 Rupees.

The occupier of a warehouse neglecting to stow goods properly, to be punished.

LIX. If the occupier of any ware house shall not produce to any Officer of Customs, on his request, any goods deposited in such warehouse, which shall not have been duly cleared and delivered therefrom, such occupier shall, for every such neglect, forfeit the sum of 50 Rupees in respect of every package or parcel not so produced, besides the Duties due thereon.

The occupier of a warehouse neglecting to produce goods when required, to be punished.

LX. If any goods entered to be warehoused shall not be duly warehoused in pursuance of such entry, or being duly warehoused shall be fraudulently concealed in or removed from the warehouse, or abstracted from any package, or transferred from one package to another, or otherwise, for the purpose of illegal removal or concealment, they shall be forfeited.

Goods entered to be warehoused, if not duly warehoused or concealed or removed, to be confiscated.

LXI. If the importer or proprietor of any goods warehoused, or if any person in his employ shall clandestinely open the warehouse, or shall, except in the presence of the proper Officer of Customs acting in the execution of his duty, gain access to the goods, such importer or proprietor shall, for every such offence, forfeit the sum of 1,000 Rupees.

Importer or proprietor of warehoused goods clandestinely gaining access, to be fined.

LXII. If any goods shall be taken out of any warehouse without due entry of the same with the proper Officer of Customs, the occupier of such warehouse shall forthwith pay the Duties due upon such goods, and every person so taking out any goods without payment of Duty, or who shall aid, assist or be concerned therein, and every person who shall wilfully destroy or embezzle any goods duly warehoused, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall, upon conviction, suffer the punishment by law inflicted in cases of misdemeanor. If such person shall be an Officer of Customs or Excise, not acting in the due execution of his duty, and shall be prosecuted to conviction by the importer, consignee, or proprietor of such goods, no Duty shall be payable for or in respect of such goods, and the damage occasioned by such waste, spoil, or embezzlement, shall, with the sanction of the Government, be repaid or made good to such importer, consignee, or proprietor by the Board of Revenue or other Chief Customs Authority.

Duty on goods taken out of warehouse without entry to be paid by occupier of warehouse. Persons illegally taking goods out of warehouse, or destroying goods, to be punished.

Importer or consignee, if defrauded by Officer, to be indemnified.

LXIII. If any goods lodged in a warehouse, in the manner aforesaid, shall be removed or taken from the warehouse otherwise than for exportation by sea, or if the goods be not cleared from the warehouse and exported at the expiration of the time during which such goods are permitted by this Act to remain in warehouse, the Collector of Customs shall demand the full amount of Import Duty chargeable thereon, and any charges or penalties that may have been incurred. And if the amount so claimed be not paid within ten days from the date of the demand, the Collector of Customs shall be entitled to realize the same, either by putting the bond in suit, or, at his option, by causing the goods, or any sufficient portion, thereof, to be sold in satisfaction of the demand.

On goods being removed otherwise than for export full Duty to be paid.

LXIV. Whenever any goods warehoused and bonded as aforesaid, shall be removed from any public or licensed warehouse, the Collector of Customs shall cause such removal to be noted on the back of the bond, and every note so made shall specify the quantity and description of goods removed, the purposes for which they have been removed, the date of removal, the name of the person removing them, the number and date of the export pass under which they have been taken away if removed for exportation by sea, or of the import pass or order if removed for home consumption, and the amount of duty paid.

Removal of goods to be noted on the bond, with particulars.

LXV. A register shall be kept of all bonds entered into for Custom Duties on goods warehoused as aforesaid, and entry shall be made in the said register of all particulars prescribed in the preceding Section of this Act as to be noted on the bonds; and when the register shall show that the entire quantity of the goods covered by any bond has been withdrawn from warehouse, either through their being passed for home consumption on the payment of Duties, or through re-exportation by sea, and payment of the reserved Duties upon such re-export, it shall be competent to, and shall be the duty of the Collector of Customs to cancel the bond as discharged in full, and to deliver it so cancelled to the parties who shall have executed or who shall be authorized to receive the same.

A register of bonds to be kept: when goods have been duly cleared, the bonds are to be cancelled and returned to the obligee.

LXVI. The warehouses of the Custom House, together with such other buildings as the local Government shall from time to time direct, shall be public warehouses for the reception of goods under the provisions of this Act; and every public warehouse shall be under the lock and key of the person whom the local Government shall appoint to be keeper of such warehouse; and such keeper shall be responsible for all Duties connected with the charge of goods, their reception into, and delivery from the warehouse.

LXVII. The Board of Revenue or other Customs Authority shall determine what goods shall be admitted into any public warehouse, and in what manner and on what terms they shall be admitted; and shall, from time to time, fix rates of hire for every Government warehouse, or for the custody of the goods therein; and a table of the rates so fixed shall be placed in a conspicuous part of every such warehouse.

The Customs Officers to decide what goods are to be warehoused, and on what terms.

LXVIII. The owners or consignees of goods lodged in a public or licensed warehouse under this Act, or their agents, shall have access to their goods at any time within the hours of business, in the presence of a Custom House Officer, who shall be deputed to accompany them, upon their making application in writing to the Collector of Customs, or to the warehouse-keeper, for the purpose. Provided that when a Custom House Officer is deputed as above, the parties making the application shall pay into the hands of the Collector of Customs a sufficient sum to enable him to meet the expense of employing special Officer for this purpose, whenever he may find it expedient so to do.

Owners to have access to warehoused goods attended by a Custom House Officer during business hours.

LXIX. The expenses of carriage, packing, and stowage of goods, on their reception into or removal from a warehouse, shall, if paid by the Collector or warehouse-keeper, be chargeable on the goods, and be defrayed by the owners or consignees, in like manner as the Customs Duties, before the goods are removed; and, if the goods be lodged in a public warehouse, the owners or consignees shall further pay monthly the rent and warehouse dues, on receiving a bill or written demand from the Collector or warehouse-keeper for the same; and if the bill for rent or warehouse dues be not discharged within ten days from the date of presentation, the Collector of Customs shall have power (any private transfer or assignment of the goods notwithstanding,) to cause to be sold by public auction such sufficient portion of the goods as he may select, in liquidation of his demand.

Expenses of carriage, packing, &c., are to be borne by the owners, and to be realized as Customs Duties. Bill for rent to be sent in monthly, and if not paid in ten days, goods may be sold in satisfaction.

LXX. The Import Duty on all goods shall be settled on the quantity or value thereof, as the case may be, registered at the time of importation, without any deduction whatever. Provided always that the keeper of every warehouse indicated by this Act shall, in accounting with the Customs Department for warehoused goods under his charge, be allowed ullage and wastage according to the following table, or according to such other table as may, from time to time, be directed by the Local Government acting under the general instructions of the Governor General of India in Council.

LXXI. The Board of Revenue or other Chief Customs Authority shall have power to license warehouses belonging to private persons for the reception of goods, bonded for Duty under the rules of this Act, in like manner as prescribed for public warehouses; and every license so granted to a private warehouse shall be liable to be revoked at pleasure by the Board of Revenue or other Chief Customs authority, unless otherwise specially stipulated in the license.

Board or other Controlling Authority may license any private warehouse. License to be revoked at pleasure unless otherwise stipulated.

LXXII. Applications for licenses for private warehouses shall be drawn up in the form marked "C" annexed to this Act, or according to such other form as may, from time to time, be prescribed by the Board of Revenue or other Chief Customs Authority, and shall specify

Application for license for private warehouses to be according to form, with particulars filled up.

the particulars therein stated, and the situations of the warehouses, and their distances respectively from the Custom House in English yards.

Collector or warehouse-keeper to have access to all licensed warehouses for himself and his Officers. Proprietors refusing admittance subject to penalty of 1,000 Rupees and withdrawal of license. Bonds for duty to be put in suit seven days after notice of such penalty or of withdrawal of license.

LXXIII. The Collector of Customs or other warehouse-keeper shall have access for himself or for any Officer he may depute for the purpose, to any private warehouse licensed as above, and if the proprietor thereof shall not open the same when required, or shall refuse to admit the Collector or warehouse keeper or the Officer of either upon demand made at any time within the hours of business at the port, the proprietor of the warehouse shall be liable to a fine not exceeding 1,000 Rupees, and further to have the license of the warehouse cancelled and withdrawn. All bonds executed for duty chargeable on goods deposited in any private warehouse licensed as above, shall become due and be put in suit for the levy of the duty and other demands of Customs after seven days shall have passed from the date when the Collector of Customs or warehouse-keeper shall give notice of any license being withdrawn.

For deficiencies beyond allowed wastage, party warehousing the goods to forfeit ten times the duty on the deficiency, and on excesses, ten times the duty to be charged and goods to be detained until the penalty incurred is paid.

LXXIV. If goods lodged in a private warehouse shall be found to be deficient at the time of delivery therefrom, beyond the allowance for wastage prescribed in the table annexed to Section LXX of this Act, the owner or consignee or other party who may have lodged the goods in the warehouse, shall, unless the deficiency be accounted for to the satisfaction of the Collector of Customs, forfeit to Government a sum equal to five times the duty chargeable on the quantity of goods deficient; and if the goods be found to exceed the registered quantity, such excess, unless similarly accounted for, shall be charged with five times the ordinary duty thereon; and when any penalty shall be incurred under this Section, the goods shall not be removed until the same is paid Collector may issue warrant to cause packages lodged in warehouse to be opened and examined.

LXXV. The Collector of Customs shall have authority at any time to issue his warrant or written order to cause any goods or packages lodged in a public or private warehouse to be opened and weighed or otherwise examined as he may direct; and after goods shall have been so opened or examined, he shall cause the same to be sealed or marked in such manner as to him may seem fit, and when goods shall have been so sealed and marked, after examination, they shall not be again opened without permission from the Collector of Customs, except when the proprietor or consignee shall apply to have them opened; and in every such such case, the packages shall again be sealed or marked as before.

Goods not to be removed from warehouse except under application to the Collector of Customs.

LXXVI. No goods shall be removed from any warehouse except under application to the Collector of Customs for the goods to be passed for export or for home consumption, in like manner as for other goods passed through the Custom House, or for removal to another warehouse, as prescribed in Section LXXVIII of this Act.

Applications for removal of goods to be made according to prescribed form, and twenty-four hours' notice to be given.

LXXVII. Applications to remove goods from warehouse shall be made in the form marked "D" hereunto annexed, or according to such form as may hereafter be substituted for the same by the Board of Revenue or other Chief Customs Authorities; and twenty-four hours' notice shall ordinarily be given to the Collector of Customs or warehouse-keeper of the intention to remove goods.

Goods may be removed from one warehouse to another, application being made according to prescribed form.

LXXVIII. Owners or consignees of goods warehoused and bonded for Duty under this Act, may remove the same from one public or licensed warehouse to any other, and when they shall desire so to remove goods, they shall make application in the form marked "E" hereunto annexed, or according to such other form as may, from time to time, be prescribed by the Board of Revenue or other Chief Customs Authority, and containing the particulars specified therein.

Bonded goods may be removed from one port to another.

LXXIX. Any goods warehoused at any port in India may be removed by sea or by inland carriage to any other Indian Port in which the like kind of goods may be warehoused on importation, under the provision of this or any other law relating to the customs, to be re-warehoused at such other port; and may again be removed as often as may be required to any other such port to be there re-warehoused; or may be removed, with the permission of the proper Officers of Customs, from any warehouse in any port to any other warehouse in the same port, under such Regulations and with such security as the Board of Revenue or other Chief Customs Authority may direct, on the delivery to the proper officer, by the person requiring such removal, of a request note, stating the particulars of the goods required to be removed, the name of the port or of the warehouse, if in the same port, to which the same are intended to be removed, and such other information, in such manner and form, as the Board of Revenue or the proper Officer may direct or require.

Officers at port of removal to transmit account of goods to Officers at port of destination.

LXXX. On the delivery of any goods for removal, an account containing the particulars thereof shall be transmitted by the proper Officers of the port of removal to the proper Officers of the port or place of destination, and the persons requiring the removal thereof shall enter into bond, with one sufficient surety, in a sum equal at least to the duty chargeable on such goods, for the due arrival and warehousing thereof at the port or place of destination within such time as the Board of Revenue or other Chief Customs Authority may direct, such bond to be taken by the Collector or other proper Officer, either of the port or place of removal, or the port or place of destination, as shall best suit the residence or convenience of the parties interested in such removal, and if such bond shall have been given at the intended port or place of destination, a certificate thereof, under the hand of the Collector or other proper Officer of such port, shall, at the time of the entering of such goods, be produced to the Collector or other proper Officer of the port of removal, and such bond shall not be discharged, unless such goods shall have been produced to the proper Officer and duly re-warehoused at the port of destination within the time allowed for such removal; or shall have been otherwise accounted for to the satisfaction of the Collector of Customs, nor until the full Duties due upon any deficiency of such goods not so accounted for shall have been paid; but any remover may enter into a general bond, with such sureties, in such amount, and under such conditions as the Board of Revenue or other Chief Customs Authority may approve, for the removal, from time to time, of any goods from one warehouse to another, either in the same or different ports, and for the due arrival and re-warehousing of the same at the place of destination, within such time or times as the said Board or other authority may direct.

Goods on arrival at port of destination to be subject to same regulations as goods on first importation.

LXXXI. Upon the arrival of such goods at the port or place of destination, they shall be entered and warehoused in the same manner and under the same Laws, Rules, and Regulations, in so far as the same can be made applicable, as are required on the entry and warehousing of goods on the first importation thereof.

Goods brought into one Indian Port, but intended for another Indian Port, may be transhipped without payment of Duty, on security being given.

LXXXII. When any goods are brought in any ship into any Indian Port, and application is made to tranship such goods to another ship for removal to some other port in British India, such transhipment shall be allowed without the payment of Duty at the port of transhipment, provided that the person requiring such transhipment shall enter into a bond, with such security as may be required of him, in a sum equal to the Duty chargeable on such goods, for the due arrival and entry thereof at the port or place of destination within such time as the Collector of Customs may direct; and such goods shall thereupon be treated and considered in every particular as warehoused goods, removed under the provisions of Section LXXIX of this Act. Provided that an Officer of Customs shall in all cases be deputed to superintend the removal of such goods from vessel to vessel.

On arrival of goods at port of destination, they may, after formal re-warehousing, be entered for exportation or home use on payment of Duties.

LXXXIII. If, upon the arrival of goods so removed as aforesaid at the port of destination, the parties shall be desirous forthwith to export the same, or to pay Duty thereon for home use, without actually lodging the same in the warehouse for which they have been entered and examined to be warehoused, the Officers of Customs at such port may, after all the formalities of entering and examining such goods for re-warehousing have been duly performed, permit the same to be entered and shipped for exportation, or to be entered and delivered for home use, upon payment of the Duties due thereon, as if such goods had been actually lodged in such warehouse, and all goods so exported, or for which the Duties have been so paid, shall be deemed to have been duly cleared from the warehouse.

Goods in warehouse may be sorted, repacked, &c.

LXXXIV. With the sanction of the Collector of Customs, and after such notice given by the respective importers or proprietors, and at such times and under such regulations and restrictions as the Board of Revenue or other Chief Customs authority shall, from time to time, require and direct, it shall be lawful in the warehouse to sort, separate, pack, and repack any goods, and to make such alterations therein as may be necessary for the preservation, sale, shipment, or disposal thereof (such goods to be repacked in the packages in which they were imported, or in such other packages as the Collector shall permit); and also to fill up any casks of wine or spirits from any casks of the same respectively secured in the same warehouse; and also to mix any wines of the same sort, erasing from the cask all import brands, unless the whole of the wine so mixed be of the same brand; and also to take such samples of goods as may be allowed by the Collector of Customs, with or without entry, and with or without payment of Duty, except as the same may eventually become payable on a deficiency of the original quantity; and after such goods have been so separated and repacked in proper or approved packages, the Collector of Customs may, at the request of the importer or proprietor of such goods, cause or permit any refuse, damaged, or surplus goods occasioned by such separation or repacking (or, at the like request, any goods which may not be worth the Duty) to be destroyed, and may remit the Duty payable thereon.

If goods be damaged by fire, &c., the importer not entitled to compensation.

LXXXV. The owners and consignees of goods shall not be entitled to claim from the Collector of Customs or warehouse-keeper, any compensation for any loss or injury that may occur to such goods while they are being passed into or out of a warehouse, or while they remain therein, unless such loss or injury shall be proved to have been occasioned by the wilful act or neglect of the warehouse-keeper or the Officers of the Customs.

Customs Authorities may remit Duties on warehoused goods lost or destroyed, and if goods are damaged, Duty to be levied on actual value.

LXXXVI. If any goods warehoused, or entered to be warehoused, or entered to be delivered from the warehouse, shall be lost or destroyed by unavoidable accident, either on ship-board, or in landing, or in receiving into the warehouse, or in the warehouse, the Board of Revenue or other Chief Customs Authority may remit or return the Duties due thereon. Provided that, if any goods be destroyed in a private warehouse, notice thereof be given to the Collector of Customs within forty-eight hours of the discovery of the accident, and if goods, when lodged in a warehouse, shall receive damage through unavoidable accident, they shall be assessed for Duty according to their actual value, and bond for the same shall be executed for the unexpired term of warehousing.

Permission for entry outwards to be obtained before export cargo is put on board.

LXXXVII. No vessel shall be entitled to entry outwards, or to take on board any part of her export cargo, until a written application for such purpose shall have been made by the Master of such vessel, or by his authorized agent, to the Collector of Customs, nor until an order shall have

Goods not to be shipped except on proper days and places, nor until entry and clearance.

LXXXVIII. No goods shall be shipped, put off, or water-borne to be shipped for exportation from any port or place in British India, except on days not being Sundays or other holidays, or days on which the lading of cargo may be prohibited by the Chief Customs Authorities; nor from any place, except some wharf or other place duly appointed for such purpose; nor without the presence or authority of the proper Officer of Customs; nor before the due entry outwards of such ship, and due entry of such goods; nor before such goods shall have been duly cleared for shipment. And it shall be lawful for the Custom House Officers to open all packages, and fully to examine all goods shipped or brought for shipment at any place in British India; and all goods shipped or attempted to be shipped contrary hereto shall be liable to confiscation, together with the boat, lighter or craft in which they are water-borne for shipment.

On entry outwards bond for the shipping and landing shall be given.

LXXXIX. Before any warehoused goods, goods subject to Duties of excise, or entitled to any drawback of customs on exportation, or exportable only under particular Rules, Regulations or restrictions, shall be permitted to be exported, the exporter or his agent shall, if required so to do, deliver to the Collector a bond-note or account of such goods, and give security by bond in double the amount of Duty payable by law upon the importation of such goods, with one sufficient surety, that such goods shall be duly shipped and exported, and shall be landed at the place for which they are duly entered outwards, or otherwise accounted for, to the satisfaction of the Collector of Customs; and such bond-note, when certified by the proper Officer, shall be the export entry for such goods.

Exporter to deliver shipping bill before shipping any goods.

XC. Before any goods shall be shipped, or water-borne to be shipped, for exportation, the exporter or his agent shall deliver to the Collector of Customs or other proper Officer a shipping-bill of such goods in the following form, or according to such form as may, from time to time, be prescribed by the Board of Revenue or Chief Customs Authority, and containing the particulars indicated therein as required thereby:—

Shipping Bill.

No vessel to depart without a port clearance.

XCI. No vessel shall depart from any port of British India without a port clearance being granted by the Collector of Customs or other Officer duly authorised to grant the same. Applications for port clearance shall be made at least twenty-four hours before the intended departure of the vessel; and if any vessel shall depart or attempt to depart without a port clearance the master shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding 1,000 Rupees, which may be recovered from the master or any owner of the vessel.

The master of a vessel, on applying for port clearance, to deliver a manifest and certificates.

XCII. The master of every vessel intending to leave any port of British India shall, at the time of applying for port clearance, deliver to the Collector of Customs or other duly authorized Officer, a manifest, in duplicate, according to such form as may, from time to time, be prescribed by the Customs Authorities, containing a full and true specification of all goods to be exported in the vessel, and shall also deliver to the Collector of Customs or other duly authorised Officer, such certificates as the Collector of Customs, acting under the general instructions of the Local Government, may demand or require. And the Collector of Customs, or other duly authorised Officer, on being satisfied with the said certificates, and with the correctness of the manifest, shall grant a port clearance to the master, returning at the same time to the master one copy of the manifest duly countersigned by the proper Officer of the Customs.

XCIII. The Collector of Customs shall be competent to refuse port clearance until the required manifest and certificates are produced, and until port dues and all other charges or penalties, due either by the ship or the master thereof, are duly paid.

Port clearance not to be granted until all documents are delivered and charges paid.

XCIV. If any goods liable to any Duty on importation, or taken from the warehouse to be exported, or entitled to drawback on exportation, which are enumerated in the manifest of any ship, shall not be duly shipped before the departure of such ship, or shall not be duly certified by the proper Officer as short-shipped, such goods shall be liable to be forfeited; or if any goods shall be taken on board such ship, not being enumerated in such manifest, the master of such ship shall forfeit the sum of 50 Rupees in respect of every package of such goods; and if any goods duly shipped on board such ship shall be landed at any other place than that for which they shall have been cleared, unless otherwise accounted for to the satisfaction of the Collector of Customs, the master of such ship shall forfeit a sum equal to treble the value of such goods so landed.

Goods on board to correspond with the manifest.

XCV. If any goods shall be shipped, put off, or water-borne to be shipped without being duly cleared, or otherwise contrary to the provisions of this Act, the same shall be forfeited.

Goods shipped contrary to the provisions of this Act to be forfeited.

XCVI. Upon any goods liable to duty that may be passed through the Custom House for shipment, the application for which shall be presented after port clearance shall have been granted, double of the prescribed Duty shall, in all cases, be levied; and if the goods be free or have already paid import Duty, or have been imported free under certificate, 5 per cent upon the market value shall be levied thereon; or if the same be imported goods entitled to drawback, the drawback shall be forfeited; but no separate duty shall be levied on drawback goods. Provided, however, nothing in this Section shall be deemed to apply to shipments of treasure or of opium.

Goods passed for shipment after port clearance has been granted how to be treated.

XCVII. Upon an application being made, the duty levied upon goods not shipped or upon goods shipped and afterwards re-landed may be returned to the exporter; but no such refund shall be made, unless such application shall have been made before port clearance is granted to the vessel on which the goods were intended to be shipped, or from which they were re-landed.

Duty on goods not shipped or re-landed may be returned, if application be made before port clearance.

XCVIII. When a vessel having cleared out from any port shall put back from stress of weather, or it shall, on account of any damage or from other cause, be necessary that the cargo of a vessel that has cleared out shall be unshipped or re-landed, a Customs Officer shall be sent to watch the vessel and take charge of the cargo during such re-landing or removal from on board; and the goods on board such vessel shall not be allowed to be transhipped or re-exported free of duty, by reason of the previous settlement of duty at the time of first export, unless the goods shall be lodged in such place as shall be allowed by the Collector of Customs, and shall remain, while on land, or while on board of any other vessel, under special charge of the Officers of Customs, until the time of re-export; and all charges attending such custody shall be borne by the exporter. Provided that, in all cases of return to port, after port clearance, on account of damage or from stress of weather, it shall be lawful for the owner or for the master, to enter the vessel and land the cargo under the rules for the importation of goods; and the export duty shall, in that case, be refunded; and the amount paid in drawback be reclaimed; and if goods on account of which drawback has been paid be not found on board the vessel, the master shall be liable to a fine not exceeding the entire value thereof, unless he account for them to the satisfaction of the Collector of Customs.

Goods re-landed from a vessel put back from stress of weather, how to be disposed of.

XCIX Before any ship shall depart in ballast from British India for any port beyond the seas, not having any goods on board, except stores, the Collector shall clear such ship in ballast by notifying such clearance and the date thereof, in a blank form; and shall deliver the same to the master of such ship; and the master of such ship shall answer to the Collector such questions touching her departure and destination, as shall be demanded of him; and ships having only passengers with their baggage on board, shall be deemed to be in ballast; and if any such ship, whether laden or in ballast, shall depart without being so cleared, the master shall forfeit and pay the sum of 1,000 Rupees.

Vessels departing in ballast to take out port clearance.

C. The time at which any goods shall be shipped on board any export ship shall be deemed to be the time of exportation of such goods; and the time of the last clearance of any ship shall be deemed to be the time of departure of such ship.

Time of exportation and departure defined.

CI. Upon the re-export, by sea, of any goods, except salt and opium, imported from ports beyond British India, or from ports beyond the sea, upon which the duties of customs have been paid on importation, or for the payment of the import duties on which a bond shall have been given, there shall be retained one-eighth or such other portion as from time to time may be directed by the Governor-General of India in Council, of the amount of the import duty levied, and the remainder may be repaid as drawback; provided that the goods shall be identified to the satisfaction of the Collector of Customs, and that the re-export shall be made within two years from the date of import, as shown by the Custom House Register, or within such extended term as the Board of Revenue or other chief customs authority, on sufficient cause for such extension being shown, shall in any case determine.

Drawback of customs allowed on the re-export of certain goods under certain conditions.

CII. No drawback shall be allowed upon the exportation of any goods entered for drawback, which shall be of less value than the amount of the drawback claimed; and all such goods so entered shall be forfeited.

Goods not entitled to drawback if of less value than the amount of drawback claimed.

CIII. No payment of drawback shall be made upon any goods re-exported from any port in India, unless the claim to receive such drawback shall be made and established at the time of re-export, nor unless the amount due thereon be demanded within one year from the date of entry for shipment in the Custom House Registers.

No drawback to be allowed, unless claim is made at the time of re-export, and the amount demanded within one year

CIV. No drawback shall be allowed upon goods not included in the export manifest, nor upon articles shipped as stores, neither shall drawback be allowed upon goods shipped in native coasting craft nor navigated by European Pilots, and not having a Custom House Officer on board. Provided that nothing herein contained shall be deemed to apply to goods duly manifested and exported in native craft, other than native coasting craft, under such rules and restrictions as the Local Government may, from time to time, impose.

No drawback to be allowed on goods not entered in ships manifest, or on goods shipped on native coasting craft

CV. No drawback shall be allowed upon goods re-exported back from one Indian Port to another; but such drawback may be allowed upon goods which, after having been charged with duty at one Indian Port are thence re-exported to another Indian Port, and are thence again exported out of India. Provided that the identification of such goods shall be effected to the satisfaction of the Collector of Customs.

No drawback allowed on the export of goods from one Indian port to another in the same Presidency, but if thence again exported out of India, drawback may be allowed

CVI. Any person claiming drawback on any goods duly exported, or his agent duly authorised by him for that purpose, shall make and subscribe a declaration, that the goods mentioned therein have been actually exported, and have not been re-landed, and are not intended to be re-landed in any port of India; and that such person at the time of entry and shipping was and continued to be entitled to the drawback thereon.

Declaration to be made by parties claiming drawback.

CVII. If any goods which have been cleared to be exported for any drawback, shall not be duly exported to ports beyond the seas, or shall be unshipped or re-landed in any port of British India, (such goods not having been duly re-landed or discharged as short-shipped under the care of the proper Officers,) the same shall be forfeited, together with any ship, boat, or craft which may have been used in so un-shipping, re-landing, landing, or carrying such goods from the ship in which the same were shipped for exportation; and the master of such ship, and the person by whom, or by whose orders or means such goods shall have been so un-shipped, re-landed, landed, or carried, or who shall aid, assist, or be concerned therein, shall forfeit a sum equal to treble the value of such goods, or a penalty of 1,000 Rupees, at the election of the Board of Revenue or other Chief Customs Authority.

Drawback goods, if not exported, or if re-landed, to be forfeited.

CVIII. No payment of drawback shall be made until the ship carrying the goods, in connection with which the claim is made, shall have put out to sea.

Drawback not to be paid until the exporting ship has put out to sea.

CIX. A drawback of the whole of the duties of customs shall be allowed for wine intended for the consumption of Officers of HerMajesty's Navy, on board such of Her Majesty's Ships, in actual service, as they shall serve in not exceeding the quantities of wine in any one year for the use of such Officers hereinafter respectively mentioned; that is to say—

	Gallons.
For every Admiral	1,260
Vice Admiral	1,050
Rear Admiral	840
Captain of the 1st and 2nd rate	630
Captain of 3rd, 4th, and 5th rate	420
Lieutenant and other Commanding Officers, and for Marine Officer, Master, Purser, Surgeon	105

unless such wine be taken from the warehouse, without payment of duty, under such regulations as the Board of Revenue or other Chief Customs Authority may direct. Provisions and stores for the use of Her Majesty's Navy shall, in like manner, be passed free of duty, and where duties shall have been paid on such provisions and stores, drawback in full of all such Duties, whether of Customs or Excise, shall be allowed on the production of a certificate from the Officer commanding the ship for which they are intended, or from some other Officer duly authorized to grant the same.

Drawback of duties on wine allowed for Officers of the Navy.

CX. The person entering wine as provided in the last preceding section, and claiming the draw back for the same, shall state in the entry, the name of the Officer for whose use such wine is intended, and of the ship in which he serves; and such wine shall be delivered into the charge of the Officers of Customs at the port of shipment, to be shipped under their care; and when the Commanding Officer for the time being of such ship shall have certified the receipt of such wine into his charge, and the proper Officer of the Customs shall have certified the shipment, the drawback shall be computed and passed, and delivered to the person entitled to receive the same.

Persons entering such wine for drawback to declare the name and rank of Officer claiming the same.

CXI. The Officers of Customs may permit the transfer of any such wine from one Officer to another as part of his proportion, whether on board the same ship or another, or the transhipment from one ship to another, for the same Officer, or the re-landing and warehousing for future re-shipment; and the Officer of Customs at any port may receive back the duties for any of such wine, and deliver the same for home use; but if any such wine be not laden on board the ship for which the same was intended, or be unladen from such ship without permission of the proper Officer of Customs, the same shall be forfeited.

If the wine be not laden on board, or be unladen without permission, it shall be forfeited.

CXII. All trade by sea from one port of British India to any other port thereof, except the port of Aden and the Settlement of Prince of Wales' Island, Singapore, and Malacca, shall be deemed to be a coasting trade, and all ships while employed therein shall be deemed to be coasting ships; and no port of British India, with the exception of the Settlement of Prince of Wales' Island, Singapore, and Malacca, and the Port of Aden, shall be deemed, for the purposes of this Act, to be ports beyond the seas; and if any doubt shall at any time arise as to what shall be deemed a passage by sea, the Local Government, subject to the orders of the Governor-General of India in Council, may determine and direct in what cases the trade by water from one port or place in British India to another port or place of the same, shall or shall not be deemed a trade by sea, within the meaning of this or any other Act relating to the Customs. Provided that any ship or craft trading between British Ports, and calling at any intermediate port not subject to the Government of India, shall not be considered as a ship engaged in the coasting trade, within the meaning of this or any other Act relating to the customs.

Vessels proceeding from port to port in British India excepting free ports, to be considered as coasting vessels except when they may touch at ports not subject to the Government of India.

CXIII. No duties of customs shall be charged on any goods lawfully carried from any port in British India to any other port in British India. Provided that nothing contained in this Section shall apply to ports in the Settlement of Prince of Wales' Island, Singapore, and Malacca, or to the port of Aden, which, for the purposes of this Act, shall be treated as foreign ports; and that nothing contained in this Section shall apply to opium, salt, or spirits, or to goods imported from a foreign port, into any Indian Ports, and there transhipped for, or carried thence in the same ship to, any other Indian Port, without payment of duty; or to goods removed in bond.

No duties under certain exceptions to be charged on goods carried from port to port in British India.

CXIV. No goods shall be carried in any coasting ship except such as shall be laden to be so carried at some port or place in British India; and no goods shall be laden on board any ship to be carried coastwise until all goods brought in such ship from foreign ports, or ports beyond the seas, shall have been unladen; and if any goods shall be taken into, or put out of, any coasting ship at sea, or over the sea, or if any coasting ship shall touch at any foreign or free port, or place over the sea, or deviate from her voyage, unless forced by unavoidable circumstances, or if the master of any coasting ship which shall have touched at any foreign or free port, or place over the sea, shall not declare the same in writing under his hand to the Collector at the port in British India, where such ship shall afterwards first arrive, the master of such ship shall forfeit the sum of 1,000 Rupees and shall further be liable to pay treble duty upon all goods landed at or exported from such foreign or free port, or place beyond the sea.

Coasting vessels confined to coasting voyages.

CXV. If any goods, unless with the written consent of the Collector of Customs, shall be unshipped from any ship arriving coastwise, or be shipped, or waterborne to be shipped to be carried coastwise, on Sundays or holidays, or unless in the presence or with the authority of the proper Officer of Customs, or unless at such times and places as shall be appointed or approved by such Officer for that purpose, the same shall be forfeited, and the master of the ship shall forfeit the sum of Rupees 500.

Times and places for landing and shipping of goods.

CXVI. The master of every coasting ship shall, if required by the Customs Authorities, keep or cause to be kept a cargo book, stating the names of the ship, the master and the port to which she belongs, and of the port to which she is bound on each voyage, and shall at every port of lading enter in such book the name of such port, and an account of all goods there taken on board such ship, stating the descriptions of the packages, and the quantities and descriptions of the goods therein, and the quantities and descriptions of any goods stowed loose, and the names of the respective shippers and consignees, so far as such particulars are known to him; and shall at every port of discharge of such goods note the respective days on which the same or any of them are delivered out of such ship, and the respective times of departure from any port of lading, and of arrival at every port of discharge; and such master shall, on demand, produce such book for the inspection of any Officer of Customs who shall be at liberty to make any note or remark therein, and if upon examination, any package entered in the cargo book as containing foreign goods, shall be found not to contain such goods, such package, with its contents, shall be forfeited; or if any package shall be found to contain foreign goods not entered in such book, such goods shall be forfeited; and if such master shall fail correctly to keep such cargo book or to produce the same, or if at any time there be found on board such ship any goods not entered in such book as laden, or any goods noted as delivered, or if any goods entered as laden, or any goods not noted as delivered, be not on board, the master of such ship shall forfeit the sum of Rupees 200.

Master of coasting vessel to keep a cargo book.

CXVII. Before any coasting ship shall depart from the port of lading, an account, with a duplicate thereof, in the form or to the effect following, or according to such form as may from time to time be prescribed by the Board of Revenue or other Chief Customs Authority, and signed by the master, shall be delivered to the Collector or other Officer in charge of the Custom House, and the Collector or such other Officer shall retain the duplicate and return the original account dated and signed by him, and such account shall be the clearance of the ship for the voyage, and the pass for the goods expressed therein; and if any such account be false the master shall forfeit the sum of 200 Rupees.

CXVIII. The Collector of Customs may, on good and sufficient reason, refuse port clearance to any vessel described to be bound to any port or ports in British India, until the owner, agent, or master shall have given a bond with sufficient security by which such parties or their agents shall be bound to produce to the Collector of Customs a certificate from the Officer in charge of the port to which such vessel is said to be bound, of her arrival at such port, within a fair and reasonable time to be prescribed by the Collector in each case, and on failure of producing such certificate, or showing sufficient reason for its non-production, the parties to the bond aforesaid shall be bound to pay a penal sum equal to double the amount of customs which would have been chargeable on the export cargo of the said vessel had she been declared bound to a foreign port.

The Collector of Customs may require a bond from the owner, agent, or master before port clearance is granted.

CXIX. The Board of Revenue or other Controlling Authority may, whenever it shall appear to them expedient, permit a general pass to be given under such regulations as they may direct for the lading and clearance and for the entry and unlading of any coasting ship, either at the ports of despatch or destination, or at any intermediate ports at which she may touch for the purpose of receiving goods and passengers, and the same may be revoked by notice, in writing, under the hand of the proper Officer, delivered to the master or owner of any ship, or to any of the crew on board.

The Customs Authorities may make rules in respect to the discharge and taking in of cargo at intermediate ports by coasting vessel without compelling the vessels to regularly enter and obtain port clearance at such intermediate ports.

CXX. Within twenty-four hours after the arrival of any coasting ship at the port of discharge, and before any goods be unladen, the pass, with the name of the place or wharf where the lading is to be discharged noted thereon, shall be delivered to the Collector, who shall note thereon the date of delivery, and if any of the goods on board such ship be subject to any duty of excise, the same shall not be unladen without the authority or permission of the proper Officer of Excise; and if any goods shall be laden on board any ship in any port or place in British India, and carried coastwise or having been brought coastwise, shall be unladen in any such port or place contrary to this or any other Act relating to the customs, such goods shall be forfeited.

Masters of coasting vessels to report arrival and produce other papers within 24 hours after arrival at the port of discharge.

CXXI. Any Officers of the Customs may go on board any coasting ship in any port or place in British India, or at any period of her voyage, search such ship, and examine all goods on board and all goods then lading or unlading, and demand all documents which ought to be on board such ship, and the Collector may require that all or any such documents shall be brought to him for inspection, and the master of any ship refusing to produce such documents on demand, or to bring the same to the Collector when required, shall forfeit and pay the sum of Rupees 200.

Customs Officers may go on board and examine any coasting ship.

CXXII. A drawback of duty of excise paid on spirits manufactured in the country after the English method, and exported by sea in the manner hereinafter prescribed, to any port not subject to the Government of India, or to any free port, may be allowed by the Collector of Customs at the port of exportation: Provided always that the exportation shall be made within one year from the date of the payment of such duty, and that the spirits, when brought to the Custom House, shall be accompanied by the pass in which such payment is certified.

Drawback of excise duty on country spirits manufactured after the English method.

CXXIII. Spirits may be removed from any licensed distillery for exportation, without payment of duty under such rules and restrictions as may be from time to time prescribed by the Board of Revenue or other Controlling Authority, on the person removing them executing a bond with one or more sureties to the Government according to form "F." hereunto annexed, or such other form as may from time to time be directed by the Controlling Authority for the payment of the prescribed duty upon such portion of the said spirits as may not be exported within four months from the date of the bond, or upon such portion as may be exported to any other port within British India, not being a free port, proof of the landing whereof and of the payment of the duty chargeable whereon at the port of import shall not be furnished to the satisfaction of the Board of Revenue or other Controlling Authority within six months from the date of such bond: Provided that it shall be lawful for the Collector, with the sanction of the Board of Revenue or other Controlling Authority, on sufficient cause shewn, to extend the period allowed for the exportation of the spirits, or as the case may be, for the production of such proof as aforesaid for a further term of four months.

Removal of spirits from distillery under bond, without payment of duty.

CXXIV. Spirits brought to the Custom House for exportation by sea shall, previous to shipment, be gauged and proved by an Officer of Customs. The amount of drawback to be allowed upon spirits for which duty has been paid shall be regulated according to the strength and quantity of the said spirits as ascertained by such proof and guage, and the quantity of spirits for which credit is to be given in the settlement of any bond shall be determined in the same manner. Spirits under bond shall be taken from the distillery direct to the Custom House under passes to be granted for that purpose by the Officers of Excise.

Rules to be observed in the exportation of spirits.

Duty to be recovered on any deficiency in spirits under bond.

CXXV. When spirits are passed from a distillery under bond, duty shall be recoverable upon any difference between the quantity of spirits so passed from the distillery and the quantity ascertained by guage and proof at the Custom House, less such allowance for ullage and wastage as may be prescribed by the Board of Revenue or other Controlling Authority.

Spirits intended for exportation may be removed for local consumption.

CXXVI. Spirits brought to the Custom House under bond for exportation may nevertheless be removed for local consumption under passes to be granted for that purpose by the Collector of the Excise Revenue, upon payment of the prescribed duty; and credit for such payments shall be given on the settlement of the bond.

Spirits how to be shipped, and when shipped for exportation, not to be re-landed.

CXXVII. No drawback shall be allowed on any duty-paid spirits, nor shall the duty due on any spirits under bond be remitted, unless the spirits shall be shipped from the Custom House, and upon a vessel to which a Custom House Officer has been appointed to superintend the receipt of export cargo; and spirits shipped for exportation shall not be re-landed without a special pass from the Collector of Excise Revenue in addition to the usual order of the Collector of Customs.

No drawback allowed on spirits exported to Indian Ports but such spirits may be shipped under bond for eventual payment of duty at place of import

CXXVIII. No drawback shall be allowed on spirits exported to any port in British India not being a free port. But it shall be lawful to export or ship spirits to such ports under bond; and such bond shall be cancelled on the production, by the exporter or his agent, of a certificate from the Collector of Customs at the port of importation of the due arrival and entry at the said port of the full quantity of such spirits exported, less such allowance for ullage and wastage as may from time to time be prescribed by the Board of Revenue or other Controlling Authority.

Duties on spirits exported from any port in British Territories and imported at any other port within said Territories how to be adjusted.

CXXIX. Spirits manufactured within the British Territories in India, and exported from any port in those Territories, to any other port within the said Territories, shall be liable on such importation to such rate of duty as the Local Government may from time to time direct. Provided, however, that the rate of duty so fixed shall not exceed the rate of duty leviable on spirits imported from ports beyond the continent of India, and that if the said spirits be accompanied by a document signed by a competent authority, certifying that a duty, whether of customs or otherwise, has been paid on the said spirits within the British Territories in India, credit shall be allowed for the sum so paid in settling the customs at the port of import, and that if the sum formerly so paid equal or exceed the full amount leviable on import, then the spirits on which duty has been paid shall be admitted free of duty.

Rum shrub, &c., how to be charged with duty. May be exported under the same rules as spirits.

CXXX. Rum shrub, cordials, and other liquors prepared in a licensed distillery under supervision of the Surveyor or Officer in charge of the distillery, shall be charged with duty according to the quantity of spirit used in the preparation; and all the provisions contained in this Act respecting spirits manufactured after the English method, except such as relate to guage and proof, shall be applicable to such liquors. When any such liquors are removed for exportation, without payment of duty, the bonds to be executed by the persons removing them shall be in the form annexed marked "F.," or according to such other form as may from time to time be prescribed by the Board of Revenue or other Controlling Authority.

Penalty for irregularly re-landing spirituous liquors.

CXXXI. Every person who shall re-land, or attempt to re-land, any spirituous liquors shipped for exportation, without a special pass from the Collector of the Excise Revenue at the place of exportation, shall forfeit for every such offence a sum not exceeding 500 Rupees; and the liquors, together with the casks and vessels containing the same, and the carts, boats, and animals employed in carrying them, shall be liable to confiscation.

Commanders of tug steamers to be fined if they receive on board or discharge from their steamers any goods without due authority.

CXXXII. If any goods, wares, or merchandize be put on board of any tug steamer from any sea going vessel inward-bound, or if any goods be put out of any tug steamer for the purpose of being put on board of any outward bound vessel, or if any goods on which drawback of duty shall have been granted shall be put on board any tug steamer for the purpose of being re-landed without the order or authority of the Officers of Customs, the commander or person in charge of such tug steamer shall, in every such case of transhipment be liable to a penalty not exceeding 1,000 Rupees.

Commanders of vessels not bringing to at prescribed stations to be fined.

CXXXIII. If any ship departing from any port in British India shall not bring to at such Stations as shall be appointed by the Board of Revenue or other Chief Customs Authority, for the landing of Officers from such ship, or for further examination previous to such departure, the Master of such ship shall forfeit the sum of 200 Rupees.

Goods irregularly landed, and prohibited goods, liable to forfeiture.

CXXXIV. If any goods shall be landed or shipped without due authority from the proper Officers of Customs, or if any prohibited goods whatever shall be imported or brought into any port of British India, or if any goods whatever which shall have been warehoused or otherwise secured in British India, either for home consumption or exportation, shall be clandestinely or illegally removed from or out of any warehouse or place of security, or if any goods shall be brought for the purpose of being imported or exported at any place other than a port declared under Section VI of this Act, or if any goods which are prohibited to be exported shall be put on board any ship or boat with the intent to be laden or shipped for exportation, or shall be brought to any wharf or other place in British India in order to be put on board any ship or boat for the purpose of being exported, or if any goods which are prohibited to be exported or imported shall be found in any package produced to any Officer of Customs as containing goods not so prohibited, or if any goods subject to any duty or restriction in respect of importation or exportation, or which are prohibited to be imported into or exported from British India, shall be found to have been concealed in any manner on board any ship or boat within the limits of any port of British India, or shall be found, either before or after landing or shipment, to have been concealed in any manner on board any such ship or boat within such limit as aforesaid, then in every such case all such goods shall be forfeited, together with any goods which shall be found packed with or used in concealing them.

Ships in port with a cargo and afterwards found in ballast and cargo unaccounted for forfeited.

CXXXV. If any ship or boat whatsoever shall be found within the limits of any port in British India with a cargo on board, and such ship or boat shall afterwards be found light or in ballast, and the master is unable to give a due account of the port or place in British India where such boat or ship shall have legally discharged her cargo, such ship or boat shall be forfeited.

Ships and boats used in removal of run goods to be forfeited.

CXXXVI. All ships, boats, carriages, or other means of conveyance, together with all horses and other animals made use of in the removal, carriage, or conveyance of any goods liable to forfeiture under this or any other Act relating to the customs, shall be liable to be confiscated.

Persons concerned in shipping or landing goods at any place other than a duly appointed port, or knowingly concealing such goods to be punished by nearest magistrate.

CXXXVII. Any person or persons found shipping or landing goods, or aiding in the shipment or landing of goods or who shall knowingly keep, or conceal, or knowingly permit or cause, or procure to be kept or concealed, any goods shipped or landed, or intended to be shipped or landed, contrary to the provisions of this Act, or who shall be found to have been on board any ship or boat, liable to forfeiture under this Act for being found to have been within any port, bay, harbour, river, or creek, other than such as are declared under the provisions of Section VI of this Act, shall be detained by any duly authorized Officer of Police, Customs, or Excise, and shall be taken by him before the nearest magistrate or justice of the peace, and shall be liable, on conviction before such magistrate or justice of the peace, to a penalty not exceeding 1,000 Rupees, and in default of payment to imprisonment for six months.

Penalty on Officers for misconduct.

CXXXVIII. Any Officer required to take any such person before such Justice, Collector, or other superior Officer of Customs, shall do so with all reasonable despatch; but if such Officer shall require any person to be searched, not having reasonable ground to suppose that he has uncustomed or prohibited goods about his person, such Officer shall forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding 100 Rupees.

Persons concerned in importing prohibited or restricted goods, or in unlawfully removing goods to be punished.

CXXXIX. Every person who shall be concerned in importing or bringing into British India any prohibited goods, or any goods the importation of which is restricted, contrary, to such prohibition or restriction, and whether the same be unshipped or not, and every person who shall import or assist or be otherwise concerned in the importation of any goods which are prohibited or of any goods which are restricted and imported contrary to such restriction, or of any goods liable to duty, the duties for which have not been paid or secured; or who shall remove any goods imported into British India from any ship, wharf, or other place, unless under the care or authority of the proper Officer of Customs; or who shall knowingly keep or conceal, or shall knowingly permit or cause or procure to be kept or concealed, any such goods or any goods which shall have been illegally removed without payment of duty from any warehouse or place of security in which they may have been deposited, or to whose hands and possession any such goods shall knowingly come; or who shall assist or be concerned in the illegal removal of any goods from any warehouse or place of security, in which they shall have been deposited as aforesaid, or who shall be in any way knowingly concerned in conveying, removing, depositing, concealing, or in any manner dealing with any goods liable to duties of customs, with intent to defraud Government of such duties or any part thereof, or who shall be in any way knowingly concerned in any fraudulent evasion or attempt at evasion of such duties or any part thereof, shall, in each and every of the foregoing cases, forfeit treble the value of the goods, or the penalty of 1,000 Rupees, at the election of the Board of Revenue or other Chief Customs Authority.

Persons making false declarations to be punished.

CXL. If any person shall knowingly make and subscribe any false declaration, or sign any declaration, certificate, or other instrument required by this Act to be verified by signature only, the same being false in any particular, or if any person shall knowingly make or sign any declaration made for the consideration of the Collector of Customs, or any application presented to him, the same being untrue in any particular, or if any person required by this or any other Act relating to the customs to answer questions put to him by the Officers of Customs, shall not truly answer such questions, or if any person shall counterfeit, falsify, or wilfully use when counterfeited or falsified, any document required by this or any other Act relating to the Customs, or any instrument used in the transaction of any business or matter relating to the Customs, or shall fraudulently alter any document or instrument, or counterfeit the seal, signature, initials, or other mark of, or used by, the Officers of Customs for the verification of any such document or instrument, or for the security of goods, or any other purpose in the conduct of business relating to the Customs, or under the control of the Collectors of Customs or their Officers, every person for every such offence shall forfeit 1,000 Rupees.

Any person escaping may be afterwards detained.

CXLI. If any person liable to be detained under this or any other Act relating to the Customs shall not be detained at the time of committing the offence for which he is so liable, or shall, after detention, make his escape, such person shall and may at any time afterwards be detained and taken before any magistrate or justice of the peace, to be dealt with as if detained at the time of committing such offence.

When persons are taken before a Justice for any offence under any Act relating to the customs, such Justice may order them to be detained a reasonable time or admit them to bail.

CXLII. When any person shall have been detained for any offence against this or any other Act relating to the customs, and taken before any Magistrate or Justice of the Peace, such Magistrate or Justice may, if he see reasonable cause, order such person to be detained in gaol or in the custody of the Police, a reasonable time, to obtain the orders of the Officers of Customs; but any person so detained may be liberated by giving recognizance or other security to the satisfaction of the Magistrate or Justice, or in the amount of the penalty sought to be recovered, to appear at such time and place as shall be appointed by such Magistrate or Justice for hearing the case.

Offences for the adjudication whereof no special provision is made, how punishable, and penalties how to be recovered.

CXLIII. All offences against this Act for the adjudication of which no special provision is hereinbefore made, shall be punishable in a summary manner by a Magistrate: and whenever a penalty or fine may be adjudged against any person under the provisions of this Act, it shall be competent to the Magistrate or other judicial authority adjudging the same, in case the amount be not discharged, either to enforce payment by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of the defaulter, or to award a period of imprisonment in commutation, according to the following scale, in addition to such imprisonment as such Officer or authority may be specially empowered to adjudge.

If the amount of the fine or penalty do not exceed fifty Rupees, the term of imprisonment to be awarded in commutation shall not be less than fifteen days nor more than one month. If the amount of the fine or penalty exceed fifty and be less than 100 Rupees, the term of imprisonment to be awarded in commutation shall not be less than one month nor more than two months. If the amount of the fine or penalty exceed 100 Rupees, and be not more than 500 Rupees, the term of imprisonment to be awarded in commutation shall not be less than two months nor more than four months. If the amount of fine or penalty exceed 500 Rupees, the term of imprisonment to be awarded in commutation shall not be less than four months nor more than six months.

Imprisonment to terminate upon payment of the fine.

CXLIV. The imprisonment which is imposed in default of payment of fine shall terminate whenever that fine is either paid or levied by process of law.

Termination of imprisonment upon payment of proportional part of fine.

CXLV. If, before the expiration of the term of imprisonment fixed in default of payment, such a proportion of the fine be paid or levied that the term of imprisonment suffered in default of payment is not less than proportional to the part of the fine still unpaid, the imprisonment shall terminate.

Customs Officers committing or conniving at frauds how punishable.

CXLVI. If any Officer of Customs or other person or persons duly employed for the prevention of smuggling, shall practise or attempt to practise any fraud for the purpose of injuring the Customs Revenue, or shall abet or connive at any such fraud or at any attempt to practise any such fraud, every such Officer or other person shall be liable to imprisonment for any term not exceeding two years, or to fine, or both.

Customs Officers if guilty of breach of duty how punishable.

CXLVII. If any Officer of Customs or other person or persons duly employed for the prevention of smuggling, shall be guilty of a wilful breach of the provisions of this or any other Act relating to the customs, or shall accept, or obtain, or attempt to obtain, from any person any property, gratuity, or benefit, as a consideration for doing or forbearing to do any official act, every such Officer or person shall be liable to imprisonment for any term not exceeding two years, or to fine, or both.

Obstruction to Customs Officers punishable.

CXLVIII. Whoever intentionally obstructs any Officer in the exercise of any powers given by this Act to such Officer, shall be liable to imprisonment for any term not exceeding six months, or a fine not exceeding 1,000 Rupees, or both.

Offering bribes how punishable.

CXLIX. Any person who shall offer a bribe to any Custom House Officer in order to induce such Officer to act in a manner inconsistent with his duty, shall be liable for every such offence to a fine not exceeding 1,000 Rupees, or to imprisonment for any term not exceeding six months, or both.

Stations to be appointed for Custom House Officers to board and also land from ship.

CL. The Board of Revenue or other local Controlling Authority may, from time to time, appoint stations or places for ships arriving at or departing from any port or place to bring to for the boarding or landing of Officers of the Customs, and may also direct at what particular part or parts of any harbour, dock, or other place in any port, dhoonies, country craft, and other small vessels, not brought into the port by Pilots, shall be required to anchor and moor, and the Collector of Customs of any port, or any other authorized Officer, may station Officers on board any ship or craft while within the limits of any port in British India.

The Local Government may make rules respecting passengers' baggage and mails.

CLI. The Local Government of any Presidency or Province may, from time to time, issue such rules as appear expedient for the landing or shipping of passengers' baggage and the passing of the same through the Custom House; and also for the landing, shipping, and clearing of parcels forwarded by Her Majesty's or other mails, or by other regular packets and passenger vessels; and when any baggage or parcels are made over to the Custom House Officer, for the purpose of being landed, a fee of such amount as the Local Government may from time to time direct, shall be chargeable thereon, as compensation for the expense and trouble incurred in landing and depositing the same in the Custom House.

Duties short levied or paid in excess to be re-adjusted if application is made within six months.

CLII. Where duty has been short levied through inadvertence, error, or misconstruction on the part of the Officers of Customs, the person chargeable therewith shall pay the deficiency, on demand being made within six months from the date of the first assessment thereof; and it shall be lawful for the Officers of Customs to refuse to pass any goods belonging to such person until the said deficiency be paid; and no duty of Customs which shall have been charged and paid, and of which repayment is claimed in consequence of the same having been charged or paid under an erroneous construction of law or from other error, shall be returned, unless such claim is made within six months from the date of such payment; Provided that no claim for refund on account of over-valuation shall be admitted in any instance in which duties have been paid without objection having been raised at the time of assessment.

In case of dispute the duty to be deposited pending orders of the Board or other Controlling Authority.

CLIII. If any dispute shall arise as to the proper rate of duty payable in respect of any goods imported into or exported from any Indian Port, the importer, exporter, consignee, or his agent, shall deposit in the hands of the Collector of Customs at the port of importation or exportation the amount of duty demanded by such Collector, pending the decision of the Board of Revenue or other Chief Customs Authority, as to the amount of duty which is due and payable upon such goods; and upon payment of such deposit and the passing of a proper entry for such goods, as hereinafter provided, such Collector shall cause the goods to be delivered to such importer, exporter, consignee, or agent, in virtue of such entry.

Articles not entered in the tariff to pay duty on the net market value of the like kind of goods previous to the payment of duty.

CLIV. In all cases in which goods are liable to duty according to the value thereof, and for which a value has not been fixed as hereinafter provided, such value shall be estimated and taken according to the wholesale cash price for which goods of the like kind and quality are sold or are capable of being sold at the time and place of such importation or exportation, without any abatement or deduction whatever, except of so much as the duties payable on the importation or exportation thereof shall amount to.

Local Government may fix a tariff value on any articles.

CLV. It shall be lawful for the Local Government of any Presidency or Province, from time to time, by notice in the Official Gazette, to fix a value for any articles liable to ad valorem duty, and the value so fixed by the Local Government shall, till altered by a similar notice, be taken to be the value of such article for the purpose of levying duty on the same.

Undervalued goods may be purchased on account of Government.

CLVI. If, upon the examination of any goods entered for duty, which are chargeable with duty upon the value thereof, and for which a specific value has not been fixed as above provided, it shall appear to the Officers of Customs that such good are not valued according to the true value thereof at the time and place of such entry, or that they are properly chargeable with a higher rate or amount of duty than that to which they would be subject according to the value thereof as described in such entry, it shall be lawful for such Officers to detain the same; in which case they shall forthwith give notice in writing to the person entering the same, of the detention of such goods and of the value thereof, as estimated by them, and the Collector of Customs shall, within (2) two days after the detention of such goods, determine either to deliver such goods on the entry of such person, or to retain the same for the use of Government; in which latter case he shall cause the full value at which such goods were so entered to be paid to the person entering the same, in full satisfaction for such goods, in the same manner as if such goods had been transferred by ordinary sale, and the Collector shall cause the said goods to be disposed of to the best advantage; and if the proceeds arising therefrom shall exceed the sums so paid, together with the duty to which the goods are liable and all charges incurred by Government, a portion not exceeding one-half of the overplus shall, at the discretion of the Board of Revenue or other Chief Customs Authority, be payable to the Officer who detected the under-valuation of the goods; and if the proceeds arising from such sale shall not exceed the amount so paid, together with the duty and charges, the Officer reporting the under-valuation shall, in like manner, be liable to pay one-half the net loss that may accrue from such sale; Provided, that if the Board of Revenue or other Chief Customs Authority shall have good and sufficient reason to believe that such under-valuation was solely the result of accident, they shall be competent to permit the owner or importer, on his application for that purpose, to amend such entry at such value, on payment of such increased rate of duties, or on such other terms as they may direct; and in all cases in which goods shall be so taken and purchased on account of Government, the duties payable thereon shall not be levied from the proprietor, importer, exporter, or consignee thereof.

Goods brought to be passed through the Custom House for importation and exportation to correspond in all particulars with description given of them in the application to pass.

CLVII. When goods shall be brought to be passed through a Custom House either for importation or exportation by sea, if the packages in which the same may be contained shall be found not to correspond with the description given in the application for passing them through the Custom House, or if the contents thereof be found not to have been properly described in such entry by the denominations and with the characters and circumstances according to which such goods are charged with duty, or may be imported and exported, or if the contents of such packages shall have been mis-stated in regard to sort, quality, or quantity, or if any goods not stated in the entry be found concealed or mixed up with the articles specified therein, or packed to deceive the Officers of Customs; then in every such case all such packages, together with the whole of the goods contained therein, shall be liable to confiscation.

Period allowed for the discharge and lading of cargo.

CLVIII. A term of thirty-five working days shall be allowed for the discharge of import cargo, and a further period of thirty days for the shipment of export cargo on board vessels of and exceeding the burthen of 600 tons, and twenty-five days and twenty days respectively as above for vessels below that burthen; and if the period occupied be in excess of that allowed, the ship shall be charged with the expenses of the Preventive Officer at the rate of five Rupees per diem (Sundays and holidays excepted) for the excess period. Provided that due allowance shall be made for such period as a vessel may be laid up, after the completion of the discharge of import cargo, by the withdrawal of the Preventive Officer upon application from the commander of the vessel; and if the commander of the vessel so laid up shall, before application is made by him or his agents for a Custom House Officer to superintend the receipt of cargo, cause or suffer to be put on board of such vessel any goods whatever, such Commander shall be punished with a fine not exceeding 1,000 Rupees, and the goods, if protected by a pass, shall be liable to be re-landed for examination at the expense of the ship, and if not protected by a pass shall be liable to confiscation.

No import duty to be levied on goods intended to be "carried on the same bottom" if duly manifested accordingly.

CLIX. Any portion of an import cargo intended for another port, or stores intended for the home voyage, may, with the special sanction of the Collector, be retained on board the vessel, and such cargo or stores shall not be subject to the payment of any duty; provided that all such goods are entered in the manifest, and in the outward clearance of the vessel, as part of the import cargo not landed, and on which no duty has been paid; and that nothing in this Section shall prevent the Collector from sealing up any portion of such cargo or stores, during the vessel's stay in port, in the event of his seeing reason for so doing.

Importer and exporter to pay expense incidental to compliance with Custom House Rules.

CLX. The unshipping, carrying, and landing of all goods, and bringing them to the proper place for examination and weighing, putting them into scales, opening, unpacking, repacking, bulking, sorting, lotting, marking, and numbering, where such operations respectively are necessary or permitted, and the removing of goods to, and the placing of them in, the proper place of deposit, until duly delivered, shall be performed by or at the expense of the importer; and the importer or person entering any timber or wood, to be charged with duty by measurement, shall, at his expense, pile, sort, frame, or otherwise place the same in such manner as the Collector of Customs may deem necessary to enable the Officers to measure and take the account thereof; and in all cases when the same is measured in bulk, the measurement shall be taken to the full extent of the pile, and no allowance shall be made by the Officers on account of any interstices.

Cargo boats to be licensed. Goods found in unlicensed boats to be confiscated, and owners of boats fined.

CLXI. In any port with regard to which the Local Government shall have notified that they have deemed it expedient, for the security of Customs at such port, to maintain special establishments of boats for the landing and shipping of merchandize, or to license and register the cargo boats plying in such port, it shall not be lawful for any person to convey goods to or from any vessel in such port, otherwise than in the boats so authorized and prescribed, except under special permit from the Collector of Customs of such port, and any goods that may be found on board of any boat not so authorized for the port, shall be liable to be seized by any Officer of Customs, and shall be liable to confiscation, and it shall be lawful for the Local Government to direct the levy from the owner of every boat so license of such amount of fee for every such license as may, from time to time, be considered expedient.

The Collector of Land Revenue to perform duties of Customs Officer, where there is no separate Customs Officer.

CLXII. At any port where there is no Officer of Customs, the Collector of Revenue of the District shall be deemed to be the proper Officer for the performance of all such duties with respect to such goods as are hereby required to be performed by the Officers of Customs.

Officers of Customs may, on probable cause, stop carts, &c., and search for goods.

CLXIII. Any duly empowered Officer of Customs or Excise or other person acting in his or their aid, or duly employed for the prevention of smuggling, may, upon reasonable suspicion, stop and examine any cart, waggon, or other means of conveyance, for the purpose of ascertaining whether any smuggled goods are contained therein; and, if no such goods shall be found, the Officer or other person so stopping and examining such cart, waggon, or other conveyance, having had probable cause to suspect that such cart, waggon, or other conveyance had smuggled goods contained therein, shall not, on account of such stoppage and search, be liable to any prosecution or action at law on account thereof; and all persons driving or conducting such cart, waggon, or other conveyance, refusing to stop or allow any such examination, when required so to do, shall forfeit the sum of 1,000 Rupees.

Officers authorized by writ of assistance may search houses for uncustomed or prohibited goods.

CLXIV. Any Officer of Customs or other person acting under the direction of the Collector of Customs having a writ of assistance countersigned by the Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner of Police, or other Chief Executive Officer of Police, may, in the day time, enter into and search any house, shop, cellar, warehouse, room, or other place; and in case of resistance, break open doors, chests, trunks, and other packages, and seize and bring away any uncustomed or prohibited goods; and put and secure the same in the Custom House; and may take with him any constable, Police, or other public officer for the purpose of assisting him in such search and seizure.

Ships, boats, goods and persons may be seized or detained, and goods delivered to the proper Officer.

CLXV. All ships and boats and all goods whatsoever, liable to forfeiture, and all persons liable to be detained for any offence under this or any other Act relating to the customs, shall and may be seized or detained in any place, either upon land or water, by any Officer or Officers of Customs or Excise or any person having authority from Board of Revenue or other Controlling Authority, to seize, or duly employed for the prevention of smuggling; and all ships, boats, and goods so seized shall, as soon as conveniently may be, be delivered into the care of the proper Officer appointed to receive the same; and the forfeiture of any ship shall be deemed to include her tackle, apparel, and furniture; and the forfeiture of any goods shall be deemed to include the package in which the same are found, and all the contents thereof; and the forfeiture of any cart, waggon, or other conveyance, shall be deemed to include the cattle employed in drawing the same.

Police Officers seizing goods to carry them to the nearest Custom House.

CLXVI. If any goods liable to forfeiture under this or any other Act relating to the Customs, shall be stopped or taken by any public Officer or other person acting by virtue of any Act or Regulation, or otherwise duly authorized, such goods shall be carried to the Custom House nearest to the place where the goods were stopped or taken, and there delivered to the Officer appointed to receive the same, within forty-eight hours after the said goods were stopped and taken; provided that, if there be no Custom House within a convenient distance of the place of seizure, such goods may be delivered to the nearest Revenue Officer.

Goods stopped by Police Officers may be detained until trial of persons charged with stealing them.

CLXVII. If any such goods shall be stopped or taken by any Police Officer on suspicion that the same had been feloniously stolen, the said Officer may carry the same to the Police Office to which the offender is taken, there to remain until, and in order to be produced at, the trial of the offender, and in such case the Officer is required to give notice in writing to the Collector of Customs or other Officer exercising the functions of Collector of Customs, of his having so detained the said goods, with the particulars of the same; and immediately after the trial of such offender all such goods shall be conveyed to and deposited in the Custom House as aforesaid, to be proceeded against according to law; and in case any Police Officer making detention of any such goods shall neglect to convey the same to such Custom House, or to give notice of having stopped the same, as before prescribed, such Officer shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding Rupees 100.

The Customs Authorities may restore seizures.

CLXVIII. The Board of Revenue or other Chief Customs Authority may, by any order made by them for that purpose, direct any ship, boat, goods, or commodities whatever, seized under this or any Act relating to the customs, to be delivered to the proprietor thereof, whether condemnation shall have taken place or not, upon such terms and conditions as the said Board or other Chief Customs Authority respectively may prescribe.

Ships and goods seized may be disposed of as the Customs Authority may direct.

CLXIX. All ships and boats and all goods whatsoever, which shall have been seized and condemned for breach of any law relating to the customs, shall be disposed of as soon as conveniently may be after the condemnation thereof, in such manner as the Board of Revenue or other Chief Customs Authority may direct.

Persons may be searched if Officers have reason to suspect smuggled goods concealed upon them.

CLXX. Any Officer of Customs not below the rank of Preventive Officers, duly employed in the prevention of smuggling, may search any person on board any ship or boat within the limits of any port in British India, or any person who shall have landed from any ship or boat, provided such Officer shall have good reason to suppose that such person has any uncustomed or prohibited goods secreted about his person; and if any person shall obstruct any such Officer in going, remaining, or returning from on board, or in searching such ship or boat or person, every such person shall forfeit a sum not exceeding 500 Rupees, and if any passenger or other person on board any such ship or boat, or who may have landed from any such ship or boat, shall, upon being questioned by any such Officer whether he has any dutiable goods upon his person or in his possession deny the same, and any such goods shall after such denial be discovered to be or to have been upon his person or in his possession, such goods shall be forfeited, and such person shall forfeit treble the value of such goods.

Persons before search may require to be taken before a Justice or principal Officer of Customs.

CLXXI. Before any person shall be searched by any such Officers as aforesaid, such person may require such Officer to take him before any Justice, or before the Collector or other acting principal Officer of the Customs, who shall, if he see no reasonable cause for search, discharge such person, but if otherwise, shall direct such person to be searched. If a female, she shall not be searched by any other than a female.

Persons in Her Majesty's Service detained, to be secured on board until warrant procured.

CLXXII. Where any person or persons, being part of the crew in any of Her Majesty's ships or vessels, or of any ship or vessel in Her Majesty's employment or service, and liable to detention, shall have been detained under any law relating to the customs, such person or persons, upon notice thereof by the detaining Officer to the Commanding Officer of the ship or vessel, shall be placed in security by such Commanding Officer on board such ship or vessel, until such detaining Officer shall have obtained a warrant from a Magistrate or Justice of the Peace for bringing such person or persons before him or any other Magistrate or Justice of the Peace to be dealt with according to law, which warrant such Magistrate or Justice of the Peace is required to grant upon complaint made to him by such Officer of Customs stating the offence for which such person or persons is or are liable to detention.

Powers of Commissioners, Collectors, Deputies, Assistants, and other Officers in respect to confiscation and fines defined.

CLXXIII. In all cases in which, under this Act, goods are liable to confiscation or increased rates of duty; and in all cases in which, under this Act, any person in charge of or owning a vessel, or landing or unshipping goods or passing them through the Custom House, is liable to a penalty, a Commissioner or Collector of Customs may adjudicate such confiscation or such penalty; or when the Local Government may see fit so to direct, the same may be adjudged by a Deputy or by an Assistant Collector of Customs or other Officer. Provided that the power to adjudicate confiscation shall not extend, as regards a Deputy Collector, to goods beyond the value of Rupees 1,000, nor, as regards an Assistant Collector or other Officer inferior to the grade of an Assistant Collector, to goods beyond the value of Rupees 100; nor shall any Deputy Collector impose any fine beyond the amount of Rupees fifty, nor any Assistant Collector or other Officer inferior to the grade of an Assistant Collector beyond the amount of Rupees ten; and all cases adjudicated by a Deputy or Assistant Collector or other Officer shall be liable to revision on appeal to a Collector or Commissioner of Customs or other Controlling Authority.

Goods may be detained, and port clearances may be refused pending the payment of fines to which the parties concerned may be liable.

CLXXIV. If any person in charge of or owning a vessel, shall have become liable to any fine on account of any act or omission relating to the Customs, the Collector of Customs may refuse port clearance to such vessel until the fine is discharged, and in like manner if any person passing goods through the Custom House shall have become liable to any fine, the Collector of Customs may detain such goods until the fine is discharged.

Rewards may be granted to persons making seizures.

CLXXV. Whenever any goods are seized and confiscated, or any penalty levied in mitigation of confiscation, or whenever any penalty is inflicted for breach of any rule or for any other act committed, the Collector of Customs or other Controlling Authority may grant rewards to the persons through whose assistance or information the seizure was made or an offender fined. Provided that in respect to seizures of all goods, except salt, opium, spirits, and tobacco, all Government demands shall be deducted from the gross proceeds realized, and any portion or the whole of the net remaining proceeds then paid as reward, at the discretion of the Collector or other Controlling Authority. In awarding rewards for the seizure of salt, opium, spirits, and tobacco, the whole or any portion of the sale proceeds may be paid as such rewards at the discretion of the Collector or other Controlling Authority without making any deduction on account of Government demands.

Agents transacting business for others must be duly licensed.

CLXXVI. At such ports and places as the Chief Customs Authority may direct, no person shall act as an agent for transacting in the Custom House business which shall relate to the entrance or clearance of any ship, goods, or baggage, unless authorized so to do by license of the Collector of Customs, who may require a bond to be given by every person to whom such license shall be granted, with sufficient securities, in any sum not exceeding 5,000 Rupees, for the faithful and incorrupt behaviour of such person, as regards the Custom House Regulations and its Officers; and every person who shall act as such agent, not being so licensed, shall for every such offence be liable to a fine not exceeding the sum of 500 Rupees. Provided that nothing herein contained shall prevent the clerk or servant, or known accredited agent of any person or of any mercantile firm, from transacting business at the Custom House, on account of such person or firm, without such license.

Agent to produce authority if required.

CLXXVII. Whenever any person shall make application to any Officer of Customs to transact any business on behalf of any other person, such Officer may require of the person so applying to produce a written authority from the person on whose behalf such application shall be made, and in default of the production of such authority, may refuse to transact such business.

Rates of wharfage fees and warehouse rent of Government warehouses to be fixed by the Local Government.

CLXXVIII. The Local Government of any Presidency or Province may fix and from time to time alter the rates of rent to be charge on goods placed in the Government warehouses, or which may be beyond such period as may be determined by the Local Government, lying on the Custom House Wharf, or other authorized landing places.

Saves anchorage and harbour dues, also special dues on opium, tobacco, ganja, spirits, and salt.

CLXXIX. Nothing hereinbefore contained shall be construed to prevent the levy of any anchorage or harbour dues now leviable at any port in British India, or the levy of any special duties on opium, tobacco, ganja, spirits, or salt, which are or may be established by any law.

Customs Officers not to serve on any jury or inquest.

CLXXX. No Commissioner, Collector Officer, Clerk, or other person acting in the management or collection of the customs, shall be compelled to serve on any jury or inquest.

Duty of customs or excise paid on salt at any place in the Bombay Presidency, to be allowed credit in settling the duty leviable thereon at another port in India.

CLXXXI. Salt which has paid customs or excise duty at any port or place within the Bombay Presidency, shall, on being exported to any other port in India, be furnished with a certificate of such payment; and, on import of the said salt at any other port in India, credit shall be allowed for the amount so previously paid in settling the amount of customs or excise which may be leviable on it at the place of import.

Duplicates may be granted and amendments made on payment of fee.

CLXXXII. Duplicates of any certificate, manifest, bill, or other Custom House document, may, at the discretion of the Collector of Customs or other Controlling Authority, be granted, provided he is satisfied that no fraud has been committed or is intended, on payment of a fee not less than one Rupee and not exceeding ten Rupees. The Collector of Customs or other Controlling Authority may also authorize any amendment to be made in any document, after it has been entered and recorded in the Custom House, upon payment of a like fee for any document so amended.

Transhipment of stores from one vessel to another of the same owner allowed on payment of ⅛ duty.

CLXXXIII. If two or more vessels belonging to one and the same owner or owners, are at any port of India at one and the same time, bonâ fide stores and provisions may, at the discretion and with the permission of the Collector of Customs or other Controlling Authority, be transhipped from one of the said vessels to another of the said vessels, on payment of the reserved duty of one-eighth of the import duty.

CLXXXIV. Provisions and ship's stores bonded at the time of import, may, at the discretion of the Collector of Customs or other Controlling Authority, be exported on payment of the reserved duty of one-eighth for use and consumption on board vessels proceeding to ports beyond the sea. All articles of Indian produce or manufacture, including rum bond fide required for use on board any ship proceeding to a port beyond the sea, may also be exported free of duty, whether of customs or excise, in such quantities as the Collector of Customs may determine, with reference to the tonnage of the crew and passengers, and the length of the voyage on which she may be about to depart. Provided that no spirits shall be shipped free of duty on any ship not going to ports beyond the seas, or going on a voyage of less than thirty days' duration.

Provisions and stores may be exported from bond for consumption at sea on payment of ⅛ duty.

CLXXXV. If, upon the consideration of the facts and circumstances under which any forfeiture, penalty, or confiscation has been adjudged by an Officer of the Customs, or by a Magistrate or Justice of the Peace under the provisions of this Act, the Board of Revenue or other Chief Customs Authority shall be of opinion that such penalty, forfeiture, or confiscation, ought to be remitted, they may remit or forego the same accordingly; or in case they shall be of opinion that a mitigated penalty should be imposed and enforced, they may mitigate any such penalty or forfeiture to such amount as they may deem a sufficient satisfaction for the breach of law or regulations complained of; or they may, if they see reason so to do, commute the order of confiscation to a penalty not exceeding the value of the goods ordered to be confiscated.

If a penalty is adjudged by a Justice of the Peace, the Revenue Board may call for the proceedings and remit or mitigate the penalty.

CLXXXVI. The following words and expressions in this Act shall have the meanings hereby assigned to them, unless there be something in the subject or context repugnant to such construction, that is to say; the words "British Territories in India" or "India" shall mean the Territories which are or may become vested in Her Majesty by the Statute 21 and 22 Vic. c. 106, entitled "An Act for the better Government of India;" the expression "Local Government" shall, when used in respect to any port or place, mean the person or persons for the time being immediately administering the executive Government of that portion of the British possessions in India, in which the port or place in question is situated; the expression "free port" shall mean any port at which no customs duties are levied; the expression "coasting vessel" shall mean any vessel plying between one port in India and another port in India without touching at any intermediate port not belonging to India; the words "master or commander" shall include every person (except a Pilot) having command or charge of any ship; the expression "warehouse" shall mean any place at which goods entered to be warehoused may be lodged, kept, and secured; the term "foreign goods" shall mean all goods not being the produce or manufacture of British India; the term "foreign ports" shall mean all ports situated beyond the continent of India, and all ports which, although situated within the continent of India, are not under the direct control and management of the British Government in India, and all free ports; the word "vessel" shall include any thing made for the conveyance by water of human beings or property.

Definition of expressions and terms used in the Act.

CLXXXVII. This Act shall come into operation on and from the of 186 , and in citing it in other Acts, and in legal instruments, it shall be sufficient to use the expression, "The Indian Customs Consolidation Act of 186 ."

M. Wylie,
Clerk of the Council.

THE following Act, passed by the Legislative Council of India, received the assent of the Right Honorable the Governor General on the 24th July 1861, and is hereby promulgated for general information :—

ACT No. XX OF 1861.

An Act to amend Act XXV of 1858 (for appointing Municipal Commissioners and for raising a Fund for Municipal purposes in the Town of Bombay.)

Preamble. WHEREAS it is expedient to amend Act XXV of 1858; It is enacted as follows :—

Removal of an elected Municipal Commissioner. I. It shall be lawful for the Governor in Council of Bombay to remove from office any Municipal Commissioner elected or who may hereafter be elected by the Justices of the Peace in Sessions assembled, if the said Justices in Sessions assembled shall recommend such removal. In the event of a vacancy occurring by such removal, the Justices shall, as soon as convenient, elect a person to supply the vacancy until the next triennial election.

Vacancy so occurring how to be filled up.

Annual rate how payable. II. So much of Section X of Act XXV of 1858 as prescribes that the annual rate thereby imposed shall be payable in quarterly instalments is repealed, and it is hereby enacted that the annual rate imposed by the said Section upon houses, buildings, and lands in the Town of Bombay shall be payable by the owners thereof by yearly payments or by quarterly instalments as the Governor in Council, by a Notification to be published in the Government Gazette before the commencement of the year in which such rate is to have effect, shall think fit to require the same to be paid.

Levy of additional Town duties. III. In addition to the Town duties leviable under the said Act, the following duties shall be levied in respect of the articles hereinafter mentioned when the same are imported from any place into the Town of Bombay and are intended for use therein, (that is to say)—

		Rs.	As.	Pie.
Bricks	...	„	2	0	per thousand.

The said duties shall be deemed Town duties within the provisions of the said Act relating to Town duties, and shall be levied and collected accordingly by and under the management of the Commissioner of Customs of Bombay and his subordinate Officers, and shall be paid into the General Treasury to the credit of the Municipal Commissioners.

Town duty may be levied subsequently if not ascertainable at time of importation. IV. If it appear to the Commissioner of Customs of Bombay that the amount of Town duty leviable in respect of any articles cannot be ascertained at the time of importation by reason that the whole of the articles may not be intended for consumption or use within the Town or for any other reason, it shall be lawful for the said Commissioner to levy and collect such amount at any subsequent period.

Port of Bombay to be deemed a Warehousing Port as regards Timber. V. The Port of Bombay shall, after the passing of this Act, be held to be a Warehousing Port within the meaning of Act XXV of 1836 so far as regards the Warehousing of Timber ; and the provisions of the said Act, so far as the same are applicable, shall be applied to the Warehousing of Timber in the said Town.

Construction of Act XXV of 1836. In the construction of this Act and of Act XXV of 1836 in conjunction with this Act, the Import Duty in Act XXV of 1836 shall be construed to mean the Town Duty leviable on Timber under Act XXV of 1858.

Warehousing of Timber not paying Town Duty at time of importation. VI. If the Town Duty leviable under the said Act upon Timber is not paid at the time of importation, the Timber may be Warehoused or deposited in some place of security to be appointed or approved by the said Commissioner of Customs. Such Warehouse or place shall be deemed a public Warehouse within the meaning of Act XXV of 1836, and the importer shall pay the Town Duty on the said Timber on its removal from such Warehouse or place for consumption in the said Town.

Remission of Town Duty on re-exportation of Timber. When Timber so Warehoused or desposited is re-exported to any place beyond the limits of the said Town, the whole of the said Town Duty shall be remitted.

Commencement and construction of Act. VII. This Act shall take effect on and from the 1st day of September 1861, and shall be read with and taken as part of the said Act XXV of 1858.

M. WYLIE,
Clerk of the Council.

THE 27TH JULY 1861.

THE following Act, passed by the Legislative Council of India, received the assent of the Right Honorable the Governor General on the 27th July 1861, and is hereby promulgated for general information :—

ACT No. XXI of 1861.

An Act for limiting in certain cases for the year commencing from the 31st day of July 1861, the amount of Assessment to the Duties chargeable under Act XXXII of 1860 (for imposing Duties on Profits arising from Property, Professions, Trades, and Offices) and Act XXXIX of 1860 (to amend Act XXXII of 1860).

Preamble. WHEREAS it is expedient to limit in certain cases for the year commencing from the 31st day of July 1861, the amount of Assessment to the Duties chargeable under Act XXXII of 1860 (for imposing Duties on Profits arising from Property, Professions, Trades, and Offices) and Act XXXIX of 1860 (to amend Act XXXII of 1860) ; It is enacted as follows :—

Issue of General Notice regarding the rate and amount of assessment of duties under Schedules 1 and 2 for the year commencing 31st July 1861. I. It shall be lawful for the Governor-General of India in Council, by an order to be published in the Government Gazette, to direct that, within the Territories or any part of the Territories subject to the local Government of any Presidency or place, the general or special notices required by Sections XXXVII and XXXVIII of the said Act

XXXII of 1860 shall not be issued for the year commencing from the 31st day of July 1861 in respect to the duties contained in Schedules 1 and 2 of the said Act, and that in such Territories or part of such Territories the Returns of profits or income chargeable with duties under the said Schedules, as prescribed by Section XXXIX of the said Act, for the year commencing as above, shall not be required; but that in the place of such notices a general notice shall be issued in such Territories or part of such Territories to the effect that, except as hereinafter provided, the assessment of the duties contained in the said Schedules for the year commencing as above upon the several persons liable thereto either on their own behalf or on behalf of any other person, shall be at the same rate and on the same amount at and on which such persons were or shall be assessed for the year ending on the 31st day of July 1861.

Form and publication of General Notice.

II. The general notice to be issued under the last-preceding Section shall be in the form appended to this Act or to the like effect, and shall fix a period of two months after which the assessments under this Act shall be made. Such notice shall be published in the Official Gazette of the Presidency or place within which it is issued, and in such other manner as the local Government shall direct, and copies of such notice shall be affixed at the several places within such Territories or part of such Territories which are mentioned in Section XXXVII of the said Act XXXII of 1860.

Assessments to be made and recovered without requiring Returns of profits or income.

III. After the expiration of the period specified in such notice, the Officers within such Territories or part of such Territories whose duty it is to make assessments under the said Acts XXXII and XXXIX of 1860, shall proceed, except as hereinafter provided, without requiring the Returns prescribed by Section XXXIX of the said Act XXXII of 1860 for the year commencing from the 31st day of July 1861 in respect to the duties contained in Schedules 1 and 2 of the said Act, to assess the several persons in their respective jurisdictions liable to the said duties either on their own behalf or on behalf of any other person, for the year commencing as above, at the same rate and on the same amount at and on which such persons were or shall be assessed to the said duties for the year ending on the date above-mentioned, and shall proceed to collect and recover the amount of such assessments under the provisions contained in the said Act XXXII of 1860 which are hereby declared applicable to the assessments so made.

Payment of duties.

IV. The assessment ordered to be the assessment for the year commencing from the 31st day of July 1861 under the last preceding Section, shall, in the case of every person as aforesaid who shall not claim to be assessed under Act XXXII of 1860 as hereinafter provided, be the assessment on every such person under Schedules 1 and 2 of the said Act XXXII of 1860 for the year commencing as above, and the duties imposed by the said Acts XXXII and XXXIX of 1860 under such Schedules shall be payable on such assessment, in the same manner as if it had been made on a fresh Return made under Section XXXIX of the said Act XXXII of 1860; and all the provisions of the said Act XXXII of 1860 for the collection and enforcement of payment of duties assessed and payable under the said Act shall be applicable to the collection and enforcement of payment of the duties under the assessments herein provided for.

Claims to be assessed under Act XXXII of 1860.

V. If any person within such Territories or part of such Territories chargeable with the duties contained in Schedules 1 and 2 of the said Act XXXII of 1860 or either of them, for the year commencing from the 31st day of July 1861, shall object to the assessment provided by this Act, and shall claim to be assessed under the said Act XXXII of 1860, he shall apply to the Assessor within whose jurisdiction he resides, for forms of Returns of profits or income chargeable under the said Schedules or either of them, and such person shall, within the period mentioned in such general notice, deliver the Return for the year commencing as above, filled up in the manner and containing the declaration prescribed by the said Act XXXII of 1860, at the Office of such Assessor or of the Special Commissioner, or Collector, and claim to be assessed thereon in the same manner as if this Act had not passed. No such claim to be assessed under the said Act XXXII of 1860, shall be received unless made within the period aforesaid.

Mode of assessment in such cases.

VI. When any claim shall be made under the provisions of the last preceding Section within the time therein allowed, it shall be the duty of the Assessor or the Special Commissioner or Collector, as the case may be, to whom such claim is made, to assess the person making it on his profits or income chargeable under the said Schedules for the year commencing from the 31st day of July 1861, in accordance with the provisions of the said Act XXXII of 1860, and all the provisions of the said Act shall be applicable to the Return and Declaration made by such person and to the assessment made upon him.

Saving of issue of special notice to a person who has made no Return for the year ending 31st July 1861, &c.

VII. Nothing in this Act shall be held to debar the Commissioners of any Presidency Town or any Collector from issuing or ordering the issue by an Assessor of a special notice, according to the form and in the manner provided by Section XXXVIII of the said Act XXXII of 1860, to any person residing within the jurisdiction of such Commissioners or Collector whom they or he shall consider liable to the duties chargeable under the said Schedules 1 and 2, or either of them, for the year commencing from the 31st day of July 1861, but to whom a special notice requiring such person to make a return of his profits or income under the said Schedules for the year ending on the date above-mentioned shall not have been issued within such jurisdiction; or to any person whom such Commissioners or Collector shall have reason to believe made a fraudulent return of his profits or income under the said Schedules or either of them for the said last mentioned year, and who shall not have been surcharged upon such return; or to any person who shall have been assessed to the duties under the said Schedules or either of them on a return of profits or income calculated upon any period less than a whole year. Provided that no notice shall be issued under this Section after the expiration of three months from the date of the general notice mentioned in Section I of this Act.

Procedure on Special Notice.

VIII. When a special notice shall be issued to any person under the provisions of the last preceding Section, all the provisions of the said Act XXXII of 1860 as to special notices shall apply thereto, and to any Return and Declaration made by such person and to the assessment of such person.

Case of transfer of immoveable property.

IX. When any transfer of any immoveable property which shall have been or shall be assessed to the duties contained in the said Schedule 1 of the said Act XXXII of 1860 for the year ending upon the 31st day of July 1861, shall have taken place subsequently to the date at which such assessment shall have been or shall be made, the person in the enjoyment of the profits or income arising from such property, at the time that the assessment of duties thereupon for the year commencing from the said 31st day of July 1861 is made, shall be liable to be assessed on the profits of such property under the Rules contained in the said Act XXXII of 1860 in the same manner as if this Act had not passed

Act not to apply to duties under Schedules 3 and 4.

X. This Act shall not apply to the duties contained in Schedules 3 and 4 of the said Act XXXII of 1860, or to the assessment, collection, and recovery of such duties.

NOTICE.

Income Tax Act, Schedules 1 and 2.

Under the orders of the Governor-General of India in Council, Notice is hereby given that, except in the case of any person or persons to whom a special notice is issued, the assessment for the Income Tax for the year commencing from the 31st day of July 1861 under Schedules 1 and 2, Act XXXII of 1860 (Income Tax Act), will be the same as for last year; provided that, if any person object to such assessment, he may apply to the Assessor of his Division for forms of Returns of profits or income under the said Schedules, and send in his Return thereof within two months from the date of this Notice, and he will then be assessed on such Return under the said Act XXXII of 1860.

Section CXXIX.

A QUESTION having been raised as to whether deputation allowance, drawn by an Establishment while on a tour, as distinguished from travelling allowance, and being in addition thereto, could be assessed to the Income Tax, it was pointed out that there was a clear difference between an allowance given specially for travelling, and an allowance such as deputation alolwance, given under peculiar circumstances for the purpose of bringing up the salary proper of an Officer to an amount equivalent to that at which his salary, virtually diminished to him by those peculiar circumstances, would otherwise stand, and that deputation allowance, like the salary proper, should be taxed.—(Financial Department Order No. 10981, dated 3rd November 1860.)

Lieutenant H. M. Pratt, of the late 51st Native Infantry, to do duty, vice Lieutenant Browne, appointed to another situation.

Fort William, the 1st August 1861.

No. 674 of 1861.—The following paragraphs of a Military Letter from the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State for India, No. 207, of the 16th May 1861, are published for general information and guidance:—

Requisitions having been received through the War Office from Officers Commanding in Her Majesty's British Regiments serving in India, for supplies of Accoutrements to replace those which have become unserviceable, I have informed the Secretary of State for War that applications for Stores of this kind required for Regiments in India, should be addressed to the Local Authorities, who will take the necessary steps for complying with these demands.

2. It is believed that you will be able to meet a great portion of the requisitions for Accoutrements from the Stores in the Magazines, or from local resources. In order, however, to ensure you, as far as possible, the possession of the means of supplying the articles demanded, 1,000 English Buff Hides will be forwarded to your Presidency, in order that Accoutrements may be manufactured locally. As remarked by the Military Finance Commission, in their Report of the 11th October 1860, with English Buff, Accoutrements ought to be made up locally in all respects equal to those made in England; and the above supply is sent to you in anticipation of the Indents, which I request you will submit for such quantities of Buff Leather as you may consider necessary for the requirements of the Service.

3. A complete set of Accoutrements, of the latest approved pattern, for every Arm of the Service, will also be sent to you for the guidance of the local manufacturers.

No 675 of 1861.—The under-mentioned Sub-Assistant of the Great Trigonometrical Survey of India is promoted to the Grade of Senior Sub-Assistant, with effect from the 1st July 1861:—

Mr. Henry Beverley.

Fort William, the 2nd August 1861.

No. 676 of 1861.—Ensign F. D. Orme, whose admission into the Service was notified in Government General Order No. 650, of the 23rd ultimo, is to rank from the date assigned to him in Government General Order No. 279, of the 26th March 1861.

No. 677 of 1861.—The following Order issued by the Resident at Hyderabad is confirmed:—

No. 135, dated 9th July 1861.—Confirming the Order by Brigadier Hill, Commanding Hyderabad Contingent, dated 6th July 1861, directing Assistant Surgeon Sanderson, 1st Cavalry, Hyderabad Contingent, to assume Medical charge of the 1st Infantry, Hyderabad Contingent, from the 3rd July 1861, consequent on the departure, on leave to Bombay, of Assistant Surgeon McAllum, M. Mr. John Andrias Davidson Gordon ...	26th July 1861.

No. 680 of 1861.—The under-mentioned Officer is permitted to proceed to Europe, on leave of absence, on Sick Certificate:—

Lieutenant James Stuart Melville, (Unattached)...	For eighteen months, under the new Regulations.

No. 681 of 1861.—His Excellency the Governor General in Council directs the publication of the subjoined questions on subjects of general interest, and the answer given by Government, in continuation of those published in Government General Order No. 606, of the 11th July 1861:—

Question 74.—A time-expired Artillery-man, being under orders for discharge, and awaiting orders for embarkation, is desirous of cancelling his discharge and volunteering for the Royal Artillery; —for what period is he to be engaged, and for what Bounty?

Paras. 5 and 20.

Answer 74.—His discharge cannot be cancelled; but he can at once re-engage in the Royal Artillery, counting his former service in the Madras Artillery.

Question 75.—In the event of an Officer of one of the present Local European Regiments electing to continue on his present conditions, will he be posted to the Local European Corps according to his position in his present Regiment, or by Army Rank?

Paragraph 16.

Answer 75.—The number of men who have elected to remain in the local service will not admit of the formation of any new Local European Regiment.

An Officer of one of the old Local Regiments volunteering for Indian service will remain on the cadre of his old Regiment.

Question 76.—If an Officer elects for general service, and is nominated to one of Her Majesty's British Regiments, will he enter it as junior of his rank?

Paragraph 50.

Answer 76.—As Junior.

Question 77.—If an Officer volunteers for general service, and there is no vacancy for him in one of the new Line Regiments, will he still be available for Staff employ and for command of an Irregular Regiment, or only eligible for appointment to one of Her Majesty's British Regiments in India?

Paragraph 50.

Answer 77.—He will be eligible, like any other Officer of the Indian Army, for any Staff employ.

Question 78.—If an Officer on Staff employ now elects for "general service," will he be permitted to retain his present Staff appointment, and will it still be open to him to elect to join the Staff Corps?

Paras. 50 and 78.

Answer 78.—If an Officer on Staff employ elects for general service, and he is transferred to a Line Regiment, he may retain his appointment under the conditions of paragraph 74 of the General Order.

It will still be open to him, after his transfer, to apply for admission to the Staff Corps; but, if admitted, he must vacate his place in his Regiment, under paragraph 83 of the General Order.

Question 79.—Under what Furlough Regulations will Officers who volunteer for the Dragoon and new Line Regiments be brought?

Paras. 51 and 52.

Answer 79.—Under Her Majesty's Regulations generally. Under the new Furlough Regulations while their Corps remain in India.

Question 80.—Will the period that an Officer may have been employed on the Regimental Staff in one of the late Cavalry Regiments or Extra Regiments of Native Infantry, be allowed to count towards the time qualifying for promotion under the Staff Warrant?

Paras. 69 and 87.

Answer 80.—Yes.

Question 81.—If a Quarter Master of a Cavalry Regiment does not offer for the Staff Corps, can he retain his present appointment, not only as a Subaltern, but after promotion to Captain?

Paragraph 72.

Answer 81.—As a Subaltern he may, but not after promotion to Captain.

Question 82.—If an Officer, who is Adjutant of a Regiment of Native Infantry, elects to remain on the present conditions, will he be allowed to retain the appointment of Adjutant?

Paragraph 72.

Answer 82.—Yes, until promotion to Captain.

Question 83.—An Officer of the Staff Corps having obtained leave to Europe or in India, does time so spent reckon towards promotion under the Staff Warrant?

Paragraph 84.

Answer 83.—Yes, all authorized leave.

Question 84.—Will time passed at Addiscombe, counting as service for retirement, also reckon towards promotion under the Staff Warrant?

Paras. 84 and 95.

Answer 84.—No.

Question 85.—Will the period that an Officer of the Staff Corps is unemployed, in or out of India, or on the Half-pay List, count towards promotion and also towards Retiring Pension?

Para. 84, 95, & 98.

Answer 85.—The period during which an Officer is unemployed in or out of India will count, but the time passed on half-pay will not count.

Question 86.—Should there not be Staff appointments for all Officers who offer themselves as candidates for the Staff Corps? Will the surplus be allowed to remain with their present Regiments, or be placed on the Unemployed List, and at the expiration of four years on the Half-pay List?

Paragraph 98.

Answer 86.—Every Officer who offers will not of necessity be admitted into the Staff Corps. It is intended that the number shall, as nearly as practicable, be equal to the number of appointments, making allowance for leave, &c. Surplus Officers of the Staff Corps will have no claim to remain with their present Regiments, but will be at the disposal of the Government for such service as it may deem fit.

Question 87.—Will Officers on the Staff, remaining in the Local Regiments, be allowed to rise to the higher appointments in the several Departments?

Answer 87.—Yes, under the present system.

Question 88.—Will an Officer of the Artillery, who is ordered to serve out of India at his own wish, be allowed to revert to service in India at any future time?

Answer 88.—If ordered back; but he must serve where ordered.

Question 89.—Is an Officer entitled to count for service on the Staff from the date he was appointed to the Staff, notwithstanding that he did not join the appointment immediately, in consequence of being required with his Regiment on foreign service?

Answer 89.—His service on the Staff will count from the date of the General Order appointing him.

Question 90.—Will Officers of the Staff Corps be considered to have a prior claim to a Staff appointment to Officers not in the Corps holding appointments; that is to say, would the latter have to vacate his appointment if there should be no vacancy for the former?

Answer 90.—It will rest with Government to select Officers for appointments. But an Officer holding a Staff appointment, and not joining the Staff Corps, will not have to vacate his office merely to make way for a Staff Corps Officer.

Question 91.—If the changes should bring an Officer's name on the cadre of his Regiment among the Captains, can he enter the Staff Corps with that rank, or must he enter with the rank he held on the 18th February 1861?

Answer 91—If he applies within the six months he will be restricted to the rank he held on the 18th February. If he is afterwards selected, he will join the Staff Corps with the rank he may at the time hold.

Notice.

In substitution of the Notice dated the 9th February last, published in the Government Gazette of the 13th idem, page 465, the following Regulations for the submission of Indents for Instruments, have been approved by the Military Finance Department:—

1. With reference to the Orders of the Government of India, No. 1222, dated the 21st December 1860, transferring the responsible control of the Calcutta Mathematical Instrument Depôt and Work-shops to the Surveyor-General of India from the Inspector-General of Ordnance, the undersigned has the honor to request that all Military and Civil Officers who may have occasion to indent for Instruments will be good enough to address their communications to the Superintendent, Mathematical Instrument Department, Calcutta, and who will take the necessary steps for the early compliance with all requisitions in that Department.

2. All Indents for Instruments required by Departmental Officers must, in the first instance, receive the sanction and approval of the Heads of Departments, and in the case of Civil Functionaries, of the Government under which the Indenting Officer may be serving, before the Surveyor-General can authorize compliance with the demands made on the Mathematical Instrument Department.

3. The ordinary Form of Indent is annexed, and it will save much delay and inconvenience if full instructions are given as to the mode of transit, and the name of the Station to which the packages are to be addressed. The mere address of Camp such a place whilst on the march is not sufficient.

FORM.

Indent on the Calcutta Mathematical Instrument Depôt, for Instruments required for the use of

Dated the 186 .

Description of Instruments.	Quantity in Number in use or store.	Quantity or Number indented for.	For the purpose which required.	Quantity or Number admitted.	How and where to be despatched.

I do hereby certify that the articles specified on this Indent are indispensably necessary for the purposes set forth, according to the best of my knowledge and belief, after the most careful examination.

Signature of Indenting Officer with designation of appointment in full.

RECOMMENDED.

Countersignature of Approving Authority.

4. As it is deemed necessary by the Military Finance Department that the probable demands on the Instrument Depôt should be made known as far as practicable at one time, so as to admit of carrying out the Budget system of Estimates in anticipation for a year's consumption, the 1st of January of each year is fixed as the latest date for the submission of all Indents. All Officers are therefore requested to, consider well the whole of their wants, and to provide for the same in a single Indent by the above date.

5. The Mathematical Instrument Department is one merely of receipt and issue. It has therefore nothing to do with the furnishing of the Accounts of Officers.

Office of the Director-General of the Post Offices in India, January 1st, 1859.

The following Conditions are to be observed in sending Book-Packets by Post:—

1*st.*—The Postage must be pre-paid in full, by means of Postage Stamps affixed outside the Packet on its cover.

2*nd.*—Every Packet must be sent either without a cover, or in a cover open at the ends or side, so as to admit of the enclosures being removed for examination.

3*rd.*—The Packet may contain any number of separate books or other publications, prints or maps, and any quantity of paper, parchment or vellum (to the exclusion, however, of letters whether sealed or open) and the books or other publications, prints, maps, &c., may be either printed, written or plain, or any mixture of the three. Further, all legitimate binding, mounting, or covering of a book, publication, &c., or of a portion thereof, will be allowed, whether such binding, &c., be loose or attached; as also rollers in the case of prints or maps, markers (whether of paper or otherwise,) in the case of books; and in short whatever is necessary for the safe transmission of literary or artistic matter or usually appertains thereto.

4*th.*—The Packet must not contain any letter, closed or open, or any enclosure, sealed or otherwise closed against inspection, nor must there be any letter, or any communication of the nature of a letter, written or printed in any such Packet or on its cover. Entries, however, merely stating who sends the book, &c., or to whom it is given, are not regarded as a letter.

5*th.*—No Book-Packet can be received if it exceeds two feet in length, width, or depth.

6*th.*—Any Packet which shall not be open at the ends or sides, or shall have any letter or any communication of the nature of a letter written or printed in it or upon its cover will be charged with Letter Postage.

7*th.*—If a Packet be found to contain any letter, whether closed or open, or any enclosure sealed or otherwise closed against inspection, or any other unauthorized enclosure, the letter or enclosure will be taken out and forwarded to the address on the Packet, charged with full Postage as an unpaid letter together with an additional Book-rate; that is, with the Postage chargeable on a Book weighing not more than half a lb, the remainder of the Packet, if duly pre-paid with Stamps, will then be forwarded to its address.

8*th.*—If a Packet be not sufficiently pre-paid with Stamps but nevertheless bear Stamps equal to a single Book-rate, it will be forwarded charged with the deficient Book-Postage together with an additional Book-rate; but any Packet which shall not bear Postage Stamps equal to a single Book-rate will be detained and charged with the Letter Postage.

9*th.*—No Book-Packet weighing more than three lbs can be sent to or from the East Indies or to New South Wales.

10*th.*—The Colonial Book-Post extends to those Colonies only which are so marked in the Table of Colonial and Foreign Postage.

11*th.*—In no case can a Book-Packet be sent to the Colonies (except at the letter rate of Postage,) through a Foreign Country.

Notice.

No. 8189.

On Letters and Newspapers sent in the Alexandria Packet for Jaffa, Jerusalem, Bagdad, Beyrout, Constantinople, and other places in Turkey or Syria, the following rates of Postage must be pre-paid:—

CALCUTTA,
The 1st May 1860.

No. 2780.

Notice.

THE Public are hereby informed, that it has been arranged with the Ceylon Government that from the 1st of August next, 3*d.* or 2 annas will be levied on each letter weighing ½ oz. sent from India to any part of Ceylon by land, and that such letters will be delivered free of any additional charge.

Letters posted in Ceylon and forwarded by land will, in the same manner, be charged 3*d.* or 2 annas per ½ oz., and they will be delivered in any part of India free of any additional postage.

All such Letters must be pre-paid, otherwise they will be treated as unclaimed.

The 23rd July 1859.

ALL Letters, Newspapers, and Printed Papers, addressed to Portugal, Madeira, the Azores, the Cape de Verd Islands, and other Portuguese Possessions on the Coast of Africa, will in future be sent in the Mail for Gibraltar, and all such correspondence will be charged with only the Indian Inland rate of Postage, which must be pre-paid.

No. 7019.

UNDER instructions from the London General Post Office, the following rates of Postage will be charged on, and from the 1st January next, upon all letters sent viâ Southampton from Calcutta through the United Kingdom to Buenos Ayres, or any other part of the Argentine Confederation, to the Republic of Paraguay and to Monte Video, or any other part of the Republic of Uraguay, viz.:—

and so on.

2. To the above Postage must be added a French Transit rate of 3*d.* or two annas per ½oz. when the letters are intended to be forwarded by way of Marseilles.

3. The above rates of Postage must in all cases be prepaid.

CAMP NOWHATTA,
The 22nd December 1860.

UNDER instructions from the London General Post Office, all letters to Greytown or any other part of the Republic of Nicaragua, or any part of the Mosquito Territory, for transmission through the United Kingdom by way of Southampton, will in future be charged at the reduced rate of 11*d.* or 7 annas 3 pie for a Letter not exceeding half an ounce in weight; whenever such letters are sent viâ Marseilles an additional postage of 3*d.* or 2 annas per quarter ounce should be charged.

The above-mentioned postage must in all cases be paid in advance.

The 30th September 1859.

UNDER instructions from the London General Post Office, letters for Spain will in future be sent in the Mails for Gibraltar, and they will be charged with Steam Postage according to the following rates :—

Not exceeding ½ ounce 6*d.* or 4 annas, exceeding ½ ounce and not exceeding 1 ounce, 1 shilling or 8 annas, and so on, 1 shilling or 8 annas for every additional ounce or any fraction of an ounce.

The payment of Steam Postage upon all such Letters is optional, but whenever they may be posted in the Mofussil, the Indian inland postage must be pre-paid by Stamps.

The 30th September 1859.

LETTERS sent by, or addressed to Soldiers and Seamen, may be forwarded on payment of a British rate of one Penny to any part beyond Sea, with which there is a communication by means of British Mail Packets.

When, however, such letters pass through a Foreign Country, the transit rate due to each Country must be paid upon them, in addition to the British rate of one Penny, and the following Table shows the amount of the transit in each of the instances specified :—

Soldiers' or Seamen's Letters sent to or from		Amount of the Foreign Transit rate to be paid in addition to the British rate of one Penny.

CALCUTTA,
The 21st October 1859.

Notice.

No. 7562.

UNDER instructions from the Secretary of State for India, an additional charge of one Penny will be levied from this date upon all single Newspapers and Prices Current conveyed viâ Egypt to the United Kingdom, through the United Kingdom, or to places between Egypt and the United Kingdom, such as Malta, Gibraltar, Corfu, Ionian Islands, Trieste, &c.

The total postage upon such Newspapers is as under :—

Pre-payment must be made by Stamps.

The above Rules do not apply to Newspapers for France and Spain, or for transmission through France and Spain.

CALCUTTA,
The 18th January 1860.

Notice.

UNDER instructions from the General Post Office, London, the Post Master, Calcutta, begs to inform the Public, that, from the 1st July 1861, Mails will be exchanged only once a month between Point de Galle and Penang, Singapore and China, by the Packets leaving Point de Galle about the 6th, and Hong-kong about the 15th of each month. The Calcutta Post Office will therefore despatch letters for China, Penang, and Singapore by the Peninsular and Oriental Company's 2nd Steamer (23rd) of the month only.

CALCUTTA POST OFFICE,
The 24th June 1861.

Notices issued by the Post-Master of Calcutta.

ALL communications respecting change of address should be made to the Post-Master of Calcutta and not to the Post-Master General. Letters re-directed, whether delivered in Calcutta, or forwarded to some other Station, are taxed with "Forward Postage."

No. 2661.

The 19th September 1860.—As very many Letters on ordinary Post Office matters are addressed by the Public to the Post-Master General instead of the Post-Master Calcutta, and as inconvenience is the result, it is solicited the practice may be discontinued, and the Post-Master be addressed on all matters of his Office, except when any party may wish to prefer complaint to higher authority.

ALL complaints requiring redress, such as overcharge of Postage, mis-sending or delay in the delivery of Letters, &c., must be made to the Post-Master-General, accompanied by the Envelopes of the letters referred to; the number of the Delivery Peon should always be stated.

No. 1027.

The 9th July 1859.—Parcels or Book Packets cannot be sent by Private Ships through the Post Office.

Notice.

THE Inland Postage on letters, &c., posted for despatch by the After-Packet must be prepaid. Such letters, &c., as do not bear the Inland Postage, or are insufficiently stamped with the After-Packet Postage, will be detained and forwarded by the next Steamer.

SPECIAL Notice is directed to the subjoined Clauses of Rules, the want of attention to which has occasioned the Post Office much inconvenience.

2nd.—A separate instruction will be required for every change of address, and no instruction will be attended to for more than three months after its receipt.

3rd.—Under Section XXIII. of Act XVII. of 1854, Forward Postage will be charged in addition to all other Postage due or paid thereon upon every letter without exception, which may be re-directed in any Post Office. For example, if a letter posted in Calcutta and addressed to Hooghly is, under instructions which may have been received from the addressee, re-directed in the Calcutta Post Office and sent to Barrackpore, Forward Postage will be charged in addition to the Postage which would have been due, had the letter been despatched to Hooghly according to its original address.

4th.—The practice of giving instructions to the Officers of the Post Office to intercept and re-direct letters, not only imposes much labor upon them, but in large Offices seriously retards the delivery and despatch of the Mails. A register of instructions regarding changes of address will be kept in every Post Office, but it must be understood, that it is impossible to guarantee that they shall be attended to except in the case of letters received for delivery.

LETTERS and Newspapers despatched to and from the United Kingdom by private Vessels are liable to the following rates of Postage, which must be pre-paid by Stamps:—

	Rs.	As.	Pie.
Letters not exceeding ½ oz. in weight	0	4	0
Ditto exceeding ½ oz. but not exceeding 1 oz.	0	8	0

And so on adding 8 annas for each oz. or fraction thereof which includes Inland Postage.

Newspapers not exceeding 4 oz. in weight, 1*d.* or 8 pie must be pre-paid by Stamp, and no Inland Postage is required upon such papers.

Parcels conveyed by the above opportunity for the United Kingdom are liable to Letter rates of Postage.

Notice.

Letters arriving at the Presidency Towns by Mail Steamers will be immediately sorted for delivery according to the address alone, without any reference to instructions which may have been received regarding change of address; such changes will be left to be discovered by the Delivery Officers, and be corrected in the forward and unclaimed Departments of the Office.

Forward Postage will be charged in addition to all other Postage due or paid thereon upon every letter without exception, which may be re-directed in the Post Office.

Letters, &c., received by the Steamer will be delivered at the Window of the Post Office only to parties who have registered their names. Applications to the Post Office on the day of the Steamer's arrival to intercept and re-direct letters, &c., cannot be attended to, as they are found not only to impose much labour but seriously retard the delivery and despatch of the Mails.

Under the orders of Government, no fourth delivery of letters by the Post Office is allowed. Mails which are received by Steamers from Suez at so late an hour in the day as not to admit of the letters being taken out for delivery by 6 P. M. will be detained till the following morning, but parties who have registered their names under the usual fee are entitled to receive their letters and Marseilles Newspapers so soon as the Mails are sorted, and which is generally about 2 hours after receipt of the Mail, at the Post Office.

Forward Newspapers.—Extra or Forward Postage is chargeable on every Newspaper re-directed at the Post Office of original address and forwarded to another Post Office.

Government of Bengal.

Expedition into the Garrow Hills.

Extract from a letter from the Agent to the Governor-General, North-East Frontier, to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(dated the 23rd April 1861.)

I HAVE the honor to forward herewith the Report from Captain Morton expected by your Office letters of the 7th and 23rd March 1861. I further beg to submit a Report from Lieutenant Chambers, Second in Command of the 2nd Regiment Assam Light Infantry, to Captain Morton, in which that Officer details his share in the late operations against the Garrows.

It will be remembered that, while Captain Morton proceeded against the Garrows on the Mymensing side, the task devolved on Lieutenant Chambers of operating against them from Gowalparah. The accompanying rough Map shews the Country traversed by Lieutenant Chambers.

Lieutenant Chambers did not meet with any opposition; and though he was unsuccessful in the capture of the murderers concerned in the border feuds on the Gowalparah side, from causes beyond his control, and which might have been confidently anticipated, for it was quite certain the murderers would run away on his approach, and in such a Country and among such a people the pursuit of single criminals by a Military party must be hopeless, the object of his Expedition in other respects was very sufficiently attained, and great credit seems due to him for the way in which he conducted it. He shewed the Garrows that their Fortresses were not inaccessible to our Troops, and that they could only find safety by flight, leaving their Villages and crops at our mercy, and the result was, that not only did many dependent Chiefs make payment of Revenue to him which they had withheld for years, but Independent Chiefs came into his Camp to render their submission and fealty.

Captain Morton proceeded to Doorgapore, Soosoong, in December last, and there entered upon a course of proceeding which ended in the capture of some forty Garrows, all of them more or less implicated in the late massacres in the Mymensing District. Of the twenty-three Garrows who were concerned in the murder of Roshun Shaikh and fifteen of his family, nineteen, or all but four, were apprehended; and of the Garrows seized as having taken part in the murder of Ashkur Chukladar, two have been admitted as approvers, and seven have been committed. I consider this result satisfactory and most creditable to Captain Morton.

From E. H. LUSHINGTON, Esq., Secretary to the Government of Bengal, to the Agent, Governor-General, North-East Frontier,—(dated the 18th July 1861.)

SIR,—I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter dated the 23rd April last, submitting Reports from Captain Morton, Principal Assistant Commissioner, and Lieutenant Chambers, of 2nd Assam Light Infantry, of the result of the late operations against the Garrows who were concerned in the late border raids and murders in Gowalparah and Mymensing.

2. According to preconcerted arrangements, Lieutenant Chambers entered the Garrow Hills with a body of Troops of the 2nd Assam Light Infantry from the Gowalparah side, in January last; while Captain Morton, with another party, at the same time, entered the Hills from the Mymensing side. Each party had the same objects in view, namely, to apprehend and bring to justice the perpetrators of the late outrages, and to convince the savage inhabitants generally that they were not inaccessible to the power and authority of Government. The operations conducted by Lieutenant Chambers continued for a month, from the 14th January to the 15th February, during which time he succeeded in reaching and punishing almost all the offending Villages, in realizing Revenue from many of the dependent Chiefs who had withheld it for years, and in obtaining the submission and fealty of such of the Independent Chiefs as were disposed to be friendly. He was not, however, successful in the capture of any of the actual murderers, but this would appear to have been occasioned by his having no friendly Garrows attached to his party whom he might have employed in this service, and not from any want of exertion on his part.

3. Captain Morton advanced into the Hills, as has already been stated, from the Mymensing side; and through the agency of the Garrows themselves, and by working on their fears and rewarding those who assisted him, he succeeded in capturing some forty Garrows implicated in the late massacres in that District. In the case of the murder of Roshun Shaikh and his family, out of twenty-three Garrows who were implicated, nineteen were apprehended; and in that of Ashkur Chuckladar, nine were apprehended, of whom seven have been committed for trial, and the remaining two made approvers.

4. The Lieutenant-Governor concurs with you in considering the result of both the Expeditions to be highly satisfactory and creditable to the exertions of Captain Morton and Lieutenant Chambers; and I am desired to request that you will convey to those Officers an expression of the Lieutenant-Governor's approbation of the activity, intelligence, and zeal displayed by them on this occasion.

5. The Lieutenant-Governor is also glad to notice the favorable mention made by Captain Morton of the services rendered to him during the late Expedition by the three individuals named on the margin; and he approves of the presentation of a double-barrelled gun to each of the two latter, the cost being defrayed, as suggested by Captain Morton, from the sum said to be in deposit at the Gowalparah Treasury on account of presents to the Garrow Chiefs.

Jillarco Kouch, Interpreter.
Gungaram, Interpreter.
Meyung Mundul of the Mân Community.

6. The importance of the Garrow Country as a Cotton-growing District will not be lost sight of, and the expediency of opening the two Roads through that country, recommended in your letter, will be considered in the Public Works Department of this Office as Cotton Roads. But the Lieutenant-Governor adheres to his former opinion, that it would be inexpedient to re-impose the Cotton Tax. Improved facilities for the traffic of this article ought no doubt to be provided, but the expenditure necessary for this purpose should be obtained by other means than by the imposition of a Tax on the article itself.

7. The decayed state of the Cossyah Hill Road will also be enquired into by the Public Works Department.

8. It has been stated that the re-appointment of the Garrow Surburakur has not answered its purpose. On receipt of the further explanation called for by you from Captain Morton, you will have the goodness to submit another Report to Government, stating your opinion as to whether this measure has had a sufficient and a fair trial, and, if found to be a failure, whether the failure is owing to individual incapacity or not.

9. The Principal Assistant Commissioner should henceforth make yearly visits to the Garrow Frontier during the cold weather, where he should hold interviews with the Garrow Chiefs, and so endeavor to recover and preserve that influence over them which would appear of late years to have been greatly neglected.

10. In regard to Captain Morton's requisition for Elephants, I am directed to state the Lieutenant-Governor thinks it is sufficient to authorize Captain Morton to apply to the Commissariat Department for two or three Elephants for the annual cold-weather tour above referred to, which should be returned by him to that Department as soon as the tour has been completed. Further use of these Elephants would not be needed, as the suggestions for the Militia and an Assistant at Kurreeharee have not received the Lieutenant-Governor's approval.

Public Works Department.

Great Indian Peninsula Railway.

Results of the experimental introduction of 4th Class Passenger fares, abstracted from papers received from Bombay.

These fares, at the rate of 1½ pies per mile, were in force during the half-year ending 15th April last, the other fares being—

2nd „ ..... 6 „
3rd „ ..... 3 „

The following is a figured Statement of the results, as compared with the same period of the previous year:—

	Number of Passengers.	Gross Receipts.	Average number of Passengers per mile per week.	Average Receipts per mile per week.
				Rs. As. P.
1860-61 ...	(3rd & 4th Class) 1,002,150 (3rd Class only) 584,901	4,20,972	120·5	51 5 1
1859-60 .		3,31,825	86	43 15 1
Increase in 1860-61 .	417,949	95,147	34·5	2 6 0

The additional expense is said, to be 1 anna 6 pies per Train mile, the gross cost of a whole Train per mile being Rupees 1-12, so that the additional expense is less than 6 per cent. on the expenditure, or, to compare the increase in receipts and expenditure, twelve additional 4th Class Passengers will pay the extra cost, while the actual increase has been seventy-three 3rd and 4th Class.

The Bombay Government has sanctioned the continuance of the experiment for six months more.

Experience hitherto has led the Railway Officers to two conclusions—

The Train that carries 4th Class Passengers should not also carry 3rd Class. It has been found that in this case the 3rd Class carriages run almost empty.

The same kind of carriage should be used for both 3rd and 4th Class Passengers, for they belong to the same class of people, and the measure, moreover, will economize Rolling Stock. The difference of the two Classes is in speed.

Home Department.

Operations of the Agency for the Suppression of Meriah Sacrifices.

From CAPTAIN A. C. MCNEILL, Agent to the Governor General for the Hill Tracts of Orissa, to W. GRANT, Esq., Secretary to the Government of India.—(No. 102, dated Camp Russellcondah, the 25th May 1861.)

I HAVE the honor to submit a connected Report of the Proceedings of this Agency during the past season. All details have been furnished from time to time in my own and my Assistant's Diaries.

2. Towards the end of November our Camps started for the Hills. My Assistant accompanied me as far as Sooradah, and then, ascending the Ghauts at Coradah, passed through the valley of Deegi to the Khond Tracts of Chinna Kimedy.

3. At Sooradah I had an interview with all the Chief Khonds of the Infanticidal Tribes; these men when questioned, whether they had remained true to their pledges, and had reared all their female infants, replied in the affirmative, but personal observation demonstrated that such was not the case; and though undoubtedly many more female children are now reared than formerly, still the disproportion of the sexes too plainly proves that in many Districts this great evil still obtains to a great extent. Three trustworthy Cutcherry servants and a Maliah Sirdar were deputed to those Tracts, and traversing leisurely each Mootah they visited every village. A correct census was thus obtained of the Hill Tracts of Sooradah and a portion of Chinna Kimedy. This census, which contains not only the Khond population, but that of other races identical with them in habits and customs, shows that the Khonds are more addicted to infanticide than the other races domiciled with them. The necessity of desisting from so horrible a practice was urged upon all classes, and all possible means were adopted to enforce the views of Government upon these wild men. The fear of punishment may for a time act as a restraint, but the permanent abolition of infanticide cannot be expected from this source; conviction in the regular course of Law is difficult, evidence sufficient to ensure conviction being seldom procurable. The best method to eradicate this great evil appears to me to consist in maintaining a constant supervision, and in paying yearly visits, when a point should be made of insisting on seeing all the children of both sexes. The Headmen of those villages, in which the relative number of the sexes is proportional, should receive some mark of favor from Government. These may appear very slender means for the eradication of a great evil, but I can devise no more hopeful remedy than constant supervision.

4. After leaving Sooradah I proceeded to the Guddapoor District of Chinna Kimedy, where I was waited on by the Paut Rajah and all the chief Khonds of that District. No sacrifices had occurred, but several cases of female infanticide were brought to notice. I was obliged to dismiss the greater numbers of these from want of evidence, conviction in only three cases being procurable. The Khonds implicated in these cases were accordingly sentenced to three months' imprisonment with hard labor in irons. This lenient sentence I was induced to pass owing to the circumstance that the Khonds were inhabitants of the Bore Mootah, who only made their submission last year.

5. I was much gratified at finding that the reconciliation effected last season with much difficulty between the Khonds of Hutthymandah and Thumumgirh of the Bore Mootah, also between the Paut Rajah and his subordinates of Sonapoor, and that between the tribes of Kottemeha and Pennamaha, of Panigoondah, had become thorough and sincere. Sree Roghunnuth Deo, the Paut Rajah of Guddapoor, has this year, for the first time, received from Sonapoor 13 Rupees tribute, that being the amount settled last season by arbitration.

6. After completing the work in the Southern Districts of Chinna Kimedy, I passed on to the Khond Tracts of Jeypoor, where I was waited on by all the Ooriah Chiefs and Magees. The Khonds of these extensive Districts have remained true to their pledges, but an uneasy feeling prevailed throughout the country. The Ooriah Chiefs, when questioned, acknowledged that, though the Khonds were "nominally under control, still they, the Paters, were not responsible for the dispositions of the Khonds, and knew little of what might be passing in their minds" The Khonds when questioned by me acknowledged that the harvest had this year been an abundant one, and that sickness was not more prevalent than usual, but nevertheless they could not conceal a feeling of distrust and uneasiness under the relinquishment of human sacrifice. From this part of the country seventeen new Meriahs were rescued, and after being registered were restored in adoption.

7. Several rescued Meriahs, established as Ryots in the low country, on a visit to their old friends in the Ryabejee Mootah, informed me on my return to the low Country that the Khonds of Ryabejee openly acknowledged that the only reason which kept them from sacrificing was the yearly repeated visits of the Agency, and that its discontinuance would be the signal for a return to the old state of affairs. The Khonds also stated to these Meriahs that they could not comprehend why the Khonds of Kasipoor were allowed to sacrifice, while they and their neighbours of Chinna Kimedy were prohibited from doing so. This latter statement had reference to the attempt at sacrifice in Tooamool, which attempt designing people informed the Jeypoor Khonds had succeeded, although the Sirear had interfered to prevent it; also that the Sebundies had been forced to retreat with severe loss. A guard of Sebundies has consequently been re-posted at Ryabejee, and another at Mahasinghee, of Chinna Kimedy.

8. From the Jeypoor country I next passed on to the Hill Tracts of Bundhasir of Karoonde, inhabited by sacrificing Khonds,—those men are a much more civilized race than their neighbours of Chinna Kimedy; they all pay rent for their lands, and nearly all are able to converse in Ooriah. They also professed obedience to the orders of Government, but stated in the most unequivocal manner that compulsion alone caused them to refrain from sacrifice. These men were, no doubt, much excited at the prospect of obtaining flesh from Tooamool, as it was well known to all the neighbouring Khonds that great preparations were being made for the public sacrifice of a Meriah at the full moon in January of this year. I was not at the time aware of it, nor did Sree Oodita Pretaub Deo, the Ruler of Karoonde, appear to know any thing about it, as he made no communication to me on the subject, and when, after the rescue of the Meriah, all the details were communicated to him, he expressed much astonishment, at the same time acknowledging his inability to have frustrated the intentions of the Khonds, as he had been strictly ordered not to interfere in the affairs of Tooamool; but it seems to me hardly credible that no rumours could have reached him, when it is remembered that, for three months previous to my arrival in the country, it was known throughout the whole Khond population that the men of Tooamool were bent on sacrifice, and it is therefore not unlikely that the Rajah secretly wished the sacrifice to be consummated, as he could then aver that the Khonds have been led away by the evil counsels of the Kassipoor people, and that had the long vexed question of rights in Tooamool been settled in his own favor, he could have acted energetically, and prevented any attempt at sacrifice.

9. In my letter No. 64, dated 17th April last, I made Government fully acquainted with the particulars of the intended sacrifice which was happily averted; a reference to these particulars will not be out of place here. For the last three seasons the rains were scanty in the Karoonde and Jeypoor Khond Tracts, and the crops and cattle suffered much in consequence. The Khonds, dissatisfied and uneasy in their minds at the relinquishment of the Meriah, were only too anxious to revert to their long cherished rite—and with this object in view they appealed to the Paut Rajah of Tooamool for permission to sacrifice, and asked him for a Meriah; this he declined to give, informing the Khonds that human sacrifices had been prohibited, and that he could not, and would not countenance any attempt at its revival, but at the same time offered Buffaloes and Sheep, but the offer was declined by the Khonds, who immediately after held a consultation at "Bissomghery" of Tooamool, when it was arranged that, be the consequences what they might, a public sacrifice should take place at the full moon of Poosoo, this being the usual time for these ceremonies.

10. The question was then raised where a victim could be procured, as the Paut Rajah had refused his assistance, but the difficulty was got over by a Khond named "Bottybis Magee," stating that he would hand over for sacrifice a "Toorie," who, though not purchased as a Meriah, was an Agrarian slave purchased for 5 Rupees. The offer having been accepted, the intended victim, an elderly woman, was removed to the village of Puckregoodah, and there heavily ironed.

11. An attempt on the part of the Paut Rajah to rescue the intended victim was unsuccessful, as the Khonds having received information of the Paut Rajah's intended visit removed the Meriah and secreted her on the Hills. Finding his own unaided endeavours unsuccessful, and as the rumour that many thousands of Khonds would assemble, or were likely to assemble, daily became more frequent, the Paut Rajah sent me an express to that effect, and urgently requested the assistance of a Sebundy Guard. This express reached me on Friday, the 25th January, at 3 P. M., while the Rajah of Kalahundy was paying his visit. Within an hour after receipt of the express a Guard of fifty-eight Sebundies, under a trustworthy Sirdar, started for Puckregoodah, and after an arduous march of fifty-two miles, accomplished in thirty-eight hours, over a very hilly and rugged Country, succeeded in rescuing the intended victim as she was being removed to the post erected for her immolation. The assembled Khonds, whose numbers amounted to at least 5,000, found themselves at the very last moment deprived of what they fancied no power could dispossess them, they having been knowingly and purposely kept in ignorance of my presence in the neighbourhood by the Kassipoor people.

12. Annoyed at this sudden and unexpected visit of the Sircar Troops, a most determined attempt at rescue was made, but the Sirdar of Sebundies making a judicious disposition of his small party, and of fifty Matchlockmen sent by the Paut Rajah, was enabled to defeat the attempt of the Khonds, though he was obliged in self-defence to fire when attacked by the whole of the assembled Khonds who outnumbered the Sebundies alone in the ratio of 100 to 1.

13. Tooamool, the scene of the late determined attempt at sacrifice, is an elevated plateau, rising abruptly from the Plains of Karoonde to a height of 4,000 feet, as measured by two Aneroid Barometers which read 26°250. This plateau, including Kassipoor, is about fifty miles in length, and its extreme breadth is from fifteen to twenty miles. In its general aspect it is an undulating Country well watered. The lower ranges of Hills being covered with dense bamboo and other jungle, while the upper ranges are comparatively clear of wood, but overgrown with a very rank coarse grass, which in many places attains a height of twelve and fifteen feet.

14. Though numerous springs of water abound in all the valleys, Rice cultivation is limited, owing to the great rush of water down the valleys during the rains, but large quantities of pulses and other grains are grown on the high ground, which are generally clear of wood. Wheat is grown in considerable quantities during the cold season, as the command of water enables the cultivators to water their fields at pleasure. A coarse kind of Sugar-cane is also common, but not grown in sufficient quantities for exportation, but with Wheat is bartered in the low Country for Rice, Clothes, &c.

15. This change from the Plains of Karoonde to the plateau above the Ghaut was very great. At Deypoor, at the foot of the Hills, the heat at the latter end of January even was very oppressive, the Thermometer being upwards of 90°. The whole Country was parched up from want of rain, and water very scarce, but a march of ten miles brought us to Rampoor, where water was abundant, and where, on the 2nd February, at 5 A. M., the Thermometer stood at 29°, and the whole ground covered with hoar frost, which lasted until the 19th February, when we left that part of the Country. At Mohulputna, which my Assistant visited, no Native vegetables of any kind were procurable. The kinds indigenous to other parts of the Khond Country are not cultivated, owing to the frost which lasts for upwards of two and a half months, and kills all the different kinds of Native vegetables grown in other parts. Everything of this sort is imported from the low Country, except a peculiar kind of small pumpkin grown during the rains, and afterwards preserved from the cold by being buried in pits, whence they are taken as required. Kassipoor is only ten marches from "Battely," to which a made road has been constructed from Purla Kimedy.

16. My Assistant, after having adjusted several disputes between Khonds of different villages between Koradah and Mahasinghee, proceeded to the Mootahs of Ballaeguddah, Borikiah, Poossungah, and Beremullickea of Chinna Kimedy. He was waited on by the chief Khonds of all these Districts, all of whom professed to have renounced the Meriah for ever. In these Mootahs thirteen Meriahs hitherto concealed were surrendered.

17. The work in the Northern portion of Chinna Kimedy having been completed, my Assistant next proceeded to Orladhoney of Karoonde, when five new Meriahs were rescued,—thence through the Lunkaghur, Jheerpany, and Bellaghur Mootahs of Shubernaghery. In Jheerpany, twelve Meriahs hitherto not shown to the Sircar were, after some delay, given up, but were eventually given in adoption on the security of the Ooriah Chiefs.

18. My Assistant has this year prominently brought to notice that the Khonds of nearly every District of Chinna Kimedy, when interrogated regarding the renouncement of the Meriah, instead of giving distinct and direct answers as formerly, endeavoured to avoid the question by giving evasive replies to the questions put to them, such as "How can we sacrifice Meriahs when the Sircar has taken them away." Notwithstanding these assertions, Lieutenant Crawford succeeded in rescuing thirty Meriahs this season. The Khond Chiefs were invariably carefully exhorted to remain true to their pledges, and not to be led away by the evil counsels of badly disposed men.

19. The School established for the benefit of the Meriahs at the Village of Ooposobhangs, in the low Country, is, I am happy to report, progressing favorably. There is at present an attendance of forty-five children, either rescued Meriahs or the children of Meriahs rescued in former years and established as ryots—of this number six are studying Ooriah and Teloogoo, and the remainder Ooriah only.

20. Enclosed are three Returns marked A. B. C. The two first show the census taken of the female children in the Infanticidal Tracts of Sooradah and Chinna Kimedy; the last is a return of Meriahs rescued this season, among whom is included the woman rescued from sacrifice at Tooamool and her three children, also the young girl dedicated to the Meriah goddess, and intended for sacrifice in the Goomsur Hill Tracts, but who was also rescued in the month of September 1860, as reported in my letter No. 257, dated 4th December 1860. The Khond implicated in this case has been duly convicted and sentenced to two years' imprisonment with hard labor in irons.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 7, 1861.

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL OF INDIA.

The following Act, passed by the Legislative Council of India, received the assent of the Right Honorable the Governor General on the 24th July 1861, and is hereby promulgated for general information:—

Act No. XX of 1861.

An Act to amend Act XXV of 1858 (for appointing Municipal Commissioners and for raising a Fund for Municipal purposes in the Town of Bombay.)

Preamble.

Whereas it is expedient to amend Act XXV of 1858; It is enacted as follows:—

Removal of an elected Municipal Commissioner.

I. It shall be lawful for the Governor in Council of Bombay to remove from office any Municipal Commissioner elected or who may hereafter be elected by the Justices of the Peace in Sessions assembled, if the said Justices in Sessions assembled shall recommend such removal. In the event of a vacancy occurring by such removal, the Justices shall, as soon as convenient, elect a person to supply the vacancy until the next triennial election.

Vacancy so occurring how to be filled up.

Annual rate how payable.

II. So much of Section X of Act XXV of 1858 as prescribes that the annual rate thereby imposed shall be payable in quarterly instalments is repealed, and it is hereby enacted that the annual rate imposed by the said Section upon houses, buildings, and lands in the Town of Bombay shall be payable by the owners thereof by yearly payments or by quarterly instalments as the Governor in Council, by a Notification to be published in the Government Gazette before the commencement of the year in which such rate is to have effect, shall think fit to require the same to be paid.

Levy of additional Town duties.

III. In addition to the Town duties leviable under the said Act, the following duties shall be levied in respect of the articles hereinafter mentioned when the same are imported from any place into the Town of Bombay and are intended for use therein, (that is to say)—

		Rs.	As.	Pie.
Bricks	...	„	2	0	per thousand.
Tiles	...	„	½	0

The said duties shall be deemed Town duties within the provisions of the said Act relating to Town duties, and shall be levied and collected accordingly by and under the management of the Commissioner of Customs of Bombay and his subordinate Officers, and shall be paid into the General Treasury to the credit of the Municipal Commissioners.

Town duty may be levied subsequently if not ascertainable at time of importation.

IV. If it appear to the Commissioner of Customs of Bombay that the amount of Town duty leviable in respect of any articles cannot be ascertained at the time of importation by reason that the whole of the articles may not be intended for consumption or use within the Town or for any other reason, it shall be lawful for the said Commissioner to levy and collect such amount at any subsequent period.

Port of Bombay to be deemed a Warehousing Port as regards Timber.

V. The Port of Bombay shall, after the passing of this Act, be held to be a Warehousing Port within the meaning of Act XXV of 1836 so far as regards the Warehousing of Timber; and the provisions of the said Act, so far as the same are applicable, shall be applied to the Warehousing of Timber in the said Town.

Construction of Act XXV of 1836.

In the construction of this Act and of Act XXV of 1836 in conjunction with this Act, the Import Duty in Act XXV of 1836 shall be construed to mean the Town Duty leviable on Timber under Act XXV of 1858.

Warehousing of Timber not paying Town Duty at time of importation.

VI. If the Town Duty leviable under the said Act upon Timber is not paid at the time of importation, the Timber may be Warehoused or deposited in some place of security to be appointed or approved by the said

Commissioner of Customs. Such Warehouse or place shall be deemed a public Warehouse within the meaning of Act XXV of 1836, and the importer shall pay the Town Duty on the said Timber on its removal from such Warehouse or place for consumption in the said Town. When Timber so Warehoused or desposited is re-exported to any place beyond the limits of the said Town, the whole of the said Town Duty shall be remitted.

Remission of Town Duty on re-exportation of Timber.

VII. This Act shall take effect on and from the 1st day of September 1861, and shall be read with and taken as part of the said Act XXV of 1858.

Commencement and construction of Act.

M. WYLIE,
Clerk of the Council.

THE 27TH JULY 1861.

THE following Act, passed by the Legislative Council of India, received the assent of the Right Honorable the Governor General on the 27th July 1861, and is hereby promulgated for general information :—

ACT No. XXI of 1861.

An Act for limiting in certain cases for the year commencing from the 31st day of July 1861, the amount of Assessment to the Duties chargeable under Act XXXII of 1860 (for imposing Duties on Profits arising from Property, Professions, Trades, and Offices) and Act XXXIX of 1860 (to amend Act XXXII of 1860).

WHEREAS it is expedient to limit in certain cases for the year commencing from the 31st day of July 1861, the amount of Assessment to the Duties chargeable under Act XXXII of 1860 (for imposing Duties on Profits arising from Property, Professions, Trades, and Offices) and Act XXXIX of 1860 (to amend Act XXXII of 1860) ; It is enacted as follows :—

Preamble.

I. It shall be lawful for the Governor-General of India in Council, by an order to be published in the Government Gazette, to direct that, within the Territories or any part of the Territories subject to the local Government of any Presidency or place, the general or special notices required by Sections XXXVII and XXXVIII of the said Act XXXII of 1860 shall not be issued for the year commencing from the 31st day of July 1861 in respect to the duties contained in Schedules 1 and 2 of the said Act, and that in such Territories or part of such Territories the Returns of profits or income chargeable with duties under the said Schedules, as prescribed by Section XXXIX of the said Act, for the year commencing as above, shall not be required ; but that in the place of such notices a general notice shall be issued in such Territories or part of such Territories to the effect that, except as hereinafter provided, the assessment of the duties contained in the said Schedules for the year commencing as above upon the several persons liable thereto either on their own behalf or on behalf of any other person, shall be at the same rate and on the same amount at and on which such persons were or shall be assessed for the year ending on the 31st day of July 1861.

Issue of General Notice regarding the rate and amount of assessment of duties under Schedules 1 and 2 for the year commencing 31st July 1861.

II. The general notice to be issued under the last preceding Section shall be in the form appended to this Act or to the like effect, and shall fix a period of two months after which the assessments under this Act shall be made. Such notice shall be published in the Official Gazette of the Presidency or place within which it is issued, and in such other manner as the local Government shall direct, and copies of such notice shall be affixed at the several places within such Territories or part of such Territories which are mentioned in Section XXXVII of the said Act XXXII of 1860.

Form and publication of General Notice.

III. After the expiration of the period specified in such notice, the Officers within such Territories or part of such Territories whose duty it is to make assessments under the said Acts XXXII and XXXIX of 1860, shall proceed, except as hereinafter provided, without requiring the Returns prescribed by Section XXXIX of the said Act XXXII of 1860 for the year commencing from the 31st day of July 1861 in respect to the duties contained in Schedules 1 and 2 of the said Act, to assess the several persons in their respective jurisdictions liable to the said duties either on their own behalf or on behalf of any other person, for the year commencing as above, at the same rate and on the same amount at and on which such persons were or shall be assessed to the said duties for the year ending on the date above-mentioned, and shall proceed to collect and recover the amount of such assessments under the provisions contained in the said Act XXXII of 1860 which are hereby declared applicable to the assessments so made.

Assessments to be made and recovered without requiring Returns of profits or income.

IV. The assessment ordered to be the assessment for the year commencing from the 31st day of July 1861 under the last preceding Section, shall, in the case of every person as aforesaid who shall not claim to be assessed under Act XXXII of 1860 as hereinafter provided, be the assessment on every such person under Schedules 1 and 2 of the said Act XXXII of 1860 for the year commencing as above, and the duties imposed by the said Acts XXXII and XXXIX of 1860, under such Schedules shall be payable on such assessment, in the same manner as if it had been made on a fresh Return made under Section XXXIX of the said Act XXXII of 1860 ; and all the provisions of the said Act XXXII of 1860 for the collection and enforcement of payment of duties assessed and payable under the said Act shall be applicable to the collection and enforcement of payment of the duties under the assessments herein provided for.

Payment of duties.

V. If any person within such Territories or part of such Territories chargeable with the duties contained in Schedules 1 and 2 of the said Act XXXII of 1860 or either of them, for the year commencing from the 31st day of July 1861, shall object to the assessment provided by this Act, and shall claim to be assessed under the said Act XXXII of 1860, he shall apply to the Assessor within whose jurisdiction he resides, for forms of Returns of profits or income chargeable under the said Schedules or either of them, and such person shall, within the period mentioned in such general notice, deliver the Return for the year commencing as above, filled up in the manner and containing the declaration prescribed by the said Act XXXII of 1860, at the Office of such Assessor or of the Special Commissioner, or Collector, and claim to be assessed thereon in the same manner as if this Act had not passed. No such claim to be assessed under the said Act XXXII of 1860, shall be received unless made within the period aforesaid.

Claims to be assessed under Act XXXII of 1860.

Mode of assessment in such cases.

VI. When any claim shall be made under the provisions of the last preceding Section within the time there in allowed, it shall be the duty of the Assessor or the Special Commissioner or Collector, as the case may be, to whom such claim is made, to assess the person making it on his profits or income chargeable under the said Schedules for the year commencing from the 31st day of July 1861, in accordance with the provisions of the said Act XXXII of 1860, and all the provisions of the said Act shall be applicable to the Return and Declaration made by such person and to the assessment made upon him.

Saving of issue of special notice to a person who has made no Return for the year ending 31st July 1861, &c.

VII. Nothing in this Act shall be held to debar the Commissioners of any Presidency Town or any Collector from issuing or ordering the issue by an Assessor of a special notice, according to the form and in the manner provided by Section XXXVIII of the said Act XXXII of 1860, to any person residing within the jurisdiction of such Commissioners or Collector whom they or he shall consider liable to the duties chargeable under the said Schedules 1 and 2, or either of them, for the year commencing from the 31st day of July 1861, but to whom a special notice requiring such person to make a return of his profits or income under the said Schedules for the year ending on the date above-mentioned shall not have been issued within such jurisdiction; or to any person whom such Commissioners or Collector shall have reason to believe made a fraudulent return of his profits or income under the said Schedules or either of them for the said last mentioned year, and who shall not have been surcharged upon such return; or to any person who shall have been assessed to the duties under the said Schedules or either of them on a return of profits or income calculated upon any period less than a whole year. Provided that no notice shall be issued under this Section after the expiration of three months from the date of the general notice mentioned in Section I of this Act.

Procedure on Special Notice.

VIII. When a special notice shall be issued to any person under the provisions of the last preceding Section, all the provisions of the said Act XXXII of 1860 as to special notices shall apply thereto, and to any Return and Declaration made by such person and to the assessment of such person.

Case of transfer of immoveable property.

IX. When any transfer of any immoveable property which shall have been or shall be assessed to the duties contained in the said Schedule 1 of the said Act XXXII of 1860 for the year ending upon the 31st day of July 1861, shall have taken place subsequently to the date at which such assessment shall have been or shall be made, the person in the enjoyment of the profits or income arising from such property, at the time that the assessment of duties thereupon for the year commencing from the said 31st day of July 1861 is made, shall be liable to be assessed on the profits of such property under the Rules contained in the said Act XXXII of 1860 in the same manner as if this Act had not passed.

Act not to apply to duties under Schedules 3 and 4.

X. This Act shall not apply to the duties contained in Schedules 3 and 4 of the said Act XXXII of 1860, or to the assessment, collection, and recovery of such duties.

NOTICE.

Income Tax Act, Schedules 1 and 2.

Under the orders of the Governor-General of India in Council, Notice is hereby given that, except in the case of any person or persons to whom a special notice is issued, the assessment for the Income Tax for the year commencing from the 31st day of July 1861 under Schedules 1 and 2, Act XXXII of 1860 (Income Tax Act), will be the same as for last year; provided that, if any person object to such assessment, he may apply to the Assessor of his Division for forms of Returns of profits or income under the said Schedules, and send in his Return thereof within two months from the date of this Notice, and he will then be assessed on such Return under the said Act XXXII of 1860.

FOREIGN DEPARTMENT.

No. 4325.

Fort William, the 6th August 1861.

Under the provision of Section CCCLXXXV. of Act No. VIII. of 1859, and Section III. of Act No. IV. of 1860, His Excellency the Governor General in Council is pleased to notify that, from 1st January 1862, Act VIII. of 1859 is extended to the Province of Oudh, subject to the following exceptions and provisoes :—

1. Section III. shall be subject to the following proviso :—

Provided that the Judicial Commissioner or any other Court exercising any appellate jurisdiction within the Province of Oudh may at any time within one year from the time of the passing or execution of any judgment or order by any Court subordinate to the said Appellate Court, call for such judgment or proceedings without any regular appeal or application for review having been preferred against the same, and may, if he, or it, shall see sufficient grounds, revise and alter or reverse or confirm the same. But that in such case, before revising, altering, or reversing any one judgment, or order, the said Judicial Commissioner, or it, shall cause the same notice to be given to the party in whose favor the said judgment, or order, was pronounced; and the same opportunity to such party to be heard in support thereof, and the same proceedings to be taken as if a Memorandum of appeal had been filed by the party aggrieved thereby.

2. Section XVII. is excepted, and the term recognized Agent is defined as follows, viz., a permanent servant, partner, relation or friend, whom the Court may admit as a fit person to represent a party, and especially persons holding powers of Attorney from absent parties, persons carrying on business on behalf of Bankers and Traders, managing Agents of Landholders, nearest male relations of women, and persons ex-Officio authorised to act for Government, or for any Prince or Chief.

3. Section III—Shall be subject to the following limitation. It shall not be obligatory on the Court to decide exparte in the absence of Defendant, but the Court shall proceed to compel his attendance under the following Rule, being the Rule now in force in Oudh:—

Rule.—If the Defendant does not appear, it shall be at the discretion of the Court to issue a Warrant to arrest him and detain him till another day appointed for the hearing of the case, and to attach his property.

4. Section CLXXII.—So much of this Section as requires that the whole of the evidence shall be taken down in writing in the language in ordinary use is excepted, and the record made by the hand of the Judge under the following Rule, being the Rule now in force in Oudh, shall be taken as a record of the evidence.

Rule.—An intelligible note of the essential points of the evidence of each witness is to be taken at the time and in the course of oral examination by the Officer, who tries the case, in his own language. The notes must be legible, complete, and properly arranged, must attest the presence of the witness at the time, and mark every postponement and change of time and scene, so that their bonâ fide character may be apparent. Every essential point must be noted, but mere surplusage may be omitted. These notes shall be filed and, shall form part of the record of the case. Provided that in cases tried by a European Officer, who has not passed the examination in the Native languages prescribed for Assistant Commissioners exercising special powers, the evidence of witnesses shall also be recorded, at length, in their own language.

5. Section CCV.—So much of this Section as renders land liable to sale in execution of a decree will be subject to the restrictions on the sale of land prescribed by the following Rule, being the local Rule now in force in Oudh:—

Rule.—No Ancestral property in land shall be sold in satisfaction of a decree without the sanction of the Judicial Commissioner, and, before acquired property in land shall be so sold, the permission of the Divisional Commissioner shall be obtained.

Notification.—With reference to the Notification No. 3582, dated 5th ultimo, the following Despatch from Sir Charles Wood, and the Notification therein mentioned, are published for general information:—

INDIA OFFICE,
July 3rd, 1861.

To His Excellency Earl Canning,
Governor General of India, &c., &c.

My Lord,—I have the honor to enclose a copy of the London Gazette of the 25th ultimo, containing a Notification announcing the Institution, by Command of Her Most Gracious Majesty, of the Most Exalted Order of the Star of India, together with the names of the Knights, whom Her Majesty has been graciously pleased to appoint thereto, and I have to request that you will cause this Notification to be promulgated in the Official Gazettes of the several Presidencies of India.

I am, &c.,
(Sd.) C. Wood.

INDIA OFFICE,
June 25th, 1861.

The Queen being desirous of affording to the Princes, Chiefs, and People of the Indian Empire a public and signal testimony of Her regard, by the Institution of an Order of Knighthood, whereby Her resolution to take upon Herself the Government of the Territories in India may be commemorated, and by which Her Majesty may be enabled to reward conspicuous merit and loyalty, has been graciously pleased, by letters patent under the great Seal of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, to institute, erect, constitute, and create an Order of Knighthood, to be known by, and have for ever hereafter, the name, style, and designation of "The Most Exalted Order of the Star of India."

And to ordain, direct, and appoint, that the said Order shall consist of the Sovereign, a Grand Master, and twenty-five Knights, together with such Extra and Honorary Knights as Her Majesty, Her Heirs and Successors, shall from time to time appoint.

And to ordain, direct, and appoint, that Her Majesty, Her Heirs and Successors, Kings and Queens Regnant of the said United Kingdom, shall be Sovereigns of the said Most Exalted Order.

And that the Viceroy and Governor General of India for the time being shall be Grand Master of the said Order, and that he shall, in virtue thereof, be the first and principal Knight of the Order.

And that the said Most Exalted Order shall be governed by Statutes and Ordinances, to be from time to time made and ordained by Her Majesty, Her Heirs and Successors, Sovereigns of the said Order.

And to ordain and direct that it shall be competent for the Sovereign of the said Order to confer the dignity of a Knight of the Order upon such Native Princes and Chiefs of India as shall have entitled themselves to Her Majesty's favor, and upon such of Her Majesty's British subjects as, have, by important and loyal services rendered by them to the Indian Empire, merited Her Majesty's favor.

The Queen has been further pleased to ordain, constitute, and appoint the Right Honorable Charles John, Earl Canning, Knight Grand Cross of the Most Honorable Order of the Bath, and Her Majesty's Viceroy and Governor General of India, to be the first Grand Master of the said Most Exalted Order of the Star of India;

And to nominate and appoint —

OFFICE OF AUDITOR GENERAL OF INDIA,
The 30th July 1861.

Notification.

UNDER instructions received from the Government of Bengal, it is requested that all Local Officers subordinate to this Government will, from the commencement of the second Quarter of the present year, or from the 1st August 1861, substitute QUARTERLY for Monthly Contingent Bills for audit in the Civil Pay-master's Office.

It is also requested that, when one Officer holds two united offices, such as that of Magistrate and Collector, one Contingent Bill only be submitted by him for the two offices, including every item, whether of a Judicial or a Revenue nature. A specimen form is annexed, and attention is solicited to the instructions which were published in the Calcutta Gazette of the 19th December 1860, with the authority and sanction of the Bengal Government, on the subject of Contingent Bills, and the manner in which they should be passed on to this Office through those of the sanctioning Authorities.

Contingent Bills for July are to be submitted under the present monthly system.

Notice.

In substitution of the Notice dated the 9th February last, published in the Government Gazette of the 13th idem, page 465, the following Regulations for the submission of Indents for Instruments, have been approved by the Military Finance Department: —

1. With reference to the Orders of the Government of India, No. 1222, dated the 21st December 1860, transferring the responsible control of the Calcutta Mathematical Instrument Depôt and Work-shops to the Surveyor-General of India from the Inspector-General of Ordnance, the undersigned has the honor to request that all Military and Civil Officers who may have occasion to indent for Instruments will be good enough to address their communications to the Superintendent, Mathematical Instrument Department, Calcutta, and who will take the necessary steps for the early compliance with all requisitions in that Department.

2. All Indents for Instruments required by Departmental Officers must, in the first instance, receive the sanction and approval of the Heads of Departments, and in the case of Civil Functionaries, of the Government under which the Indenting Officer may be serving, before the Surveyor-General can authorize compliance with the demands made on the Mathematical Instrument Department.

3. The ordinary Form of Indent is annexed, and it will save much delay and inconvenience if full instructions are given as to the mode of transit, and the name of the Station to which the packages are to be addressed. The mere address of Camp such a place whilst on the march is not sufficient.

FORM.

Indent on the Calcutta Mathematical Instrument Depôt for Instruments required for the use of

Dated the 186 .

Description of Instruments.	Quantity in Number in use or store.	Quantity Number indented for.	Purpose for which required.	Quantity Number admitted.	How and where to be despatched.

I do hereby certify that the articles specified on this Indent are indispensably necessary for the purposes set forth, according to the best of my knowledge and belief, after the most careful examination.

Signature of Indenting Officer with designation of appointment in full.

RECOMMENDED.

Countersignature of Approving Authority.

4. As it is deemed necessary by the Military Finance Department that the probable demands on the Instrument Depôt should be made known as far as practicable at one time, so as to admit of carrying out the Budget system of Estimates in anticipation for a year's consumption, the 1st of January of each year is fixed as the latest date for the submission of all Indents. All Officers are therefore requested to consider well the whole of their wants, and to provide for the same in a single Indent by the above date.

5. The Mathematical Instrument Department is one merely of receipt and issue. It has therefore nothing to do with the furnishing of the Accounts of Officers.

"The result of the representation made to the Government for exempting the Fund from the payment of Income Tax has been that exemption is allowed to the extent of the amount of annual liability on account of Pensions paid in England. The annual charge upon the Income of the Fund, under the operation of the Act, it is calculated will amount to about Rupees 6,000.

"The Managers submit the following proposed addition to the Rule, imposing a fine on inequality of age at the time of marriage, with a view to provide for the rate of Interest to be levied on the amount of the penalty if it be not paid when due. The original rule is here inserted, and the addition is made to follow as a second Clause, namely,— Rule.—"In the event of the difference of age between a Subscriber and his Wife exceeding ten years, a penalty, proportionate to the injury to the Fund caused by such inequality, shall be levied at the time of marriage, according to the scale of fines annexed to the Circular of the 10th January 1859.

Clause 2.—"Subscribers are required to inform themselves of the amount of the penalty by consulting the table of fines drawn out with reference to this rule, and if the penalty be not paid on the date of marriage Interest shall be levied on the amount. An intimation shall, however, be made from the Fund Office, as soon as the Honorary Secretary is in a position to make it, of the amount of the penalty due from a Subscriber. If the amount of penalty be not paid within one month of the receipt of intimation from the Fund Office of the sum due, Interest will be charged on the said amount, from the date of marriage to the date of payment, at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum, unless it can be shewn that the cause of delay in payment was beyond the control of the Subscriber, in which case Interest will be charged at 5 per cent per annum. If the amount be paid up at any time subsequent to the date of marriage either previous to the receipt of intimation from the Fund Office of the sum due, or within one month of the receipt of such intimation, Interest will be charged at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum from the date of Marriage to the date of payment. When a Subscriber communicates the fact of his Marriage he should state the Christian name or names and surname of his Wife, and the date of her birth."

"Mr. A. C. Bidwell, a retired Subscriber, who incurred a penalty on marriage under the above rule, appeals against the charge of Interest, or at all events against a higher rate than 5 per cent., and also against its being levied from an earlier date than that of his receiving the Fund intimation of the amount of penalty due, viz., 26th June 1860. Mr. Bidwell was one of those who signed the protest against the rule, the result of which he did not learn till October last, when he immediatly paid up the penalty. The Managers informed Mr. Bidwell that the charge of Interest was the same as that applied by the General Meeting of Subscribers in July 1860 to the similar case of the late Mr. J. Torrens, in accordance with the general provisions of the Rules by which Interest is charged on all arrears due to the Fund; that the Managers doubted whether the fact of his not having paid the amount as soon as he did hear what it was should not be held to bar his claim that the charge of Interest should not commence until the 26th June. They also pointed out to Mr. Bidwell that some interest is clearly due to the Fund from the date of marriage, as from that date the risk to the Fund commences. The Managers added that, as they purposed to submit a specific rule to regulate the amount of Interest in such cases, they would recommend that those of Messrs. Bidwell and Torrens should be dealt with in accordance with the spirit of the Rule that might be passed at the Meeting."

"There is a third case in which interest has been levied at the usual rate of 8 per cent., and which, the Managers consider, should be dealt with in accordance with the Rule that may be ultimately adopted. Mr. H. D. Robertson reported on the 14th December 1859 his marriage in the Colony of Victoria. He was at once informed, viz., on February 15th, 1860, of the amount of the fine, and the letter must have reached him about the end of March. As the fine was not paid Mr. Robertson was reminded of it on the 18th December 1860. In reply he stated that he had been under the impression that the amount had been deducted from his allowances long ago, but as that was not the case, he asked for particulars of the calculation showing how that amount was due. These particulars having been furnished, Mr. Robertson paid the fine on the 2nd February 1861.

"If the addition to the Rule proposed by the Managers is approved, the amount of Interest to be charged in the three cases above-mentioned will be 8 per cent., unless it is considered in the case of Messrs. Bidwell and Torrens that they were justified in postponing payment until they could hear the result of their protest against the adoption of the rule as originally passed. But as this ground was urged at the General Meeting held in July 1860, in favor of the exemption of payment of Interest in the case of Mr. Torrens, and rejected by the Meeting, the Managers do not suppose that it will be accepted now, while they are also of opinion that it is only fair that, as Messrs. Bidwell and Torrens chose, notwithstanding the warning they received of their interests in the Fund being under suspension until payment should be made, to take their chance as to the result of their protest, they should be charged at the additional rate of Interest.

"Mr. D. J. Money, who retired on an annuity on 1st May 1859, has incurred the penalty specified in Article 38 of the Rules by having neglected for more than a year to pay the necessary subscriptions; but it having appeared that the non-payment was through inadvertence, and chiefly owing to the negligence of his Agents in Calcutta, the Managers have, upon the arrears, with Interest at eight per cent. having been paid up, restored Mr. Money to the full rights of a Subscriber, subject to the confirmation of this Meeting.

"Mr. H. S. Ravenshaw, a retired Subscriber, had applied for a refund of a sum of Rs. 82-1-6 paid by his Agents to his credit in the Fund Accounts, owing to a misapprehension that he (Mr. Ravenshaw) wished to retain his interest in the Fund, whereas this was not Mr. Ravenshaw's intention. If the refund is allowed, Mr. Ravenshaw is willing to forego all his interest in the Fund under any circumstances. As the arrangement will be even more to the advantage of the Fund than that which was approved of at the last General Meeting in the case of Mr. Chester, the Managers beg to recommend that Mr. Ravenshaw's offer be accepted."

Proposed by Mr. Money, seconded by Mr. Bell, and carried unanimously, that the admission by the Managers of the Families of Messrs. E. A. Samuells, W. Dampier, and F. C. Forbes, to the benefits of the Fund, be confirmed.

Proposed by Mr. Money, seconded by Mr. Drummond, and carried unanimously, that the following addition to the rule, imposing a fine on inequality of age at the time of marriage, be adopted, viz.:—

Clause 2.—Subscribers are required to inform themselves of the amount of the penalty by consulting the table of fines drawn out with reference to this rule, and if the penalty be not paid on the date of marriage, Interest shall be levied on the amount. An intimation shall, however, be made from the Fund Office, as soon as the Honorary Secretary is in a position to make it, of the amount of the penalty due from a Subscriber. If the amount of penalty be not paid within one month of the receipt of intimation from the Fund Office of the sum due, Interest will be charged on the said amount from the date of marriage to the date of payment, at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum, unless it can be shown that the cause of delay in payment was beyond the control of the Subscriber, in which case Interest will be charged at 5 per cent. per annum. If the amount be paid up at any time subsequent to the date of marriage, and either previous to the receipt of intimation from the Fund Office of the sum due, or within one month of the receipt of such intimation, Interest will be charged at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum from the date of marriage to the date of payment. When a Subscriber communicates the fact of his marriage, he should state the Christian name or names and surname of his Wife and the date of her birth.

Proposed by Mr. Bell, seconded by Mr. Carnac, and resolved, That Mr. Bidwell be required to pay Eight per Cent. upon the amount of penalty due from him from the date of marriage.

Proposed by Mr. Sandeman, seconded by Mr. Wauchope, and resolved, That the payment made by Mr. Robertson of Interest at 8 per Cent. is correct.

Proposed by Mr. Thompson, seconded by Mr. Bell, and resolved, That the restoration by the Managers of Mr. D. J. Money to the full rights of a Subscriber, be comfirmed.

Proposed by Mr. Sandeman, seconded by Mr. Waterfield, and resolved, That the refund solicited by Mr. Ravenshaw on the understanding that he forgoes all claim upon the Fund under any circumstances whatever, be allowed.

A vote of Thanks was passed to the Chairman.

Chairman.

FOREIGN DEPARTMENT.

No. 4325.

Fort William, the 6th August 1861.

Under the provision of Section CCCLXXXV. of Act No. VIII. of 1859, and Section III. of Act No. IV. of 1860, His Excellency the Governor General in Council is pleased to notify that, from 1st January 1862, Act VIII. of 1859 is extended to the Province of Oudh, subject to the following exceptions and provisoes :—

1. Section III. shall be subject to the following proviso :—

Provided that the Judicial Commissioner or any other Court exercising any appellate jurisdiction within the Province of Oudh may at any time, within one year from the time of the passing or execution of any judgment or order by any Court subordinate to the said Appellate Court, call for such judgment or proceedings without any regular appeal or application for review having been preferred against the same, and may, if he, or it, shall see sufficient grounds, revise and alter or reverse or confirm the same. But that in such case, before revising, altering, or reversing any one judgment, or order, the said Judicial Commissioner, or it, shall cause the same notice to be given to the party in whose favor the said judgment, or order, was pronounced ; and the same opportunity to such party to be heard in support thereof, and the same proceedings to be taken as if a Memorandum of appeal had been filed by the party aggrieved thereby.

2. Section XVII. is excepted, and the term recognized Agent is defined as follows, viz., a permanent servant, partner, relation or friend, whom the Court may admit as a fit person to represent a party, and especially persons holding powers of Attorney from absent parties, persons carrying on business on behalf of Bankers and Traders, managing Agents of Landholders, nearest male relations of women, and persons ex-Officio authorised to act for Government, or for any Prince or Chief.

3. Section CXI. shall be subject to the following limitation: It shall not be obligatory on the Court to decide exparte in the absence of Defendant, but the Court shall proceed to compel his attendance under the following Rule, being the Rule now in force in Oudh:—

Rule.—If the Defendant does not appear, it shall be at the discretion of the Court to issue a Warrant to arrest him and detain him till another day appointed for the hearing of the case, and to attach his property.

4. Section CXLXII.—So much of this Section as requires that the whole of the evidence shall be taken down in writing in the language in ordinary use is excepted, and the record made by the hand of the Judge under the follcwing Rule, being the Rule now in force in Oudh, shall be taken as a record of the evidence:—

Rule.—An intelligible note of the essential points of the evidence of each witness is to be taken at the time and in the course of oral examination by the Officer, who tries the case, in his own language. The notes must be legible, complete, and properly arranged, must attest the presence of the witness at the time, and mark every postponement and change of time and scene, so that their bonâ fide character may be apparent. Every essential point must be noted, but mere surplusage may be omitted. These notes shall be filed and shall form part of the record of the case. Provided that in cases tried by a European Officer, who has not passed the examination in the Native languages prescribed for Assistant Commissioners exercising special powers, the evidence of witnesses shall also be recorded, at length, in their own language.

5. Section CCV.—So much of this Section as renders land liable to sale in execution of a decree will be subject to the restrictions on the sale of land prescribed by the following Rule, being the local Rule now in force in Oudh:—

Rule.—No Ancestral property in land shall be sold in satisfaction of a decree without the sanction of the Judicial Commissioner, and, before acquired property in land shall be so sold, the permission of the Divisional Commissioner shall be obtained.

By Order of His Excellency the Governor General in Council,

C. Hugh Lushington,

Secy. to the Govt. of India.

Summaries of Constructions of Income Tax Acts XXXII and XXXIX of 1860.

Pensions paid out of India through the Embassy in Turkish Arabia or any other Embassy in account with the Government of India, are not subject to the operation of either Act XXXII or Act XXXIX of 1860.

No. 170.

Pensions,

Paid out of India at Foreign Embassies, not liable to Income Tax.

Act XXXII of 1860.
Section C.
Act XXXIX of 1860.
Section II.

Where it is optional with the Government of India to pay any such pension either in British India or in the Foreign State, the pension may be rendered liable to Income Tax under the Acts above quoted by the Government, directing payment of the amount to be made in India, which would make it necessary for the person entitled to receive the pension to nominate an Agent in India, to whom payment might be made on his behalf. The Agent so nominated might be an Officer of Government who might remit the amount of the pension on account of the pensioner under instructions from him to the Embassy. In such case the pensioner would be charged with Income Tax in the name of his Agent, under Section LXXVIII, Act XXXII of 1860, and the Agent would be entitled, under Section XCIII, to deduct the Tax from the amount remitted.

When paid in India.

Section LXXIX.
Section XCIII.

When the Government has bound itself to make payment of any pension through the Embassy or in some Foreign country, without leaving open the option of payment in India, no deduction can be made from such pension on account of Income Tax under Act XXXII of 1860 or Act XXXIX of 1860.—(Financial Department Order No. 3984, dated 20th July 1861.)

Income Tax, under Act XXXII and Act XXXIX of 1860, is chargeable on salaries at Foreign Embassies only when the appointment to which the salary is attached is made by any Government or public servant of Her Majesty in India.—(Financial Department Order No. 3984, dated 20th July 1861.)

No. 171.

Salaries,

At Foreign Embassies, when liable to Income Tax.

Act XXXII of 1860.
Section C.
Act XXXIX of 1860.
Section I.

C. Hugh Lushington,

Secy. to the Govt. of India.

N. B.—The question was put in reference to the Embassy in Turkish Arabia, or any other Embassy in account with the Government of India.

Official Correspondence regarding the Circulation of the (Nil Darpan) from the Office of the Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

From E. H. LUSHINGTON, Esq., Secretary to the Government of Bengal, to W. GREY, Esq., Secretary to the Government of India,—(No. 1615A., dated the 22nd June 1861.)

I AM directed by the Lieutenant-Governor to submit, for the information of His Excellency the Governor General, the accompanying copy of a Minute of the Lieutenant-Governor, dated the 19th instant, with a copy of the correspondence* with the Secretary of the Landholders' Association relative to the publication and circulation of the Nil Darpan.

MINUTE by the HON'BLE J. P. GRANT,—(dated the 19th June 1861.)

I WISH to place upon record, for the information of His Excellency the Governor General in Council, the facts connected with the circulation of a translation of a Bengalee play called Nil Darpan, with reference to a late correspondence with Mr. Fergusson, the Secretary of the Landholders' and Commercial Association, (lately called the Indigo Planters' Association,) and to a late trial in the Supreme Court in which Mr. Manuel, the Printer of that translation, was prosecuted by the Editor or Proprietor of a Newspaper for libel. The words charged as libellous, I understand, are not in the play, but in a Preface by the Author prefixed to the play.

2. The issue of the pamphlet in question in any manner was not by my order, or with my knowledge, and I never saw it, or knew a word that was in it, until it had been circulated in the manner described by Mr. Fergusson.

3. The issue was made through a very unfortunate error of the late Secretary, Mr. Seton-Karr, several months ago, mentioned to me that he had been informed that a curious Bengalee play had been written, the subject of which was Indigo,—a genuine Native production,—a translation of which might be made by a private hand, and some copies printed off at a trifling cost. I wished to see the work, partly as a curiosity, and partly because I thought it likely that it would show what the real popular feeling was on the subject better than anything else.

4. I thought it probable that, besides any value the work might have as a literary curiosity, it might prove to be such that a few copies might with propriety be privately given to friends in official and private positions, with the same object as that which made me wish for an opportunity of seeing what the work was like myself.

5. I have always been of opinion that, considering our state of more than semi-isolation from all classes of Native society, Public Functionaries in India have been habitually too regardless of those depths of Native feeling which do not show upon the surface, and too habitually careless of all those means of information which are available to us for ascertaining them. Popular songs everywhere, and, in Bengal, popular Native plays, are amongst the most patent, and most neglected, of those means. I have always attributed our unforewarned condition, when the shock of 1857 occurred, to this popular defect. I did not on this occasion regard the matter as one of importance; but still the opportunity seemed a good one of knowing how Natives spoke of the Indigo question, amongst themselves, when they had no European to please or to displease by opening their minds.

* This correspondence has been already published.

6. Mr. Seton-Karr's ideas on this point were the same as mine, and I had thought it was understood, when our conversation on the subject was ended, that the translation and the printing of a few copies were to be wholly a private affair.

7. I do not believe I ever heard a word more about the matter till a copy of the printed publication was sent to me at Parishnath, without any accompanying letter, shortly before an accident happened to my Camp here, which obliged me to return for two or three weeks to Calcutta.

8. On my first interview with the Secretary, which was before the excitement caused by the official circulation of the pamphlet had shown itself, I found that he had been under some impression that the translation and printing was to be a Government act, paid for by Government, which impression I immediately corrected. I found also that the pamphlet had been circulated, and circulated under official frank, which was past remedy.

9. It is obvious, and the point is candidly admitted and deeply regretted by the late Secretary, that, even upon his understanding of the affair, not a copy should have been circulated till the Lieutenant-Governor had seen the work and authorized its circulation. Had this error not been fallen into, unadvisedly, the Secretary's mistaken impression would have had no ill consequences.

10. The occurrence is extremely unfortunate, and has distressed me beyond measure. It has excited irritation, when it was an object to allay irritation. But before I was made aware of it, the mischief was done.

(Sd.) J. P. GRANT.

From E. H. LUSHINGTON, ESQ., Secretary to the Government of Bengal, to the Secretary to the Government of India, in the Home Department,—(No. 2029A, dated the 30th July 1861.)

SIR,—IN continuation of my letter No. 1615A, dated the 22nd ultimo, I am directed to forward, for submission to His Excellency the Governor General in Council, the accompanying copy of a Minute by the Lieutenant-Governor, of this date, together with a copy of a letter from Mr. W. S. Seton-Karr, Legislative Member for Bengal, and the enclosure* therein referred to.

From W. S. SETON-KARR, ESQ., Legislative Member for Bengal, to E. H. LUSHINGTON, ESQ., Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(dated Calcutta, the 29th July 1861.)

SIR,—As in the late trial of the Revd. Mr. Long, before the Supreme Court, there was mention, in the evidence, of the Bengal Office, and allusion was made to my orders as Secretary, I think it right to lay before the Lieutenant-Governor an official Statement regarding my connection with the Drama called the Nil Darpan.

2. I take this opportunity of enclosing a copy of the Englishman Newspaper, of this day's date, containing an explanation which I have thought right to make public at as early a date as possible, and I solicit the Lieutenant-Governor's attentive perusal of the same.

3. The printed Statement in question is intended to clear up charges of unfair dealing, and of personal hostility to the Planters, made against me; to make such explanation as was due to persons who felt themselves aggrieved by the publication; and to explain some passages in the play itself, which I cannot but think have been greatly mis-represented. What I know of the history of this Drama will be found in my printed Statement; and I can only add thereto, that the Revd. Mr. Long has been known to me and others as having, for years, devoted his attention to the vernacular literature of Bengal, and to the various publications which issue from the Native press, and circulate among the middle and lower orders, to an extent of which very few Europeans are aware.

4. Publications on divers social questions of interest have been by him brought to the notice of the Authorities, of which a record will be found in the Bengal Office.

5. I believe that, at this period of Indian history, no one will seriously dispute the paramount importance of the Government of the Country being kept well informed of the state of feeling amongst Natives, as shown by their periodical and other vernacular literature.

6. I mentioned the work to the Lieutenant-Governor in the belief, as just expressed, that it was my duty to bring to his notice all Native publications illustrative of popular feeling. The Lieutenant-Governor, as well as other persons, expressed a desire to see a translation of this Drama, and Mr. Long informed me that a Native was willing to translate it. A translation was accordingly made under my sanction.

7. I think I am correct in stating that up to this point all I had done was also with the knowledge and sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor. He approved of my noticing the work, and of the act of translation, and of the printing, but he never intended that so large a number as 500 copies should be struck off. I believe that he contemplated that a small number of copies should be printed, to be dealt with as he might think fit.

8. When the work of translation and printing was completed, the copies were brought to my Office, and Mr. Long gave me the names of several persons to whom he was desirous that the work should be sent; other names were also added by me to the List, and I must here distinctly repeat, what I have avowed already, that the circulation under the official frank took place with my sanction and knowledge, and without that of the Lieutenant-Governor. I would observe that copies of this translation were sent to the persons to whom copies of printed official documents about the Indigo crisis had been sent. Unfortunately, I did not reflect that it was one thing to send off copies of official documents printed by order of Government, and therefore generally available for distribution or even sale, to any persons requiring them, and another thing to send off copies of a translation of a Native play, which had not been regularly submitted to the Lieutenant-Governor, but merely mentioned in the course of conversation as to the Head of the Government.

9. Nor can I refuse to admit that this course may seem to place the Government of Bengal in the position of having acted apparently without due consideration for the Government of India, and that His Excellency the Governor General in Council may find in this grounds for grave complaint. This is a subject of deep regret to me, but I cannot do otherwise than take the blame of this proceeding, and of its consequences, entirely on myself.

* A copy of the Englishman of the 29th July.

10. I had not, however, the least intention of showing the least disrespect either to the Government of Bengal or to the Government of India, and I may remark, that no mention of the Nil Darpan has been made in any public discussion in England, while it is not yet known that the copies have arrived at their destination.

11. I must again urge that the duty of bringing such publications as the Nil Darpan or any other such publications, to the notice of Government, is one which it behoves every Officer not to neglect, and that in the situation of Secretary I should not have been justified in disregarding the work. My error lay in not examining it more carefully before issue; and in issuing it, in the manner I did, without the knowledge of the Lieutenant-Governor.

12. I take this opportunity of placing on record the fact, that, after the termination of the trial of Mr. Long, I considered, looking to all that had taken place, that the retention by me of my appointment might be a source of embarrassment to the Government which I have the honor to serve, and in this view, I deemed it my duty, on Thursday, the 25th instant, or the day after the sentence, to place my resignation of my present appointment as Legislative Member for Bengal at the disposal of the Lieutenant-Governor, as well as to renounce my right to revert to my previous appointment as Secretary to Government, which had been reserved to me on the event of changes taking place in the constitution of the Council.

13. But His Honor did not see reason to act on the power which I then placed in his hands.

14. I now leave the subject in the hands of the Government, and the Lieutenant-Governor will probably do me the justice to believe that, if I say no more on this subject, it is not because I do not deeply regret the general irritation which has been excited, the attacks to which the Government has been exposed, and the consequences to a very earnest, zealous, and single-hearted Missionary, for whom, in his misfortunes, I cannot but feel the deepest sympathy.

MINUTE by the HON'BLE J. P. GRANT,—(dated the 30th July 1861.)

A COPY of Mr. Seton-Karr's letter should be sent up to His Excellency the Governor General in Council immediately, with the enclosed Newspaper containing his published Statement, in continuation of the letter to that Government enclosing my Minute of the 19th of June last.

Mr. Seton-Karr's narrative correctly describes the circumstances. He candidly acknowledges the serious error committed, but I am sure that, in circulating the translation in question, he did not contemplate either giving offence to any class, or placing the Government in a false position. In putting his resignation of his Office of Member of the Legislative Council at the disposal of Government, he has acted the part of an honorable and high minded man, consistently with his own established character. I did not think that the public interests would be served by acting upon the power thus placed in my hands; but my judgment does not affect the case so far as Mr. Seton-Karr's disinterested conduct is concerned.

(Sd.) J. P. GRANT.

RESOLUTION by the Governor-General in Council,—(dated the 8th August 1861.)

ON the 22nd of June, the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal submitted to the Governor General in Council His Honor's Minute of the 19th of June, and a correspondence with the Landholders' and Commercial Association, relative to the circulation, under official frank, of a translation of the Nil Darpan, a Bengalee Drama on the subject of Indigo Cultivation.

In one of their letters the Association indicated an intention, under certain contingencies, to appeal to the Government of India; and the announcement of this intention, combined with the subsequent adoption of legal proceedings by the Association, rendered it undesirable for the Governor General in Council to enter on the questions raised with any view to their final disposal, even had the case been fully before the Government of India.

His Honor's Minute was therefore transmitted to the Secretary of State, without the expression of any opinion by the Governor General in Council.

His Honor now forwards a copy of a further Minute by himself, on a letter from Mr. Seton-Karr, who was, when the occurrences referred to took place, Secretary to the Government of Bengal. It encloses a Statement which that gentleman has, with permission, published relative to his share in the translation and circulation of the Drama.

The whole transaction has, in the mean time, formed the subject of two trials in the Supreme Court. The Printer has been find, and the Revd. Mr. Long, who superintended the translation of the work, and took part in the other proceedings complained of by the Landholders' and Commercial Association, has been fined and imprisoned by sentence of the Supreme Court.

No appeal has yet been received by the Government of India from the Landholders' and Commercial Association, and no further legal steps have, as far as is known, been taken by that body. But their case is stated fully in the published proceedings of the trials, and there is no reason why the Government of India should longer delay to express its opinion on an act of a high Officer of the Government of Bengal, which has been openly challenged as incompatible with the duty of a public servant.

The work itself, and the meaning and bearing of the passages complained of, have been made the subject of formal judicial inquiry and decision in the Supreme Court.

It would therefore be unbecoming for the Government of India to discuss any questions connected with the character of the work.

But, while expressing no opinion regarding the work itself, and willingly accepting the most favorable interpretation of it; while feeling the fullest and most unreserved confidence in the assurance of Mr. Seton-Karr, that the passages complained of never presented themselves to his mind as capable of being read in the light in which they have appeared to the parties who are aggrieved by them; and while utterly discarding all imputation of hostility to those parties in an Officer who had lately discharged, in an impartial and conciliatory spirit, functions almost judicial in their bearing upon the interests of the Indigo Planters of Lower Bengal, the Governor General in Council cannot but say that the most complete vindication of the passages impugned would go but a small way to lessen the regret with which he views the whole proceeding.

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, in sanctioning the translation of the play, had no knowledge that it contained any passages of the circulation of which any person, or body of persons, could suppose that they had a right to complain: He was not aware of the steps taken to distribute the translation, until it was too late to prevent the distribution. And here the Governor General in Council can find nothing to regret in what His Honor did, unless it be that the examination, and, if necessary, the translation or circulation of an original vernacular work, throwing light on any political question, was not undertaken as a part of a regular system, and subjected to all the checks of supervision usual in any department of the ordinary Administration.

But His Excellency in Council cannot impute blame to the Government of Bengal that this has not been done, for the subject of systematically and officially reporting on the publications of the Native Press is one the importance of which had been repeatedly noticed by His Honor, and regarding which, but for more pressing calls on his attention, some definite and regular course would doubtless, ere now, have been adopted.

It is, however, a subject of great regret to the Governor General in Council that, after the peculiar circumstances of the distribution of this work, under the official frank of the Government of Bengal, were brought to His Honor's notice by the Landholders' and Commercial Association, His Honor confined himself to disavowing and disapproving the unauthorised proceedings of the Secretary to the Bengal Government. It is possible that His Honor was as imperfectly informed as the Government of India has till lately been, as to the particulars of the case. But these particulars ought, in the opinion of the Governor General in Council, to have been searched out by the Government of Bengal, and where condemnation from the Head of that Government was due, it should have followed at once, in such manner, as to mark unmistakably His Honor's displeasure, and to render it impossible to implicate his Government in acts which were not only unauthorized but quite unjustifiable.

The Governor General in Council is well aware that the intimation conveyed in the letter from the Landholders' and Commercial Association, that any information given by the Lieutenant-Governor would be made use of to prosecute "with the utmost rigor of the law" the parties concerned, was a sufficient reason why His Honor should not prejudice the rights of possible parties in the case, by communicating information which he was warned might be used in legal proceedings, the exact nature and extent of which could only be conjectured.

But the Governor General in Council does not doubt that the Lieutenant-Governor's displeasure might have been emphatically signified without entailing this or any other evil consequence; indeed His Excellency in Council believes that the consequences would have been good rather than evil; and, at all events, it was incumbent on His Honor to lay the case fully before the Governor General in Council, in order that His Excellency in Council might pass his judgment upon acts which, besides being a breach of the duty of a Secretary to the Government of Bengal, trenched upon the authority of the Government of India.

It appears from the published proceedings of the trial of the Revd. Mr. Long, that, although no copies of the translated pamphlet have yet been officially furnished to the Government of India, and although none were supplied to the individual Members of that Government until they were applied for after the distribution had become the subject of public discussion, numerous copies had been sent, as if by the authority of the Government of Bengal, to Members of Parliament and Public Bodies in England, to some parties at a distance in this country, and, to the amount of no less than twenty copies, to the Office of the Secretary of State in London. More than this could not have been done to give emphasis and currency to the publication of opinions endorsed by the Government of India. Nevertheless the most important features of the apparent sanction thus given to the circulation of the pamphlet have only become known to the Government of India through the published reports of the trials.

This course, even if it had been authorised by the Lieutenant-Governor, would have been a grave irregularity, and in the case of a document having an important bearing on great controversial questions, would not have been excusable as an inadvertence. It would have evinced a disregard of the relative positions of the Government of Bengal, the Governor General in Council, and the Secretary of State, and would have called for prompt notice by the Government of India.

The proceeding, however, was not only unauthorised by, but unknown to His Honor, and remains the act of the Secretary, and one for which Mr. Seton-Karr admits that he, and he alone, is responsible.

Mr. Seton-Karr now expresses his regret that the Government of Bengal should, by his unauthorised circulation of the pamphlet, have been placed in the position of having acted apparently without due consideration for the Government of India; but no explanation or apology is offered by him for having omitted to impart to the latter Government information which he regarded as of paramount importance to it, and the preparation of which in an English form had been justified by him, and very properly justified, on that ground. He is therefore chargeable, not only with an unwarrantable assumption and indiscreet exercise of an authority which did not belong to him, but with a neglect of duty which it is difficult to reconcile with the motives that led him to such an assumption.

The Governor General in Council could have wished that these errors had been noticed by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor with the gravity which they deserve, as very serious infractions of the Secretary's duty. His Excellency in Council is fully sensible that to have caused, even by inadvertence, a great public scandal; to have thereby embittered the strife of parties and classes; to have wounded, however unintentionally, the feelings of many of his fellow-countrymen; and to have involved others in criminal prosecution and punishment, are, of themselves, penalties as severe as can well be suffered by a zealous and high-minded public servant, who has at heart the honor of that Government which for many years he has served with the highest credit, and which has lately placed him in the foremost rank of its public functionaries. Nor does the Governor General in Council forget that regret for all this has been expressed by Mr. Seton-Karr in a most honorable spirit, and that he has becomingly tendered to the Lieutenant-Governor the resignation of his Office. But His Excellency in Council cannot consider that the Government is thereby absolved from the duty of making sure that the important ministerial functions of the Secretary to the Government of Bengal shall not be resumed by an Officer by whom, from whatever cause, they have been exercised with grievous indiscretion:—And in this view it is decidedly the opinion of the Governor General in Council that, when Mr. Seton-Karr shall no longer have to discharge the duties of his present position in the Legislative Council, he should not be allowed to return to the Office of Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

ORDERED, that a copy of the foregoing Resolution be communicated to the Government of Bengal, in reply to letter No. 2029A., dated the 30th ultimo.

Supply of Indian Cotton to England.

RESOLUTION by the Governor General in Council, dated the 9th August 1861.

1. In a Resolution of the 28th of February last the Government of India signified its earnest desire to encourage the cultivation of Cotton in India by every means consistent with the proper functions of Government.

In the discussions which have since taken place, the best informed Authorities on this great national question have insisted on the fact that, while the area of land under Cotton cultivation in India is capable of great and rapid extension under the stimulus of higher prices, the quality of the Cotton produced is less easily susceptible of improvement, and that it is most important to direct the attention of all parties interested in the cultivation to improvement of the quality while maintaining, and, if possible, increasing the average yield per acre of the general Cotton crop of the country.

2. It has been suggested that the Government of India might usefully aid in this work without infringing the first Rule* laid down in the Resolution of the 20th February last.

* 1st.—That no measure which places Government in the position of the private Capitalist, Cultivator, or Speculator, or which in any way interferes with private enterprize, can be otherwise than permanently injurious in itself and detrimental to the object in view.

Therefore, all attempts to stimulate cultivation or labor by any exertion of Government Authority, directly or indirectly, are out of the question.

The same objection will apply to model forms and experimental cultivation conducted by Officers of Government.

The Governor General in Council believes that observance of this Rule is necessary to any sound and permanent improvement; but, as far as can be done without infringing it, His Excellency in Council desires that nothing be omitted on the part of Government which can aid in arousing the attention of India to the great questions involved in any scarcity of the raw material for our English manufactures—questions the interest of which is deepened as each successive Mail brings fresh evidence that the scarcity may be more than temporary.

3. His Excellency in Council believes that much may be effected even in those older Cotton Districts of India which have long contributed an important share of the Cotton of the lower qualities employed in our English manufactures. But it is of still greater importance to aid and expedite the solution of the doubts which exist as to the best soils and climates and modes of cultivation for Cotton in those Districts whence, heretofore there has been little, if any export of Cotton to Europe.

4. In furtherance of these views the Governor General in Council has resolved to offer prizes for the production of Cotton during the two next years, that is to say, in the current season of 1861-62, and in the subsequent season of 1862-63.

Three prizes of ten thousand Rupees each will be given in each season—one in the Presidency of Fort William, one in the Presidency of Madras, and one in the Presidency of Bombay.

5. For the current season the conditions will be as follows:—

A. The prize in each Presidency will be given for the largest quantity of Cotton, combined with the best quality, which shall be grown upon any one Estate within the Presidency during the season of 1861-62, and which shall be brought for shipment to any Port in or before the month of June 1862.

B. Any District in the interior will be considered to have a claim to compete for the prize in that Presidency to the Port of which it is intended to send the Cotton for shipment.

C. The extent of ground under cultivation must not be less than thirty acres, all belonging to one property, or cultivated by one Superintendent.

D. The fulfilment of the last named conditions must be certified by the Chief Revenue Officer of the District in which the Estate is situated, or by any other Agents specially recognised by the Government for that purpose.

These two last Rules are intended to prevent the prize being given to a selection of picked samples from a large area, which would require none of the care or attention to the general cultivation of the plant which it is the desire of Government to encourage.

E. The prizes will be awarded by the Chambers of Commerce at Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay, respectively, if the gentlemen representing those bodies will consent to undertake the task.

F. A sealed sample of the Cotton must be sent by each Competitor to the Chamber of Commerce, and the consignment to which the prize is awarded will afterwards be inspected by the Chamber and verified as corresponding with the sample. In case of its being desired to ship the consignment at an out Port, the inspection of it will be made by some person specially appointed by the Chamber of Commerce.

G. Each sample must be accompanied by a full and clear statement by the grower of the system which has been pursued in the cultivation, with an accurate and detailed account of all the expenses incurred.

H. Any subsidiary Rules which may be found requisite will be laid down by the Chambers of Commerce.

6. All Public Officers whose assistance may be sought in respect to the conditions of the 4th Rule, or for any other object, are enjoined to give their cordial cooperation in carrying out the intentions of Government.

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL OF INDIA.

THE 10TH AUGUST 1861.

THE following Bill, as settled in Committee of the whole Council, was ordered to be published for general information, and to be re-considered after six weeks :—

A Bill to extend Act XXIII of 1840 (for executing within the local limits of the jurisdiction of Her Majesty's Courts legal process issued by Authorities in the Mofussil.)

Preamble. WHEREAS it is expedient to extend the provisions of Act XXIII of 1840 (for executing within the local limits of the jurisdiction of Her Majesty's Courts legal process issued by Authorities in the Mofussil) : It is enacted as follows :—

Extension of Act. I. The said Act XXIII of 1840 shall be read as if the words "any Court of Judicature established by Royal Charter or by Royal Letters Patent" were mentioned therein, instead of the words "Supreme Courts of Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay." Proviso. Provided that no writ, warrant, or other process shall be endorsed under the said Act by any Court of Judicature of the Settlement of Prince of Wales' Island, Singapore, and Malacca so as to compel the attendance beyond the limits of the jurisdiction of such Court of Judicature of any person living within such limits, unless special grounds be proved to the satisfaction of the Judge of such Court to whom such endorsement shall be applied for, in support of the application, which grounds shall be recorded in the endorsement of the writ, warrant, or other process.

Service of process issued by one Supreme Court, to commence a suit or action, within the local jurisdiction of another Supreme Court. II. Any Summons, Bill in Equity, or other process issued to commence a suit or action at common Law or in Equity or on the Ecclesiastical Side by any Supreme Court or Court established by Royal Letters Patent in any part of the territories that are or shall be vested in Her Majesty by the Statute 21 and 22 Vic. c. 106, entitled "An Act for the better Government of India," may be served within the local jurisdiction of any other such Court if endorsed for service by a Judge of such other Court as hereinafter provided. The Summons, Bill in Equity, or other process intended for service shall be accompanied by a certificate annexed thereto, signed by a Judge of the Court from which the same is issued, stating some special cause why such Summons, Bill in Equity, or other process should be served within the jurisdiction of some other such Court as aforesaid, and application shall be made to a Judge of such other Court, on production of such Summons, Bill in Equity, or other process, and of such certificate, prior to such service thereof. On such application being made, it shall be in the discretion of such Judge to require proof by affidavit, or otherwise that it is proper to allow such service, and on hearing such proof such Judge shall either endorse the Summons, Bill in Equity, or other process for service, or shall endorse thereon the reason for not ordering the service thereof. If such Summons, Bill in Equity, or other process be not endorsed for service as aforesaid, it shall not be served under this Act. When endorsed for service it shall be served in the same manner as if it had originally issued out of the Court in which such endorsement is made.

Sir,—In a communication lately submitted to this Government, the Commissioners of Revenue and Police have suggested, among other measures proposed by them with the view of diminishing correspondence, that they be vested with authority to grant leave of all kinds, under the standing rules, to all Covenanted and Uncovenanted Officers subordinate to them, with the exception of leave to Europe, which should be referred for the decision of Government.

2. His Excellency the Governor in Council is of opinion that the power to grant privilege leave to the full extent might well be granted to the Commissioners, but that special leave on private affairs, furloughs, and sick leave, necessitating the departure of an Officer from his Zillah, ought to remain in the hands of Government.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT.

No. 726B.

Nynee Tal, the 17th July 1861.

THE following Extract from the Proceedings of the Government of India, in the Financial Department, No. 7297, dated the 27th May last, is published for general information :—

No. 7297.

Extract from the Proceedings of the Government of India, in the Financial Department, dated 27th May 1861.

READ again the Financial Resolution No. 6747, dated the 27th July last, on the subject of the competence of Local Governments to sanction the entertainment of Settlement Establishments.

Read an Office Docket from the Officiating Under Secretary to the Government of North-Western Provinces, No. 462, dated 13th instant, forwarding copy of a letter addressed by that Government to the Secretary to the Sudder Board of Revenue, North-Western Provinces, sanctioning a charge of Rupees 100 for Settlement duties, under the authority contained in the Financial Resolution above referred to.

Resolution.—His Excellency the Governor General in Council observes that the Honorable the Lieutenant-Governor of the North-Western Provinces has sanctioned a charge of Rupees 100 for Settlement duties, under the general authority contained in the Financial Resolution No. 6747, dated 27th July 1860.

2. But His Excellency in Council observes that under the Budget system which has been introduced, the Lieutenant-Governor has already estimated a certain amount for Settlement work during the year, and His Excellency in Council is accordingly of opinion that that amount ought not to be exceeded.

3. The Budget system having been introduced, His Excellency in Council resolves that the authority vested in Local Governments by the Resolution of the 27th July 1860, as well as the authority contained in all other Resolutions of the same kind shall now cease; and he desires that it may be intimated to all Local Governments that now that the Budget system has been introduced, no expense which is not provided for in the Budget can be passed by them without the previous sanction of the Government of India, unless it can be met by reduction of other items under the head of service to which the expenditure may appertain.

Order.—Ordered, that a copy of the above Resolution be sent to the Government of the North Western Provinces for information, with reference to their Secretary's Docket No. 462, dated the 13th instant. Ordered also, that a copy of the above Resolution be sent to the Governments* and the Civil Pay Masters† noted in the margin, for information and guidance.

W. May, Lieut.,

Executive Commissariat Officer.

ADVERTISEMENT OF SALE.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the Zemindary rights of Government to the several Khas Mehals, situated in the District of Sylhet, and mentioned in the Statement hereto annexed, will be put up to Sale, under Orders of the Commissioner of Revenue, dated 29th May 1861, in the Sylhet Collectorate, on the 22nd August 1861, corresponding with the Bengallee date 7th Bhadro 1268.

The purchasers of such Mehals will be subject to the Conditions laid down below :—

CONDITIONS OF SALE.

1*st*.—The Estates to be sold, with the Sudder Jummas given below, to the highest bidders above the upset price.

2*nd*.—The Sale to be subject to existing leases and to the right conferred by the Settlement proceedings and laws in force, and purchasers to be bound to respect the rights of resident cultivators who have signed the Jummabundee made by the Revenue Authorities.

3*rd*.—When the amount of purchase money does not exceed Rupees 100, the whole amount is to be paid down at once.

4*th*.—When the amount of purchase money exceeds 100 Rupees, a deposit to be at once made of 25 per cent. upon the amount bid; the same to be forfeited to Government if the whole amount of purchase money be not paid by noon of the fifteenth day after the Sale, reckoning the day of Sale as one.

SUMMARY OF CONSTRUCTIONS OF INCOME TAX ACTS XXXII. AND XXXIX. OF 1860.

No. 152.

Allowance,

Extra, to Uncovenanted Assistants in Presidency Offices, absent on duty, when exempt from Income Tax.

Act XXXII. of 1860.
Section CXXIX.

THE extra allowance granted to Uncovenanted Assistants in the Presidency Offices, when absent from the Presidency on duty, is exempted from Income Tax so long as such Assistants are subjected to the expense of marching, but not after their marching Establishments have been discharged and they become stationary at Simla for instance, or elsewhere.—(Financial Department Order No. 9281, dated 25th July 1861.)

No. 153.

Deputation Allowance,

As distinguished from Travelling Allowance, liable to Income Tax.

Act XXXII of 1860.
Section CXXIX.

A QUESTION having been raised as to whether deputation allowance, drawn by an Establishment while on a tour, as distinguished from travelling allowance, and being in addition thereto, could be assessed to the Income Tax, it was pointed out that there was a clear difference between an allowance given specially for travelling, and an allowance such as deputation allowance, given under peculiar circumstances for the purpose of bringing up the salary proper of an Officer to an amount equivalent to that at which his salary, virtually diminished to him by those peculiar circumstances, would otherwise stand, and that deputation allowance, like the salary proper, should be taxed.—(Financial Department Order No. 10981, dated 3rd November 1860.)

No. 154.

Society,

Charitable.

Act XXXII of 1860.
Section CXXXIII.

ON the application of the Trustees of the "Destitute Eraney's Fund," the interest accruing on certain Government Promissory Notes and Shares of the Bank of Bombay, belonging to the Fund, were exempted from Income Tax under Section CXXXIII, Act XXII of 1860, by the Government of Bombay, with the approval of the Governor General of India in Council.—(Financial Department Order No. 9195, dated 8th July 1861.)

No. 155.

Public Works Department,

Military Subordinates in, receiving 200 Rupees per year, liable to Income Tax.

Act XXXII of 1860.
Section CXXVII.
Act XXXIX of 1860.
Section VII.

THE Military Subordinates in the Public Works Department, whose incomes are 200 Rupees per annum, are liable to Income Tax.—(Financial Department Order No. 10437, dated 12*th October* 1860.)

No. 156.

Act XXXIX of 1860 from what date to take effect.

Act XXXIX of 1860.

THE amendments of Act XXXII of 1860, contained in Act XXXIX of the same year, which is to be read and construed as part of the former Act, took effect from and after the 31st July 1860.—(Financial Department Order No. 10437, dated 12*th October* 1860.)

No. 157.

Insurance,

When Civil Auditor may deduct premium paid by Government Servants from salary.

Act XXXII of 1860.
Section CXXXIV.

THE deduction by the Civil Auditor of premiums paid by Government Servants from their salaries to Insurance Societies is allowed, provided the person making the payment support the deduction claimed with a regular receipt from the Insurance Society.—(Financial Department Order No. 10437, dated 12*th October* 1860.)

No. 158.

Insurance,

Exemption of premium paid by Military Officers from Income Tax, how obtainable.

Act XXXII of 1860.
Section CXXXIV.

THE premium paid by Military Officers for Life Insurances will be exempted from Income Tax on declarations by such Officers, supported by the regular receipts of the Insurance Office, of the sums paid by them.—(Financial Department Order No. 89, dated 12*th October* 1860.)

No. 159.

Societies,

Religious and Charitable, all property belonging to, devoted to religious or charitable purposes, should be exempted from Income Tax.

Act XXXII of 1860.
Section CXXXIII.

Exemption does not extend to Incomes of individuals from such property.

ALL property clearly proved to be exclusively devoted to religious and charitable public purposes, should be exempted from Income Tax. The exemption does not extend to the Income of individuals derived from such property who cannot claim exemption under Section CXVI Act XXXII of 1860.

General Order in respect to, when belonging to Hindoos and Mahomedans, not to be issued by Local Government.

THE Local Governments should not pass a general order under Section CXXXIII, Act XXXII of 1860, exempting the property of all Hindoo and Mahomedan Religious and Charitable Institutions.—(Financial Department Order No. 10437, dated 12*th October* 1860.)

No. 160.

Warrant and Non-Commissioned Officers,

Serving in Commissariat Department, when liable to Income Tax.

Act XXXII of 1860.
Section CXXVII.
Act XXXIX of 1860.
Section VII.

WARRANT and Non-Commissioned Officers of the Commissariat Department, when employed upon the proper duties of that Department, are exempt from Income Tax; but when engaged upon duties of a Civil nature, they are subject to the Tax.—(Financial Department Order No. 89, dated 12*th October* 1860.)

Pensions,

Paid out of India at Foreign Embassies, not liable to Income Tax.

Act XXXII of 1860.
Section C.
Act XXXIX of 1860.
Section II.

Pensions paid out of India through the Embassy in Turkish Arabia or any other Embassy in account with the Government of India, are not subject to the operation of either Act XXXII or Act XXXIX of 1860.

When paid in India.

Where it is optional with the Government of India to pay any such pension either in British India or in the Foreign State, the pension may be rendered liable to Income Tax under the Acts above quoted by the Government, directing payment of the amount to be made in India, which would make it necessary for the person entitled to receive the pension to nominate an Agent in India, to whom payment might be made on his behalf. The Agent so nominated might be an Officer of Government who might remit the amount of the pension on account of the pensioner under instructions from him to the Embassy. In such case the pensioner would be charged with Income Tax in the name of his Agent, under Section LXXVIII, Act XXXII of 1860, and the Agent would be entitled, under Section XCIII, to deduct the Tax from the amount remitted.

Act XXXII of 1860.
Section LXXIX.
Section XCIII.

When the Government has bound itself to make payment of any pension through the Embassy or in some Foreign country, without leaving open the option of payment in India, no deduction can be made from such pension on account of Income Tax under Act XXXII of 1860 or Act XXXIX of 1860.—(Financial Department Order No. 3984, dated 20th July 1861.)

Military Department.

The establishment of Work-shops for European Soldiers in India.

From LIEUTENANT-COLONEL W. MAYHEW, Adjutant-General of the Army, to the Secretary to the Government of India, Military Department,—(dated the 25th April 1861.)

SIR,—I HAVE the honor, by direction of the Commander-in-Chief in India, to forward, for submission to Government, the annexed scheme for the establishment of Work-shops in Her Majesty's Regiments serving in India.

This scheme appears after due deliberation to comprise the advantages of all the plans submitted by the Regiments of the Army on this subject.

Circumstances have hitherto prevented the carrying into execution this excellent scheme. Indeed although the question has from time to time occupied the attention of successive Commanders-in-Chief as well as of Government, no general system of Work-shops, applicable to all Regiments, has ever before been suggested; but it has been entirely left to the zeal and energy of individual Commanding Officers to provide means of amusement and employment for their men, aided by small grants of money from the Canteen Fund.

The importance and usefulness of Work-shops as regards the health and moral of Soldiers are so well known, and so often acknowledged by the Government of India, that the Commander-in-Chief will not dilate on them. He will only observe that one of the chief causes of crime in the hot season, and the ill-health resulting from inebriety, may be traced to the total inactivity and relaxation of the mental and physical powers which ensue during the hot months; and that employment in the Work-shops is universally admitted to be the best and surest remedy for these great evils. For it must be borne in mind that not only do the Work-shops afford amusement and occupation to the workmen themselves, but that their comrades take an interest in the work.

P. S.—The return of the enclosures is requested, as it will be necessary to publish them if approved by Government.

A scheme of Work-shops for enabling European Soldiers to carry on, in their leisure hours, the trades and occupations by which they gained their living before enlisting, and for affording opportunities to Soldiers and to their Children to acquire a knowledge of them.

Trades.

1. The Trades proposed to be practised and taught are as follows:—

The Painter.
„ Printer.
„ Blacksmith.
„ Bricklayer.
„ Carpenter.
„ Joiner.
„ Shoe-maker.
„ Book-binder.
„ Tent-maker.
„ Gardener.
„ Watch-maker.
„ Decorator.

Scheme capable of extension.

2. Skilled workmen in some of the above trades are to be found in every Regiment; and in Corps having Artisans skilled in other trades than these, the scheme is of course capable of still further development.

3. The primary cost of Establishment was, after a careful calculation, estimated by a Board as follows, viz.:—

Primary cost.

Blacksmith's Tools for two men, and Bellows ...	Rs.	120	0	0
Tools complete for two Carpenters, answering for four or five men ...	„	240	0	0
Tools for ten Shoe-makers (with Lasts) ...	„	275	0	0
Turning Lathes ...	„	90	0	0
Gardener's Tools at Rs. 15 per Company, for ten Companies ...	„	150	0	0
Book-binder's Tools ...	„	150	0	0
Total ...	Rs.	1,025	0	0

For Engravers, Watch-makers, &c., the Canteen might make advances for Tools.

For Masons, Painters, Bricklayers, &c., &c., the Ordnance Department will supply the necessary Implements,—vide Army General Order, 6th December 1860, re-published in General Order Queen's Troops, 27th idem.

For Tent-makers, supplies may also be issued on payment of prime cost.

4. It will be observed that this is exclusive of the cost of arranging for suitable Work-shops, and of the expense of carriage from Calcutta or elsewhere, of the above-mentioned articles.

Expenses not included.

5. The average balance credit of Canteen Funds of Her Majesty's British Regiments in Bengal was about Rupees 1,200 at the end of last year. About half, therefore, of the Regiments in Bengal are in a position at once to defray the primary cost of Tools, &c., from their Canteen Funds. With the others the profits of a few months would suffice to cover the above expenditure.

Primary cost, how to be defrayed.

6. Going on the above data, it is proposed—

Suggested mode of supplying Tools.

1*st.*—That authority shall be given to Regiments to purchase the articles enumerated in paragraph 3, out of the balance credit of their Canteen Funds, due regard being paid to the usual charitable calls.

2*nd.*—That Government be requested to authorize the conveyance, at the public cost, of these articles from Calcutta or from whatever Station they may be procurable. In the event of its being found advisable to send to England for any, special application, detailing cost of carriage, to be made.

3*rd.*—That Government be requested to authorize the conveyance, at the public cost, of these articles, on the march of a Regiment from one Station to another. For the purpose of obviating the expense of transport, all, except light Tools, will be considered as Barrack fixtures.

4*th.*—Some few trifling alterations and additions to the Barrack buildings may be required for the establishment of the Work-shops; and the Commander-in-Chief feels convinced that the well-known benevolence of the Government, and their desire to promote the Soldier's welfare, will induce them to lend a favorable ear to proposals on this head.

7. The accompanying Report from the Officer Commanding 1st Battalion, 6th Foot, shows how well the scheme is working in that Corps. In other Corps it is also progressing favorably.

Work-shops in 1st Battalion, 6th Foot.

8. Colonel Robertson's Report points to the necessity for various Departments to employ Soldiers in such work about the Barracks as they are competent to perform.

9. The provisions of this scheme, slightly modified perhaps, are applicable to Batteries of both Royal and Bengal Artillery, and to Her Majesty's Indian Regiments of European Cavalry and Infantry.

Scheme applicable to Artillery and to Indian Regiments of European Cavalry and Infantry.

10. One of the chief objects of Work-shops is to instruct the Children of Soldiers in trades. In this view Commanding Officers are requested to do their utmost to induce Parents to allow their Children to receive the necessary instruction. Remuneration will be given to the Soldier who teaches the Child a trade, the amount of which will depend on the degree of efficiency which he has enabled the Child to attain.

Instruction of Children in trades.

11. Tailoring has not been included in the list of trades, because a Tailor's shop already exists in all Her Majesty's Regiments.

Tailors.

1*st.*—It is as well to add a few details which suggest themselves, consequent on the adoption of the foregoing scheme. At the same time it would be unwise to restrict Commanding Officers of Regiments as to the mode of practically carrying out the experiment, but they should be allowed a degree of latitude in this respect, reporting from time to time the result of their experience. From these Reports the Commander-in-Chief might best arrive at a just conclusion as to the most approved manner of working out the system; but Colonel Robertson's method appears worthy of general adoption.

Details of scheme and arguments in favor of it.

2*nd.*—Twice a year, say on Christmas or New Year's day, or Easter Monday, prizes would be awarded to best workmen, whether Soldiers or Children.

3*rd.*—The tradesmen should be under charge of Quarter-Masters of Regiments, and their charges for work done should be subject to a fixed Tariff, approved of by the Commanding Officer of the Regiment, or in accordance with Her Majesty's Regulations. A copy of the Tariff should hang in the Work-shop.

4*th.*—Implements damaged by neglect should be re-placed at the cost of the workman. Those worn out by fair wear and tear, by the Canteen Fund.

5*th.*—The profits from the exercise of his craft to go to the workman, every inducement being given for its investment in the Savings Bank. This is imperative: without it the Soldier will not work. Any tradesman, if a defaulter, to be debarred from exercising his trade, or a Soldier making a bad use of his profits, not to be allowed to work.

6th.—Tradesmen to be as far as possible equally distributed among Companies, so that in the event of the Regiment being divided, each portion of it should be provided with Artisans.

7th.—Tradesmen, if well drilled and well conducted Soldiers, to be excused ordinary parades in hot weather; but invariably to appear in all general parades, and at all drills in the drill season, so as not to lose the advantages of previous instruction; and to take their tour of all duties, save those of fatigue.

8th.—In conclusion, and in support of these suggestions, it is submitted that a Garrison system of Work-shops would never answer. It would be more expensive, for a Garrison Staff in charge would become a necessity, proper supervision would be almost impossible, and drunkenness and crime would result. The handing over of Garrison Tools and Implements would be attended with endless confusion, involving an assessment of damages. Such a system could only be established at certain large Garrison Stations, and therefore one-quarter at least of the Regiments in this country, exclusive of Wings and Companies, or Detachment, would be deprived of the advantages afforded by it.

Memorandum of Work-shops established in 1st Battalion, 6th Royal Regiment.

Work-shops have been established since 1st November 1860, viz., Black-smiths, (which comprises Farriers, Tin-smiths, Lock-smiths, Glaziers, and Painters), Carpenters and Shoe-makers.

The number of Mechanics which have been constantly employed are Black-smiths two, Farriers one, Lock-smiths one, Tin-smiths one, Painters and Glaziers one, Shoe-makers five, and Carpenters five.

Ten hours have been considered a day's work, and the tradesmen receive 10 annas per diem, or 1*s.* 3*d.*, as laid down in the Queen's Regulations.

The description of work executed from November to the end of February was shoeing Horses, making and repairing Furniture for the Non-Commissioned Officers and Married Families of the Regiment, repairing Fire-engine Pumps for the Engineer Department, and several jobs were done for residents in the Station; after paying for material and labor, and adding 10 per cent. for wear and tear of Tools, there was a profit amounting to Rupees 143 realized up to the end of February.

I find that the men are very desirous of being employed at their various trades, and there has not been a single application to leave the Shops since their establishment; and though the men have received 3 or 4 Rupees weekly more than those doing duty, still not one case of drunkenness has been brought to my notice.

On the 1st March last I applied to the Deputy Assistant Quarter-Master General for the repair of Barrack Furniture, which was granted, and during that month the following articles have been repaired, viz:—

171	Wooden Cots.	3	Bedside Tables.
10	Large Tables.	1	Cart Yoke.
1	Easy Chair.	3	Fire Buckets.
1	Small Table.	3	Chairs.
1	Office Desk.	5	Commodes.
3	Fire Hose.	32	Forms.
90	Iron Cots.	1	Writing Desk.
37	Lanterns.	2	Fire Engines.
100	Boxes.	3	Filth Carts.

The repairs have been executed with more expedition, and the workmanship was superior to that done by Native Mechanics; in fact a large stock of Furniture, which could not be done by Natives, has been all cleared out by the men of my Regiment.

If the Executive Engineer had been directed to give some of the contracts for new Furniture, a large number of men could be employed. I feel convinced that the men would be delighted at working at their trades, besides it would be very conducive to their health during the hot season.

Unless contracts are given by the Engineer Department, together with the repairs of Barrack Furniture, there will not be constant employment for the men. Had the whole of my Regiment been present, a large number of tradesmen could be employed.

A Reading-room has also been recently established, and is well supplied with Books, Periodicals, &c.

The Proprietors of the Englishman, Hurkaru, Phœnix, and Friend of India send gratuitously copies of their papers. There have been great pains taken to make the room comfortable, as it is nicely matted and well lighted; there are four Candelabra of 3 lights each, besides six side-lights; the tables are covered with green baize, and the following games have been provided for the men's amusement when tired of reading:—

Race Game	...	two.
German Billiards	...	two.
Dominoes	...	eleven sets.
Draught Boards	...	eight.
Chess	...	one.
Solitaire	...	two.
Stereoscopes	...	four.
Slides for ditto	...	five ditto.

Tea, coffee of the best quality, together with Lemonade and Sodawater, are always ready for the men's use.

The Reading-room is open from 9 to 12 noon for the men, from 2 to 4 P. M. for Serjeants, and from 5 to 9 P. M. for men.

A Committee composed of the Serjeant-Major, Quarter-Master Serjeant, and the Librarian (a Color Serjeant) have the sole arrangement—the men appear in the room in a clean loose dress—the monthly subscription which is required to cover the expense of lighting, servants, &c., is two annas for Privates, three for Corporals, and four for Serjeants—the number of Subscribers in four Companies now at Head-Quarters is 16 Serjeants, 15 Corporals, and 242 Privates; Total 273.

Prospectus for Regimental Work-shops.

In order to establish a Regimental Carpenter's shop, a complete set of Tools should be purchased and paid for out of the Canteen Fund; a Turning Lathe which is an expensive item could be brought when the shop was flourishing.

Carpenter's shop.

The remuneration for workmen is laid down in the Queen's Regulations, page 285, paragraph 54, and should be strictly adhered to, except in some cases when the work might be done by the piece.

Remuneration for workmen.

The materials for work should be purchased by a Committee of Officers, under the supervision of the Master Tradesman, and handed over to the Quarter-Master or some other competent person, to be accounted for in a similar manner as Regimental necessaries.

Purchase of materials.

Repairs to Barracks and Barrack Furniture could be made with a great saving to the State, and the charge for "Barrack damages" against the Soldier would be lessened.

Repairs to Barracks and Barrack Furniture by Regimental Workmen.

The profits realized from the sale of work after paying a small sum for the wear and tear of Tools should be placed in a Fund.

Profits to be placed in a Fund.

When a workman is discharged the service, and if deserving, a set of Tools might be purchased out of this Fund and presented to him, to enable him to gain a livelihood. In a short time this Fund would increase largely, and might also be made useful in paying the Master Tradesmen a bonus for teaching the sons of Soldiers a trade. This of course could be regulated by the Committee, under the sanction of the Commanding Officer.

Workmen when discharged to receive a set of Tools, if deserving, from the Fund.

Tradesman to receive a bonus for teaching Soldiers' sons a trade.

The working pay should be given over to the men when the money has been paid for the work; this should be punctually attended to, as a Soldier has strong feelings on this point.

Working pay to be given over to the Soldier.

A waste book, showing the quantity of materials purchased and expended, and a Ledger accounting for the nature of work performed, and the profits realized, should be submitted for the inspection of the Quarterly Committee, as in the case of Regimental necessaries. On arriving at a new Station the price of materials would have of course to be considered.

An account to be kept of work to be done, &c., in a set of books.

The same rule should be observed in this case as in that of Carpenters. Farriers could be beneficially employed in shoeing Officers' Horses, &c.; the accounts should be kept in a similar way to that of the Carpenter's shop.

Black-smiths.

The prices of work done by Shoe-makers are also laid down by Regulation; but Regiments generally allow them a little more, as they have to purchase their own Tools, Lasts, &c.

Shoe-maker's shop.

The price charged for Non-Commissioned Officers' and Privates' work, together with that of Officers, will entirely depend on the marked price of leather, and must be regulated by a Board of Officers—the prices should always be published in Regimental Orders.

Prices of work.

The rates of work performed for Non-Commissioned Officers and Men are clearly laid down in the Royal Warrant respecting clothing; that for Officers will entirely depend on the nature of the work done, and should be regulated by a Committee.

Tailor's shop.

I consider that the Tailor's shop should not be on the same footing as the Carpenter's and Black-smith's shops, inasmuch as the two latter are far more profitable; the Tailor's work being absolutely necessary are always fixed at as low a rate as possible, in order to meet the pay of the Soldier; and I would therefore propose that the Tailor's shop should be left as it is at present in almost every Regiment in the Service, namely, under the Quarter-Master, and the earnings of the workmen paid to them regularly every Saturday night.

Tailor's shop not to be on the same footing as other workmen.

I am of opinion that Soldiers' sons might derive great advantages from Regimental Work-shops; but do not think that any arrangements could be entered into to apprentice a lad to the Master Tradesman.

Teaching Soldiers' sons a trade.

A certain sum monthly might be paid out of the Fund above alluded to, to the Master Tradesman for teaching a boy how to work; and in a short time he would commence to earn a little money, which the parents would soon discover the advantage of.

I think that all boys who enter the service should be compelled to attend one of the Regimental Work-shops, in the same manner as they are compelled to attend School; and on leaving the service they would not be in the helpless state they have hitherto been. They would also be better men while serving, as it is evident the boy, who has been compelled to train his mind for the acquirement of a trade, will make a more intelligent man than the boy whose time has been passed in idleness.

All enlisted boys to be compelled to attend a Work-shop.

With the view of carrying out the establishment of Work-shops, it will be absolutely necessary that proper airy Work-shops be built in each Barrack,—each Regiment to have its own—and every encouragement given to men to attend, such as leave from morning parades occasionally and always from evening roll calls.

The Work-shops should be near to each other, and as far from the Canteen as possible; they should be under the superintendence of an intelligent Serjeant, a man of good natural abilities, and a taste for mechanics, not necessarily a tradesman.

The hours of labor may be determined according to circumstances; but punctuality in attendance should be strictly enforced, and no one should be allowed to enter the Work-shops except those who are registered as workmen.

Since writing the above Prospectus, it has been ascertained that unless the tradesmen work for the number of hours specified in the Queen's Regulations, viz., eight hours in the hot season and ten hours in the cold weather, at the regulated rate of working pay, the native mechanics would undersell the Regimental Work-shop; as rifle instruction, ordinary parades and drills will prevent the men being employed for the regulated period daily, as laid down by Regulation. In this case the Non-Commissioned Officer superintending the Work-shops should keep a correct account of the number of hours of actual labor, and at the termination of each week divide the hours by eight or ten, according to the season of the year, and paying them for the number of days at ten annas each.

Camp equipage.

Regarding the making up of Camp equipment, the Tailors, Shoe-makers, and Black-smiths combined could be employed in making and repairing Tents; no more Tools than those shown as requisite for the former trades would be wanted. The tradesmen should receive the regulated rate of pay, viz., ten annas per diem; the cost of materials entirely depending on the bazar rates of the Station at which the Regiment may be quartered.

Armourers.

Men of each Regiment could be instructed in gun-smithery by the Armourers as follows:—For the first six months the Armourer ought to receive a remuneration of about fifteen Rupees a month for instructing about six men, for the next three months the allowance should cease, after which the men instructed should be paid for their labor similar to other tradesmen.

The Armourer and three men would perform all the work of a Regiment, oiling and petty repairs being only executed.

From the Secretary to the Government of India, Military Department, to the Deputy Adjutant-General of the Army,—(dated the 26th July 1861.)

SIR,—WITH reference to the letters noted in the margin, regarding the establishment of Work-shops in European Regiments, I am desired to acquaint you, for the information of His Excellency the Commander-in Chief, that the Governor-General in Council considers the scheme, as in operation in Her Majesty's 6th Regiment, an excellent one, and sanctions its adoption generally, under the Regulations proposed by His Excellency.

Adjutant-General of the Army, No. 400½A., dated 25th April 1861.

Deputy Adjutant-General of the Army, No. 801A., dated 13th July 1861.

2. I am directed to observe that no new accommodation in the way of Work-shops can be constructed this year; but there are many Stations where there are already more Barrack ranges than the Troops can occupy, and with the coming reduction in the strength of Regiments, the number of these Stations will increase.

3. The Governor-General in Council will be prepared, as proposed by the Commander-in-Chief, to defray the expense of carriage from Calcutta or elsewhere of the Tools purchased by the Canteen Funds of Regiments; and when Tools are required to be procured from England, detailed specification should be made to Government of the cost of carriage to be incurred.

4. On the march of Regiments in course of relief, the Tools will be conveyed at the public expense, as His Excellency suggests, on the understanding that in order to lessen the charges all except Tools of a light nature are to be considered as Barrack fixtures.

5 A copy of the correspondence will be forwarded to the Public Works Department, in view to a consideration of the question of giving contracts to the men to execute such work as they may be able to perform, whenever it can be done without detriment to the Public Service; and that Department will also be requested to report what arrangements can be made in the way of accommodation, at a small expense, when it is not immediately available.

6. The Governor-General in Council considers it very desirable that some authentic account of the financial results of the scheme should be kept, and that, therefore, the Work-shop accounts should be audited, not with the view of stinting the support of Government, but that Government may better judge of the success of the scheme.

7. The Military Finance Department will accordingly be requested to suggest in what manner this can best be done, and a further communication will be made to you on the subject in due course.

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL OF INDIA.

THE 10TH AUGUST 1861.

THE following Bill, as settled in Committee of the whole Council, was ordered to be published for general information, and to be re-considered after six weeks :—

A Bill to extend Act XXIII of 1840 (for executing within the local limits of the jurisdiction of Her Majesty's Courts legal process issued by Authorities in the Mofussil.)

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to extend the provisions of Act XXIII of 1840 (for executing within the local limits of the jurisdiction of Her Majesty's Courts legal process issued by Authorities in the Mofussil) : It is enacted as follows :—

Extension of Act.

I. The said Act XXIII of 1840 shall be read as if the words "any Court of Judicature established by Royal Charter or by Royal Letters Patent" were mentioned therein, instead of the words "Supreme Courts of Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay." Provided that no writ, warrant, or other process shall be endorsed under the said Act by any Court of Judicature of the Settlement of Prince of Wales' Island, Singapore, and Malacca so as to compel the attendance beyond the limits of the jurisdiction of such Court of Judicature of any person living within such limits, unless special grounds be proved to the satisfaction of the Judge of such Court to whom such endorsement shall be applied for, in support of the application, which grounds shall be recorded in the endorsement of the writ, warrant, or other process.

Proviso.

Service of process issued by one Supreme Court, to commence a suit or action, within the local jurisdiction of another Supreme Court.

II. Any Summons, Bill in Equity, or other process issued to commence a suit or action at common Law or in Equity or on the Ecclesiastical Side by any Supreme Court or Court established by Royal Letters Patent in any part of the territories that are or shall be vested in Her Majesty by the Statute 21 and 22 Vic. c. 106, entitled "An Act for the better Government of India," may be served within the local jurisdiction of any other such Court if endorsed for service by a Judge of such other Court as hereinafter provided. The Summons, Bill in Equity, or other process intended for service shall be accompanied by a certificate annexed thereto, signed by a Judge of the Court from which the same is issued, stating some special cause why such Summons, Bill in Equity, or other process should be served within the jurisdiction of some other such Court as aforesaid, and application shall be made to a Judge of such other Court, on production of such Summons, Bill in Equity, or other process, and of such certificate, prior to such service thereof. On such application being made, it shall be in the discretion of such Judge to require proof by affidavit, or otherwise that it is proper to allow such service, and on hearing such proof such Judge shall either endorse the Summons, Bill in Equity, or other process for service, or shall endorse thereon the reason for not ordering the service thereof. If such Summons, Bill in Equity, or other process be not endorsed for service as aforesaid, it shall not be served under this Act. When endorsed for service it shall be served in the same manner as if it had originally issued out of the Court in which such endorsement is made.

No. 716 of 1861.—Under instructions from Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India, His Excellency the Governor General in Council is pleased to direct that an uniform rule shall be established at the three Presidencies in accordance with the rule in England and elsewhere, by which Captains of Companies defray the cost of the repairs of Arms out of the Contingent allowance drawn by them.

Contingent allowance for the repairs of Arms, Accoutrements, &c., will accordingly be issued at the rate authorized in Bengal, Rupees (20) twenty per mensem to Officers Commanding Troops of Dragoons (this sum is included in the consolidated Contingent allowance in Bengal) and Companies of European Infantry at the three Presidencies, out of which the Armourer Serjeants of Regiments are to be paid for the repairs they may perform, according to the regulated scale of charges as laid down in (Queen's Regulations of 1859, pages 103-108.)

The Armourer Serjeant attached to a Regiment, Battalion, and Corps, will be entitled to the Pay, Clothing, &c., of a Serjeant of such Regiment, Battalion, or Corps.

He will provide the materials required for the necessary repairs of the Arms, and will be paid by Officers Commanding the Troops or Companies, at the regulated prices.

A trained Armourer Serjeant, attached to an Arsenal or Magazine, will be entitled to Rupees (68-2-10) sixty-eight, two annas, and ten pie, being the equivalent of the rate of pay authorized by the Royal Warrant of the 24th June 1858, viz., (2) two shillings per diem, which is to be made up to (5) five shillings a day for six days in the week. When absent from duty at an Arsenal or Magazine he will be entitled to the pay of a Serjeant of Infantry.

He will, in addition, be allowed Clothing and Quarters, and a Staff Salary of Rupees (30) thirty per mensem as at present authorized, and, if married, subsistence allowance for his wife and children at the usual rates.

No. 717 of 1861.—With reference to the Notification from the Foreign Department, No. 4528 of the 13th instant, the services of Major G. W. Boileau, of the Bengal Staff Corps, District Super·ntendent of Police in Oude, are, at his own request, placed at the disposal of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, with effect from the 2nd June last.

No. 718 of 1861.—The following paragraphs of a Military Letter from the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State for India, No. 284 of the 16th July 1861, are published for general information :—

1. I have considered in Council your Lordship's Military Despatches No. 63, dated 3rd May 1861, and 18th May, No. 77, requiring early instructions in regard to the admission, to the benefits of Lord Clive's Fund, of the widows of Soldiers who may die after having volunteered from the Local Service to the Royal Artillery or to one of the new Line Regiments; and secondly, with regard to the mode of dealing with the Estates of deceased Officers and Men, who, having now entered Her Majesty's General Service, may die in India.

2. With reference to the first question I observe that, in the 6th Clause of your General Order No. 332 of the 10th April, and in the 13th Clause of the General Order of the Governor General of the same date, Soldiers volunteering for General Service have the option of choosing whether their future Pension shall be reckoned according to the Regulations of Her Majesty's Army, or according to those of the Indian Forces. I am of opinion that the Soldiers electing the latter alternative are entitled to all benefits for themselves or their families claimable under the Indian Regulations, including those of Lord Clive's Fund. I am also of opinion that under a liberal construction of Clauses 65 of the General Order, and of the paragraphs of my Despatches (paragraph 12 of No. 27, and paragraph 14 of 28,) on which it was founded, the Officers of Her Majesty's Indian Forces electing General Service do not forfeit for themselves or their families the benefits which they would have derived in the Local Service from Lord Clive's Fund.

3. The method of dealing with the Estates of deceased Officers and Men who have been transferred from Local to General Service must be arranged in communication with Her Majesty's Secretary of State for War, to whom a reference has been made. The result will be communicated to you hereafter; but, in the meantime, the existing practice may be continued.

4. I would observe, however, with reference to a remark in the 7th paragraph of your Despatch of the 3rd May, that it was never intended that Paymasters should not be appointed to the new Line Regiments, or that these Regiments should be deficient in any thing that may be essential to the complete assimilation of their organization and internal economy with those of other Regiments of the Line.

No. 719 of 1861.—The under-mentioned Officers have reported their return from England :—

FOR ESSAY ON COTTON CULTURE.

To any person who shall produce, on or before the 1st May 1862, an approved Essay on the culture of Cotton in India from Foreign Seed, the sum of one thousand Rupees, and the Gold Medal of the Manchester Cotton Supply Association.

RULES FOR COMPETITION.

1. The Essay must be of a practical character, containing the results of the Writer's own observations or experiments, and not merely a compilation from books.

2. The copyright of the Essay, to which a premium shall be awarded, shall become the property of the Society, for publication in their Journal or otherwise.

3. The Society are not bound to award a prize, unless they consider the Essay deserving of it.

4. In all reports of experiments, the expenses shall be as accurately detailed as practicable.

5. The pound avoirdupois and the Company's Rupee are the only weight and currency in which calculations are to be made.

H. A. TAYLOR, Captain,

Sub-Assistant Commissary General.

ADVERTISEMENT OF SALE.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the Zemindary Rights of Government to the several Khas Mehals, situated in the District of Sylhet, and mentioned in the Statement hereto annexed, will be put up to Sale, under Orders of the Commissioner of Revenue, dated 29th May 1861, in the Sylhet Collectorate, on the 22nd August 1861, corresponding with the Bengallee date 7th Bhadro 1268.

The Purchasers of such Mehals will be subject to the Conditions laid down below :—

CONDITIONS OF SALE.

1*st*.—The Estates to be sold, with the Sudder Jummas given below, to the highest bidders above the upset price.

2*nd*.—The Sale to be subject to existing leases and to the right conferred by the Settlement proceedings and laws in force, and purchasers to be bound to respect the rights of resident cultivators who have signed the Jummabundee made by the Revenue Authorities.

3*rd*.—When the amount of purchase money does not exceed Rupees 100, the whole amount is to be paid down at once.

4*th*.—When the amount of purchase money exceeds Rupees 100, a deposit to be at once made of 25 per cent. upon the amount bid, the same to be forfeited to Government if the whole amount of purchase money be not paid by noon of the fifteenth day after the Sale, reckoning the day of Sale as one.

Government of Bengal.

Survey of a Portion of the Hill Tracts in Chittagong.

From LIEUTENANT-COLONEL H. L. THUILLIER, Surveyor-General of India, to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(dated the 6th July 1861.)

SIR,—ADVERTING to the Orders of Government, dated the 11th January last, I have the honor to report that Mr. Moran, Assistant Revenue Surveyor, attached to the 3rd Division, who was deputed, with two Native Surveyors, to accompany Captain Raban with the Expedition on the Eastern Frontier, has completed the duty on which he was engaged, and has consequently returned to Dacca, where he joined the Head-Quarters of his party on the 26th May last. He has submitted his Report on the operations of the Survey he was enabled to effect, copy of which is herewith transmitted for the information of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor.

2. This Report, and the Map which accompanied it, in my humble opinion, is most creditable to Mr. Moran's energy and professional ability. He certainly has made the most of the opportunity afforded him, and has given us some very valuable Geographical information which will be of great use in filling in the general Map of the Eastern Frontier, on which I have been long engaged.

3. I would recommend that the Report be printed, and I shall be happy to lithograph the Map to accompany it, free of extra expense to the Government. I also annex copy of Captain Raban's letter, expressive of his opinion of Mr. J. K. Moran's conduct with the Expedition, and I shall be glad if His Honor, on a review of the proceedings, should see fit to record a favorable opinion of the good services rendered by the Assistant Surveyor, who is a most deserving and promising Officer.

4. In regard to the practicability of the re-employment of this Assistant again next season for ordinary or desultory work in the Chittagong Division, as suggested by the Commissioner, I beg to state that Mr. Moran was merely detached from the 3rd Division, for a special object, with a Military Expedition; his services could ill be spared, and great inconvenience has been felt in consequence to the operations now carrying on in the District of Sylhet. The loss of the services of an able Assistant and his Native party on detached duty greatly enhances the cost of work executed by the parent Establishment from which they are separated, and, on professional grounds, it is always objectionable to permit the undertaking of desultory work far removed from the personal check and supervision of the Officer superintending the general operations of a Survey Establishment. Mr. Moran's deputation again, therefore, would be a serious embarrassment to the Department, the more so as other minor Surveys are called for, such as Tea Plantations in Cachar, and qualified Assistants are very scarce. I trust, therefore, that these objections will be allowed to have their full weight with His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor.

5. But if a necessity for renewing the Military Expedition next cold season in another direction, in the Hill Tracts lying between Tipperah and Chittagong should again arise, then I would certainly make a sacrifice to send a good Surveyor like Mr. Moran, to obtain Geographical information beyond our Frontier, which is not attainable under other circumstances.

6. One of the regular Survey parties, the 1st Division, is under orders to commence on Tipperah in November next. The whole of this District, together with Bullooah or Noacolly, will be surveyed in due course down to the Chittagong boundary, and whatever work the Commissioner has to do in his Division ought to be taken up by that Establishment in regular and continuous succession.

7. This will afford a fine opportunity for including the whole of Independent Tipperah, completely bounded on the West, North, and South by British Territory, in our operations, merely for Geographical purposes. All the Native States of India are either now under survey, or ordered to be surveyed; and I sincerely trust that no trifling objections which the Rajah is sure to make will be allowed to weigh against a point of such general importance. It is absolutely necessary for the safety of the Frontier, and the cessation of disputes, which the present Rajah has, to my personal knowledge, been carrying on with the British Government for a quarter of a century, or ever since Captain Fisher's Survey of 1821 and 1822, that we should possess some knowledge of the interior of his Territory, which we do not possess at present, although, on every other Frontier of India almost, British explorations have been most successful.

Report on the Operations of the Survey Party with Captain Raban, in the Expedition to the Tipperah Hills.

Before submitting my notes on the topography of the Hills, I purpose giving a brief statement of the movements of myself and party while with Captain Raban's Force. Starting from Dacca on the 29th December 1860, I arrived at Chittagong on the 7th of January. The Troops, already assembled under the orders of Captain Raban, were on the point of starting for Burkul, when I joined them. We left Chittagong on the 9th, passed Kasalong, the Political Agent's Head-Quarters, on the 16th, and reached Burkul on the 17th. Nine days were occupied in unloading the Boats, and organizing a body of coolies for an Expedition to Rutton Pooceah's Village, the Chief, who was supposed to be most deeply implicated in the late Kookie raids. On the 26th a body of 350 Sepoys received orders to start for Rutton Pooceah's Village. I directed my two Native Surveyors and their party of Clashees to proceed to Rangamateea and Kasalong, and survey up the Chingree and Kasalong Rivers, while, with a small party of Clashees, I accompanied the Expeditionary Force, leaving Burkul at 2 P. M. on the 26th January. For the first two days I was able to carry on a rough prismatic Survey of the route which lay chiefly in the bed of a Nullah; on the 3rd day, owing to the Military operations, and the impossibility of penetrating the dense jungle fast enough to keep up with the Troop, the continuous Survey was broken; and I had only to depend for connection upon intersections which I might obtain on ascending the higher ranges. This I was able to effect on arriving at the summit of the high range known as the Ohe Poom. Having obtained a base line of half a mile, I intersected back to the Burkul Peaks, the Asses' Ears, and other prominent points which were afterwards taken up in the course of my Survey. By this means a pretty fair connection was obtained. Leaving the Ohe Poom Hills we arrived by an easy descent to a valley through which the Toh Jung River* flows. On ascending the next range, the Road led through several patches of cultivation, dotted here and there with store houses for grain. Five miles further on, we ascended the Loeng Sin Hills, and on the morning of the 1st February arrived at Rutton Pooceah's Village, which was immediately burnt. The Village covered about half a square mile, and consisted of the usual description of Kookie houses, raised on posts six to seven feet from the ground. A few of the houses had wooden supports, but the majority were of bamboo. As the Village was fired, Pigs, Goats, Fowls, and a crowd of little Puppies ran promiscuously amongst us from places where they had been carefully concealed. In the houses, stores of dried ginger, Indian-corn, and pumpkins were found heaped up. A few pots of spirit extracted from rice of their own manufacture. We likewise discovered pieces of cloth, half woven, thread yet on the spindle, which showed how unexpected was our attack, and how hurried their flight. Leaving Rutton Pooceah's Village at midday, we returned to Burkul on the 4th February, when a portion of the Troops with Captain Raban returned to Chittagong, leaving 200 men at the disposal of the Political Agent, from whom Guards were obtained when required, for the rest of my Survey operations.

* Depth of water 4 to 5 feet.

In prosecuting my Survey in the Hills, the object I aimed at was to obtain as much topographical information as possible while the Troops remained in that quarter; with this view a Survey party accompanied every Detachment of Troops sent out; many important Khals were thus surveyed roughly, but sufficiently accurate to give a fair idea of the country, and to serve as a guide in the event of future operations. The larger Rivers, the Kurnafoolee and Kasalong, were surveyed with a 5-inch Theodolite and Chain, and the traversed distances were tested by observed latitudes, and the angles by observations for Azimuth, usually taken at every eight miles. The type of computation used in working out my star observations is herewith appended.

Early in April I closed my Survey of the Hills, having connected with the surveyed District of Chittagong by measurements to permanent points, such as the Munna Gazee Musjid, Kalindee Ranee's pucka house, and the Rangoonia Thannah, besides the Ishamuttee River and adjoining Villages, which were surveyed for about four miles from my closing point within the District of Chittagong. The co-ordinate distances, from the origin of my Survey of the principal points, will be seen on a reference to my Map. A Survey of the Road from Daoodkandy to the Chittagong District having been called for, to connect my operations with the Dacca Survey, I left Kasalong and entered upon the Survey of the Komilla Road in the end of April. This Road has been surveyed with a 5-inch Theodolite and Chain, the distances checked by a Perambulator running simultaneously.

In addition to the Survey of the Road, a connection with the principal Tanks and Villages on the boundary of Independent Tipperah has also been effected, and will afford great facility in connecting my route Survey with the regular Survey of District Tipperah.

Before concluding my Report I would wish to place on record my sense of the good services rendered by Mohun Mitter, Native Surveyor. He has throughout the season been most zealous and indefatigable in his exertions, and I have had every reason to be satisfied with his conduct. Kadirbux, Native Surveyor, and Measurers have done their duty fairly, taking into consideration that their duties were of a nature of which they had no previous experience.

(Sd.) J. K. Moran,

Assistant Revenue Surveyor.

Dacca,
The 28th January 1861.

Report on the Topography of the portion of the Kookie Hills, surveyed during CAPTAIN RABAN'S Expedition, in February and March 1861.

THE tract of country surveyed during the Expedition under the orders of Captain Raban, lies between the parallels of 22·26' and 23·05' North Latitude, and 92· to 93· of East Longitude. Its nearest point of approach to the surveyed District of Chittagong is at Rangoonia, the closing point of my present work.

Position.

There are five great ranges of Hills named in the margin, running from the South-East to the North-West, and averaging from 450 to 2,000 feet in height. Beyond Ohe Poom to the East lie the Loong Sin Hills, inhabited by Rutton Pooceah's tribe. About twelve miles further Eastward is the great Howlong range, roughly computed to be about 4,000 feet high.

Hill Ranges.
Seetaghat.
Soobalong.
Burkul.
Saichul.
Ohe Poom.

The great extent to which water communication is open all round the year is a marked feature in these Hills; four rivers can be used throughout the year for Boats of small burthen. The minor streams are the Kaptai, Rangeeoong, and Soobalong Khals; these are deep enough to admit of grass and bamboo rafts being floated down.

Rivers.
Kurnafoolee.
Kasalong.
Chingree.
Myanee.

The average depth of water in the Kurnafoolee is 3½ feet; in the Kasalong, Chingree, and Myanee 2½ feet. The Myanee is a swift stream, flowing at the rate of three miles an hour; the rest average 2½ miles.

The Kurnafoolee is the only river affected by the tide, which serves as far as the mouth of the Kaptai Khal; above this point the downward current is not changed.

The following Table will show the distances by water, and the time taken by Country Boats to proceed to the principal points below Burkul from Chittagong* :—

Names of Places.	Distance by water.	Time.	Remarks.
Rangoonia ..	20 Miles.	6 Hours.	By Flood Tide.
Kaptai Khal	36 „	16 „	Ditto.
Rangamateea	58 „	3 Days.	In small sized Balam Boats, on the Kasalong River.
Kasalong ...	70 „	4 „
Burkul ...	81 „	5 „
Khagoorcea .	110 „	8 „

The Kurnafoolee is navigable all round the year as far as Burkul; beyond this point there are rocks in the River obstructing the channel; the fall of water over the rocks being about four feet, the rapids extend for about three quarters of a mile. According to Native report, the river is navigable, for three days' journey beyond the rapids, in a North-Easterly direction. The rocks in the channel could be removed without much difficulty as they are only light sandstone.

The source of the Kasalong River, and to what point it is navigable, remains yet to be determined. At present it is known to be navigable for seventy miles, from the Village of Kasalong, the point where it empties itself into the Kurnafoolee River.

Kasalong.

The Chingree or Cheemee River is of less importance; it is navigable for about fifty miles from its mouth at Rangamateea. The Myanee River flows into the Kasalong, about six miles above Khagoorcea, and is navigable for thirty miles upwards.

Chingree.
Myanee.

* The Gun-Boat took twelve hours to steam down the stream from Kasalong to Chittagong, and about thirty hours to go up in the month of May.

The Boats used on these rivers are of two descriptions, the larger sized are known as the Balam, the smaller are plain dug-outs hollowed from a single tree.

Rafts formed of bamboo are used for bringing down to Chittagong thatching grass and canes.

Transit in the Myanee and Kasalong Rivers is at present attended with great danger, on account of the quantity of felled timber sunk in the bed of the stream. From what I could gather from the Chukmas, it would appear that this timber belongs to Native Merchants in Chittagong, the working parties employed in floating down the wood having been driven away by a raid of the Kookies about two years ago. The timber is now gradually rotting, and if not cleared during the present year will hardly pay the expenses of removal.

No roads are to be met within any part of these Hills, nor would it be easy to construct them in a country covered with dense forests of bamboos and impenetrable cane jungle. To the North, above Khagoorcea, the country looks more promising; it is nearly level, with but slight undulations. The character of the jungle likewise changes from almost impenetrable brush-wood and thick bamboo groves to lofty trees and open glades, easily traversed by comparatively large bodies of men. Here roads could be made, and it is to be remarked that, in all the Kookie raids, the route invariably adopted passed through this valley, generally thirty or forty miles North of Burkul. The route taken by the Troops during the late Expedition led across the steepest and most rugged passes of the Joichul and Ohe Poom Hills. Thirty miles further North, and one-half of the difficulties would have been avoided. How far this valley extends in width, the limited time at my disposal prevented me from ascertaining, but I should roughly compute it to be about thirty miles. Besides the Kookie roads shewn on the Map, the only foot-path of any importance leads from Rangoonia to Rowaja Hât, and from thence to Rangamateea. It lies partly in the beds of the Ghugra Khal, and crosses the Seetagata Hills below the Para Moen Peak.

Roads and Foot-paths.

The Forest between the Kasalong and Myanee Rivers consists chiefly of Jarool and Gurjun trees; the former is extensively used in ship-building at Chittagong. Parties of wood-cutters leave for these Forests early in February every year. The timber is cut and shaped on the banks of the streams, and floated down in the rains on bamboo rafts. Chukrassee, a sort of wood suitable for household furniture, is also procurable in small quantities. In this direction bamboos are rather scarce; the description of bamboo met with is known as the "tulla bas," and differs from the ordinary bamboo of the Plains, in being thinner and more fragile; one variety is useful from its containing between the joints pure drinkable water, slightly insipid from the absence of air, but highly refreshing in the heat of the day. Canes (which are used instead of ropes and supply the place of nails in the Balam Boats) are very plentiful; large quantities are brought down to Chittagong. Long elephant grass, used for thatching, forms another source of profits to the wood-cutters, who have however to pay a heavy toll to the several Dewans of the Kalindee Ranee for the privilege of cutting wood in these forests.

Forests and Jungle.

The soil compared with the alluvial Plains of Bengal is poor; cotton is grown on the Hill tops and banks of the Kurnafoolee River. Tea, Coffee, and Oranges might be introduced with a fair prospect of success. The Hill rice grown in these parts is in great demand; the crop is however too small to admit of exportation; it is not enough for local consumption. This may be ascribed to the very primitive form in which agriculture is practised by the Kookies; the jungle, on the slope of a Hill and on the top is burnt in March and April, the surface slightly scratched with the common dao and the seed sown after the first shower of rain. After the crops are housed, the ground is left to lie fallow for at least three years, and in some places ten or twelve years elapse before it is again brought under cultivation. Higher up near the Fenny River, pepper, rice, and cotton are simultaneously sown, under the impression that the crop is protected from being washed away by the heavy autumnal rains.

Labor.

The Kookie Hills being well adapted to the growth of cotton, and affording a fair field for the introduction of European capital, the subject of labor forms an item well worthy of consideration. For the present there is an ample supply of labor to be obtained from among the Chukmas and other Hill Tribes, who pay Revenue to the Kalindee Ranee, and there can be no doubt that the settlement of Europeans with capital in the Hills would attract a large portion of the population of the Eastern ranges. Beyond the Ohe Poom range the Hills are reported to be very densely populated. It is possible, therefore, that the late raids may have been occasioned by the pressure of a surplus population, and an opening for honest labor would go a great way to restoring peace and order.

The remuneration for labor at present varies with the price of food. In the present disturbed state of the country rice is not grown in sufficient quantities to supply their own wants. Recourse is had to the Native Merchants from Chittagong, whose high prices cause a corresponding rise in wages; four annas a day was the general average rate during the past year.

Fairs and Markets.

Kasalong, Soobalong, and Rangamateea are the principal Villages where Hill cotton and coarse cloths used to be brought down to be bartered for rice, salt, gunpowder, and match-locks. For the past two years, trade with the Kookies of the Eastern ranges has, as a matter of course, come to an end. It is believed, however, that traffic is still carried on by the Fenny River. It is to be regretted that there was no opportunity of tracing this River; its position, as at present shewn on the Bengal Maps, is decidedly incorrect. I am of opinion that it runs considerably more to the North.

The price of a match-lock two years ago at Kasalong was from 18 to 25 Rupees, and English gunpowder at 3-8 a Canister.

Tribes.

The portion of the Kookie Hills under remark is inhabited by three principal Tribes, known as Chukmas, Tipuras, Reangs and Susai; the principal Zemindar is the Kalindee Ranee, who has been invested with the power of deciding all petty cases, serious affrays and complaints being referable to the Superintendent of Hill Tribes. The Kalindee Ranee resides at Rangoonia; her principal Dewans are at Kasalong and Rangamateea. The Chukmas speak a sort of mongrel Bengalee, and assimilate more in manners, and even in features, to the Bengallee than the other Hill Tribes. The Language.

Tipmas speak Burmese, and are evidently of Burmese descent; they profess a corrupt form of the Buddist faith, and are the only Hill Tribe who have any religious belief at all. The Lusais have a dialect of their own, which is more or less intelligible all over the Hills. A vocabulary of words, and a few English sentences translated into Kookie, is herewith appended.

Manners and Customs.

The Hill-men are of middle height, and strongly built; they appear to have no caste or religion, nor could I ascertain the existence of any belief in a future state. Marriage is performed by mutual consent, and the payment of a rather large sum of money to the relations of the bride. The Dewan of the tribe has also to be heavily paid, the whole expense seldom falling short of 100 Rupees, even for the poorest Chukma. When a death takes place, the whole Village turns out weeping, the corpse is washed, flowers put on his breast, a dish of rice is prepared, and the wife or nearest female relative raises the dead man to a sitting posture, and embracing him places a few grains of rice between his lips; he is then carried to the banks of the River and burnt. A cloth, curiously punctured in fine holes, giving it at a distance the appearance of fine damask work, is hung on a long bamboo and the ceremony is over.

(Signed) J. K. MORAN,
Assistant Revenue Surveyor.

FROM CAPTAIN H. RABAN, late Commanding Military Police Force, Eastern Frontier, to LIEUTENANT-COLONEL THUILLIER, Surveyor-General of India,—(dated the 18th May 1861.)

SIR,—As the Expedition against the Kookie Tribes in the Chittagong Frontier has now, as far as I am concerned, come to an end, I think it right to bring specially to your notice the services rendered by Mr. Moran, of the Survey Department, attached to the Expedition.

2. During our advance into the heart of the hostile country, the necessary rapidity of our movements, and the difficulty of the country itself, rendered it impossible to carry on any Survey in regular form, but all that was possible was, I believe, accomplished by Mr. Moran, who, in every occasion, showed himself most anxious to carry out the views under which he was sent to accompany the Expedition.

3. Subsequently, Mr. Moran undertook a Survey of a considerable portion of the Kasalong River, and of other tributaries of the Kurnafoolee, in a country hitherto quite unexplored; and I feel no doubt that you will be fully satisfied with the results which he has been able to attain, under very difficult circumstances, and with limited means.

4. In my opinion, speaking of course quite unprofessionally, Mr. Moran has shewn himself exceedingly well fitted for Survey operations in a very difficult country, and under exceptional and difficult circumstances.

From H. BELL, ESQ., Under-Secretary to the Government of Bengal, to the Surveyor-General of India,—(dated the 24th July 1861.)

SIR,—I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 26, dated the 6th instant, submitting the Report of Mr. Moran, Assistant Revenue Surveyor, of the result of his operations while on deputation with the recent Military Expedition, under Command of Captain Raban, into the Hill Tracts lying between the Districts of Tipperah and Chittagong.

2. In reply I am desired to state that the Lieutenant-Governor has perused Mr. Moran's Report with much interest, and considers that that gentleman has performed the duty with which he was entrusted in a highly satisfactory and creditable manner.

3. The Report will be published in the Calcutta Gazette, and the Map which accompanied it should be lithographed as proposed by you.

4. In respect to the further Survey operations, which the Commissioner of Chittagong proposes to carry out next cold season, I am desired to state that as it is very desirable that an explanatory Survey of these Hills should be made next season, and, as Mr. Moran is so manifestly the proper man for the duty, the Lieutenant-Governor is of opinion that he should be employed upon it, notwithstanding the inconvenience which may thereby be entailed upon your Department in conducting the regular Survey.

Bombay Mechanics' Building Company.

Extract of the Report of the Directors of the Bombay Mechanics' Building Company at the Third Annual General Meeting held on the 14th June 1861.

1. IN meeting the Proprietors at this the Annual General Meeting, the Directors have the pleasure to congratulate them on the completion of the first block of Building, affording accommodation for six families and eighteen single men. For the family apartments, consisting of four rooms, cook-rooms, &c., the Board have adopted the following rates per mensem, viz: Rupees 50, Rupees 55, and Rupees 60 respectively, for the basement, first and second floors; and for the bachelors' apartments, consisting of two rooms, cook-room, &c., Rupees 25 for the basement floor, and Rupees 30 for the two upper floors. Four of the double sets of rooms, and five of the single sets, are already let, and the Directors have no reason to apprehend that the remainder will continue long unoccupied.

2. The Company was formed on the 7th April 1858, with a view to provide house accommodation for European Mechanics, and others of this class, in a more healthy part of the Island, than hitherto frequented by them, about Mazagon, Khetwady, and Calcadavie.

3. The Directors having invited public attention to the objects of the Company, which, while giving a remunerative return for money invested, would at the same time confer a great benefit on a section of the community, the 4,000 Shares of which the Company consisted were all taken up, but the deposit was paid by only 131 Shareholders on 2,869 Shares, and subsequently 38 Shareholders, holding 699 shares, did not respond to the calls, and their Shares have been declared forfeited; therefore the Company now consists of 91 Shareholders, holding 2,170 Shares fully paid up.

4. The site selected for the Building was the plot of ground at the junction of the Mount and Parell roads, and lying immediately North of the Estate known as Fox Hall. The ground is conveniently situated with regard to the Railway Works at Byculla and the Dock-yards at Mazagon, and, moreover, has the advantage of affording free ventilation to a Building so constructed as to command the prevailing winds.

5. The Directors have to acknowledge the ready co-operation of Government in the cause of the Company, but as the ground which they were about to acquire formed part of an estate called the Mount Estate that had reverted to Government by lapse of time, and as a dispute about the value of some buildings thereon had been referred for settlement by arbitration, there was some delay in obtaining possession of the ground, and the Company did not occupy it until the month of December 1859. This delay was the first serious annoyance with which the Directors had to deal; the next was the death, on the 11th January 1860, of Mr. Wyse, the Contractor, to whom the Contract had been let only six weeks previously. The Directors were accordingly obliged to invite fresh tenders, and on the 14th February 1860 accepted the joint tender of Ookajee Lingoo and Baba Hasson for the sum of Rupees 1,06,440.

6. The original Design for a Mechanics' Building was prepared by Mr. Dempsey, a Civil Engineer of acknowledged ability, but the Design was not only too capacious and too grand, but unsuitable for a tropical climate. Mr. Corfield, then on the Direction, solicited Colonel North, of the Engineers, to prepare another Design, with Specification and Estimate, and these constitute the basis of the present structure. The Directors only now know some trivial objections in this Design, which may easily be removed in any new block that may be constructed. The Directors will not allow this opportunity to pass without expressing their thanks to Colonel North for the valuable assistance he has thus rendered to the Company.

7. The Company is much indebted to A. K. Corfield, Esquire, J. J. Lowndes, Esquire, and John Fleming, Esquire, for the interest they have evinced in the concerns of the Company during their stay in India, and while holding office as Directors.

8. The Directors have passed to a Reserve Fund the sum of Rupees 4,413, arising out of payments on forfeited Shares.

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL OF INDIA.

THE 10TH AUGUST 1861.

THE following Bill, as settled in Committee of the whole Council, was ordered to be published for general information, and to be re-considered after six weeks :—

A Bill to extend Act XXIII of 1840 (for executing within the local limits of the jurisdiction of Her Majesty's Courts legal process issued by Authorities in the Mofussil.)

WHEREAS it is expedient to extend the provisions of Act XXIII of 1840 (for executing within the local limits of the jurisdiction of Her Majesty's Courts legal process issued by Authorities in the Mofussil) : It is enacted as follows :— Preamble.

I. The said Act XXIII of 1840 shall be read as if the words "any Court of Judicature established by Royal Charter or by Royal Letters Patent" were mentioned therein, instead of the words "Supreme Courts of Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay." Provided that no writ, warrant, or other process shall be endorsed under the said Act by any Court of Judicature of the Settlement of Prince of Wales' Island, Singapore, and Malacca so as to compel the attendance beyond the limits of the jurisdiction of such Court of Judicature of any person living within such limits, unless special grounds be proved to the satisfaction of the Judge of such Court to whom such endorsement shall be applied for, in support of the application, which grounds shall be recorded in the endorsement of the writ, warrant, or other process. Extension of Act. Proviso.

II. Any Summons, Bill in Equity, or other process issued to commence a suit or action at common Law or in Equity or on the Ecclesiastical Side by any Supreme Court or Court established by Royal Letters Patent in any part of the territories that are or shall be vested in Her Majesty by the Statute 21 and 22 Vic. c. 106, entitled "An Act for the better Government of India," may be served within the local jurisdiction of any other such Court if endorsed for service by a Judge of such other Court as hereinafter provided. The Summons, Bill in Equity, or other process intended for service shall be accompanied by a certificate annexed thereto, signed by a Judge of the Court from which the same is issued, stating some special cause why such Summons, Bill in Equity, or other process should be served within the jurisdiction of some other such Court as aforesaid, and application shall be made to a Judge of such other Court, on production of such Summons, Bill in Equity, or other process, and of such certificate, prior to such service thereof. On such application being made, it shall be in the discretion of such Judge to require proof by affidavit, or otherwise that it is proper to allow such service, and on hearing such proof such Judge shall either endorse the Summons, Bill in Equity, or other process for service, or shall endorse thereon the reason for not ordering the service thereof. If such Summons, Bill in Equity, or other process be not endorsed for service as aforesaid, it shall not be served under this Act. When endorsed for service it shall be served in the same manner as if it had originally issued out of the Court in which such endorsement is made. Service of process issued by one Supreme Court, to commence a suit or action within the local jurisdiction of another Supreme Court.

Notifications.—The following further Decisions of Her Majesty's Commissioners, on points connected with the management of the International Exhibition to be held in London in the year 1862, are published for general information :—

INTERNATIONAL EXHIBITION OF WORKS OF INDUSTRY AND ART TO BE HELD IN LONDON IN 1862.

HER MAJESTY'S COMMISSIONERS :

THE EARL GRANVILLE, K. G., Lord President of the Council.

THE MARQUIS OF CHANDOS.

THOMAS BARING, ESQ., M. P.

C. WENTWORTH DILKE, ESQ.

THOMAS FAIRBAIRN, ESQ.

F. R. SANDFORD, ESQ., Secretary.

DECISIONS OF HER MAJESTY'S COMMISSIONERS ON POINTS RELATING TO THE EXHIBITION.

June 1861.

1. Her Majesty's Commissioners have fixed upon Thursday, the 1st day of May 1862, for opening the Exhibition.

2. The Exhibition building will be erected on a sight adjoining the gardens of the Royal Horticultural Society, and in the immediate neighbourhood of the ground occupied in 1851, on the occasion of the first International Exhibition.

3. The portion of the building to be devoted to the exhibition of Pictures will be erected in brick, and will occupy the entire front towards Cromwell Road; the portion in which Machinery will be exhibited will extend along Prince Albert's Road, on the west side of the gardens.

4. All works of industry to be exhibited should have been produced since 1850. The decision whether goods, proposed to be exhibited, are admissible or not, must, in each case, eventually rest with Her Majesty's Commissioners.

Subject to the necessary limitation of space, all persons, whether designers, inventors, manufacturers, or producers of articles, will be allowed to exhibit; but they must state the character in which they do so.

6. Her Majesty's Commissioners will communicate with Foreign and Colonial exhibitors only through the Commission which the Government of each Foreign Country or Colony may appoint for that purpose; and no article will be admitted from any Foreign Country or Colony without the sanction of such Commission.

7. No rent will be charged to exhibitors.

8. Every article produced or obtained by human industry, whether of Raw materials,
Machinery,
Manufactures, or Fine Arts,
will be admitted to the Exhibition, with the exception of,
Living animals and plants.
Fresh vegetable and animal substances, liable to spoil by keeping.
Detonating or dangerous substances.
Copper Caps, or other Articles of a similar nature, may be exhibited, provided the detonating powder be not inserted; also Lucifer Matches, with imitation tops.

9. Spirits or alcohols, oils, acids, corrosive salts, and substances of a highly inflammable nature, will only be admitted by special written permission, and in well secured glass vessels.

10. The articles exhibited will be divided into the following classes :—

SECTION I.

Class 1. Mining, Quarrying, Metallurgy, and Mineral Products.
„ 2. Chemical Substances and Products, and Pharmaceutical Processes.
„ 3. Substances used for Food, including Wines.
„ 4. Animal and Vegetable Substances used in Manufactures.

SECTION II.

Class 5. Railway Plant, including Locomotive Engines and Carriages.
„ 6. Carriages not connected with Rail or Tram Roads.

„ 19. Flax and Hemp.
„ 20. Silk and Velvet.
„ 21. Woollen and Worsted, including Mixed Fabrics generally.
„ 22. Carpets.
„ 23. Woven, Spun, Felted, and Laid Fabrics, when shown as specimens of Printing or Dyeing.

Class 24. Tapestry, Lace, and Embroidery.

„ 25. Skins, Fur, Feathers, and Hair.

„ 26. Leather, including Saddlery and Harness.

„ 27. Articles of Clothing.

„ 28. Paper, Stationery, Printing, and Book binding.

„ 29. Educational Works and Appliances.

„ 30. Furniture and Upholstery, including Paper-hangings and Papier-mâché.

„ 31. Iron and General Hardware.

„ 32. Steel and Cutlery.

„ 33. Works in Precious Metals, and their imitations, and Jewellery.

„ 34. Glass.

„ 35. Pottery.

„ 36. Manufactures not included in previous classes.

SECTION IV.—MODERN FINE ARTS.

(See Decisions 111-123.)

Class 37. Architecture.

„ 37. Paintings in Oil and Water Colours, and Drawings.

„ 39. Sculpture, Models, Dye-sinking, and Intaglios.

„ 40. Etchings and Engravings.

11. Prizes, or rewards for merit, in the form of medals, will be given in Sections I., II., III.

12. Prices may be affixed to the articles exhibited in Sections I., II., III.

13. Her Majesty's Commissioners will be prepared to receive all articles which may be sent to them, on or after Wednesday, the 12th of February, and will continue to receive goods until Monday, the 31st of March 1862, inclusive.

14. Articles of great size or weight, the placing of which will require considerable labor, must be sent before Saturday, the 1st of March 1862; and manufacturers wishing to exhibit machinery, or other objects, that will require foundations or special constructions, must make a declaration to that effect on their demands for space.

15. Any exhibitor whose goods can properly be placed together, will be at liberty to arrange such goods in his own way, provided his arrangement is compatible with the general scheme of the Exhibition, and the convenience of other exhibitors.

16. Where it is desired to exhibit processes of manufacture, a sufficient number of articles, however dissimilar, will be admitted for the purpose of illustrating the process: but they must not exceed the number actually required. (17—25.)*

26. Exhibitors will be required to deliver their goods at such part of the building as shall be indicated to them, with the freight, carriage, porterage, and all charges and dues upon them paid.

27. The vans will be unloaded, and the articles and packages taken to the places appointed in the building, by the Officers of Her Majesty's Commissioners.

28. Upon receipt of notice from Her Majesty's Commissioners, that the articles are deposited in the building, exhibitors, or their representatives, or agents, must themselves unpack, put together, and arrange their goods.

29. Packing cases must be removed at the cost of the exhibitors or their agents, as soon as the goods are examined and deposited in charge of the Commissioners. If not removed within three days of notice being given, they will be disposed of, and the proceeds, if any, applied to the funds of the Exhibition. (30—34.)*

35. No counters, or fittings, will be provided by Her Majesty's Commissioners. Exhibitors will be permitted, subject only to the necessary general regulations, to erect, according to their own taste, all the counters, stands, glass frames, brackets, awnings, hangings, or similar contrivances which they may consider best calculated for the display of their goods.

36. Exhibitors, or their representatives, should provide whatever light temporary covering may be requisite (such as sheets of oiled calico), to protect their goods from dust; and, in the case of machinery and polished goods, should make the requisite arrangements for keeping the articles free from rust during the time of the Exhibition. (37—42.)*

43. Exhibitors must be at the charge of insuring their own goods, should they desire this security. Every precaution will be taken to prevent fire, theft, or other losses, and Her Majesty's Commissioners will give all the aid in their power for the legal prosecution of any persons guilty of robbery or wilful injury in the Exhibition, but they will not be responsible for losses or damage of any kind which may be occasioned by fire or theft, or in any other manner.

44. Exhibitors may employ assistants (male or female) to keep in order the articles they exhibit, or to explain them to visitors, after obtaining written permission from Her Majesty's Commissioners; but such assistants will be forbidden to invite visitors to purchase the goods of their employers. (45—49.)*

50. Articles once deposited in the Building will not be permitted to be removed without written permission from Her Majesty's Commissioners. (51—54.)*

55. Her Majesty's Commissioners will provide shafting, steam (not exceeding 30 lbs. per inch), and water, at high pressure, for machines in motion.

56. Persons who may wish to exhibit machines or trains of Machinery, in motion, will be allowed to have them worked, as far as practicable, under their own superintendence, and by their own men. (57—70.)*

70. Intending exhibitors, in the United Kingdom, are requested to apply, without delay, to the Secretary to Her Majesty's Commissioners, for a Form of Demand for Space, stating at the same time in which of the four Sections they wish to exhibit.

* Several numbers are left blank with the view of incorporating future decisions.

71. The following is the Form which has to be filled up:—

1. Name and Christian name of applicant (or name of firm).

2. Nature of business carried on.

3. Address. { No. of Street or Square, &c., and Name of Town.

4. Nature of articles to be exhibited.

5. Number of Class in which they are to be exhibited.

Floor Space.

6. Probable Space that will be required for articles or case in which they will be shown ...

Length	...	feet.
Breadth	...	feet.
Height	...	feet.
Hanging or Wall Space.
Height	...	feet.
Width	...	feet.

100. Foreign and Colonial exhibitors should apply to the Commission, or other Central Authority appointed by the Foreign or Colonial Government, as soon as notice has been given of its appointment.

101. Her Majesty's Commissioners will consider that to be the Central Authority in each case which is stated to be so by the Government of its country, and will only communicate with Exhibitors through such Central Body.

102. No articles of foreign manufacture, to whomsoever they may belong, or wheresoever they may be, can be admitted for exhibition, except with the sanction of the Central Authority of the country of which they are the produce. Her Majesty's Commissioners will communicate to such Central Authority the amount of space which can be allowed to the productions of the country for which it acts, and will also state the further conditions and limitations which may from time to time be decided on with respect to the admission of articles. All articles forwarded by such Central Authority will be admitted, provided they do not require a greater aggregate amount of space than that assigned to the country from which they come; and, provided also, that they do not violate the general conditions and limitations. It will rest with the Central Authority in each country to decide upon the merits of the several articles presented for exhibition, and to take care that those which are sent are such as fairly represent the industry of their fellow countrymen.

103. Separate space will be allotted to each Foreign Country, within which the Commissioners for that country will be at liberty to arrange the productions entrusted to them in such manner as they think best, subject to the condition that all Machinery shall be exhibited in the portion of the Building specially devoted to that purpose, and all Pictures in the Fine Art Galleries, and to the observance of any general rules that may be laid down by Her Majesty's Commissioners for public convenience.

104. By arrangements made with Her Majesty's Government, all Foreign or Colonial Goods intended for exhibition, sent and addressed in accordance with the Regulations laid down by Her Majesty's Commissioners of Customs, as set forth in Article 108, will be admitted in to the country, and allowed to be transmitted to the Exhibition Building without being previously opened, and without payment of any duty. But all Goods which shall not be re-exported at the termination of the exhibition will be charged with the proper duties, under the ordinary Customs' Regulations.

106. Every article sent separately, and every package must be legibly marked with the name of the foreign country or colony of which it is the produce or manufacture, and, as far as practicable, with the name of the exhibitor or exhibitors.

107. The following is the Form of Address which should be adopted:—

To The Commissioners for the Exhibition of 1862.
BUILDING SOUTH KENSINGTON, LONDON.
From [state Country, and Exhibitor's name.]

To prevent loss, miscarriage, or mislaying, articles or packing cases containing them, which occupy less bulk than two cubic feet, should not be sent separately, but packages under such size containing, as far as possible, the same classes of articles, should be transmitted in combination.

108. Her Majesty's Commissioners of Customs have laid down the following regulations upon the importation of goods intended for the Exhibition:—

a. All packages containing goods intended for the International Exhibition of 1862 shall be specially reported as such, and shall be addressed to the Commissioners of the International Exhibition, or to one of their Officers, and be consigned to a duly accredited agent, and shall be accompanied with a specification of their contents and value. They shall be separately entered as intended for the International Exhibition, and the agents in passing their entries shall be specify the full contents of the packages, together with the value.

b. Such packages as may be landed in London shall be forwarded unopened to the Exhibition in charge of an approval licensed cartman, accompanied by a cart note from the landing officer, giving a description of the packages and the marks and numbers thereon; and in cases where there may be reason to suppose they contain other goods than those for the Exhibition they shall also be accompanied by a Revenue Officer.

c. Packages landed at the out-ports shall be forwarded with a similar note by railway or other public conveyance, under seals of office, direct to the Exhibition, the officers at the respective ports taking care that the packages bear no private address, and that the documents relating thereto be immediately forwarded to the proper officers of Her Majesty's Customs stationed at the Exhibition.

d. On the arrival of the goods at the Exhibition, no package shall be opened without the knowledge and consent of the officer of Customs, and if the goods be found to agree with the entry or specification, they will, if free, be at once considered as out of charge of the Customs, the entry or declaration being deemed sufficient for all statistical purposes.

e. In the case of all dutiable goods, an account will be taken by the officers of the Crown at the time of the first opening of the packages, but such deficiencies as may occur within the building from any legitimate or unavoidable cause, the officers being fully satisfied thereof, shall not be charged with duty.

f. That the building be considered, for all practical purposes, a "bonded warehouse;" and that in all cases where dutiable goods shall not be exported, but retained for use in this country, the duty shall be assessed by the officer in charge at the building (and received in the Exhibition by a clerk duly appointed for the purpose), in accordance with the practice now existing in regard to articles found in "passengers' baggage."

g. In the case of dutiable goods for exportation, an entry shall be passed in the Long Room, and bond given for their due exportation; and, on the receipt of this entry by the officer in charge of the building the goods shall be packed in his presence, and, if for shipment at an outport, placed under seal, and forwarded in charge to a railway or other public company; but if for shipment in London they shall then be sent in charge of Customs Officers, at the expense of the exporter, to be delivered into the charge of the searcher of the station from which they are to be shipped, without further examination, under the regulations applicable to goods shipped direct from the warehouse.

109. It is not the intention of Her Majesty's Commissioners to take any steps in reference to the protection of Inventions or Designs, by Patent or Registration, the law on these points having been materially simplified since 1851.

DECISIONS SPECIALLY APPLICABLE TO

Section IV.—Modern Fine Arts.

Class 37. Architecture.

„ 38. Paintings in Oil and Water Colours and Drawings.

„ 39. Sculpture, Models, Dye-sinking and Intaglios.

„ 40. Engravings and Etchings.

110. The object of the Exhibition being to illustrate the progress and present condition of Modern Art, each country will decide the period of Art which in its own case will best attain that end.

111. The Exhibition of British Art in this Section will include the works of artist alive on or subquent to the 1st of May 1862.

112. It is not proposed to award Prizes in this Section.

113. Prizes will not be allowed to be affixed to any Work of Art exhibited in this Section.

114. One half of the space to be allotted to Section IV. will be given to Foreign Countries, and one half will be reserved for the works of British and Colonial Artists.

115. The subdivision of the space allotted to Foreign Countries will be made, after consideration of the demands received from the Commission, or other Central Authority, of each Foreign Country. It is therefore important that these demands should be transmitted to Her Majesty's Commissioners at the earliest possible date.

116. The arrangement of the Works of Art within the space allotted to each Foreign Country will be entirely under the control of the accredited representatives of that country, subject only to the necessary general regulations.

117. For the purposes of the Catalogue, it will be necessary that the Central Authority of each Foreign Country should furnish Her Majesty's Commissioners, on or before the 1st of January 1862, with a description of the several Works of Art which will be sent for exhibition specifying in each case, the name of the artist, the title of the work, and (when possible) the date of its production.

118. The space at the disposal of Her Majesty's Commissioners for the display of British Art being limited and it being at the same time desirable to bring together as careful and perfect an illustration as possible, a selection of the works to be exhibited will be indispensable.

119. The selection of Exhibitors, the space and number of works to be allowed to each, and the arrangement of them will be entrusted to Committees to be nominated by Her Majesty's Commissioners.

120. In the case of living artists, Her Majesty's Commissioners would desire to consult the wishe of the artists themselves as to the particular works by which they would prefer to be represented. The selection of works so made by the artists will not necessarily be binding upon Her Majesty's Commissioners, but in no case will any work by a living artist be exhibited against his wish, if expressed in writing, and delivered to the Commissioners on or before the 31st of March 1862.

121. Her Majesty's Commissioners will avail themselves of the following eight Art Institutions of this country in communicating with artists who are members of those Institutions, viz.:—

The Royal Academy.
The Royal Scottish Academy.
The Royal Hibernian Academy.
The Society of Painters in Water Colours.
The Society of British Artists.
The New Society of Painters in Water Colours.
The Institute of British Artists.
The Institute of British Architects.

122. Intending Exhibitors in the British Division of Section IV., who are not members of any of the preceding Institutions, may at once receive Forms of Demand for Space, by applying to the Secretary to Her Majesty's Commissioners. These Forms must be filled up and returned before the 1st of June 1861.

By Order,

F. R. SANDFORD,

Secretary.

MILITARY DEPARTMENT.

Fort William, the 19th August 1861.

No. 722 of 1861.—The following paragraphs of a Military letter from the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State for India, No. 278 of the 8th July 1861, are published for general information:—

"1. Since the date of my Despatch* No. 238, I have received a communication from the Secretary of State for War, enclosing a letter from the Principal Veterinary Surgeon, Woolwich, who, with reference to the doubt expressed in your Military letter No. 41, dated 2nd April last, as to the practicability of examining Veterinary Surgeons in India, in order to test their fitness for promotion, expresses an opinion that it is very desirable that if the Royal Warrant of 1st July 1859 be adopted, it should be fully carried out, and states that no difficulty was encountered in doing so, in the cases of the 2nd and 6th Dragoon Guards, both in India, the examinations being written and carried on confidentially between the Officer in Command of the Regiment and himself.

* 7th June 1861.

"2. Lord Herbert concurs in the opinion that no sufficient ground has been shewn for a modification of Clause 3 of the Warrant requiring Veterinary Surgeons to be examined as applied to India.

"3. Under the new organization of the Army in India, there will henceforth be no Regimental employment for Veterinary Surgeons of the Local Service, but those now in the service may be promoted under the Royal Warrant of 1st July 1859, their examinations being conducted by means of written questions prepared by the Principal Veterinary Surgeon in this country, in the mode above described.

"4. In carrying out this arrangement, a list of the Veterinary Surgeons, who have served the required periods for promotion, should be sent Home from time to time, in order that the examination questions may be prepared and transmitted to India."

This cancels the decision communicated in letter from the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State for India, dated 7th June last, published in Government General Order No. 625, of the 16th July 1861.

No. 723 of 1861.—Lieutenant-Colonel W. A. J. Mayhew having re-joined from leave of absence has this day resumed his duties as Adjutant General of the Army.

No. 724 of 1861.—1. Consequent on the reduction in the strength of the Army, the following reductions and modifications of the Ordnance Establishments of this Presidency will be carried out as early as practicable, under the orders of the Inspector General of Ordnance and Magazines.

2. The Ordnance, Magazines and Depôts at the following Stations will be abolished :—

8. The Establishments to be allotted to each Arsenal and Magazine will be arranged by the Inspector General of Ordnance and Magazines, with reference to their respective requirements and the Troops dependent on each. He will inform the Pay Department of the allotment made, and of all changes that may be ordered from time to time.

9. Extra temporary Establishments when required will be entertained in the manner prescribed by existing Regulations; the total amount provided for and sanctioned in the Annual Estimates not being exceeded.

10. Warrant Officers in excess of the revised Establishment will remain as Supernumeraries in the Ordnance Department, but until such Supernumeraries are absorbed promotions in each grade will take place on the occasion of every second vacancy.

11. The reduction in the Staff salary of permanent Conductors of the higher grade is only to affect men hereafter appointed, and this class will be eligible to the charge of Arsenal and Magazine Workshops.

12. Such Artificer Sergeants as will become Supernumerary will be transferred with their present Staff salaries to the grades of Park and Magazine Sergeants when such appointments become vacant.

13. The reduction in the Native Establishments will be carried out in the following manner:—

14. All men of the Native Establishments, in excess of the numbers required who were entertained after the 1st May 1857, will be discharged.

15. Those in excess entertained before that date will remain as Supernumeraries until absorbed, but if willing to take their discharge they will be granted gratuities at the following rates:—

If above 20 years' service, 6 months' pay.
Ditto 15 Ditto 4 Ditto.

16. In carrying out the gradations in the rates of pay to be hereafter allowed to Sirdars, Lascars, and Artificers, the pay of men above ten years' service will not be reduced.

17. Men under ten years' service who, by the new organization, would, with reference to their qualifications, come under the Second Class, but are unwilling to accept the reduced rate of pay for that grade will be discharged.

18. The higher rates of pay sanctioned for certain grades of the Native Establishments are not to be drawn in any case until qualified men are recommended by Commissaries of Ordnance and approved by the Inspector General of Ordnance and Magazines; and no Blacksmith or Carpenter Mistries are to be appointed on the higher rates of pay in any Magazine until the Artificer Sergeant of that denomination has been absorbed.

19. In cases where the present Artificer Mistries or Mates do not possess the qualifications that would entitle them to receive the higher salary they will be allowed to serve as workmen on their present pay.

20. Office Writers, in excess of the number required, will be discharged, but any men possessing special claims from long service and good character will be brought to the notice of Government.

21. His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief is requested to place the Ordnance, Ammunition, and Stores constituting the Armament of the Forts detailed in the margin, under the orders of the Senior Artillery Officer on the spot, a Park Sergeant and four Lascars will be allowed to assist in the duties connected with each of these charges.

He will keep an account of the Stores and prepare the Half-yearly Returns which will be verified and countersigned by the Officer Commanding the Artillery before transmission to the Ordnance Department Examiner.

23. Duly qualified Non-Commissioned Officers from the present Ordnance Establishments, who are in excess of the reduced strength, will be posted as Supernumeraries to the Artillery Companies required to provide Park Sergeants, with the view of their receiving the first appointments.

24. The Lascars required for these duties will also be provided in the first instance from existing Ordnance Establishments.

25. The Siege Trains to be hereafter kept up in Arsenals and Magazines are fixed as follows:—

	Date of Arrival at Fort William.
Colonel H. M. Durand, C. B., of the Corps of Engineers ..	12th Aug. 1861.

No. 729 of 1861.—1. It having been determined to withdraw Military Guards from the duties of ordinary watchmen, and to re-place them by Constabulary Policemen or special watchmen, their expenses being borne by the several Military Departments employing them, His Excellency the Governor General in Council is pleased to direct that monthly Contingent Bills shall be submitted by the Heads of Departments employing such Police or watchmen, and that the Bills shall be supported by the vouchers of the Officers supplying the Police Constables or watchmen, and by the declaration of the Officers who hire them, that they have been employed for the period for which pay is drawn, and that this course is the most efficient and economical. The Heads of Departments will send in their Bills in the form laid down by the Military Finance Department to the Divisional Pay Masters, who will disburse the amounts if properly vouched for.

2. With the first series of Bills, Heads of Departments are to submit a Report to the Controller of Military Finance, stating in clear and distinct terms the nature and extent of the Guard previously furnished, for what specific purpose furnished, the nature and extent of property to be protected, and the nature of the protection intended to be afforded, and explaining fully the necessity of such a Guard, and further declaring whether by better and improved arrangements the protection by Guards could not be dispensed with, and whether the watching by Police Constabulary or hired watchmen is still requisite, and is effected in the most economical manner.

3. Officers applying for Guards, in making their requisition, are to state the strength of the Police Guards they may require, but in cases where the Officer of Police dissents from the strength named, the Officers requiring will be allowed the option of hiring watchmen or of appealing to their Departmental superiors on the question of the strength of the Guards.

4. The Military Finance Department is charged with the duty of issuing subsidiary orders to give effect to the above order.

No. 730 of 1861.—The under-mentioned Officer is permitted to proceed to Europe on Furlough on private affairs :—

Lieutenant Colonel Craven Hildesley Dickens, of the Regiment of Artillery, on special duty under the Public Works Department of Bengal ...	For two years, under the new Regulations.

No. 731 of 1861.—With reference to Government General Order No. 683, of the 26th June 1855, which prescribed the course to be observed in issuing No Demand Certificates, and adverting to the changes introduced with the new system of Military Finance, it is directed that in cases where the Military Auditor General (now Controller of Military Finance,) has hitherto countersigned No Demand Certificates in the Pay Branch of his Department, the Examiners in that Department shall in future countersign the Certificates, and on the Countersignature of the Pay and other Departmental Examiners, the Military Accountant will finally pass the No Demand Certificate to the applicant, as directed in paragraph 2 of the above quoted Order.

No. 732 of 1861.—The following promotion and appointment in the Topographical Branch of the Survey Department are sanctioned from the dates specified, viz. :—

Mr. Henry McArthur Atkinson, from Third to Second Class Sub-Assistant, from 1st May 1861.

Opium Notification.

NOTICE is hereby given that the Ninth Sale of Opium, the provision of 1859-60, will be held at the Exchange Hall, on Wednesday, the 4th of September 1861, at 11 A. M., and will comprise 1,780 Chests, viz:—

Behar Opium	...	...	...	1,220
Benares „	...	...	...	560
Total Chests	...			1,780

2. The general Conditions of the Sale now advertised will be the same as usual. They may be ascertained by reference to the Notification issued on the 10th November 1860, and published in the Government and Exchange Gazettes, or on application at the Office of the Board of Revenue.

3. The latest dates for deposit and clearance will be the 9th and 19th September 1861 respectively, that is to say, no Sub-Treasurer's Receipts, Company's Paper, or other Public Securities that may be tendered for deposit in redemption of Promissory Notes given by purchasers at the Sale, will be received after 4 P. M. of Monday, the 9th September 1861, and no Treasury Receipts in full payment of Lots will be accepted after 4 P. M. of Thursday, the 19th September 1861.

4. In addition to the quantity above advertised for sale, the following quantities, more or less, of Behar and Benares Opium of 1859-60, will be brought to sale in the present year on or about the dates specified below. The Board, however, reserve to themselves the right of altering these dates should circumstances render it expedient to do so:—

By Order of the Board of Revenue,

H. B. DEVEREUX,
Offg. Junior Secretary.

FORT WILLIAM,
The 1st August 1861.

Notice.

Opium.

UNDER the Board's Notice No. 236, dated the 28th May last, there will be, after the conclusion of the Sale of the 4th September next, a re-sale, at the risk of the first purchasers, of 25 Lots or 125 Chests of Behar Opium, being the Lots numbered 198 to 222 of the Sale of the 8th May last, for which full payment had not been made within the period prescribed in the 8th Clause of the Sale Conditions.

By Order of the Board of Revenue,

H. B. DEVEREUX,
Offg. Junior Secretary.

FORT WILLIAM,
The 12th August 1861.

Notice.

THE Officiating Superintendent of Stationery will receive sealed Tenders up to the 16th December next for the supply of the under-mentioned articles to the Government Stationery Store during the ensuing year.

The quantities given are estimated to complete a year's stock. It is probable, however, that some alterations in the present figures will have to be made, but at the time of Contract the Officiating Superintendent will state the actual quantities required and fix the periods for the delivery of the Stationery.

Each Tender must be accompanied by samples. The samples of paper should be of not less than two full sheets of each size and quality tendered. Of the Blank Books, it will be sufficient to submit one bound book shewing the quality of paper and binding.

It is desirable that Tenders should comprise all the articles grouped under one Contract as below; but a Tender otherwise acceptable will not be rejected on account of its omission to include all the articles of the group.

The parties whose Tenders shall be accepted will be required to furnish Security or to deposit (10) ten per cent on the amount of their Contracts as a pledge for their due fulfilment, and in the event of any dispute as to the quality of the goods tendered, or on any other point arising out of the Contracts, the decision of the Board of Revenue shall be held final.

Further information, if required, may be obtained from the Officiating Superintendent of Stationery.

To any person who shall produce, on or before the 1st May 1862, an approved Essay on the culture of Cotton in India from Foreign Seed, the sum of one thousand Rupees, and the Gold Medal of the Manchester Cotton Supply Association.

RULES FOR COMPETITION.

1. The Essay must be of a practical character, containing the results of the Writer's own observations or experiments, and not merely a compilation from books.

2. The copyright of the Essay, to which a premium shall be awarded, shall become the property of the Society, for publication in their Journal or otherwise.

3. The Society are not bound to award a prize, unless they consider the Essay deserving of it.

4. In all reports of experiments, the expenses shall be as accurately detailed as practicable.

5. The pound avoirdupois and the Company's Rupee are the only weight and currency in which calculations are to be made.

A. H. BLECHYNDEN,
Secretary.

By Order of the Board of Revenue,

H. B. DEVEREUX,

Offg. Junior Secretary.

FORT WILLIAM,
The 12th August 1861.

Education.

THE following Rules, for the award of Senior and Junior Scholarships in the Lower Provinces of Bengal, have received the sanction of Government, and are published for general information:—

Senior Scholarship Rules as per accompanying printed copy of the Rules.

Junior Scholarship Rules as per accompanying printed copy of the Rules.

W. S. ATKINSON,
Director of Public Instruction.

SENIOR SCHOLARSHIP RULES.

TWENTY-FOUR Senior Scholarships are open annually, to be competed for in the First Examination in Arts by Candidates educated in Colleges affiliated to the University of Calcutta.

2. These Scholarships are of two grades—nine of the First Grade with stipends of Rupees (32) thirty-two per mensem—and fifteen of the Second Grade with stipends of Rupees (27) twenty-seven per mensem.

3. With the sanction of the Director of Public Instruction, a Senior Scholarship may be held at any one of the "affiliated" Colleges, which may be selected by the holder.

4. Each Scholarship is tenable for two years, provided that due progress, under a Collegiate course of Instruction, is regularly made by the holder—a Certificate of the fact being submitted at the end of the first year by the Principal of his College.

5. The holder of a Senior Scholarship in a Non-Government Institution is liable at any time to be examined by two persons appointed by the Director of Public Instruction, and approved by the Principal of the College to which he belongs, and, on proof of unsatisfactory progress, may be deprived of his Scholarship.

6. Second year Students alone are eligible, i. e. those Students who passed the Entrance Examination two years before presenting themselves for the First Examination in Arts.

7. The nine Scholarships of the First Grade are open generally to all "affiliated" Institutions without restriction, and will be awarded to the nine Candidates who obtain the greatest number of marks in the First Examination in Arts.

8. The fifteen Scholarships of the Second Grade are reserved for the "affiliated" Institutions situated within the five Collegiate Circles of Calcutta, Hooghly, Kishnaghur, Berhampore, and Dacca—three Scholarships for each Circle—and will be awarded to the three highest Candidates from each Circle who do not gain Scholarships of the First Grade, provided their names appear in the upper two-thirds of the list of passed Candidates as determined by the marks of the Examiners. No Candidate, whose place is lower than this, will be entitled to claim a Scholarship.

The Hooghly Circle includes—
Howrah, Hooghly, 24-Pergunnahs, Baraset, Midnapore, and the Province of Orissa.

The Kishnaghur Circle includes—
Nuddea, Burdwan, Jessore, Pubna, Beerbhoom, Bancoorah, and Purulia.

The Berhampore Circle includes—
Moorshedabad, Rajshahye, Maldah, Dinagepore, Darjeeling, and the Province of Behar.

The Dacca Circle includes—
Dacca, Furreedpore, Burrisal, Chittagong, Tipperah, Sylhet, Cachar, Khasia, Mymensing, Rungpore, and Assam.

The Calcutta Circle includes—
The Town of Calcutta only.

9. Scholarships, not taken up under the preceding Rule by the Circles for which they are reserved, will be awarded to Candidates from the General List in order of merit, provided they reach the prescribed standard.

10. The holders of Scholarships in all Government Colleges are required to pay the usual monthly fees which are levied from other Students.

W. S. Atkinson,
Director of Public Instruction.

JUNIOR SCHOLARSHIP RULES.

One hundred and sixty Junior Scholarships are open annually, to be competed for in the University Entrance Examination by Candidates educated in any School in the Lower Provinces of Bengal.

2. These Scholarships are of three grades—ten of the First Grade with stipends of Rupees (18) eighteen per mensem—fifty of the Second Grade with stipends of Rupees (14) fourteen per mensem—and a hundred of the Third Grade with stipends of Rupees (10) ten per mensem.

3. With the sanction of the Director of Public Instruction, a Junior Scholarship may be held at any one of the "affiliated" Colleges which may be selected by the holder.

4. Each Scholarship is tenable for two years, provided that due progress, under a Collegiate course of Instruction, is regularly made by the holder—a Certificate of the fact being submitted at the end of the first year by the Principal of his College.

5. The holder of a Junior Scholarship in a Non-Government Institution is liable at any time to be examined by two persons appointed by the Director of Public Instruction, and approved by the Principal of the College to which he belongs, and, on proof of unsatisfactory progress, may be deprived of his Scholarship.

6. No Candidate is eligible whose age exceeded nineteen years at the time of presenting himself for the Entrance Examination.

7. No Candidate is eligible who does not pass in an oriental language.

8. The ten Scholarships of the First Grade will be awarded to the ten Candidates who obtain the greatest number of marks in the Entrance Examination.

9. The fifty Scholarships of the Second Grade are reserved for Schools situated within the five Collegiate Circles of Calcutta, Hooghly, Kishnaghur, Berhampore, and Dacca—ten Scholarships for each Circle—and will be awarded to the ten highest Candidates from each who do not gain Scholarships of the First Grade, provided their names appear in the First Division.

The Hooghly Circle includes—
Howrah, Hooghly, 24-Pergunnahs, Baraset, Midnapore, and the Province of Orissa.

The Kishnaghur Circle includes—
Nuddea, Burdwan, Jessore, Pubna, Beerbhoom, Bancoorah, and Purulia.

The Berhampore Circle includes—
Moorshedabad, Rajshahye, Maldah, Dinagepore, Darjeeling, and the Province of Behar.

The Dacca Circle includes—
Dacca, Furreedpore, Burrisal, Chittagong, Tipperah, Sylhet, Cachar, Khasia, Mymensing, Rungpore, and Assam.

The Calcutta Circle includes—
The Town of Calcutta only.

10. Fifty Scholarships of the Third Grade are similarly reserved for the five Collegiate Circles—ten for each Circle—and will be awarded to the ten highest Candidates from each who do not gain Scholarships of the First or Second Grade, provided their names appear either in the First Division or in the upper half of the Second Division.

11. Scholarships, not taken up under the two preceding rules by the Circles for which they are reserved, will be awarded to Candidates from the General List in order of merit, provided they reach the prescribed standard.

12. The remaining fifty Scholarships of the Third Grade will be awarded at the discretion of the Director of Public Instruction to Candidates who pass the Examination, and appear deserving of reward and encouragement, although they may fail to reach the standard prescribed in the foregoing rules.

13. The holders of Scholarships in all Government Colleges are required to pay the usual monthly fees which are levied from other Students, provided always that no Scholarship-holder shall be required to pay a higher fee than Rupees (5) five per mensem.

W. S. Atkinson,
Director of Public Instruction.

Orders by the Vice Chancellor and Syndicate of the Calcutta University.

PRIZE

FOR ESSAY ON COTTON CULTURE.

To any person who shall produce, on or before the 1st May 1862, an approved Essay on the culture of Cotton in India from Foreign Seed, the sum of one thousand Rupees, and the Gold Medal of the Manchester Cotton Supply Association.

RULES FOR COMPETITION.

1. The Essay must be of a practical character, containing the results of the Writer's own observations or experiments, and not merely a compilation from books.

2. The copyright of the Essay, to which a premium shall be awarded, shall become the property of the Society, for publication in their Journal or otherwise.

3. The Society are not bound to award a prize, unless they consider the Essay deserving of it.

4. In all reports of experiments, the expenses shall be as accurately detailed as practicable.

5. The pound avoirdupois and the Company's Rupee are the only weight and currency in which calculations are to be made.

Notice.

THE Officiating Superintendent of Stationery will receive sealed Tenders up to the 16th December next for the supply of the under-mentioned articles to the Government Stationery Store during the ensuing year.

The quantities given are estimated to complete a year's stock. It is probable, however, that some alterations in the present figures will have to be made, but at the time of Contract the Officiating Superintendent will state the actual quantities required and fix the periods for the delivery of the Stationery.

Each Tender must be accompanied by samples. The samples of paper should be of not less than two full sheets of each size and quality tendered. Of the Blank Books, it will be sufficient to submit one bound book shewing the quality of paper and binding.

It is desirable that Tenders should comprise all the articles grouped under one Contract as below; but a Tender otherwise acceptable will not be rejected on account of its omission to include all the articles of the group.

The parties whose Tenders shall be accepted will be required to furnish Security or to deposit (10) ten per cent on the amount of their Contracts as a pledge for their due fulfilment, and in the event of any dispute as to the quality of the goods tendered, or on any other point arising out of the Contracts, the decision of the Board of Revenue shall be held final.

Further information, if required, may be obtained from the Officiating Superintendent of Stationery.

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL OF INDIA.

THE 24TH AUGUST 1861.

THE following Act, passed by the Legislative Council of India, received the assent of the Right Honorable the Governor-General on the 20th August 1861, and is hereby promulgated for general information :—

ACT No. XXII OF 1861.

An Act to amend Act III of 1857 (relating to trespasses by Cattle)

Preamble. WHEREAS it is expedient to amend Act III of 1857 (relating to trespasses by Cattle); it is enacted as follows :—

Punishment for causing Cattle to trespass. I. Whoever with intent to cause or knowing that he is likely to cause wrongful loss or damage to any person, causes Cattle to trespass on any land or on the crop cultivated on any land, shall be punished by a Magistrate with imprisonment with or without labor for a term which may extend to three months, or with fine not exceeding two hundred Rupees, or with both.

Punishment for committing the same offence and thereby causing damage to the amount of 50 Rupees. II. Whoever commits the offence defined in the foregoing Section, and thereby causes loss or damage to the amount of fifty Rupees or upwards, shall be punished by a Magistrate with imprisonment with or without labor for a term which may extend to two years, or with fine not exceeding two hundred Rupees, or with both.

Definition of "Magistrate." III. The term "Magistrate" in the foregoing Sections shall include any Officer who, by any law for the time being in force, is competent to sentence any offender to imprisonment for the period of six months and to a fine amounting to two hundred Rupees.

Award of fine to the injured party. IV. When a fine is imposed upon a conviction for any offence under this Act, the Magistrate may order that the fine or any part thereof, not exceeding the loss appearing to be caused to any person who has suffered by such offence, be paid to such person, and in any such case the fine when levied or received shall be paid accordingly.

Proviso. No amount ordered to be paid under this Section shall be paid over to the person to whom it is awarded until the lapse of thirty days from the date of such order, unless such order shall have been sooner confirmed by an Appellate Court.

Appeal. V. Any sentence or order made in any case tried under this Act shall be subject to appeal, in like manner as the sentences or orders made by the Magistrate or other Officer aforesaid in criminal trials are subject to appeal by any law for the time being in force.

Power of seizing Cattle. VI. The power of seizing or causing to be seized any Cattle trespassing on, or doing damage to, any land or to any crop or produce thereon, conferred by Section II of the said Act III of 1857, may be exercised, subject to the provisions of the said Act, by any person who has given cash advances for the cultivation of the crop or produce on such land or to whom such crop or produce shall have been sold or mortgaged.

M. WYLIE,
Clerk of the Council.

FOREIGN DEPARTMENT.

Fort William, the 27th August 1861.

On Monday, the 26th instant, at 11 o'clock, His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor General, as Grand Master of the Most Exalted Order of the Star of India, held an Investiture of the said Order in the Throne Room of Government House for the purpose of conferring on His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, Sir Hugh Rose, G. C. B., the grant of the Dignity of the Knighthood of the Star of India, and of investing him with the Insignia of the Order.

The Civil and Military Officers of Government at the Presidency and the Principal Members of the Non-Official Community of Calcutta were invited to be present at the Ceremony.

A Guard of Honor was drawn up at the entrance of the Marble Hall and presented Arms as the Grand Master entered.

Sir Hugh Rose was conducted by the Secretary of the Order from the Council Chamber through the Marble Hall to the Dais in the Throne Room where the Grand Master received him.

The Guard of Honor presented Arms as Sir Hugh Rose entered the Marble Hall.

The Grand Master then addressed Sir Hugh Rose in the following words :—

"General Sir Hugh Rose,—I have received the "Queen's Commands to present to your Excellency "Her Majesty's grant of the Dignity of a Knight "of the Most Exalted Order of the Star of India; "an Order declared by Her Majesty to be instituted "as a public and signal testimony of Her regard for "the Princes, Chiefs and People of Her Indian Em- "pire, as a commemoration of Her resolution to take "upon Herself the Government of the British Terri- "tories in India, and as a means by which Her "Majesty may be enabled to reward conspicuous merit "and loyalty."

The Secretary of the Order then read Her Majesty's Warrant conferring on Sir Hugh Rose the dignity of the Knighthood of the Star of India, after which the Grand Master invested Sir Hugh Rose with the Insignia of the Order and presented him with the Grant from the Sovereign of the Order.

In doing this, Lord Canning added as follows :—

"I now deliver the Grant into your Excellency's "hands."

"It is the gracious intention of the Queen that "in the execution of her Commands nothing should "be omitted which may serve to testify Her Majesty's "consideration for an Officer who has by his devotion "and distinguished services merited this mark of his "Sovereign's Royal favor, and which may at the same "time tend to show all due respect and veneration for "Her Majesty's said Most Exalted Order."

"Therefore, in the presence of this Assembly sum- "moned for the purpose, I now, in the name and on "behalf of the Queen, invest your Excellency with "the Insignia of the Star of India, and I earnestly "hope that your Excellency may long live to wear on "your breast these emblems of the high honor which "Her Majesty has been graciously pleased to bestow "upon you in recognition of your great services ren- "dered to Her Crown in India."

A Royal Salute was then fired from the Ramparts of Fort William.

After this Sir Hugh Rose received the congratulations of the Viceroy and Governor General and of the high Officers of Government near the Throne.

The Grand Master then retired and the Assembly broke up.

Allahabad, the 16th August 1861.

SIRS,—HITHERTO Reports of the Civil Surgeons in cases of suspicious or violent death of wounding, &c., have been called for by the Magistrate. Inconvenience is found to arise from this practice, and you are directed, under the authority of the Lieutenant-Governor, North-Western Provinces, to call for these Reports for the future.

2. In cases of death the Report required from the Civil Surgeon should not be of the open or apparent cause of death only. The body shall be sent for post mortem examination which should extend to every part of the body. As an illustration of the necessity of this the following is an actual occurrence during this year.

3. A woman was found with her throat cut and other wounds. The murder was supposed to have been committed in furtherance of robbing the deceased. On further investigation by the European Officer proof was obtained that the woman was suspected of infidelity and was reported to have been pregnant under circumstances which would convict her of infidelity. The Civil Surgeon having been called upon to report the cause of death only, did not extend his enquiry further than was apparently necessary, and the question of pregnancy could not be solved and a most important point of evidence was lost.

4. The requisition to the Civil Surgeon will be in the following form :—

SIR,

You are requested to hold a post mortem examination on the body of _____ sent herewith, and to furnish a Report of your examination to

Your most obedient Servant,

District Superintendent.

5. Whenever it is necessary to direct attention to any particular point, a foot-note may be added, as for instance in case of poisoning a remark should be added as follows :—

"Deceased is supposed to have been destroyed by poison and your attention is requested to the determination of this point."

6. In cases of personal injury unattended with loss of life, the form of requisition now in use may be continued.

I have, &c.,

(Signed,) CHARLES DODD, Lieutenant,
Personal Assistant to Inspector General of Police, North-Western Provinces.

Education.

THE following Rules, for the award of Senior and Junior Scholarships in the Lower Provinces of Bengal, have received the sanction of Government, and are published for general information :—

W. S. ATKINSON,

Director of Public Instruction.

SENIOR SCHOLARSHIP RULES.

TWENTY-FOUR Senior Scholarships are open annually, to be competed for in the First Examination in Arts by Candidates educated in Colleges affiliated to the University of Calcutta.

2. These Scholarships are of two grades—nine of the First Grade with stipends of Rupees (32) thirty-two per mensem—and fifteen of the Second Grade with stipends of Rupees (27) twenty-seven per mensem.

3. With the sanction of the Director of Public Instruction, a Senior Scholarship may be held at any one of the "affiliated" Colleges which may be selected by the holder.

4. Each Scholarship is tenable for two years, provided that due progress, under a Collegiate course of Instruction, is regularly made by the holder—a Certificate of the fact being submitted at the end of the first year by the Principal of his College.

5. The holder of a Senior Scholarship in a Non-Government Institution is liable at any time to be examined by two persons appointed by the Director of Public Instruction, and approved by the Principal of the College to which he belongs, and, on proof of unsatisfactory progress, may be deprived of his Scholarship.

6. Second year Students alone are eligible, i. e. those Students who passed the Entrance Examination two years before presenting themselves for the First Examination in Arts.

7. The nine Scholarships of the First Grade are open generally to all "affiliated" Institutions without restriction, and will be awarded to the nine Candidates who obtain the greatest number of marks in the First Examination in Arts.

8. The fifteen Scholarships of the Second Grade are reserved for the "affiliated" Institutions situated within the five Collegiate Circles of Calcutta, Hooghly, Kishnaghur, Berhampore, and Dacca—three Scholarships for each Circle—and will be awarded to the three highest Candidates from each Circle who do not gain Scholarships of the First Grade, provided their names appear in the upper two-thirds of the list of passed Candidates as determined by the marks of the Examiners. No Candidate, whose place is lower than this, will be entitled to claim a Scholarship.

The Hooghly Circle includes—
Howrah, Hooghly, 24-Pergunnahs, Baraset, Midnapore, and the Province of Orissa.

The Kishnaghur Circle includes—
Nuddea, Burdwan, Jessore, Pubna, Beerbhoom, Bancoorah, and Purulia.

The Berhampore Circle includes—
Moorshedabad, Rajshahye, Maldah, Dinagepore, Darjeeling, and the Province of Behar.

The Dacca Circle includes—
Dacca, Furreedpore, Burrisal, Chittagong, Tipperah, Sylhet, Cachar, Khasia, Mymensing, Rungpore, and Assam.

The Calcutta Circle includes—
The Town of Calcutta only.

9. Scholarships, not taken up under the preceding Rule by the Circles for which they are reserved, will be awarded to Candidates from the General List in order of merit, provided they reach the prescribed standard.

10. The holders of Scholarships in all Government Colleges are required to pay the usual monthly fees which are levied from other Students.

W. S. ATKINSON,
Director of Public Instruction.

JUNIOR SCHOLARSHIP RULES.

ONE HUNDRED AND SIXTY Junior Scholarships are open annually, to be competed for in the University Entrance Examination by Candidates educated in any School in the Lower Provinces of Bengal.

2. These Scholarships are of three grades—ten of the First Grade with stipends of Rupees (18) eighteen per mensem—fifty of the Second Grade with stipends of Rupees (14) fourteen per mensem—and a hundred of the Third Grade with stipends of Rupees (10) ten per mensem.

3. With the sanction of the Director of Public Instruction, a Junior Scholarship may be held at any one of the "affiliated" Colleges which may be selected by the holder.

4. Each Scholarship is tenable for two years, provided that due progress, under a Collegiate course of Instruction, is regularly made by the holder—a Certificate of the fact being submitted at the end of the first year by the Principal of his College.

5. The holder of a Junior Scholarship in a Non-Government Institution is liable at any time to be examined by two persons appointed by the Director of Public Instruction, and approved by the Principal of the College to which he belongs, and, on proof of unsatisfactory progress, may be deprived of his Scholarship.

6. No Candidate is eligible whose age exceeded nineteen years at the time of presenting himself for the Entrance Examination.

7. No Candidate is eligible who does not pass in an oriental language.

8. The ten Scholarships of the First Grade will be awarded to the ten Candidates who obtain the greatest number of marks in the Entrance Examination.

9. The fifty Scholarships of the Second Grade are reserved for Schools situated within the five Collegiate Circles of Calcutta, Hooghly, Kishnaghur, Berhampore, and Dacca—ten Scholarships for each Circle—and will be awarded to the ten highest Candidates from each who do not gain Scholarships of the First Grade, provided their names appear in the First Division.

The Hooghly Circle includes—
Howrah, Hooghly, 24-Pergunnahs, Baraset, Midnapore, and the Province of Orissa.

The Kishnaghur Circle includes—
Nuddea, Burdwan, Jessore, Pubna, Beerbhoom, Bancoorah, and Purulia.

The Berhampore Circle includes—
Moorshedabad, Rajshahye, Maldah, Dinagepore, Darjeeling, and the Province of Behar.

The Dacca Circle includes—
Dacca, Furreedpore, Burrisal, Chittagong, Tipperah, Sylhet, Cachar, Khasia, Mymensing, Rungpore, and Assam.

The Calcutta Circle includes—
The Town of Calcutta only.

10. Fifty Scholarships of the Third Grade are similarly reserved for the five Collegiate Circles—ten for each Circle—and will be awarded to the ten highest Candidates from each who do not gain Scholarships of the First or Second Grade, provided their names appear either in the First Division or in the upper half of the Second Division.

11. Scholarships, not taken up under the two preceding rules by the Circles for which they are reserved, will be awarded to Candidates from the General List in order of merit, provided they reach the prescribed standard.

12. The remaining fifty Scholarships of the Third Grade will be awarded at the discretion of the Director of Public Instruction to Candidates who pass the Examination, and appear deserving of reward and encouragement, although they may fail to reach the standard prescribed in the foregoing rules.

13. The holders of Scholarships in all Government Colleges are required to pay the usual monthly fees which are levied from other Students, provided always that no Scholarship-holder shall be required to pay a higher fee than Rupees (5) five per mensem.

W. S. ATKINSON,
Director of Public Instruction.

Orders by the Vice Chancellor and Syndicate of the Calcutta University.

Notice.

THE Officiating Superintendent of Stationery will receive sealed Tenders up to the 16th December next for the supply of the under-mentioned articles to the Government Stationery Store during the ensuing year.

The quantities given are estimated to complete a year's stock. It is probable, however, that some alterations in the present figures will have to be made, but at the time of Contract the Officiating Superintendent will state the actual quantities required and fix the periods for the delivery of the Stationery.

Each Tender must be accompanied by samples. The samples of paper should be of not less than two full sheets of each size and quality tendered. Of the Blank Books, it will be sufficient to submit one bound book shewing the quality of paper and binding.

It is desirable that Tenders should comprise all the articles grouped under one Contract as below; but a Tender otherwise acceptable will not be rejected on account of its omission to include all the articles of the group.

The parties whose Tenders shall be accepted will be required to furnish Security or to deposit (10) ten per cent on the amount of their Contracts as a pledge for their due fulfilment, and in the event of any dispute as to the quality of the goods tendered, or on any other point arising out of the Contracts, the decision of the Board of Revenue shall be held final.

Further information, if required, may be obtained from the Officiating Superintendent of Stationery.

Supply of Indian Cotton to England.

Extract from the Administration Report of the Tenasserim and Martaban Provinces for the year 1860-61.

Para. 118. In consequence of the possibility of a considerable decrease in the supply of Cotton from America, the growth of Indian Cotton has been creating an enhanced interest in England of late, and the subject of Cotton cultivation though of trifling extent in these Provinces calls for some notice.

Enhanced interest taken of late in England in the growth of Indian Cotton.

119. The description of Cotton grown here is almost all of indigenous growth, (Gossypium Herbaceum) and which reaches a very fair staple. The soil on which it thrives best is the alluvial deposit left by the numerous mountain streams and rivulets on their subsidence at the close of the South-West Monsoon. It also grows very well on recent forest clearings, where often soils containing a considerable portion of peaty matter and lignite are met with, and appear very suitable for the good of the plant. It appears to thrive also, in a limestone soil, which abounds in these Provinces.

Description of Cotton grown and the soils in which it appears to thrive best.

120. The means of conveying the produce from the interior to the Port of Moulmein are excellent in the numerous streams which flow towards the place. But we want men to cultivate it. There would be no want of Buyers and Exporters in Moulmein, but there is no one to provide the article. The scanty population near Moulmein find a more profitable return for their labor in producing vegetables, fruits, and rice, the demand for which is not yet adequately supplied. The more remote inhabitants occupy themselves in felling and selling teak timber, and what Cotton is cultivated is done so chiefly by them also, but in small quantities; and which instead of increasing has been decreasing for sometime back. Cotton is also said to be a more laborious crop to raise and gather in, and more subject to injury from drought, and insects, than most other crops grown in the country.

Mode of conveyance to Port, and by whom cultivated.

121. The average produce of Cotton in Amherst Province for the last five years has been calculated as follows:—

Average produce of Cotton for the last 5 years per acre, and quantity exported.

Years.	Acres.	Maunds.
In 1856-57	325	1398
„ 1857-58	315	1354
„ 1858-59	379	1628
„ 1859-60	320	1375
„ 1860-61	211	907

An acre is estimated to yield about 4¾ maunds of Cotton, value 15 Rupees, and which when corded is sold in the Moulmein Bazars at an average of Rupees 24. The following quantities have been exported from Moulmein to Dacca, Tavoy, Mergui and Arrakan, but none that I am aware of has been sent to Europe. In 1857-58, 112,828lbs.; 1858-59, 202,158lbs.; 1859-60, 192,602lbs.; and 1860-61, 118,270lbs.

122. Several efforts have been made to induce the Burmese peasant to take to the culture of foreign Cotton, but he is most impracticable in this respect. A small quantity of Pernambuco Cotton (Gossypium Accuminatum) is grown from seed introduced some years back by Mr. Blundell and Major MacFarquhar; it appears to flourish well, but is cultivated generally about houses in a very insignificant quantity.

Foreign Cotton grown but in insignificant quantities.

FOREIGN DEPARTMENT.

FORT WILLIAM, THE 27TH AUGUST 1861.

ON Monday, the 26th instant, at 11 o'clock, His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor General, as Grand Master of the Most Exalted Order of the Star of India, held an Investiture of the said Order in the Throne Room of Government House for the purpose of conferring on His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, SIR HUGH ROSE, G. C. B., the grant of the Dignity of the Knighthood of the Star of India, and of investing him with the Insignia of the Order.

The Civil and Military Officers of Government at the Presidency and the Principal Members of the Non-Official Community of Calcutta were invited to be present at the Ceremony.

A Guard of Honor was drawn up at the entrance of the Marble Hall and presented Arms as the Grand Master entered.

SIR HUGH ROSE was conducted by the Secretary of the Order from the Council Chamber through the Marble Hall to the Dais in the Throne Room where the Grand Master received him.

The Guard of Honor presented Arms as SIR HUGH ROSE entered the Marble Hall.

The Grand Master then addressed SIR HUGH ROSE in the following words:—

"GENERAL SIR HUGH ROSE,—I have received the Queen's Commands to present "to your Excellency Her Majesty's grant of the Dignity of a Knight of the Most "Exalted Order of the Star of India; an Order declared by Her Majesty to be "instituted as a public and signal testimony of Her regard for the Princes, Chiefs "and People of Her Indian Empire, as a commemoration of Her resolution to take "upon Herself the Government of the British Territories in India, and as a means by "which Her Majesty may be enabled to reward conspicuous merit and loyalty."

The Secretary of the Order then read Her Majesty's Warrant conferring on Sir Hugh Rose the Dignity of the Knighthood of the Star of India, after which the Grand Master invested Sir Hugh Rose with the Insignia of the Order and presented him with the Grant from the Sovereign of the Order.

In doing this, Lord Canning added as follows :—

" I now deliver the Grant into your Excellency's hands."

" It is the gracious intention of the Queen that in the execution of Her " Commands nothing should be omitted which may serve to testify Her Majesty's " consideration for an Officer who has by his devotion and distinguished services " merited this mark of his Sovereign's Royal favor, and which may at the same time " tend to show all due respect and veneration for Her Majesty's said Most Exalted " Order."

" Therefore, in the presence of this Assembly summoned for the purpose, I now, " in the name and on behalf of the Queen, invest your Excellency with the " Insignia of the Star of India, and I earnestly hope that your Excellency may " long live to wear on your breast these emblems of the high honor which Her " Majesty has been graciously pleased to bestow upon you in recognition of your " great services rendered to Her Crown in India."

A Royal Salute was then fired from the Ramparts of Fort William.

After this Sir Hugh Rose received the congratulations of the Viceroy and Governor General and of the high Officers of Government near the Throne.

The Grand Master then retired and the Assembly broke up.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 31, 1861.

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL OF INDIA.

THE 24TH AUGUST 1861.

THE following Act, passed by the Legislative Council of India, received the assent of the Right Honorable the Governor-General on the 20th August 1861, and is hereby promulgated for general information :—

ACT No. XXII OF 1861.

An Act to amend Act III of 1857 (relating to trespasses by Cattle.)

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend Act III of 1857 (relating to trespasses by Cattle) ; it is enacted as follows :—

Punishment for causing Cattle to trespass.

I. Whoever with intent to cause or knowing that he is likely to cause wrongful loss or damage to any person, causes Cattle to trespass on any land or on the crop cultivated on any land, shall be punished by a Magistrate with imprisonment with or without labor for a term which may extend to three months, or with fine not exceeding two hundred Rupees, or with both.

Punishment for committing the same offence and thereby causing damage to the amount of 50 Rupees.

II. Whoever commits the offence defined in the foregoing Section, and thereby causes loss or damage to the amount of fifty Rupees or upwards, shall be punished by a Magistrate with imprisonment with or without labor for a term which may extend to two years, or with fine not exceeding two hundred Rupees, or with both.

Definition of "Magistrate."

III. The term "Magistrate" in the foregoing Sections shall include any Officer who, by any law for the time being in force, is competent to sentence any offender to imprisonment for the period of six months and to a fine amounting to two hundred Rupees.

Award of fine to the injured party.

IV. When a fine is imposed upon a conviction for any offence under this Act, the Magistrate may order that the fine or any part thereof, not exceeding the loss appearing to be caused to any person who has suffered by such offence, be paid to such person, and in any such case the fine when levied or received shall be paid accordingly.

Proviso.

No amount ordered to be paid under this Section shall be paid over to the person to whom it is awarded until the lapse of thirty days from the date of such order, unless such order shall have been sooner confirmed by an Appellate Court.

Appeal.

V. Any sentence or order made in any case tried under this Act shall be subject to appeal, in like manner as the sentences or orders made by the Magistrate or other Officer aforesaid in criminal trials are subject to appeal by any law for the time being in force.

Power of seizing Cattle.

VI. The power of seizing or causing to be seized any Cattle trespassing on, or doing damage to, any land or to any crop or produce thereon, conferred by Section II of the said Act III of 1857, may be exercised, subject to the provisions of the said Act, by any person who has given cash advances for the cultivation of the crop or produce on such land or to whom such crop or produce shall have been sold or mortgaged.

M. WYLIE,
Clerk of the Council.

2. From and after the date mentioned, it will not be lawful for any person to let for hire any Stage Carriage, unless it shall have been licensed as provided by the Act above cited, and the requirements of Section V. thereof shall have been conformed to.

3. A License will be in force for one year only, and the letting for hire of a Stage Carriage after the expiry of that period, without renewal of License, will subject the Proprietor to the penalties described in Section VII. of the Act.

4. Particular attention is directed to Section V. of the Act above cited.

5. Each Carriage used as a Stage Carriage is required by the Law to be separately licensed.

6. Application for License may be addressed, for the present, to the Depy. Commissioner of Delhi,

Ditto Kurnaul,
Ditto Umballa,
Ditto Jullundur,
Ditto Umritsur,
Ditto Lahore,
Ditto Mooltan,

who have been specially authorized in that behalf by the Government.

7. The attention of all Magistrates and all Police Officers in these Provinces has been directed to the provisions of Act No. XVI. of 1861, and all parties concerned are hereby required to take warning that, from and after the 1st day of September next ensuing, the penalties prescribed for infringement of the said provisions will be duly enforced.

WITH reference to numerous applications for Plants from the Botanic Gardens, the following Government Notification is republished for general information. After this date no applications for Plants will be attended to except in the cases referred to in the order.

THOMAS ANDERSON, M. D.,
Offg. Superintendent.

The 30th August 1861.

Notification.

The 23rd March 1854.

GENERAL.

THE Most Noble the Governor of Bengal has been pleased, in accordance with the recommendation of the Agricultural and Horticultural Society of India, to determine that the gratuitous distribution of Plants and Seeds from the Hon'ble Company's Botanic Gardens shall cease from and after the 1st of April 1857, except in special cases and on purely public grounds.

By order, &c.,

(Sd.) CECIL BEADON,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

Notice.

THE Officiating Superintendent of Stationery will receive sealed Tenders up to the 16th December next for the supply of the under-mentioned articles to the Government Stationery Store during the ensuing year.

The quantities given are estimated to complete a year's stock. It is probable, however, that some alterations in the present figures will have to be made, but at the time of Contract the Officiating Superintendent will state the actual quantities required and fix the periods for the delivery of the Stationery.

Each Tender must be accompanied by samples. The samples of paper should be of not less than two full sheets of each size and quality tendered. Of the Blank Books, it will be sufficient to submit one bound book shewing the quality of paper and binding.

It is desirable that Tenders should comprise all the articles grouped under one Contract as below; but a Tender otherwise acceptable will not be rejected on account of its omission to include all the articles of the group.

The parties whose Tenders shall be accepted will be required to furnish Security or to deposit (10) ten per cent on the amount of their Contracts as a pledge for their due fulfilment, and in the event of any dispute as to the quality of the goods tendered, or on any other point arising out of the Contracts, the decision of the Board of Revenue shall be held final.

Further information, if required, may be obtained from the Officiating Superintendent of Stationery.

Furreedpore Collectorate,
The 2nd August 1861.

L. R. Tottenham,
Offg. Collector.

Persons having claims against the Estate of Brigadier James Mackenzie, late a Colonel in Her Majesty's 5th Regiment of Bengal European Cavalry, are requested, within one month from this date, to make the same known to Messrs. Sandes, Stack and Co., the constituted Attorneys of Lieutenant Alexander Kincaid Johnston Canning Mackenzie, the Administrator of the said deceased, to whom those indebted to the Estate are requested to pay the amount of their respective debts without delay.

Pursuant to an Order of the Supreme Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, made in a certain cause wherein Eliza Chaunce is Plaintiff, and Charles Swinton Hogg and George Alexander Hottinger are Defendants, all persons claiming to be in any wise related to the late Frederick Hottinger (who was in his lifetime an Apothecary to the First Brigade of Bengal Horse Artillery, and who died at Meerut in the North-Western Provinces on the ninth day of June, one thousand eight hundred and sixty), and who claim to have proved themselves to be so related within six months of his decease, are required to come in and prove their respective claims before the Master of the said Court at his Office in the Court House, Esplanade Row, Calcutta, before the eighth day of September next, or, in default thereof, they will be excluded the benefit of such Order.

Memorandum on the prospects of an experimental cultivation of the Quinine yielding Cinchonas on the mountain tracts of the Pegu, Tenasserim, and Martaban Provinces, with notes on the establishment of a Sanatarium there, by Dr. Brandis, Superintendent of Forests, Pegu and Tenasserim.

THE Quinine yielding Cinchonas are found within the tropics of South America in the valleys of the Andes range at an elevation of from 3,000 to 6,000 feet, in the immediate neighbourhood of mountain masses, which rise up to 18,000 feet and are partly covered with eternal snow.

Points to be observed in selecting localities for Cinchona cultivation.

This indicates in a general way the requirements of the plant; but although in the first instance such places should be selected for the experiment as are particularly suitable, it must not be lost sight of, that the cultivation of the Peru bark tree may also succeed in localities not appearing to offer exactly the same conditions regarding climate and the general character of the country, which are peculiar to their native place.

There is no lack in India of situations apparently well suited for the experiment, and as several of them, viz. the Neilgherries, Darjeeling, and the Khasya Hills offer particular facilities for making the trial, it would appear that at first a further extension of the projected Cinchona plantations is not called for, unless indeed the mountains of the Pegu, Tenasserim, and Martaban Provinces should offer superior advantages. The following remarks will show that this is not the case, and that it appears preferable to delay the introduction of the tree into the Eastern Provinces, until its cultivation shall have proved successful in other parts, when it can be managed with greater facility.

Localities available in India.

Hereafter, when plants can be obtained from the older plantations, it may well be worth while to extend the cultivation of the tree, and indeed it is not impossible that some of the tracts described below will be found to possess peculiar advantages for the production of the Quinine yielding bark.

To avoid misunderstanding, it appears necessary to review the general configuration of Pegu, the Tenasserim, and Martaban Provinces.

2. Four great mountain ranges, running more or less parallel to the Sea Coast, from North-West to South-East, form as it were the skeleton of these Provinces. They separate from each other the valleys of the principal Rivers of the country, and intervene between them and the Coast. Geologically they are composed of rocks widely differing in character, but the strike of the strata, whenever there is stratification, and the direction of the main spurs and ridges pursues, as far as is known, with due deviations, but upon the whole with remarkable regularity, a line running from 15° to 45° West of North.

General structure of the mountain masses of the Provinces.

Proceeding from West to East, the first range is the Arracan Yomah, which divides the Province of Arracan from Pegu and Burmah Proper, not attaining within Pegu an elevation exceeding 4,000 feet; this range cannot be selected for the first cultivation of the Peru bark tree. Its northern part, which divides Arracan from the Burmese Empire and Munipoor, and which forms a connection with the Khasya and other mountains East of Bengal is said to be higher; but of this portion I cannot speak.

Pegu Yomah.

The second range is the Pegu Yomah, which separates the valley of the Irrawaddee and Sitang Rivers. Its highest point is the Kambalootoun, near the source of the Pegu River, nearly in the latitude of Akonktoun on the Irrawaddee, below Prome. The heighth of this Hill has not been measured, but by comparing it with others in its immediate vicinity, I have estimated it at about 3,000 feet. The mean elevation of the range is not above 2,000 feet. Hence these Hills also, which are the principal seat of the Pegu Teak Forests, are not suited for an experimental cultivation of the Cinchonas.

Sitang range and Tenasserim Coast range.

The third range consists of two parts, of which the Northern may be designated the Sitang and Martaban range, the Southern the Tenasserim Coast range. It commences North-East of Toungoo, where it separates the tributaries of the Sitang River from the different branches of the Thonkyeghat and further South from the Yoonzaleen River. North-East of Shoaegyeen it divides into two great branches, the Western running down between the Sitang and Beeling Rivers, the Eastern between the Beeling and Salween. The Eastern branch which maintains the general direction of the range ceases near Martaban, but re-commences immediately South of Moulmein, and thence skirts the Coast of the Tenasserim Provinces down to Mergui and beyond it.

Like all the others, this range is not one uninterrupted ridge, but a system of numerous longitudinal spurs, some shorter, others longer, and joined by transverse ridges, frequently lower than the longitudinal spurs.

Many parts of this range are entirely unexplored, but it does not appear to exceed a heighth of 5,000 feet, and this is not a sufficient elevation to warrant an attempt in the first instance.

Salween range.

3. The fourth or easternmost range is the only one which appears to offer sufficient inducement for an experimental cultivation of the Peru bark tree. It is the main out-runner or projection of the great Karenee and Shan plateau, which extends from the Salween to the Irrawaddee Valley. South of this plateau this range forms the water-shed between the Sitang and Salween Rivers.

Yoonzaleen mountain mass.

South-East of Toungoo it attains a considerable elevation, and at the same time extends into a large and compact mountain mass, separated from the third or Sitang range by a remarkable longitudinal valley, through which two Rivers run in opposite directions, separated at their head waters only by a low and narrow saddle. These streams are the Myitgnan, a tributary of the Thonkyeghat, running from South to North, and the western branch of the Yoonzaleen from North to South. This mountain mass, which appears to me the fittest place both for the establishment of a Sanatarium and the experimental cultivation of Cinchonas, is drained on the East, and North-East or the Salween side, by the feeders of the Karenee Choung (Pounloung), the Kaymapjoo or Tin Choung, and the Pah Choung, fixed by Major Allan as the Northern Boundary of the Martaban Province. The drainage to the West and North-West goes into the Sitang River, principally through two great feeders of the Thonkyeghat, the Rjay Choung and Myitgnan Choung. To the South the drainage runs almost entirely into the two great branches of the Yoonzaleen, the Braillo or Western, and the Llaillo or Eastern branch. The different peaks and spurs of this mountain mass have numerous Karen names, but no designation has as yet been adopted for the whole of it. It may fitly be called the Yoonzaleen mountain mass, but for the entire range, of which it forms a part, I would propose the name of the Salween range for the Northern portion, and Thoungyeen range for the Southern part.

The highest points here visited by me were the Taipo ridge on the West side, one of the lower spurs between the Myitgnan and Rjay Choung, 5,850 feet high, and two passes on the road from the Kaymapjoo Choung to Toungoo, one on the North-East side 5,000 feet, and one on the North-West side 5,237 feet high. But numerous spurs of great extent, and considerably higher, were observed from these points, and by taking the angle of elevation, and estimating the distances, I came to the conclusion that numerous points seen by me could not be less than 7,000 feet high, and probably considerably above this.

Major Allan, in his Report on the Northern frontier of the Martaban Province, arrives, I believe, at a similar conclusion with regard to one of the southernmost peaks of this mountain mass, the Tsotseeko, and Mr. O'Riley estimates another, the Nat toung at 8,000 feet.

The highest spurs, which themselves cover a considerable space, are surrounded by masses of mountains with an average elevation of 4,000 feet; the area of the whole may be estimated at 100 square miles. Nearly the whole of this Yoonzaleen mountain mass is situated North of the imaginary line laid down by Major Allan as the North boundary of the Martaban Province, and belongs therefore to the Toungoo Division of the Province of Pegu, as far as it may be claimed by the British Government.

We now proceed to trace the further course of the Salween Mountain Range to the South.

In the latitude of Kolodo, 25 miles to the South of the North end of the mountain mass here described, the range begins to contract, and its elevation is considerably diminished. In crossing the range on the road from Kolodo to Shoaegyeen, the elevation of the water-shed is only 3,264 feet (Hottalo Sakan) and the mean elevation of the Yoonzaleen table-land, which skirts the South-West side of the mountain mass above described, is from 2,600 to 3,200 feet. South of Kolodo (1,973 feet elevation) the Salween range assumes the shape of a narrow range between the Yoonzaleen and Salween, falling off more gradually towards the latter River. From here down to the mouth of the Yoonzaleen, it is called the Bithoko range. As there are Teak localities on both flanks, I had to cross it at four different places, viz.—

South of Kolodo at an elevation of	...	3,393	Feet.
Near Papoon	...	3,187	„
„ Pagotivill	...	3,967	„
„ the great Salween rapids	...	3,910	„

It is clear that these elevations are not sufficiently high to admit of their being selected for the cultivation of Cinchonas.

4. The Salween range ceases at the junction of the Salween and Yoonzaleen, but its continuation, the Thoungyeen range, commences in the fork formed by the latter River and the Salween, and, pursuing the same south-easterly direction, it extends along the Thoungyeen, separating the valley of this River from that of the Hlimbong and Houndrow. In this range two points of considerable elevation are known, the Mooleyit and the Daunat Pass. The former, which is near the Siamese boundary, is described by Major Tickell as an isolated peak, 7,171 feet high, and the latter was measured by me in April last, and found to be 5,474 feet. But as far as is yet known the Thoungyeen range is much more irregular and broken than the Salween range, and has not any extent of mountain land to be compared to that North of the Yoonzaleen. From the heighth of the Daunat Pass a number of isolated peaks are seen, but few of them are higher than the Pass, and the difference in elevation does not appear to be considerable. There are several entire breaks in the Thoungyeen mountain range; the main road from Moulmein to Zimmay, in Siam, leads through one of these breaks (the Yimbine Road). This more irregular and less compact character of these mountains may be connected with the prevalence of limestone masses here, which in the Salween mountains are found on the outskirts only, and in the valleys of the neighbouring streams.

Thoungyeen range.

The country round the Mooleyit peak, which I have not visited myself, may possibly offer sites advantageous for Cinchona cultivation, and in case the establishment of a Sanatarium at that place should be decided upon, it would be comparatively easy to form an experimental Cinchona plantation there; but for the present my remarks will be limited to the Yoonzaleen mountain mass, and I will now proceed to add a few remarks regarding the climate, rocks, vegetation, and inhabitants of those mountains, the extent and elevation of which has above been discussed.

5. No regular series of observations of temperature, humidity, and rainfall on these Hills, at an elevation exceeding 4,000 feet, is available. I had only two opportunities of visiting them, once in February 1859, when coming from Toungoo to the Salween Forests, and once in May of the same year, when returning from Toungoo. On both occasions I was obliged to hurry on, the observations therefore were taken only during a few days.

Further remarks regarding the Yoonzaleen mountain mass.

Climate.

But the following facts seem to be established by the observations available, and the testimony of the Natives:

1st.—The rainfall is considerably greater than in the neighbouring plains, and the rains commence earlier and cease later.

2nd.—The temparature throughout the year is lower, and of a more uniform character. That is, although the daily changes are occasionally very great, the difference between the seasons is less considerable.

From the 13th to the 22nd February, the daily minimum about sunrise was found to vary from 42° to 69° at elevations between 2,600 and 3,500 feet. The daily maximum varied between 82° and 85° 5.

From the 16th to 19th May, at elevations of 3,100 and 4,300 feet, the thermometer ranged as follows: minimum from 66° to 69° 5, maximum from 74° to 76°.

At an elevation of 5,850 feet, the thermometer stood at 67° at noon of the 14th February, and at 5,237 feet on the 19th May, at 2-45 P. M., it was 73° 75.

The temperature of the two branches of the Yoonzaleen River, at the points where they the higher mountains was found.

West branch, 17th February, at noon, 59°, temperature of air 70°.

West branch, 18th February, at 9 A. M., 56°, temperature of air 60°.

On the Yoonzaleen plateau, a wide extent of country South-West of the main mountain mass, from 2,600 to 3,200 feet high, frost is said to cover the ground nearly every morning in December and January, and this is given as the reason why the Betel palm will not thrive here, although it is cultivated to a great extent in the valleys round about.

6. The rocks observed on the mountains here described are Granite, Gneiss, and Quartzite. Limestone is only found much lower down in the valleys of the Salween, Sitang, and Yoonzaleen Rivers, and their tributaries. The tin washings near the head waters of the Kaymapjoo Choung are on the ridges of several of the outer spurs on the East side of these mountains, at an elevation of from 3,000 to 4,000 feet. They are worked by the Karen inhabitants of Kliilo Village (3,107 feet elevation) who barter the tin to the Red Karens for cattle, which they do not keep but slaughter for their own consumption.

Rocks.

7. The vegetation has an entirely tropical character up to an elevation of 3,000 feet, when Teak entirely disappears, and the Pine Forests begin. These Pine Forests (of Pinus Khasyana Royle) do not rise above 5,000 feet, and are always on dry gravelly soil. With them occur several species of Oak, Vaccinium, Gordonia, and Rubus Moluccanus with Clematis acuminata. The higher spurs and the moist valleys and slopes within the Pine region are covered with dense evergreen Forest, except where it has been cleared away for the Toungyas or Hill clearings of the Karens, which do not occupy any considerable space above 4,000 feet elevation. Thus the entire surface of the higher mountains, with the exception perhaps of isolated peaks, is clothed with uninterrupted dens evergreen Forest. The trees composing this Forest are as yet little known, but the absence of many tropical forms, and the prevalence of species of Quercus and Castanea indicates an approach to the vegetation of a more temperate climate.

Vegetation.

The cultivation of Quinine yielding Cinchonas, if anywhere in these Provinces, might be attempted here on ground rendered fertile by the undisturbed occupancy of these dense primeval Forests, and kept moist by their retaining rain and dew, and collecting the atmospheric moisture. The dense vegetation which covers the highest spurs has also this advantageous effect, that even at considerable elevations there is an abundance of small mountain streams with running water of low temperature throughout the year. This is an advantage which may possibly not be found in the same degree in many other localities available in British India for the cultivation of the Peruvian bark tree.

8. The whole of the mountains between the Sitang and Salween is inhabited by various tribes of Sgan Karens, who cultivate Paddy on their hill clearings or Toungyas, the large Bamboo round their Villages, and the Betel pepper, Betel palms, and an Indigo yielding Acanthaceous plant (Goldfussia sp.) in the moist valleys.

Inhabitants.

The population in some of the lower parts, particularly near the Myitgnan Valley, is comparatively dense, so much so, that instead of shifting their habitations and clearings annually to another locality, they have been obliged to adopt a system of rotation in their hill clearings, their fields remaining fallow for three years only, after which the grass and bushes which grow up during that time are cut down and burnt, to obtain a new crop.

The number of Villages on elevations exceeding 3,000 feet is small, and two or three only are located higher than 4,000 feet. Yet deserted Toungyas are occasionally met with as high as 5,000 feet. The number of Villages in the immediate vicinity of the mountains here described, amounts to about 15, with a population of from 1,000 to 1,500 souls. One-third of these acknowledge the authority of the Deputy Commissioner of Toungoo, one-third (those on the East side) pay tribute to the Karenee Chiefs, and one-third are in a state of savage wildness. A number of these Villages are Christian, connected with the American Baptist Mission, and the possibility of obtaining the assistance of these people would be an advantage in forming an establishment on these Hills.

9. The distance of the mountains here described from Toungoo is 40 miles as the crow flies. From Shonegyeen the distance in a straight line is 56 miles, but the access from this place would be far more difficult. From Toungoo a road might be cleared practicable for Ponies and Elephants leading in two or three marches to the foot of the range. One march would then bring the traveller to the water-shed between the Sitang and Salween, the average heighth of which is 5,000 feet. It would, however, scarcely be advisable to select this spot either as a Sanatarium or for the cultivation of Cinchonas. It would be preferable to go one march further to the South, and to select a higher elevation.

Facilities for communications, and general remarks.

But it is clear that the want of Villages in the neighbourhood, and the great distance from the nearest Station, would render the establishment there of a European Superintendent of Cinchona plantations a matter of great difficulty. He would not easily succeed in inducing a sufficient number of Natives to settle in a locality where the Karens themselves have never settled before, and if he succeeded in obtaining laborers, he would run the risk of finding himself deserted whenever sickness broke out, or the weather became too cold. Another difficulty would be the expense of maintaining an establishment in a place like this. The carriage of provisions and stores alone from Toungoo, where a Coolie employed in Town cannot be hired for less than 12 annas a day, would be excessive. To this must be added that the journey up the Sitang River from Rangoon to Toungoo occupies from fifteen to twenty days.

Under these circumstances it does not appear justifiable to select the mountains between the Sitang and the Salween, in the first instance, for the establishment of a Cinchona plantation.

If hereafter the mountains here described should be found to offer sufficient inducement for the formation of a Sanatarium, greater facilities would be given for the establishment of Cinchona plantations on these mountains, and it is not impossible that they will prove successful.

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL OF INDIA.

THE 24TH AUGUST 1861.

THE following Act, passed by the Legislative Council of India, received the assent of the Right Honorable the Governor-General on the 20th August 1861, and is hereby promulgated for general information :—

ACT No. XXII OF 1861.

An Act to amend Act III of 1857 (relating to trespasses by Cattle.)

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend Act III of 1857 (relating to trespasses by Cattle); it is enacted as follows :— Preamble.

I. Whoever with intent to cause or knowing that he is likely to cause wrongful loss or damage to any person, causes Cattle to trespass on any land or on the crop cultivated on any land, shall be punished by a Magistrate with imprisonment with or without labor for a term which may extend to three months, or with fine not exceeding two hundred Rupees, or with both. Punishment for causing Cattle to trespass

II. Whoever commits the offence defined in the foregoing Section, and thereby causes loss or damage to the amount of fifty Rupees or upwards, shall be punished by a Magistrate with imprisonment with or without labor for a term which may extend to two years, or with fine not exceeding two hundred Rupees, or with both. Punishment for committing the same offence and thereby causing damage to the amount of 50 Rupees

III. The term "Magistrate" in the foregoing Sections shall include any Officer who, by any law for the time being in force, is competent to sentence any offender to imprisonment for the period of six months and to a fine amounting to two hundred Rupees. Definition of "Magistrate."

IV. When a fine is imposed upon a conviction for any offence under this Act, the Magistrate may order that the fine or any part thereof, not exceeding the loss appearing to be caused to any person who has suffered by such offence, be paid to such person, and in any such case the fine when levied or received shall be paid accordingly. Award of fine to the injured party.

Proviso. No amount ordered to be paid under this Section shall be paid over to the person to whom it is awarded until the lapse of thirty days from the date of such order, unless such order shall have been sooner confirmed by an Appellate Court.

V. Any sentence or order made in any case tried under this Act shall be subject to appeal, in like manner as the sentences or orders made by the Magistrate or other Officer aforesaid in criminal trials are subject to appeal by any law for the time being in force. Appeal.

VI. The power of seizing or causing to be seized any Cattle trespassing on, or doing damage to, any land or to any crop or produce thereon, conferred by Section II of the said Act III of 1857, may be exercised, subject to the provisions of the said Act, by any person who has given cash advances for the cultivation of the crop or produce on such land or to whom such crop or produce shall have been sold or mortgaged. Power of seizing Cattle.

M. WYLIE,
Clerk of the Council.

THE 31ST AUGUST 1861.

THE following Act, passed by the Legislative Council of India, received the assent of the Right Honorable the Governor-General on the 28th August 1861, and is hereby promulgated for general information :—

ACT No. XXIII OF 1861.

An Act to amend Act VIII of 1859 (for simplifying the Procedure of the Courts of Civil Judicature not established by Royal Charter).

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend Act VIII of 1859 (for simplifying the Procedure of the Courts of Civil Judicature not established by Royal Charter) and to consolidate the Acts previously passed for the amendment of the said Act: It is enacted as follows :—

Acts repealed.

1. Sections 23, 33, 193, 215, 274, 283, 332, 339, 358, 375, and 381 of Act VIII of 1859, Act IV of 1860 (to amend Act VIII of 1859), Section X Act XLII of 1860 (for the establishment of Courts of Small Causes beyond the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Supreme Courts of Judicature established by Royal Charter), and Act XLIII of 1860 (to amend Act VIII of 1859), are hereby repealed.

Cost of serving process.

2. Every process required to be issued under Act VIII of 1859 shall be served at the expense of the party at whose instance it is issued, unless otherwise specially directed by the Court; and the sum required to defray the costs of such service shall be paid into Court before the process is issued, within a period to be fixed by the Court issuing the process.

Requisite sum to be paid into Court within a certain time before process is issued.

Plaint to be returned, if it appear to the Court that it has not jurisdiction.

3. If it appear to the Court in any case relating to land or other immoveable property that such land or other property is not situate within the limits of the jurisdiction of the Court, or in any other case that the cause of action did not arise, and that the defendant is not dwelling or personally working for gain within such limits, the Court shall return the plaint to the plaintiff in order to its being presented in the proper Court.

In what Court a suit against several defendants may be brought.

4. If in any suit there are more defendants than one, and at the date of the institution of the suit all the defendants shall not reside within the jurisdiction of the Court in which the suit is brought, but one or more of the defendants shall reside within such jurisdiction, the suit shall not be rejected by reason of all the defendents not residing within the jurisdiction of the Court in which the suit is brought, but the District Court, if the suit is pending in any Court subordinate to such Court, or the Sudder Court, may order that the suit be heard in any Court subordinate to such Sudder or District Court, and competent in respect of the value of the suit to try the same.

Procedure on discovery, on the day fixed for defendant to appear and answer, that usual notice has not been served in consequence of failure of plaintiff to deposit the cost of issuing the same.

Provisions of last Section to apply to appeals also.

6. The provisions of the last preceding Section shall apply to appeals also.

Procedure in case of dismissal of suit under Section 5.

7. Whenever a suit is dismissed under the provisions of Section 5 of this Act, the plaintiff shall be at liberty to institute a fresh suit, unless precluded by the rules for the limitation of actions, or if the plaintiff shall satisfy the Court within the period of thirty days from the date of the order dismissing the suit that there was a sufficient excuse for his not making the deposit required within the time allowed, the Court may order a fresh summons to issue upon the plaint already filed.

Procedure on application for discharge by a person arrested in execution of a decree for money.

8. When a person arrested under a warrant in execution of a decree for money shall, on being brought before the Court, apply for his discharge on either of the grounds mentioned in Section 273 of Act VIII of 1859 the Court shall examine the applicant in the presence of the plaintiff or his pleader as to his then circumstances and as to his future means of payment, and shall call upon the plaintiff to show cause why he does not proceed against any property of which the defendant is possessed and why the defendant should not be discharged, and should the plaintiff fail to show such cause, the Court may direct the discharge of the defendant from custody. Pending any enquiry which the Court may consider it necessary to make into the allegations of either party, the Court may leave the defendant in the custody of the Officer of the Court to whom the service of the warrant was entrusted, on the defendant depositing the fees of such Officer, which shall be at the same daily rate as the lowest rate charged in the same Court for serving process; or if the defendant furnish good and sufficient security for his appearance at any time when called upon while such enquiry is being made, his surety or sureties undertaking in default of such appearance to pay the amount mentioned in the warrant, the Court may release the defendant on such security.

9. If the Court shall at any time think it necessary for the ends of justice to examine any person other than a party to the suit and not named as a witness by a party to the suit, the Court may, of its own accord, cause such person to be summoned as a witness to give evidence, or to produce any document in his possession on a day to be appointed, and may examine such person as a witness. The costs of summoning such person, if not deposited by either party to the suit, shall be paid by the Collector under an order of the Court, and shall be costs in the suit, and shall be paid out of any money recovered on account of costs in the suit, whether at the instance of the Government or of either party, before any other costs in the suit are paid.

Court may of its own accord summon witnesses.

10. When the suit is for a sum of money due to the plaintiff, the Court may in the decree order interest at such rate as the Court may think proper to be paid on the principal sum adjudged from the date of suit to the date of the decree, in addition to any interest adjudged on such principal sum for any period prior to the date of suit; with further interest on the aggregate sum so adjudged and on the costs of the suit from the date of the decree to the date of payment.

In suits for money decree may order certain interest to be paid on the principal sum adjudged.

11. All questions regarding the amount of any mesne profits which by the terms of the decree may have been reserved for adjustment in the execution of the decree, or of any mesne profits or interest which may be payable in respect of the subject matter of a suit between the date of the institution of the suit and execution of the decree, as well as questions relating to sums alleged to have been paid in discharge or satisfaction of the decree or the like, and any other questions arising between the parties to the suit in which the decree was passed and relating to the execution of the decree, shall be determined by order of the Court executing the decree, and not by separate suit, and the order passed by the Court shall be open to appeal. Provided that if upon a perusal of the petition of appeal and of the order against which the appeal is made, the Court shall see no reason to alter the order, it may reject the appeal, and it shall not be necessary in such case to issue a notice to the respondent before the order of rejection is passed.

How questions regarding amount of mesne profits and interest and sums paid in satisfaction of decrees, &c., are to be determined.

12. An appeal from an order passed in execution of a decree which shall have been rejected as inadmissible under Section 364 of Act VIII of 1859, or which would have been inadmissible before the passing of this Act, but which is rendered admissible by this Act, may be admitted on an application in writing to the Court which rejected the appeal or by which the appeal, had it been admissible before the passing of this Act, would have been cognizable, provided the application be preferred within ninety days from the date of the passing of this Act. The application may be written on the Stamp Paper prescribed for petitions in the Court to which it is presented when a Stamp on petitions is required.

Appeals from orders rejected under Section 364, Act VIII of 1859, may be admitted on application.

Application to be on Stamp Paper.

13. When a decree is passed in any suit of the nature and amount cognizable by Courts of Small Causes constituted under Act XLII of 1860, the Court passing the decree, whether such Court be a Court constituted as aforesaid or any other Court, may, at the same time that it passes the decree, on the verbal application of the party in whose favor the decree is given, direct immediate execution thereof by the issue of a warrant directed either against the person of the judgment-debtor if he is within the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court passing the decree, or against the personal property of the judgment-debtor within the same limits. If the warrant be directed against the personal property of the judgment-debtor, it may be general against any personal property of the judgment-debtor wherever it may be found within the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court, or special against any personal property belonging to the judgment-debtor within the same limits, which shall be indicated by the judgment-creditor.

In suits of the nature and amount cognizable by Small Cause Courts, Court may, on verbal application of judgment-creditor, direct immediate execution either against the person or property of judgment-debtor.

14. When the land sold in execution of a decree is a share of a Putteedaree estate paying revenue to Government as defined in Section II Act I of 1841 (for facilitating the collection of the Revenue of Government and defining the interest intended to be conveyed by public sales for the realization of arrears of the Public Revenue in Putteedaree Estates,) if the lot shall have been knocked down to a stranger, any co-sharer other than the judgment-debtor, or any other member of the coparcenary, may claim to take the share sold at the sum at which the lot was knocked down. Provided that the claim be made on the day of sale, and that the claimant fulfil all the conditions of the sale.

Co-sharer of a share of a Putteedaree estate sold in execution of decree may claim to take the share at the sale price.

Proviso

15. The Court, on receiving any application for execution of a decree containing the particulars mentioned in Section 212 of Act VIII of 1859, or such of them as may be applicable to the case, shall enter a note of the application and the date on which it was made in the Register of the suit. If it shall be shown to the Court that the particulars do not correspond with the original decree, the Court shall either return the application for correction to the person making it, or shall, with the consent of such person, cause the necessary correction to be made. If the application be admitted, the Court shall order execution of the decree according to the nature of the application.

Procedure on receiving application for execution of decree.

16. When in any case pending before any Court any witness or other person shall appear to the Court to have been guilty of an offence described in Sections 193, 194, 195, 196, 199, 200, 205, 206, 207, 208, 209, or 210, of the Indian Penal Code, the Court may commit such person to take his trial for the offence before the Court of Session, or after making such preliminary enquiry as may be necessary, may send the case for investigation to any Magistrate having jurisdiction to try or commit for trial the accused person for the offence charged, and such Magistrate shall thereupon proceed according to law.

Procedure when certain offences under Chapter XI of the Penal Code are committed in any case pending before any Court.

Court may take bail and bind over witnesses to give evidence.

17. The Court may send the person accused in custody or take sufficient bail for his appearance before the Magistrate and may bind over any person to appear and give evidence before the Magistrate.

How the charge is to be framed.

18. When the commitment is made by the Court, the Court shall frame a charge in the manner provided in Chapter XIII of the Code of Criminal Procedure and shall transmit the same with the order of commitment and the record of the case to the Magistrate, and such Magistrate shall bring the case together with the witnesses for the prosecution and defence before the Court of Session.

Procedure in case of certain offences relating to documents.

19. When in any case pending before any Court there shall appear to the Court sufficient ground for sending for investigation to the Magistrate, a charge described in Sections 463, 471, 475, or 476, of the Indian Penal Code, which may be preferred in respect to any deed or paper offered in evidence in the case, the Court may send the person accused in custody to the Magistrate or take sufficient bail for his appearance before the Magistrate. The Court shall send to the Magistrate the evidence and documents relevant to the charge, and shall bind over any person to appear and give evidence before such Magistrate. The Magistrate shall receive such charge and proceed with it under the rules for the time being in force.

Procedure in case person accused under Section 16 or 19 is a European British subject.

20. If the person accused or any one of the persons accused in any case falling under Section 16 or Section 19 of this Act is a European British subject, the Court shall send such person in custody or take sufficient bail for his appearance before an Officer empowered to commit or hold to bail persons charged with offences for trial before a Supreme Court of Judicature, and such Officer shall proceed according to law.

Procedure in certain cases of contempt.

21. When any such offence as is described in Sections 175, 178, 179, 180, or 228 of the Indian Penal Code is committed in the view or presence of any Court, it shall be competent to such Court to cause the offender, whether he be a European British subject or not, to be detained in custody; and at any time before the rising of the Court on the same day to take cognizance of the offence; and to adjudge the offender to punishment by fine not exceeding 200 Rupees, or by imprisonment in the Civil Jail for a period not exceeding one month unless such fine be sooner paid. In every such case the Court shall record the facts constituting the contempt, with any statement the offender may make, as well as the finding and sentence. If the Court, in any case, shall consider that a person accused of any offence above referred to should be imprisoned, or that a fine exceeding 200 Rupees should be imposed upon him, such Court, after recording the facts constituting the contempt, and the statement of the accused person as before provided, shall forward the case to a Magistrate, or, if the accused person be a European British subject, to a Justice of the Peace, and shall cause bail to be taken for the appearance of such accused person before such Magistrate or Justice of the Peace, or if sufficient bail be not tendered shall cause the accused person to be forwarded under custody to such Magistrate or Justice of the Peace. If the case be forwarded to a Magistrate, such Magistrate shall proceed to try the accused person in the manner provided by this Act for trials before a Magistrate, and it shall be competent to such Magistrate to adjudge such offender to punishment, as provided in the Section of the Indian Penal Code under which he is charged. If the case be forwarded to a Justice of the Peace, such Justice of the Peace shall enquire into the circumstances, and shall have the same powers of punishing the offender as are vested by the Statute 53 George III., C. 155, S. 105, in a Justice of the Peace for the punishment of an assault, and may deal with the offender in the same manner as is provided in that behalf in the said Statute. If such Justice of the Peace shall consider the offence to require a more severe punishment than a Justice of the Peace is competent to award under the said Statute, he may commit the offender to a Supreme Court of Judicature.

Discharge of an offender on his submission.

22. When any person has been sentenced to punishment under the last preceding Section, for refusing or omitting to do anything which he was lawfully required to do, it shall be competent to the Court to discharge the offender, or to remit the punishment, on the submission of the offender to the order or requisition of such Court.

Appeal to lie from all decrees, except when expressly prohibited.

23. Except when otherwise expressly provided in this or any other Regulation or Act for the time being in force, an appeal shall lie from the decrees of the Courts of original jurisdiction to the Courts authorized to hear appeals from the decisions of those Courts. If the appeal lie to the Sudder Court, it shall be heard and determined by a Court consisting of two or more Judges of that Court. If, when the Court shall consist of only two Judges, there is a difference of opinion upon the evidence in cases in which it is competent to the Court to go into the evidence, and one Judge concur in opinion with the Lower Court as to the facts, the case shall be determined accordingly: if in a Court so constituted there is a difference of opinion upon a point of law, the Judges shall state the point upon which they differ, and the case shall be re-argued upon that question before one or more of the other Judges and shall be determined according to the opinion of the majority of the Judges of the Sudder Court by whom the appeal is heard.

Appeal to Sudder Court to be heard by two or more Judges.

Procedure in case of application by sureties to be discharged.

24. The sureties for the appearance of any person under Section 76 of the said Act VIII of 1859, may at any time apply to the Court in which they became such sureties to be discharged from their engagements. On such application being made the Court shall summon such person to attend, or if it shall think fit may issue a warrant in the first instance for his appearance. On the appearance of such person pursuant to the summons or warrant or on his voluntary surrender, the Court shall direct the recognizances of the sureties to be discharged, and shall call upon such person to find other sureties, and thereupon proceedings shall be had under Sections 77 and 78 of the said Act.

Application for the admission of a special appeal informally drawn up, how to be dealt with.

25. If the application for the admission of a special appeal be not written on a Stamp paper of the prescribed value, or if it be not drawn up in the manner laid down in Section 374 of Act VIII of 1859, or if it do not state any ground on which a special appeal will lie under the provisions of Section 372 of the said Act, the Court may reject the application, or may return it to the party for the purpose of being corrected. The order for rejecting the application or for returning it to the party may be passed by a single Judge of the Court. When the application is correctly drawn up, it shall be registered in a book to be kept for that purpose, which shall be in the form contained in the Schedule D. of the said Act, and the case shall proceed in all other respects as a regular appeal, and shall be subject to all the rules hereinbefore provided for such appeals, so far as the same be applicable.

No appeal from order or decision under Section 15 Act XIV of 1859.

26. No appeal shall lie from any order or decision passed in any suit instituted under Section XV Act XIV of 1859 (to provide for the limitation of suits), nor shall any review of any such order or decision be allowed.

No special appeal from decision of any Court subordinate to the Sudder Court in certain suits.

27. No special appeal shall lie from any decision or order which shall be passed on regular appeal after the passing of this Act by any Court subordinate to the Sudder Court, in any suit of the nature cognizable in Courts of Small Causes under Act XLII of 1860 (for the establishment of Courts of Small Causes beyond the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Supreme Courts of Judicature established by Royal Charter), when the debt, damage, or demand for which the original suit shall be instituted shall not exceed five hundred Rupees; but every such order or decision shall be final.

Reference of question to the Sudder.

28. If in any suit in which an order or decision is made final under the last preceding Section, any question of law, or usage having the force of law, or the construction of a document affecting the merits of the case shall arise on which the Court trying such suit shall entertain reasonable doubts, the Court may, either of its own motion or on the application of either of the parties to the suit, draw up a statement of the case, and submit such statement with its own opinion for the decision of the Sudder Court.

Court may pass decree contingent upon the opinion of the Sudder Court, pending which execution not to issue.

29. The Court may proceed in the case notwithstanding a reference to the Sudder Court, and may pass a decree contingent upon the opinion of the Sudder Court on the point referred; but no execution shall be issued in any case in which a reference shall be made to the Sudder Court until the receipt of the order of that Court.

Two or more Judges of Sudder Court to decide cases referred under Section 28.

30. Cases referred for the opinion of the Sudder Court shall be dealt with by two or more Judges of that Court.

Sudder Court to fix an early day for the hearing of the case. Proclamation thereof.

31. The Sudder Court shall fix an early day for the hearing of the case, and shall notify the same by a proclamation to be fixed up in the Court-house of that Court.

Parties may appear and be heard in person or by pleader.

32. The parties to the case may appear and be heard in the Sudder Court in person or by pleader.

Decision of Sudder Court how to be transmitted.

33. The Sudder Court, when it has heard and considered the case, shall transmit a copy of its judgment under the seal of the Court and the signature of the Register, to the Court by which the reference was made; and such Court shall, on the receipt thereof, proceed to dispose of the case conformably to the decision of the Sudder Court.

Costs of reference to Sudder Court.

34. Costs, if any, consequent on the reference of a case for the opinion of the Sudder Court, shall be costs in the suit.

Sudder Court may call for record of Lower Appellate Court, and set aside its decision, though no appeal shall lie to the Sudder Court.

35. The Sudder Court may call for the record of any case decided on appeal by any Subordinate Court in which no further appeal shall lie to the Sudder Court, if such Subordinate Court shall appear in hearing the appeal to have exercised a jurisdiction not vested in it by law, and the Sudder Court may set aside the decision passed on appeal in such case by the Subordinate Court, or may pass such other order in the case as to such Sudder Court may seem right.

Security may be taken when execution is required of a decree which has been appealed against.

36. When an order is made for the execution of a decree against which an appeal has been preferred, it shall be lawful for the Court which pronounced the decree to require security to be given for the restitution of any property which may be taken in execution of the decree or of the value thereof, and for the due performance of the decree or order of the Appellate Court. The Appellate Court may in any such case direct the Court which pronounced the decree to take such security.

Appellate Court to have same powers as Courts of original jurisdiction.

37. Unless when otherwise provided, the Appellate Court shall have the same powers in cases of appeal which are vested in the Courts of original jurisdiction in respect of original suits.

Procedure prescribed by Act VIII of 1859 to be followed in all future miscellaneous cases and proceedings.

38. The procedure prescribed by Act VIII of 1859 shall be followed as far as it can be in all miscellaneous cases and proceedings which after the passing of this Act shall be instituted in any Court.

Extension of Act to Non-Regulation Provinces.

39. When under the provisions of Section 385 of the said Act, the Act is extended to any part of the Territories not subject to the General Regulations of Bengal, Madras, and Bombay, it shall be lawful for the Government to which the territory is subordinate to declare that the Act shall take effect therein subject to any restriction, limitation, or proviso which it may think proper. In such case the restriction, limitation, or proviso shall be inserted in the declaration or notification of such extension. When the Act is extended by the Local Government to any Territory subordinate to such Government, and such extension is made subject to any restriction, limitation, or proviso, the previous sanction of the Governor-General of India in Council shall be requisite.

Sudder Court to make general rules for regulating proceedings, &c.

40. The Sudder Court shall have power to make and issue general rules for regulating the practice and proceedings of that Court and the Courts subordinate to it, and also to frame forms for every proceeding in the said Courts for which it shall think necessary that a form be provided, for keeping all books, entries, and accounts to be kept by the Officers, and for the preparation and submission of any statements to be prepared and submitted by such Courts, and from time to time to alter any such rule or form; provided that such rules and forms be not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act or of any other law in force. Any rules framed under this Section shall be published in the Official Gazette.

Interpretation of "Pleader."

41. The word "Pleader" as used in this Act shall include the words "Counsel" and "Advocate."

Short Title.

42. Act VIII of 1859 shall be called the Code of Civil Procedure.

Sections 16 to 22 of this Act when to take effect.

43. Sections 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, and 22 of this Act shall not take effect until the date on which the Indian Penal Code and the Code of Criminal Procedure shall come into operation.

Construction.

44. This Act shall be read and taken as part of Act VIII of 1859.

M. WYLIE,
Clerk of the Council.

THE 2ND SEPTEMBER 1861.

ACT No. XXIV OF 1861.

An Act to enable the Banks of Bengal, Madras, and Bombay to enter into arrangements with the Government for managing the issue, payment, and exchange of Government Currency Notes and certain business hitherto transacted by the Government Treasuries.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to authorize the Banks of Bengal, Madras, and Bombay to enter into the agreements and arrangements hereinafter mentioned; it is enacted as follows:—

Banks may enter into certain arrangements with Government.

I. It shall be lawful for any of the said Banks, by agreements under their corporate seal, to enter into agreements or arrangements with the Secretary of State for India in Council through the Governor-General of India in Council, the Governor of Madras in Council, and the Governor of Bombay in Council respectively, for superintending, managing, and becoming agents, for the issue, payment, and exchange of Promissory Notes of the Government of India payable on demand under Act XIX of 1861 (to provide for a Government Paper Currency) or any Act which may hereafter be passed in relation to the Paper Currency of the Government of India; for the carrying on the business of an Agency of issue under the said Act XIX of 1861 in any circle of issue in which any of the said Banks shall have established a Branch Bank under Act VI of 1839 (relating to the Bank of Bengal) or any other Act; and for transacting any part of the business of, or hitherto generally transacted by, or at the General Treasuries of the Governments at the several Presidencies of Fort William, Madras, and Bombay respectively.

Banks may transact the business incident to such arrangements.

II. It shall be lawful for the said Banks of Bengal, Madras, and Bombay, in addition to the modes of business in which they may, now by law be respectively engaged, to transact, in accordance with the provisions of the said agreements or arrangements entered into under Section I of this Act, all or any of the business appertaining to the superintendence, management, or agency for the issuing, payment, or exchange in the first Section mentioned and the business of an Agency of issue under the said Act XIX of 1861 in any such circle of issue as aforesaid, or all or any of the business of, or hitherto generally transacted by, the General Treasuries in that Section mentioned.

M. WYLIE,
Clerk of the Council.

THE 31ST AUGUST 1861.

THE following Bill, as settled in Committee of the whole Council, was ordered to be published for general information, and to be reconsidered after two months:—

A Bill to enlarge the jurisdiction of the Courts of Requests in the Settlement of Prince of Wales' Island, Singapore, and Malacca.

Preamble.

WHEREAS by the letters patent re-constituting the Court of Judicature of Prince of Wales' Island, Singapore, and Malacca, Her Majesty, among other things, authorized and empowered the Governor or President and Council of the said Settlement for the time being to erect and establish such Court or Courts of Judicature as they should see fit for the recovery of small debts, and for the trial and determination of all suits and causes whatsoever against any of the inhabitants of the said Settlement, wherein the debt, duty, or matter in dispute should not exceed the value of thirty-two Dollars; and whereas under the said authority Courts of Requests have been established at Penang, Province Wellesley, Singapore, and Malacca; and whereas it is expedient that the said Courts and also any other Courts which may hereafter be established under the said authority, should have jurisdiction in all suits wherein the matter in dispute shall not exceed the value of one hundred Dollars, and otherwise to extend the jurisdiction and to regulate the practice of the said Courts; It is enacted as follows:—

Courts of Requests authorized to try suits to an amount of value not exceeding 100 dollars.

I. From and after the passing of this Act, any Court or Courts established or which may be established in the Settlement of Prince of Wales' Island, Singapore, and Malacca, under the said authority, shall have jurisdiction to try and determine all suits brought for the recovery of debts, and all suits and causes whatever against any of the inhabitants of the said Settlement or the places now, or at any time hereafter to be, subordinate or annexed thereto, wherein the debt, duty, or matter in dispute shall not exceed the value of one hundred Dollars.

Appointment, remuneration, and removal of Bailiffs and Appraisers.

II. It shall be lawful for the Commissioners of the Courts of Requests respectively in the several Stations of the Settlement of Prince of Wales' Island, Singapore, and Malacca, to appoint four or more persons to be Bailiffs and Appraisers for the purposes of this Act, and with the sanction of the Governor of the Straits' Settlement to fix such remuneration for the services of the said Officers as shall appear to the said Commissioners expedient, and such persons shall be duly sworn before the said Commissioners, and shall also give security to be approved by the said Commissioners, faithfully to discharge the duties of their Office, and the said Commissioners shall have power to suspend or remove such persons so appointed; provided that it shall be lawful for the said Commissioners respectively to appoint the Bailiffs who may be attached from time to time to the said Courts respectively to the Office of Distraining Bailiffs and Appraisers, for the purposes of this Act, and to award to the said Officers such remuneration, in addition to their respective salaries drawn from the said Court, as to the said Commissioners with the sanction of the Governor of the Straits' Settlement shall appear expedient.

Issue of distress Warrant.

III. It shall be lawful for any Commissioner of a Court of Requests in any such Station, upon the affidavit in the form contained in the Schedule to this Act annexed (marked D) of any party claiming to be entitled to arrears of rent of any House or Premises situate in such Station, not exceeding the amount of one hundred Dollars, or in case of absence of such party from such Station, or in case of respectable females who do not appear in public, upon the affidavit of the constituted Attorney of such party, stating the amount of such arrears, and for what time and at what rate the same became due, to issue a Warrant under his hand and seal, in the form contained in the Schedule to this Act annexed (marked A), addressed to any one of such Officers of such Court, directing him to levy the amount of such rent, together with the costs of the said distress, in the manner therein mentioned; provided that it shall be lawful for any of the said Commissioners, upon personal examination of the party applying for such Warrant, to grant or withhold the same, at the discretion of the said Commissioner.

Seizure of Goods and Chattels.

IV. By virtue of such Warrant it shall be lawful for such Officer to seize the whole or such part of the Goods and Chattels upon the said Premises as shall be sufficient to cover the amount of the said rent, together with the costs of the said distress, and he shall thereupon make an Inventory of the Goods and Chattels so seized, and shall give a notice in writing in the form in the Schedule to this Act annexed (marked B) to the party from whom such rent is claimed to be due, or to any other person upon behalf of such party upon the said Premises, that the said Goods and Chattels will be appraised and sold in manner therein mentioned. And the said Officer shall file in the Court of Requests, from which the Warrant issued, true copies of the said Inventory and Notice; provided that it shall be lawful for the party from whom such rent is claimed to be due, at any time within five days from such seizure, to apply to any Commissioner of such Court to discharge or suspend such Warrant, and it shall be lawful for such Commissioner to discharge or suspend such Warrant accordingly, with or without costs; provided that it shall be lawful for any of the said Commissioners in his discretion to give reasonable time to such party to pay the said rent.

Sale of Goods and Chattels.

V. In default of such application, it shall be lawful for any two of such Officers of such Court, at the expiration of five days from such seizure, to appraise the Goods and Chattels so seized, and to give notice in writing in the form in the Schedule to this Act annexed (marked E) of the sale thereof, at such time and place as they shall direct, after an interval of not less than two days; and they shall file in such Court a true copy of the said notice, and the same shall be sold accordingly, and the said Officers shall forthwith, after realization of the produce of the said sale, pay over the amount thereof to the Chief Clerk of the said Court, or other Head Officer of such Court, and the amount of such produce shall be applied in satisfaction of the sum claimed to be due, together with the costs of the said distress, and the surplus, if any, shall be returned to the party from whom the said rent was claimed to be due; provided that it shall be lawful for such party to direct that such sale shall take place in any other manner, such party giving security for any extra costs attending such mode of sale.

Costs of distress.

VI. No costs shall be taken or demanded for such distress, except those contained in the Schedule to this Act annexed (marked C), and it shall be lawful for the said Commissioners of the Court out of which such distress is issued, with the sanction of the Governor of the Straits' Settlement, to apply the sum so raised as costs towards the payment of the contingent charges and remuneration of the said Bailiffs and Appraisers, as shall appear to the said Commissioners expedient, and the Chief Clerk or other Head Officer of the said Court shall keep a book, in which all sums received as costs upon distresses made under the provisions of this Act, and all sums paid as remuneration to the said Bailiffs and Appraisers, and all contingent charges incurred in respect of such distresses shall be duly entered, and the Chief Clerk or other Officer as aforesaid, of the said Court, shall also enter in the said book all sums realized by sale of the Goods and Chattels distrained and paid over to the landlords, under the provisions of this Act.

No distress for arrears of rent amounting to 100 Dollars, except under this Act. Penalty.

VII. After the passing of this Act, no distress shall be levied for arrears of rent amounting to one hundred Dollars or less, except under the provisions of this Act, and any person, except such Officer as shall be appointed under this Act, levying or attempting to levy any such distress, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be liable to be punished by fine and imprisonment for the same, in addition to any other liability he may have incurred by such trespass.

Act not to apply to rent due to Government.

VIII. This Act shall not extend to any arrears of rent exceeding one hundred Dollars, nor in respect of any House or Premises situated out of the local jurisdiction of any such Court, nor to any rent due to Government, nor to any seizure, except on the Premises in respect of which such rent is claimed.

Seal of Court.

IX. A Seal shall be made for every Court of Requests in the said Settlement under the direction of the Governor of the said Settlement, and all Summonses or other process issuing out of any such Court shall be sealed or stamped with the Seal of the Court; and every person who shall forge the Seal or any process of any such Court, or who shall serve or enforce any such forged process knowing the same to be forged, or deliver or cause to be delivered to any person any paper falsely purporting to be a copy of any summons, or other process of such Court, knowing the same to be false, or who shall act, or profess to act under any false color or pretence of the process of the said Court, shall be guilty of felony.

Mode of examining witnesses.

X. Every person who shall give evidence in any Court of Requests in the said Settlement shall be examined on oath, or when exempt by law from taking an oath, on solemn affirmation; and every person, who, in any examination upon oath or solemn affirmation, under this Act, shall wilfully and corruptly give false evidence shall be deemed guilty of perjury.

Summonses to witnesses.

XI. Either of the parties to a suit or any other proceeding in any Court of Requests in the said Settlement may obtain, at the Office of the Clerk of such Court or other Office as aforesaid, Summonses to witnesses, with or without a clause, requiring the production of books, deeds, papers and writings in their possession or control, and in any such Summons any number of names may be inserted.

Penalty for witness not appearing, &c.

XII. Every person, on whom any such Summons shall have been served, either personally or in such other manner as shall be directed by the general rules or practice of the Court of Requests, out of which such Summons shall issue and who shall refuse or neglect, without sufficient cause, to appear or to produce any books, papers, or writings required by such Summons to be produced, and also every person present in any such Court, who shall be required to give evidence, and who shall refuse to be sworn and give evidence, shall forfeit and pay such fine, not exceeding fifty Dollars, as the Commissioners of such Court shall set on him, and the whole or any part of such fine, in the discretion of the Commissioners after deducting the costs, may be applied towards indemnifying the party injured by such refusal or neglect.

Issue of warrant for arrest of defendant evading process or concealing property.

XIII. The Commissioners of any Court of Requests in the said Settlement, in all suits where the debt or demand exceeds the sum of fifteen Dollars, upon proof before them that any defendant against whom a Summons has been taken out, conceals himself from, or otherwise evades process of such Court, or is disposing of his property and effects, with intent to defraud the plaintiff, or his creditors generally, or is about to withdraw his person or effects from the jurisdiction of such Court, may issue a Warrant for the apprehension of such person, and may commit him to jail, until he shall find security for his appearance in such Court, from time to time, until judgment shall be pronounced in the suit commenced by such Summons, and for payment of the amount and the costs which may be decreed against him therein.

Enforcement of fines.

XIV. Payment of any fine imposed by any Court of Requests under the authority of this Act may be enforced upon the order of the Commissioners of such Court in like manner as payment of any debt adjudged in the said Court, and shall be accounted for as herein provided.

Execution may issue either against person or property of debtor.

XV. Whenever any Court of Requests in the said Settlement shall have made an order for the payment of money, the amount shall be recoverable, in case of default or failure of payment thereof forthwith, or at the time or times and in the manner directed, by execution against the body or the Goods and Chattels of the person against whom such order is made, without further notice or order, and the Clerk of the said Court or other Officer as aforesaid, at the request of the person prosecuting such order, shall issue under the Seal of the Court a Writ of Execution to one of the Bailiffs of such Court, which shall be his Warrant to take the body of such person in execution, or to levy, or cause to be levied by distress and sale of the Goods and Chattels of such person, such sum of money as shall be so ordered, wheresoever they may be found within the district of the Court and also the costs of the execution, and all Constables and other Peace Officers within their several jurisdictions shall aid in the execution of every such Writ.

In case of order to pay by instalments, execution to issue on default of payment, without further notice.

XVI. If any such Court shall have made any order for payment of any sum of money by instalments, execution upon such order shall not issue until after default in payment of some instalment according to such order; and execution or successive executions may then issue without further notice or order for the whole of the said sum of money and costs then remaining unpaid, or for such portion thereof as such Court shall order, either at the time of making the original order, or at any subsequent time, under the Seal of the Court.

Warrants in execution against the body.

XVII. Whenever any Warrant shall issue for taking in execution the body of any person under this Act, the Bailiffs of the Court of Requests out of which such Warrant shall issue, shall be empowered, by virtue thereof, to take and convey him to any prison appointed by the Governor of the Settlement to be the prison of such Court, there to remain for such term as shall be directed by the Warrant, not longer than six calendar months, or until he shall sooner perform the order of such Court.

No person to be twice imprisoned nor execution against body and goods to issue at the same time under same judgment.

XVIII. No person shall be imprisoned twice under the same judgment, nor shall execution against the body and goods issue at the same time under the same judgment.

Warrants in execution against goods.

XIX. Every Bailiff executing any process of execution issuing out of any such Court against the goods of any person, may, by virtue thereof, sieze and take any of the goods of such person, (excepting the necessary wearing apparel and bedding of such person or his family, and the tools and implements of his trade,) and may also seize and take any money or bank notes, and any cheques, bills of exchange, promissory notes, bonds, specialties, or securities for money belonging to any such person against whom any execution shall have issued as aforesaid.

Penalty for contempts of Court.

XX. If any person shall wilfully insult any Commissioner, Clerk or other Officer of any such Court, for the time being, during his sitting or attendance in Court, or shall wilfully interrupt the proceedings of any such Court, or otherwise misbehave in any such Court, it shall be lawful for any Bailiff or Officer of the Court, with or without the assistance of any other person, by the order of a Commissioner of such Court, to take such offender into custody, and detain him until the rising of such Court; and the Commissioners shall be empowered, if they shall think fit, by a Warrant under their hands, and sealed with the seal of the Court, to commit any such offender to any prison to which they have power to commit offenders under this Act, for any time, not exceeding seven days, or to impose upon any such offender a fine not exceeding twenty-five Dollars for every such offence, and in default of payment thereof to commit the offender to any such prison as aforesaid, for any time not exceeding seven days, unless the said fine be sooner paid, or instead of inflicting summary punishment under this Act, may cause the offender to be indicted in the Court of Judicature if the offence be an indictable misdemeanor.

Penalty for assaulting Bailiff, &c., in execution of duty.

XXI. If any Officer or Bailiff of any such Court of Requests shall be assaulted while in the execution of his duty, or if any rescue shall be made or attempted to be made of any person arrested or goods levied under process of any such Court, the person so offending shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty Dollars, to be recovered by order of such Court, or before a Magistrate, and the Bailiff of the Court or any Peace Officer in any such case may take the offender into custody (with or without Warrant) and bring him before such Court or Magistrate accordingly

Penalty for Bailiff neglecting, &c., to execute warrant.

XXII. If any Bailiff of any such Court, who shall be employed to execute any Warrant of any such Court, shall, by neglect, or connivance or omission, lose an opportunity of executing such Warrant, then, upon complaint of the party aggrieved by reason of such neglect, connivance or omission (and the fact alleged being proved to the satisfaction of the Court), the Commissioners of such Court shall order the Bailiff to pay such damages as it shall appear that the plaintiff has sustained thereby, not exceeding in any case the sum of money for which the said execution is issued, and the Bailiff shall be liable thereto, and upon demand made thereof, and on his refusal so to pay and satisfy the same, payment thereof shall be enforced by such ways and means as are herein provided for enforcing a judgment recovered in the said Court, without prejudice nevertheless to the execution of the original Warrant.

Penalty for misconduc ton part of Clerk, Bailiff, &c.,

XXIII. If any Clerk, Bailiff, or other Officer of any such Court acting under color or pretence of the process of the said Court shall be charged with extortion or misconduct, or with not duly paying or accounting for any money levied by him under the authority of this Act, the Commissioners of such Court may enquire into such matter in a summary way, and for that purpose may summon and enforce the attendance of all necessary parties in like manner as the attendance of witnesses in any case may be enforced, and may make such order thereupon for the re-payment of any money extorted, or for the due payment of any money so levied as aforesaid, and for the payment of such damages and costs, as they shall think just; and also, if they shall think fit, may impose such fine upon the Clerk, Bailiff, or Officer, not exceeding fifty Dollars for each offence, as they shall deem adequate, and in default of payment of any money so ordered to be paid, payment of the same may be enforced by such ways and means as are herein provided for enforcing a judgment recovered in the said Court.

Penalty for Clerk, &c., taking bribe.

XXIV. Every Clerk, Bailiff, or other Officer employed in putting any of the powers of this Act in execution, who shall wilfully and corruptly exact, take, or accept, any fee or reward whatsoever, other than his lawful salary, for any thing done, or to be done by virtue of this Act, or on any account whatsoever, relative to putting this Act into execution, shall upon proof thereof before the Court in which such Clerk, Bailiff, or Officer is employed, and in the case of a Clerk, on confirmation of the finding of the Court by the Governor of the said Settlement be for ever incapable of serving or being employed under this Act in any office of profit or emolument, and shall also be liable for damages as herein provided.

Provision for cases of erroneous execution of process.

XXV. If any claim shall be made to, or in respect of, any Goods or Chattels taken in execution under the process of any Court of Requests under this Act, or in respect of the proceeds or value thereof, by any person not being the party against whom such process has issued, the Clerk of such Court, or other Officer as aforesaid, upon application of the Officer charged with the execution of such process, as well before as after any action brought against such Officer, may issue a Summons, calling before the said Court, as well the party issuing such process as the party making such claim, and thereupon any action which shall have been brought in the Court of Judicature in respect of such claim, shall be stayed, and the Judge of the Court of Judicature, on proof of the issue of such Summons, and that the Goods and Chattels were so taken in execution, may order the party bringing such action to pay the costs of all proceedings had upon such action, after the issue of such Summons out of such Court of Requests ; and the Commissioners of such Court of Requests shall adjudicate upon such claim, and make such order between the parties in respect thereof, and of the costs of the proceedings, as to them shall seem fit, and such order shall be enforced in like manner as any order made in any suit brought in such Courts.

Limit of damages in actions against Clerk, &c.

XXVI. M. WYLIE,

Clerk of the Council.

THE 31ST AUGUST 1861.

THE following Bill was read a second time in the Legislative Council of India on the 31st August 1861, and was referred to a Select Committee who are report thereon after the 4th of November next :—

A Bill for the Registration of Nijjote and Khamar and other such lands, as well as of Ryottee tenures involving the immediate occupation of the soil for the purposes of cultivation or for other purposes.

Preamble.

WHEREAS in the Lower Provinces of the Bengal Presidency disputes have arisen concerning the possession of Khamar, Nijjote, Ryottee, and other lands, in the immediate occupation of which, for purposes of cultivation, or for other purposes, the several disputants claim to be ; and the necessary enquiry into the disputed point of possession, whether made by a Civil Court or by a Magistrate under Act IV of 1840, requires a period of time, so that frequently a sowing season passes by before the possession of the land in dispute can be awarded to either party ; and whereas unfounded claims to the possession of such lands are sometimes made vexatiously and acts of forcible and wrongful entry upon such lands are sometimes committed for the purpose of preventing the cultivation by the true possessor ; and whereas it is just and expedient to provide a means whereby a person once in the actual, immediate, and uncontested possession of such lands can secure himself therein until ousted by order of a Civil Court in regular course of law ; It is enacted as follows :—

Register Book to be kept in Collectorates and Sub-Divisions.

I. A Register Book of tenures involving the immediate dominion over, and occupation of, the soil for purposes of cultivation, or for other purposes, shall be kept in every Sub-division for lands within the Sub-division, and in every Collectorate for lands within the District but not comprised within any Sub-division thereof ; and such books shall be in the custody of the Sub-divisional Officer having any or all of the powers of a Collector, and of the Collector, respectively. It shall be the duty of the Officer in whose custody the Register Book may be, or of any other Officer of the Revenue Department whom the Collector of the District may depute for the purpose, to make registration entries therein.

Extracts from Register Books to be entered in a book to be kept at every Thannah.

II. A book shall be kept at every Thannah, in the custody of the Police Officer in charge thereof, wherein shall be regularly entered, from time to time, by means of certified extracts from the Collectorate or Sub-divisional Register Books aforesaid, all registrations and mutations of registrations of such tenures as are aforesaid, of lands within the Police jurisdiction of the Thannah.

Particulars of entry in Register Books.

III. The following particulars shall be noted in every entry of a tenure made in the Register Books above mentioned :—

The name of the person in possession ; or in case of more than one person being in joint possession, the names of such persons.

The title under which the possession of the tenure is claimed to be held.

The nature of the tenure, and its term, whether perpetual or for a life or lives, or for years or otherwise.

The names of the Village and the Pergunnah within which the tenure is situated.

The extent of the land so possessed, as ascertained by measurement.

As accurate a description as possible of the position and a specification of the boundaries of the land so possessed.

Application for registry.

IV. When any person, being in the actual possession of land in use by him for the purpose of cultivation, or for any other purpose, and claimed by him to be held under a tenure involving the immediate possession of the soil, desires to register his holding under this Act, he may apply by petition on an eight anna Stamp to the Sub-divisional Officer, or to the Collector as aforesaid, in order to have his holding registered. This application must contain a true and correct statement, to the best of the applicant's knowledge, of the particulars required to be entered in the Register Book according to Section III, and it must also contain a statement of the person or persons through or from whom he claims to have derived or obtained the title under which he claims to hold the possession of the land. The Collector or other Officer may call on the applicant to deposit such a reasonable sum as may be sufficient for the expenses of the deputation of any Officer to the spot previous to registry.

Procedure on application.

V. The Registering Officer on receiving such an application shall immediately depute a person to identify and measure the land and boundaries described in the application as they may be pointed out by the applicant; and the person deputed shall write a brief report of the result, which report shall be filed with the application. In the report he shall state whether the particulars given in the application are in his opinion correct and sufficient for the future identification of the land. Upon this report the particulars in the application may be amended. The Registering Officer may, if he thinks fit, perform this work of identification and measurement himself.

Issue and publication of notices.

VI. At the same time the Registering Officer shall issue notices stating the particulars of the application. One of such notices shall be affixed in his own Office; one shall be affixed in some conspicuous place in the village wherein the land is situated; one shall be affixed at the Police Thannah within the jurisdiction of which the land lies; one shall be sent to the local Cutcherry of the Zemindar or Talookdar of the village specified, whenever such person may be held to have any lien or interest in the land to be registered; others may be sent to any other persons whom the Registering Officer may seem fit. In this notice, which shall be in the form shown in the Schedule to this Act appended, any person who may deny the fact of actual and immediate possession of the land specified as alleged in the application, shall be required to appear in person or by accredited Agent, before the Registering Officer within fourteen days from the date of the publication of the notice, or else to forego all right to be heard in opposition to the registration.

Procedure on appearance of any objector.

VII. On the appearance of any objector the Collector or other Officer shall make a summary enquiry into any objections urged that the land in question is not in possession of the applicant, and no opposition to registration shall be heard on any other ground. If the objection is not satisfactorily made out, the Collector or other Officer shall disallow it and proceed to grant the certificate. If the objections shall appear well founded, the applicant shall be referred to the Civil Court, and no further proceedings shall be taken by the Collector or other Officer in order to registration.

Procedure if no objector appears.

VIII. If no person appears to oppose registration within the term allowed in the notice, the Registering Officer shall require the applicant or his Agent, having personal knowledge of the particulars stated in the application, to depose upon oath or solemn affirmation to the truth of the same, as endorsed by the official identification and measurement of the land, and thereupon shall register the holding under this Act.

Fee for registry.

IX. A fee of four annas shall be charged on the making of every registration under this Act.

Effect of registration.

X. The effect of registration under this Act shall be to establish the person or persons in whose name or names the registration is made, in the right of occupation of the specific land registered, until ousted by order of a competent Civil Court. No suit under Act IV of 1840 shall be admissible regarding any land registered under this Act. It shall be the duty of the Police Officer in charge of the Thanna within the limits of which land registered under this Act lies, summarily to maintain against all attempts at forcible dispossession the person or persons in whose names the said land is registered in the exculsive occupation thereof, referring for his guidance in this respect to the book required by Section II to be kept up in his Thanna, and the Magisterial Officers of the District or Sub-division under whose orders such Police Officers are placed, shall see to the performance of this duty. But no entry in a Register Book under this Act shall remain in force, when the term of the tenure under which possession was claimed to be held, being in its nature temporary, has expired; or when the entry has been cancelled by a subsequent entry in the name of another party.

Extracts of entries in Register Books to be given on application, on payment of fee.

XI. An extract of any uncancelled entry in the District or Sub-divisional Register Book established under this Act, shall be given by the Officer in whose custody such Register Book may be, to any person on applying for the same, on payment of a fee of four annas.

Saving of rights in land.

XII. Nothing in this Act contained and nothing done under this Act shall affect in any way any person's right or title to any land, or any person's interests in any land. And no registration under this Act shall be held to confer or to alter any right in the land.

Operation of Act.

XIII. This Act shall be in force only in the Territories subject to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

FOREIGN DEPARTMENT.

No. 4325.

Fort William, the 6th August 1861.

Under the provision of Section CCCLXXXV. of Act No. VIII. of 1859, and Section III. of Act No. IV. of 1860, His Excellency the Governor General in Council is pleased to notify that, from 1st January 1862, Act VIII. of 1859 is extended to the Province of Oudh, subject to the following exceptions and provisoes :—

1. Section III. shall be subject to the following proviso :—

Provided that the Judicial Commissioner or any other Court exercising any appellate jurisdiction within the Province of Oudh may at any time within one year from the time of the passing or execution of any judgment or order by any Court subordinate to the said Appellate Court, call for such judgment or proceedings without any regular appeal or application for review having been preferred against the same, and may, if he, or it, shall see sufficient grounds, revise and alter or reverse or confirm the same. But that in such case, before revising, altering, or reversing any one judgment, or order, the said Judicial Commissioner, or it, shall cause the same notice to be given to the party in whose favor the said judgment, or order, was pronounced; and the same opportunity to such party to be heard in support thereof, and the same proceedings to be taken as if a Memorandum of appeal had been filed by the party aggrieved thereby.

2. Section XVII. is excepted, and the term recognized Agent is defined as follows, viz., a permanent servant, partner, relation or friend, whom the Court may admit as a fit person to represent a party, and especially persons holding Powers of Attorney from absent parties, persons carrying on business on behalf of Bankers and Traders, managing Agents of Landholders, nearest male relations of women, and persons ex-Officio authorized to act for Government, or for any Prince or Chief.

3. Section CXI. shall be subject to the following limitation : It shall not be obligatory on the Court to decide ex parte in the absence of Defendant, but the Court may proceed to compel his attendance under the following Rule, being the Rule now in force in Oudh :—

Rule.—If the Defendant does not appear, it shall be at the discretion of the Court to issue a Warrant to arrest him and detain him till another day appointed for the hearing of the case, and to attach his property.

4. Section CLXXII.—So much of this Section as requires that the whole of the evidence shall be taken down in writing in the language in ordinary use is excepted, and the record made by the hand of the Judge under the following Rule, being the Rule now in force in Oudh, shall be taken as a record of the evidence :—

Rule.—An intelligible note of the essential points of the evidence of each witness is to be taken at the time and in the course of oral examination by the Officer, who tries the case, in his own language. The notes must be legible, complete, and properly arranged, must attest the presence of the witness at the time, and mark every postponement and change of time and scene, so that their bonâ fide character may be apparent. Every essential point must be noted, but mere surplusage may be omitted. These notes shall be filed and shall form part of the record of the case. Provided that in cases tried by a European Officer, who has not passed the examination in the Native languages prescribed for Assistant Commissioners exorcising special powers, the evidence of witnesses shall also be recorded, at length, in their own language.

5. Section CCV.—So much of this Section as renders land liable to sale in execution of a decree will be subject to the restrictions on the sale of land prescribed by the following Rule, being the local Rule now in force in Oudh :—

Rule.—No Ancestral property in land shall be sold in satisfaction of a decree without the sanction of the Judicial Commissioner, and, before acquired property in land shall be so sold, the permission of the Divisional Commissioner shall be obtained.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT.

No. 173.

Extract from the Proceedings of the Government of India, in the Financial Department, under date the 20th August 1861.

READ the following papers regarding the organization and the duties of the Civil and Military Finance Departments:—

General Order of the Government of India in the Military Department, No. 710, dated the 6th July 1860.

Resolution of the Government of India, in the Financial Department, No. 119, dated the 16th November 1860.

Read a letter from the Chief of the Military Finance Department, No. 633A., dated the 15th August 1861, suggesting the expediency of defining the duties of the Controllers of Military Finance and abolishing the designation of Military Auditor General.

RESOLUTION.—His Excellency the Governor General in Council observes that by the orders already passed in the Military and Financial Departments, in regard to the constitution of the Department of Military Finance, the Office of Military Auditor General as an Auditor of Military disbursements in detail has been virtually abolished, the duty of after check on Military expenditure, known as the "detailed audit," having been transferred to the several Examiners of Military Accounts while the general functions of control hitherto exercised by the Military Auditor General have been merged in the enlarged powers of preliminary check and control over Military expenditure of every description before it is incurred. Entrusted under the new system, to the Controllers of Military Finance. The object of the change was to secure the practical application of a complete system of financial control. The mere exercise of previous control over expenditure without subsequent audit or mere subsequent audit without previous control, cannot either of them alone give adequate security to Government for the correct appropriation of the monies or stores as sanctioned, nor ensure prompt notice and correction of any irregularity or excess. The cases will probably be few in which actual interference will be required, as the beneficial results of the system are to be expected rather from the existence of the power of control than from its actual exercise.

The functions of the Controllers having thus been rendered more extensive than those appertaining to the Military Auditors General under the old system, His Excellency in Council directs that the title of Military Auditor General, hitherto associated with that of Controller of Military Finance be dispensed with, and that the local Chief of the Military Finance Department in each Presidency be distinguished in future by the single designation of Controller of Military Finance, as previously indicated in Financial Resolution No. 119, dated 16th November 1860.

The duties of these Officers have already been partially described in the General Order promulgated by the Military Department on the 6th July 1860. Their special and primary duty is to make a strict preliminary scrutiny into all demands for money or stores, whether the demand be entered in the Estimates of the several Departments or arise during the course of the year from unforeseen causes. It will also be their duty to supervise and control the appropriation of the grants according to the authorized or sanctioned scale, verifying by this preliminary appropriation audit, the apportionment as made by Government. When the disbursements come up for final appropriation audit, they are also held responsible for the due observance of these limits. They are now, as Controllers, exempt from direct responsibility for charges passed by the Examiners, and are consequently in a better position to judge of and report on the propriety and consistency of the acts of Executive Officers. But with a view of more clearly defining their position, His Excellency in Council now directs that the following additional Rules be laid down for the information and guidance of the authorities concerned.

The Controllers will check every requisition for stores on England as an element of the Annual Military Estimates.

The proceedings of administrative Heads of Military Departments involving money questions directly or indirectly, whether affecting requisitions for stores from England, expenditure from reserve stock, or disbursements of cash for procuring local supplies or carriage, will all be subject to the Controller's observation and opinion.

The cognizance and influence of the Controllers of Military Finance being thus extended to all affairs coming within the range of the Military Financial administration, it is necessary for the Governments of Madras and Bombay to refer to these Officers for report every question affecting the Military expenditure of the respective Presidencies, in accordance with the principle on which such questions are now forwarded for the opinion of the Military Finance Department, before orders are passed on them by the Government of India. On questions connected with Military expenditure in Bengal, the Controller of Military Finance will be consulted by the Military Finance Department.

ORDER.—Ordered, that copies of the foregoing Resolution be forwarded to the Military Department, the Military Finance Department, and the Governments of Madras and Bombay, for information and further necessary orders.

NOTIFICATION.—The 31st August 1861.—The leave granted to Mr. W. C. Tayler, Assistant Commissioner, Sonthal Pergunnahs, on the 5th ultimo, on Medical Certificate, is commuted to privilege leave.

E. H. LUSHINGTON,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

Public Works Department,—Bengal.

GENERAL,—ESTABLISHMENTS.

No. 59.

Fort William, the 3rd September 1861.

The Government of India having sanctioned the formation, in the Department of Public Works in the Lower Provinces of Bengal, of an Establishment of "Draftsmen and Computors," the following Rules are published by order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal:—

RULES.

1. The Establishment of "Draftsmen and Computors" will rank with the Lower Subordinate Grade of the Public Works Department and be subject generally to all Regulations, and will partake of all benefits, allowed to that Grade, in the Public Works Code.

2. This Establishment will be divided into two Classes, to rank with the 1st and 2nd Class of Sub-Overseers, and to draw the same rates of pay, viz:—

Ten of the 1st Class—
Deserving men above 10 years' service ...	Rs. 60	per mensem.
" " 5 " " ...	" 50	"
All others	" 40	"
Fifteen of the 2nd Class—
Deserving men above 10 years' service ...	" 35	"
" " 5 " " ...	" 30	"
All others	" 25	"

3. The qualifications required are a knowledge and practice of Architectural and Map drawing, sufficient for the preparation of a set of Drawings from a written Memorandum, and to copy well a Map or Topographical Drawing. The Candidate must also be able to compute the measurements and quantities of a Building from Drawings, or from a Building itself, and be able to read and and write English.

4. Appointments will generally be made upon Certificates of qualifications obtained from the Principal of the Civil Engineering College, or from a Superintending Engineer.

5. Appointments, in the first instance, wil be made from Draftsmen now employed in the Department, who may be favorably reported upon, and their terms of previous service will count so far as entitling them to the increased rate of pay for length of service. If a Draftsman and Computor does not possess a sufficient knowledge of English, his salary will be subject to a deduction of one-tenth, and he will not be permanently appointed until he obtains the required Certificate.

6. Promotions will be made from the lower to the higher class, according to qualifications and merit.

7. Draftsmen and Computors appointed under these Rules will be liable to be transferred to any Division under the Bengal Government, and, when travelling, will receive the allowance authorized by the Code for the Lower Subordinate Establishment.

SEPARATE REVENUE (STAMPS) DEPARTMENT.

No. 191A.

Nynee Tal, the 17th August 1861.

The following Opinion of the Advocate-General to the effect that European and Native Military Courts of Request are Civil Courts within the meaning of Act XXXVI of 1860, is published for general information:—

Opinion of the Advocate-General, dated the 17th July 1861.

I AM of opinion that the late ruling of Government applies equally to European Courts of Requests established under the Mutiny Act for the Indian Forces (20 and 21 Vic., C. 66,) as it does to the Courts of a Cantonment Joint Magistrate exercising Civil jurisdiction and the Military Courts of Requests constituted under Act XI of 1841.

I think all these classes of Courts are Civil Courts within the meaning of Schedule B. of the Stamp Act (No. XXXVI of 1860). I quite concur in the reasons stated in the Resolution of the Government above cited for holding that these Courts are in reality Civil Courts, administering exclusively Civil justice in regard to certain classes of persons, and substituted by the Legislature for the ordinary Civil Courts in respect of such persons, in cases falling within their jurisdiction in point of amount.

This ruling will not of course render it necessary that any Petition or Proceeding which, according to the present practice of such Courts, does not require to be in writing, shall be reduced to writing for the purpose of being stamped. But it does I think make it necessary that where Petitions or other Proceedings in writing, which under Schedule B of the Stamp Act require a Stamp on being presented or filed in the ordinary Civil Courts, are presented or filed, such documents shall bear the Stamp appropriated to them by that Schedule.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT.

No. 2132A.

Nynee Tal, the 15th August 1861.

Three months' privilege leave of absence under Section XII. of the Covenanted Service Leave Rules is granted to Mr. G. W. Colledge, Joint Magistrate and Deputy Collector of the First Grade in the District of Boolundshuhur, from the date on which he may avail himself of the same.

No. 2138A.

The 16th August 1861.

With reference to the Notification in this Department No. 1386A., dated the 5th June last, it is hereby notified that the following Gentlemen have been appointed by the Honorable the Lieutenant-Governor to form a Subordinate Committee in the Mirzapoor District for the purposes of the Great Exhibition of Arts to be opened in London on the 1st May 1862.

H. P. Fane, Esq., Officiating Judge.
C. B. Denison, Esq., Collector and Magistrate.
J. H. Loch, Esq., Civil Surgeon.
C. Maclean, Esq.,
Mohunt Jyram Geer.
Ukbur Allee Khan.

2. Persons desirous of offering articles for Exhibition will take notice that they must submit their applications to the Committee on or before the 20th September next.

No. 2155A.

The 17th August 1861.

The leave of absence for two months granted to Mr. M. R. Gubbins, Judge of the Court of Sudder Dewany and Nizamut Adawlut, in Orders of the 20th ultimo, No. 1842A., will have effect from the 30th instant, instead of the 7th proximo, as therein stated, or from the subsequent date on which he may avail himself of the same.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT.

No. 1420A.

Nynee Tal, the 17th August 1861.

The attention of all Officers responsible for the expenditure of public money is earnestly directed to the Extract from the Proceedings of the Government of India in the Financial Department, No. 121, dated the 15th June last, and re-published in the Government Gazette, North-Western Provinces, of the 9th July last, page 890.

2. It will be noticed that the Officiating Deputy Auditor and Accountant General, North-Western Provinces, is required by those orders to close his Budget Estimates so as to reach the Local Government on the 10th January of each year; that he may be enabled to do this, it is imperatively necessary that he should be in possession of every Departmental Budget Estimate, without any exception, on or before the 15th December, the date fixed by the Resolution above cited. The default of one Local Officer even must retard the completion of the Budget for the North-Western Provinces, and in like manner delay in the submission of one Provincial Budget to the Government of India must hinder the settlement of the Estimates for the whole Empire.

3. The Lieutenant-Governor desires to impress upon all Officers concerned the paramount necessity of preparing their Budget Estimates in the fullest, clearest, and most careful detail that is practicable, and of despatching them in time to reach the Office of the Deputy Auditor and Accountant General on the 15th December of each year at the latest.

4. Any deficiency or inaccuracy in the details of the Departmental Budget Estimates will necessitate their return for explanation or correction, and will thus cause delay, not less mischievous than want of punctuality in their primary submission to the Office of Account. Every Officer, the Lieutenant-Governor is fully assured, will feel that discredit must fall upon him, if by his want of care, or by his disregard of punctuality, the Financial administration of the Government of India should be hindered.

5. It is the intention of the Deputy Auditor and Accountant General to furnish shortly all Officers whose duty it will be to supply Budget Estimates with the fullest instructions, accompanied by the requisite Tabular Forms, and the Lieutenant-Governor expects that due attention being given to these, all the Local Budget Statements for the year 1862-63 will be submitted to that Officer in full and accurate detail on or before the 15th December.

By Order of the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor of the North-Western Provinces.

GEORGE COUPER,
Secy. to Govt., North-Western Provinces.

ORDERS by the LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR, Punjab Provinces.

No. 1626.

The 13th August 1861.

Notification.—The Proprietors of Horse Dâk Companies in the Punjab and its Dependencies, their Agents and Managers, are requested to take notice that Act No. XVI of 1861, entitled "An Act for Licensing and Regulating Stage Carriages," will come into force in these Provinces on the 1st September 1861.

2. From and after the date mentioned, it will not be lawful for any person to let for hire any Stage Carriage, unless it shall have been licensed as provided by the Act above cited, and the requirements of Section 5 thereof shall have been conformed to.

3. A Licence will be in force for one year only, and the letting for hire of a Stage Carriage after the expiry of that period, without renewal of Licence, will subject the Proprietor to the penalties described in Section 7 of the Act.

4. Particular attention is directed to Section 5 of the Act above cited.

5. Each Carriage used as a Stage Carriage is required by the Law to be separately licensed.

6. Application for Licence may be addressed for the present to the Deputy Commissioner of Delhi,

Ditto Kurnaul,
Ditto Umballa,
Ditto Jullundur,
Ditto Umritsur,
Ditto Lahore,
Ditto Mooltan,

who have been specially authorized in that behalf by the Government.

7. The attention of all Magistrates and all Police Officers in these Provinces has been directed to the provisions of Act No. XVI of 1861, and all parties concerned are hereby required to take warning that from and after the 1st day of September next ensuing, the penalties prescribed for infringement of the said provisions will be duly enforced.

UNDER the Board's Notice No. 236, dated the 28th May last, there will be, after the conclusion of this day's Sale, a re-sale at the risk of the first purchasers, of 25 Lots or 125 Chests of Behar Opium, being the Lots numbered 198 to 222 of the Sale of the 8th May last, for which full payment had not been made within the period prescribed in the 8th Clause of the Sale Conditions

By Order of the Board of Revenue,

H. B. DEVEREUX,
Offg. Junior Secretary.

FORT WILLIAM,
The 12th August 1861.

Notification.

CIVIL PAY MASTER'S OFFICE.

The attention of Treasury Officers is solicited to the proper mode of filling up the "Monthly Estimate of probable receipts and disbursements," which has been misunderstood in several instances.

The first columns on the debit and credit side are intended to show respectively, the amounts of estimated receipts and disbursements for the "current year." The amounts entered should be the amounts sanctioned by Government in the Budget under each head. These columns must consequently remain unaltered throughout the year, unless under special circumstances, and by the authority of Government.

The second columns are intended to exhibit the actual receipts and disbursements of the year up to date; that is to say, the Return for any month should show the total receipts and disbursements under each head, to the close of the preceding month from the commencement of the Official year; thus the Statement for September (due on the 5th of the month) should show all receipts and disbursements in its second columns from 1st May to the 31st August under each head.

The remaining columns exhibit probable receipts and disbursements for the current and two ensuing months.

In cases of estimated remittances, the name of the District to which such remittance is to be made, or from which it is expected, should always be exhibited in the column of "Remarks."

It is requested that the Returns may be prepared with care and forwarded with punctuality. Unnecessary delay on the part of any Officer will immediately be brought to the notice of Government.

HUGH SANDEMAN,
Civil Pay Master.

Government of Bengal.

Memorandum on the present state of the new route to Darjeeling from Caragolah Ghat on the Ganges to Titaleeah at the foot of the Hills.

From LIEUTENANT-COLONEL J. P. BEADLE, Officiating Secretary to the Government of Bengal, in the Public Works Department, to the Post-Master General of Bengal,—(dated the 30th August 1861)

I AM instructed by the Lieutenant-Governor to forward to you the accompanying Memorandum drawn up by the Officiating Chief Engineer, Lower Provinces, respecting the state of the new Road to Darjeeling, which will be published to remove the uncertainty which now exists regarding its route; and I am to suggest that the Post Office Department should make all the necessary arrangements for laying Palanquin Dawks for Travellers along this new Road, from Caragolah to Titaleeah.

A FERRY will be established, simultaneously with the opening of the Railway to Bhaugulpore, to ply between Colgong to Caragolah Ghat and from Caragolah Ghat to Sahibgunge Station; one trip each way per diem.

At Caragolah Ghat there is a Dawk Bungalow with accommodation for six Travellers. The Road to Purneah, twenty-nine miles, is a high and well raised embanked Road thirty feet wide, the greater portion of which is between a fine avenue of old trees. There is only one break in the Road, the Chota Koosee River, six miles from Purneah, where a convenient Ferry is established.

At Purneah there is a Building, part of which is arranged as a Dawk Bungalow to accommodate two parties of Travellers, but should more Travellers arrive, there is room for them in other portions of the Building.

There is an intermediate Bungalow at Gondwarah constructed for the shelter of the Road Officers.

From Purneah to the Mahanuddy River, which has a wide sandy bed of about 600 yards, the Road as far as the earth-work formation is concerned has been completed, and has stood well throughout the extraordinary inundations of this year; but some of the temporary Timber Bridges which had been erected in those places, where it was considered advisable to afford passages for the inundations of the Mahanuddy, which are obstructed by the formation of this raised Road, have proved to be insufficient for such a flood as has been experienced this year. Some of the Timber Bridges which were but slightly injured have been repaired; others, about six in number, will require such alterations as will make it necessary for Travellers to cross in boats whilst the waters remain on the land, and at all these places Ferry boats are provided so as to reduce the inconvenience to a minimum. The distance from Purneah to the Mahanuddy is twenty-three miles, and there are three Road Bungalows in this distance, where, on any emergency, shelter may be obtained.

From the Mahanuddy to Kissengunge Dawk Bungalow, the Road is completed and without a break; the distance is nineteen miles, and there is a Road Bungalow about half way.

From Kissengunge to Titaleeah, thirty-eight miles, there is only one break, caused by the Donk River, which is eight miles on this side of Titaleeah. There are a Ferry and a Road Bungalow at the Donk River and two Road Bungalows between it and Kissengunge.

There is a Dawk Bungalow at Titaleeah with accommodation for two parties of Travellers.

Titaleeah is the junction of the new Road, with the old Dinagepore route, which is followed up to Darjeeling; no alterations having been as yet made in the Road from the base of the Hills.

Titaleeah is sixty miles from Darjeeling.

There are Dawk Bungalows at Silligoree (sixteen miles) which is at the foot of the Terai.

There are Dawk Bungalows at Punkabarree (sixteen miles) which is 1,600 feet above the Sea, and beyond the Terai.

There are Dawk Bungalows at Kurseong (six miles) which is 4,600 feet above the Sea.

There are Dawk Bungalows at Chuttuckpore (eleven miles) which is 7,100 feet above the Sea, and eleven miles from Darjeeling.

Government of Bengal.

Sale of Government Khas Mehals.

From RIVERS THOMPSON, ESQ., Junior Secretary to the Government of Bengal, to W. GREY, ESQ., Secretary to the Government of India, Home Department,—(dated the 22nd February 1861.)

WITH advertence to the 3rd paragraph of your letter No. 2152, dated the 1st November 1859, I am directed by the Lieutenant-Governor to forward, for the information of the Supreme Government, the accompanying copy of an Estimate furnished by the Board of Revenue in May last, of the area and gross jumma of the Government Khas Mehals to be sold in all the Divisions of the Lower Provinces; also a copy of their further Report, No. 58, dated the 22nd ultimo, showing, 1*st*. The system upon which the Board have generally determined the upset selling price of each Estate, 2*ndly*. The extent and result of the sales up to date, and 3*rdly*. An Estimate, based on the ascertained result of those sales, of the amount that may be realized by the sale of the remainder of the Estates.

From H. L. DAMPIER, ESQ., Officiating Secretary to the Board of Revenue, to the Officiating Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(No. 58, dated the 22nd January 1861.)

IN reply to the Junior Secretary's letter No. 1249, dated the 28th May last, I am desired by the Board of Revenue to state, for the information of the Lieutenant-Governor, that hitherto they have dealt specially with each Estate in the several Districts, and that they have been guided, in a great measure, by the probable price, which the Collector has reported each Mehal to be likely to fetch.

2. In those cases, in which sales have as yet been ordered, the upset price has generally been fixed at one year's gross jumma, which appeared to the Board to be the lowest price which should fairly be accepted. The results of the sales have, however, shown that the amount fixed at the upset price in no way affects the price realized by the sale. The lowest limit is fixed merely as a safeguard to provide against the chance of the Estate being sacrificed at an unexpectedly low bid.

3. The result of the sales as yet held and reported by the Collectors is shown in the Memorandum below:—

Districts.	Number of Mehals.	Sudder Jumma.	Price realized.
Beerbhoom	12	4,344 0 0	24,768 4 0
Bancoorah	5	132 7 0	928 0 0
Burdwan	65	717 3 3	4,614 2 10
Hooghly	44	733 5 4	8,435 3 0
Midnapore	2*	50,522 7 9½	4,87,110 0 0
Monghyr...	31	1,033 13 8	28,130 0 0
Tirhoot	6	3,272 13 2	46,906 0 0
Cuttack	1	5 0 0	63 0 0
Grand Total ...	166	60,763 2 2½	6,00,953 9 10

4. Taking the above ascertained results in which the price realized has equalled about ten times the Sudder Jumma as the basis of a rough calculation, the amount to be realized by the sale of the Government Khas Mehals would be as follows:—

	Number of Mehals.	Sudder Jumma.	Selling price realized or estimated.
Estates already sold ...	166	60,763 10 11½	6,00,953 5 10
Estates remaining to be sold ...	5195	17,12,837 18 4½	1,71,21,123 5 10
Total	5361	17,73,601 8 4½	1,77,21,123 5 10

But with reference to the character of the Estates sold and those remaining to be sold, the Board are of opinion that five times the Sudder Jumma is the highest average which they can calculate upon realizing by the sales. This would amount to Rupees 88,60,561-10-11.

5. The sales, however, must extend over some years, as, in many instances, it is not expedient to sell those Estates on which farming leases have still a considerable time to run, or in which there is a prospect of a large increase of assessment on extended cultivation on the expiry of the current settlements.

6. Sales are now in progress in the following Districts, and the results will be shortly reported:—

Bhaugulpore, Purneah, Shahabad, 24-Pergunnahs, and Dacca.

* These two large Estates were sold in 118 separate lots.

Estimate of the probable value of the Government Khas Mehals to be sold, called for in paragraph 3 of the Orders of the Government of India, No. 2152, dated 1st November 1859.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 7, 1861.

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL OF INDIA.

THE 31ST AUGUST 1861.

THE following Act, passed by the Legislative Council of India, received the assent of the Right Honorable the Governor General on the 28th August 1861, and is hereby promulgated for general information :—

ACT No. XXIII OF 1861.

An Act to amend Act VIII of 1859 (for simplifying the Procedure of the Courts of Civil Judicature not established by Royal Charter).

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend Act VIII of 1859 (for simplifying the Procedure of the Courts of Civil Judicature not established by Royal Charter) and to consolidate the Acts previously passed for the amendment of the said Act: It is enacted as follows :—

Acts repealed.

1. Sections 23, 33, 193, 215, 274, 283, 332, 339, 358, 375, and 381 of Act VIII of 1859, Act IV of 1860 (to amend Act VIII of 1859), Section X Act XLII of 1860 (for the establishment of Courts of Small Causes beyond the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Supreme Courts of Judicature established by Royal Charter), and Act XLIII of 1860 (to amend Act VIII of 1859), are hereby repealed.

Cost of serving process.

2. Every process required to be issued under Act VIII of 1859 shall be served at the expense of the party at whose instance it is issued, unless otherwise specially directed by the Court; and the sum required to defray the costs of such service shall be paid into Court before the process is issued, within a period to be fixed by the Court issuing the process.

Requisite sum to be paid into Court within a certain time before process is issued.

Plaint to be returned, if it appear to the Court that it has not jurisdiction.

3. If it appear to the Court in any case relating to land or other immoveable property that such land or other property is not situate within the limits of the jurisdiction of the Court, or in any other case that the cause of action did not arise, and that the defendant is not dwelling or personally working for gain within such limits, the Court shall return the plaint to the plaintiff in order to its being presented in the proper Court.

In what Court a suit against several defendants may be brought.

4. If in any suit there are more defendants than one, and at the date of the institution of the suit all the defendants shall not reside within the jurisdiction of the Court in which the suit is brought, but one or more of the defendants shall reside within such jurisdiction, the suit shall not be rejected by reason of all the defendants not residing within the jurisdiction of the Court in which the suit is brought, but the District Court, if the suit is pending in any Court subordinate to such Court, or the Sudder Court, may order that the suit be heard in any Court subordinate to such Sudder or District Court, and competent in respect of the value of the suit to try the same.

Procedure on discovery, on the day fixed for defendant to appear and answer, that usual notice has not been served in consequence of failure of plaintiff to deposit the cost of issuing the same.

Provisions of last Section to apply to appeals also.

6. The provisions of the last preceding Section shall apply to appeals also.

Procedure in case of dismissal of suit under Section 5.

7. Whenever a suit is dismissed under the provisions of Section 5 of this Act, the plaintiff shall be at liberty to institute a fresh suit, unless precluded by the rules for the limitation of actions, or if the plaintiff shall satisfy the Court within the period of thirty days from the date of the order dismissing the suit that there was a sufficient excuse for his not making the deposit required within the time allowed, the Court may order a fresh summons to issue upon the plaint already filed.

Procedure on application for discharge by a person arrested in execution of a decree for money.

8. When a person arrested under a warrant in execution of a decree for money shall, on being brought before the Court, apply for his discharge on either of the grounds mentioned in Section 273 of Act VIII of 1859 the Court shall examine the applicant in the presence of the plaintiff or his pleader as to his then circumstances and as to his future means of payment, and shall call upon the plaintiff to show cause why he does not proceed against any property of which the defendant is possessed and why the defendant should not be discharged; and should the plaintiff fail to show such cause, the Court may direct the discharge of the defendant from custody. Pending any enquiry which the Court may consider it necessary to make into the allegations of either party, the Court may leave the defendant in the custody of the Officer of the Court to whom the service of the warrant was entrusted, on the defendant depositing the fees of such Officer, which shall be at the same daily rate as the lowest rate charged in the same Court for serving process; or if the defendant furnish good and sufficient security for his appearance at any time when called upon while such enquiry is being made, his surety or sureties undertaking in default of such appearance to pay the amount mentioned in the warrant, the Court may release the defendant on such security.

Court may of its own accord summon witnesses.

9. If the Court shall at any time think it necessary for the ends of justice to examine any person other than a party to the suit and not named as a witness by a party to the suit, the Court may, of its own accord, cause such person to be summoned as a witness to give evidence, or to produce any document in his possession on a day to be appointed, and may examine such person as a witness. The costs of summoning such person, if not deposited by either party to the suit, shall be paid by the Collector under an order of the Court, and shall be costs in the suit, and shall be paid out of any money recovered on account of costs in the suit, whether at the instance of the Government or of either party, before any other costs in the suit are paid.

In suits for money decree may order certain interest to be paid on the principal sum adjudged.

10. When the suit is for a sum of money due to the plaintiff, the Court may in the decree order interest at such rate as the Court may think proper to be paid on the principal sum adjudged from the date of suit to the date of the decree, in addition to any interest adjudged on such principal sum for any period prior to the date of suit; with further interest on the aggregate sum so adjudged and on the costs of the suit from the date of the decree to the date of payment.

How questions regarding amount of mesne profits and interest and sums paid in satisfaction of decrees, &c., are to be determined.

11. All questions regarding the amount of any mesne profits which by the terms of the decree may have been reserved for adjustment in the execution of the decree, or of any mesne profits or interest which may be payable in respect of the subject matter of a suit between the date of the institution of the suit and execution of the decree, as well as questions relating to sums alleged to have been paid in discharge or satisfaction of the decree or the like, and any other questions arising between the parties to the suit in which the decree was passed and relating to the execution of the decree, shall be determined by order of the Court executing the decree, and not by separate suit, and the order passed by the Court shall be open to appeal. Provided that if upon a perusal of the petition of appeal and of the order against which the appeal is made, the Court shall see no reason to alter the order, it may reject the appeal, and it shall not be necessary in such case to issue a notice to the respondent before the order of rejection is passed.

Appeals from orders rejected under Section 364, Act VIII of 1859, may be admitted on application.

12. An appeal from an order passed in execution of a decree which shall have been rejected as inadmissible under Section 364 of Act VIII of 1859, or which would have been inadmissible before the passing of this Act, but which is rendered admissible by this Act, may be admitted on an application in writing to the Court which rejected the appeal or by which the appeal, had it been admissible before the passing of this Act, would have been cognizable, provided the application be preferred within ninety days from the date of the passing of this Act.

Application to be on Stamp Paper.

The application may be written on the Stamp Paper prescribed for petitions in the Court to which it is presented when a Stamp on petitions is required.

In suits of the nature and amount cognizable by Small Cause Courts, Court may, on verbal application of judgment-creditor, direct immediate execution either against the person or property of judgment-debtor.

13. When a decree is passed in any suit of the nature and amount cognizable by Courts of Small Causes constituted under Act XLII of 1860, the Court passing the decree, whether such Court be a Court constituted as aforesaid or any other Court, may, at the same time that it passes the decree, on the verbal application of the party in whose favor the decree is given, direct immediate execution thereof by the issue of a warrant directed either against the person of the judgment-debtor if he is within the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court passing the decree, or against the personal property of the judgment-debtor within the same limits. If the warrant be directed against the personal property of the judgment-debtor, it may be general against any personal property of the judgment-debtor wherever it may be found within the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court, or special against any personal property belonging to the judgment-debtor within the same limits, which shall be indicated by the judgment-creditor.

Co-sharer of a share of a Putteedaree estate sold in execution of decree may claim to take the share at the sale price.

14. When the land sold in execution of a decree is a share of a Putteedaree estate paying revenue to Government as defined in Section II Act I of 1841 (for facilitating the collection of the Revenue of Government and defining the interest intended to be conveyed by public sales for the realization of arrears of the Public Revenue in Putteedaree estates,) if the lot shall have been knocked down to a stranger, any co-sharer other than the judgment-debtor, or any other member of the coparcenary, may claim to take the share sold at the sum at which the lot was knocked down. Provided that the claim be made on the day of sale, and that the claimant fulfil all the conditions of the sale.

Proviso

15. The Court, on receiving any application for execution of a decree containing the particulars mentioned in Section 212 of Act VIII of 1859, or such of them as may be applicable to the case, shall enter a note of the application and the date on which it was made in the Register of the suit. If it shall be shown to the Court that the particulars do not correspond with the original decree, the Court shall either return the application for correction to the person making it, or shall, with the consent of such person, cause the necessary correction to be made. If the application be admitted, the Court shall order execution of the decree according to the nature of the application.

Procedure on receiving application for execution of decree.

16. When in any case pending before any Court any witness or other person shall appear to the Court to have been guilty of an offence described in Sections 193, 194, 195, 196, 199, 200, 205, 206, 207, 208, 209, or 210 of the Indian Penal Code, the Court may commit such person to take his trial for the offence before the Court of Session, or after making such preliminary enquiry as may be necessary, may send the case for investigation to any Magistrate having jurisdiction to try or commit for trial the accused person for the offence charged, and such Magistrate shall thereupon proceed according to law.

Procedure when certain offences under Chapter XI of the Penal Code are committed in any case pending before any Court.

17. The Court may send the person accused in custody or take sufficient bail for his appearance before the Magistrate and may bind over any person to appear and give evidence before the Magistrate.

Court may take bail and bind over witnesses to give evidence.

18. When the commitment is made by the Court, the Court shall frame a charge in the manner provided in Chapter XIII of the Code of Criminal Procedure and shall transmit the same with the order of commitment and the record of the case to the Magistrate, and such Magistrate shall bring the case together with the witnesses for the prosecution and defence before the Court of Session.

How the charge is to be framed.

19. When in any case pending before any Court there shall appear to the Court sufficient ground for sending for investigation to the Magistrate, a charge described in Sections 463, 471, 475, or 476 of the Indian Penal Code, which may be preferred in respect to any deed or paper offered in evidence in the case, the Court may send the person accused in custody to the Magistrate or take sufficient bail for his appearance before the Magistrate. The Court shall send to the Magistrate the evidence and documents relevant to the charge, and shall bind over any person to appear and give evidence before such Magistrate. The Magistrate shall receive such charge and proceed with it under the rules for the time being in force.

Procedure in case of certain offences relating to documents.

20. If the person accused or any one of the persons accused in any case falling under Section 16 or Section 19 of this Act is a European British subject, the Court shall send such person in custody or take sufficient bail for his appearance before an Officer empowered to commit or hold to bail persons charged with offences for trial before a Supreme Court of Judicature, and such Officer shall proceed according to law.

Procedure in case person accused under Sections 16 or 19 is a European British subject.

21. When any such offence as is described in Sections 175, 178, 179, 180, or 228 of the Indian Penal Code is committed in the view or presence of any Court, it shall be competent to such Court to cause the offender, whether he be a European British subject or not, to be detained in custody; and at any time before the rising of the Court on the same day to take cognizance of the offence; and to adjudge the offender to punishment by fine not exceeding 200 Rupees, or by imprisonment in the Civil Jail for a period not exceeding one month unless such fine be sooner paid. In every such case the Court shall record the facts constituting the contempt, with any statement the offender may make, as well as the finding and sentence. If the Court, in any case, shall consider that a person accused of any offence above referred to should be imprisoned, or that a fine exceeding 200 Rupees should be imposed upon him, such Court, after recording the facts constituting the contempt, and the statement of the accused person as before provided, shall forward the case to a Magistrate, or, if the accused person be a European British subject, to a Justice of the Peace, and shall cause bail to be taken for the appearance of such accused person before such Magistrate or Justice of the Peace, or if sufficient bail be not tendered shall cause the accused person to be forwarded under custody to such Magistrate or Justice of the Peace. If the case be forwarded to a Magistrate, such Magistrate shall proceed to try the accused person in the manner provided for trials before a Magistrate, and it shall be competent to such Magistrate to adjudge such offender to punishment, as provided in the Section of the Indian Penal Code under which he is charged. If the case be forwarded to a Justice of the Peace, such Justice of the Peace shall enquire into the circumstances, and shall have the same powers of punishing the offender as are vested by the Statute 53 George III., C. 155, S. 105, in a Justice of the Peace for the punishment of an assault, and may deal with the offender in the same manner as is provided in that behalf in the said Statute. If such Justice of the Peace shall consider the offence to require a more severe punishment than a Justice of the Peace is competent to award under the said Statute, he may commit the offender to a Supreme Court of Judicature.

Procedure in certain cases of contempt.

22. When any person has been sentenced to punishment under the last preceding Section, for refusing or omitting to do anything which he was lawfully required to do, it shall be competent to the Court to discharge the offender, or to remit the punishment, on the submission of the offender to the order or requisition of such Court.

Discharge of an offender on his submission.

23. Except when otherwise expressly provided in this or any other Regulation or Act for the time being in force, an appeal shall lie from the decrees of the Courts of original jurisdiction to the Courts authorized to hear appeals from the decisions of those Courts. If the appeal lie to the Sudder Court, it shall be heard and determined by a Court consisting of two or more Judges of that Court. If, when the Court shall consist of only two Judges, there is a difference of opinion upon the evidence in cases in which it is competent to the Court to go into the evidence, and one Judge concur in opinion with the Lower Court as to the facts, the case shall be determined accordingly: if in a Court so constituted there is a difference of opinion upon a point of law, the Judges shall state the point upon which they differ, and the case shall be re-argued upon that question before one or more of the other Judges and shall be determined according to the opinion of the majority of the Judges of the Sudder Court by whom the appeal is heard.

Appeal to lie from all decrees, except when expressly prohibited.

Appeal to Sudder Court to be heard by two or more Judges.

24. The sureties for the appearance of any person under Section 76 of the said Act VIII of 1859, may at any time apply to the Court in which they became such sureties to be discharged from their engagements. On such application being made the Court shall summon such person to attend, or if it shall think fit may issue a warrant in the first instance for his appearance. On the appearance of such person pursuant to the summons or warrant or on his voluntary surrender, the Court shall direct the recognizances of the sureties to be discharged, and shall call upon such person to find other sureties, and thereupon proceedings shall be had under Sections 77 and 78 of the said Act.

Procedure in case of application by sureties to be discharged.

25. If the application for the admission of a special appeal be not written on a Stamp paper of the prescribed value, or if it be not drawn up in the manner laid down in Section 374 of Act VIII of 1859, or if it do not state any ground on which a special appeal will lie under the provisions of Section 372 of the said Act, the Court may reject the application, or may return it to the party for the purpose of being corrected. The order for rejecting the application or for returning it to the party may be passed by a single Judge of the Court. When the application is correctly drawn up, it shall be registered in a book to be kept for that purpose, which shall be in the form contained in the Schedule D. of the said Act, and the case shall proceed in all other respects as a regular appeal, and shall be subject to all the rules hereinbefore provided for such appeals, so far as the same be applicable.

Application for the admission of a special appeal informally drawn up, how to be dealt with.

26. No appeal shall lie from any order or decision passed in any suit instituted under Section XV Act XIV of 1859 (to provide for the limitation of suits), nor shall any review of any such order or decision be allowed.

No appeal from order or decision under Section 15 Act XIV of 1859.

27. No special appeal shall lie from any decision or order which shall be passed on regular appeal after the passing of this Act by any Court subordinate to the Sudder Court, in any suit of the nature cognizable in Courts of Small Causes under Act XLII of 1860 (for the establishment of Courts of Small Causes beyond the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Supreme Courts of Judicature established by Royal Charter), when the debt, damage, or demand for which the original suit shall be instituted shall not exceed five hundred Rupees; but every such order or decision shall be final.

No special appeal from decision of any Court subordinate to the Sudder Court in certain suits.

28. If in any suit in which an order or decision is made final under the last preceding Section, any question of law, or usage having the force of law, or the construction of a document affecting the merits of the case shall arise on which the Court trying such suit shall entertain reasonable doubts, the Court may, either of its own motion or on the application of either of the parties to the suit, draw up a statement of the case, and submit such statement with its own opinion for the decision of the Sudder Court.

Reference of question to the Sudder.

29. The Court may proceed in the case notwithstanding a reference to the Sudder Court, and may pass a decree contingent upon the opinion of the Sudder Court on the point referred; but no execution shall be issued in any case in which a reference shall be made to the Sudder Court until the receipt of the order of that Court.

Court may pass decree contingent upon the opinion of the Sudder Court, pending which execution not to issue.

30. Cases referred for the opinion of the Sudder Court shall be dealt with by two or more Judges of that Court.

Two or more Judges of Sudder Court to decide cases referred under Section 28.

31. The Sudder Court shall fix an early day for the hearing of the case, and shall notify the same by a Proclamation to be fixed up in the Court-house of that Court.

Sudder Court to fix an early day for the hearing of the case. Proclamation thereof.

32. The parties to the case may appear and be heard in the Sudder Court in person or by pleader.

Parties may appear and be heard in person or by pleader.

33. The Sudder Court, when it has heard and considered the case, shall transmit a copy of its judgment under the seal of the Court and the signature of the Register, to the Court by which the reference was made; and such Court shall, on the receipt thereof, proceed to dispose of the case conformably to the decision of the Sudder Court.

Decision of Sudder Court how to be transmitted.

34. Costs, if any, consequent on the reference of a case for the opinion of the Sudder Court, shall be costs in the suit.

Costs of reference to Sudder Court.

35. The Sudder Court may call for the record of any case decided on appeal by any subordinate Court in which no further appeal shall lie to the Sudder Court, if such subordinate Court shall appear in hearing the appeal to have exercised a jurisdiction not vested in it by law, and the Sudder Court may set aside the decision passed on appeal in such case by the Subordinate Court, or may pass such other order in the case as to such Sudder Court may seem right.

Sudder Court may call for record of Lower Appellate Court, and set aside its decision, though no appeal shall lie to the Sudder Court.

Security may be taken when execution is required of a decree which has been appealed against.

36. When an order is made for the execution of a decree against which an appeal has been preferred, it shall be lawful for the Court which pronounced the decree to require security to be given for the restitution of any property which may be taken in execution of the decree or of the value thereof, and for the due performance of the decree or order of the Appellate Court. The Appellate Court may in any such case direct the Court which pronounced the decree to take such security.

Appellate Court to have same powers as Courts of original jurisdiction.

37. Unless when otherwise provided, the Appellate Court shall have the same powers in cases of appeal which are vested in the Courts of original jurisdiction in respect of original suits.

Procedure prescribed by Act VIII of 1859 to be followed in all future miscellaneous cases and proceedings.

38. The procedure prescribed by Act VIII of 1859 shall be followed as far as it can be in all miscellaneous cases and proceedings which after the passing of this Act shall be instituted in any Court.

Extension of Act to Non-Regulation Provinces.

39. When under the provisions of Section 385 of the said Act, the Act is extended to any part of the Territories not subject to the General Regulations of Bengal, Madras, and Bombay, it shall be lawful for the Government to which the territory is subordinate to declare that the Act shall take effect therein subject to any restriction, limitation, or proviso which it may think proper. In such case the restriction, limitation, or proviso shall be inserted in the declaration or notification of such extension. When the Act is extended by the Local Government to any Territory subordinate to such Government, and such extension is made subject to any restriction, limitation, or proviso, the previous sanction of the Governor-General of India in Council shall be requisite.

Sudder Court to make general rules for regulating proceedings, &c.

40. The Sudder Court shall have power to make and issue general rules for regulating the practice and proceedings of that Court and the Courts subordinate to it, and also to frame forms for every proceeding in the said Courts for which it shall think necessary that a form be provided, for keeping all books, entries, and accounts to be kept by the Officers, and for the preparation and submission of any statements to be prepared and submitted by such Courts, and from time to time to alter any such rule or form; provided that such rules and forms be not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act or of any other law in force. Any rules framed under this Section shall be published in the Official Gazette.

Interpretation of "Pleader."

41. The word "Pleader" as used in this Act shall include the words "Counsel" and "Advocate."

42. Act VIII of 1859 shall be called the Code of Civil Procedure.

Sections 16 to 22 of this Act when to take effect.

43. Sections 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, and 22 of this Act shall not take effect until the date on which the Indian Penal Code and the Code of Criminal Procedure shall come into operation.

Construction.

44. This Act shall be read and taken as part of Act VIII of 1859.

M. WYLIE,
Clerk of the Council.

THE 2ND SEPTEMBER 1861.

ACT No. XXIV OF 1861.

An Act to enable the Banks of Bengal, Madras, and Bombay to enter into arrangements with the Government for managing the issue, payment, and exchange of Government Currency Notes and certain business hitherto transacted by the Government Treasuries.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to authorize the Banks of Bengal, Madras, and Bombay to enter into the agreements and arrangements hereinafter mentioned; It is enacted as follows :—

Banks may enter into certain arrangements with Government.

I. It shall be lawful for any of the said Banks, by agreements under their corporate seal, to enter into agreements or arrangements with the Secretary of State for India in Council through the Governor General of India in Council, the Governor of Madras in Council, and the Governor of Bombay in Council respectively, for superintending, managing, and becoming agents, for the issue, payment, and exchange of Promissory Notes of the Government of India payable on demand under Act XIX of 1861 (to provide for a Government Paper Currency) or any Act which may hereafter be passed in relation to the Paper Currency of the Government of India; for the carrying on the business of an Agency of issue under the said Act XIX of 1861 in any circle of issue in which any of the said Banks shall have established a Branch Bank under Act VI of 1839 (relating to the Bank of Bengal) or any other Act; and for transacting any part of the business of, or hitherto generally transacted by or at the General Treasuries of the Governments at the several Presidencies of Fort William, Madras, and Bombay respectively.

Banks may transact the business incident to such arrangements.

II. It shall be lawful for the said Banks of Bengal, Madras, and Bombay, in addition to the modes of business in which they may, now by law be respectively engaged, to transact, in accordance with the provisions of the said agreements or arrangements entered into under Section I of this Act, all or any of the business appertaining to the superintendence, management, or agency for the issuing, payment, or exchange in the first Section mentioned and the business of an Agency of issue under the said Act XIX of 1861 in any such circle of issue as aforesaid, or all or any of the business of, or hitherto generally transacted by, the General Treasuries in that Section mentioned.

M. Wylie,
Clerk of the Council.

The 31st August 1861.

The following Bill, as settled in Committee of the whole Council, was ordered to be published for general information, and to be re-considered after two months:—

A Bill to enlarge the jurisdiction of the Courts of Requests in the Settlement of Prince of Wales' Island, Singapore, and Malacca.

Preamble.

Whereas by the letters patent re-constituting the Court of Judicature of Prince of Wales' Island, Singapore, and Malacca, Her Majesty, among other things, authorized and empowered the Governor or President and Council of the said Settlement for the time being to erect and establish such Court or Courts of Judicature as they should see fit for the recovery of small debts, and for the trial and determination of all suits and causes whatsoever against any of the inhabitants of the said Settlement, wherein the debt, duty, or matter in dispute should not exceed the value of thirty-two Dollars; and whereas under the said authority Courts of Requests have been established at Penang, Province Wellesley, Singapore, and Malacca; and whereas it is expedient that the said Courts and also any other Courts which may hereafter be established under the said authority, should have jurisdiction in all suits wherein the matter in dispute shall not exceed the value of one hundred Dollars, and otherwise to extend the jurisdiction and to regulate the practice of the said Courts; It is enacted as follows:—

Courts of Requests authorized to try suits to an amount or value not exceeding 100 Dollars

I. From and after the passing of this Act, any Court or Courts established or which may be established in the Settlement of Prince of Wales' Island, Singapore, and Malacca, under the said authority, shall have jurisdiction to try and determine all suits brought for the recovery of debts, and all suits and causes whatever against any of the inhabitants of the said Settlement or the places now, or at any time hereafter to be, subordinate or annexed thereto, wherein the debt, duty, or matter in dispute shall not exceed the value of one hundred Dollars.

Appointment, remuneration, and removal of Bailiffs and Appraisers.

II. It shall be lawful for the Commissioners of the Courts of Requests respectively in the several Stations of the Settlement of Prince of Wales' Island, Singapore, and Malacca, to appoint four or more persons to be Bailiffs and Appraisers for the purposes of this Act, and with the sanction of the Governor of the Straits' Settlement to fix such remuneration for the services of the said Officers as shall appear to the said Commissioners expedient, and such persons shall be duly sworn before the said Commissioners, and shall also give security to be approved by the said Commissioners, faithfully to discharge the duties of their Office, and the said Commissioners shall have power to suspend or remove such persons so appointed; provided that it shall be lawful for the said Commissioners respectively to appoint the Bailiffs who may be attached from time to time to the said Courts respectively to the Office of Distraining Bailiffs and Appraisers, for the purposes of this Act, and to award to the said Officers such remuneration, in addition to their respective salaries drawn from the said Court, as to the said Commissioners with the sanction of the Governor of the Straits' Settlement shall appear expedient.

Issue of distress Warrant.

III. It shall be lawful for any Commissioner of a Court of Requests in any such Station, upon the affidavit in the form contained in the Schedule to this Act annexed (marked D) of any party claiming to be entitled to arrears of rent of any House or Premises situate in such Station, not exceeding the amount of one hundred Dollars, or in case of absence of such party from such Station, or in case of respectable females who do not appear in public, upon the affidavit of the constituted Attorney of such party, stating the amount of such arrears, and for what time and at what rate the same became due, to issue a Warrant under his hand and seal, in the form contained in the Schedule to this Act annexed (marked A), addressed to any one of such Officers of such Court, directing him to levy the amount of such rent, together with the costs of the said distress, in the manner therein mentioned; provided that it shall be lawful for any of the said Commissioners, upon personal examination of the party applying for such Warrant, to grant or withhold the same, at the discretion of the said Commissioner.

Seizure of Goods and Chattels.

IV. By virtue of such Warrant it shall be lawful for such Officer to seize the whole or such part of the Goods and Chattels upon the said Premises as shall be sufficient to cover the amount of the said rent, together with the costs of the said distress, and he shall thereupon make an Inventory of the Goods and Chattels so seized, and shall give a notice in writing in the form in the Schedule to this Act annexed (marked B) to the party from whom such rent is claimed to be due, or to any other person upon behalf of such party upon the said Premises, that the said Goods and Chattels will be appraised and sold in manner therein mentioned. And the said Officer shall file in the Court of Requests, from which the Warrant issued, true copies of the said Inventory and Notice; provided that it shall be lawful for the party from whom such rent is claimed to be due, at any time within five days from such seizure, to apply to any Commissioner of such Court to discharge or suspend such Warrant, and it shall be lawful for such Commissioner to discharge or suspend such Warrant accordingly, with or without costs; provided that it shall be lawful for any of the said Commissioners in his discretion to give reasonable time to such party to pay the said rent.

Sale of Goods and Chattels.

V. In default of such application, it shall be lawful for any two of such Officers of such Court, at the expiration of five days from such seizure, to appraise the Goods and Chattels so seized, and to give notice in writing in the form in the Schedule to this Act annexed (marked E) of the sale thereof, at such time and place as they shall direct, after an interval of not less than two days; and they shall file in such Court a true copy of the said notice, and the same shall be sold accordingly, and the said Officers shall forthwith, after realization of the produce of the said sale, pay over the amount thereof to the Chief Clerk of the said Court, or other Head Officer of such Court, and the amount of such produce shall be applied in satisfaction of the sum claimed to be due, together with the costs of the said distress, and the surplus, if any, shall be returned to the party from whom the said rent was claimed to be due; provided that it shall be lawful for such party to direct that such sale shall take place in any other manner, such party giving security for any extra costs attending such mode of sale.

Costs of distress.

VI. No costs shall be taken or demanded for such distress, except those contained in the Schedule to this Act annexed (marked C), and it shall be lawful for the said Commissioners of the Court out of which such distress is issued, with the sanction of the Governor of the Straits' Settlement, to apply the sum so raised as costs towards the payment of the contingent charges and remuneration of the said Bailiffs and Appraisers, as shall appear to the said Commissioners expedient, and the Chief Clerk or other Head Officer of the said Court shall keep a book, in which all sums received as costs upon distresses made under the provisions of this Act, and all sums paid as remuneration to the said Bailiffs and Appraisers, and all contingent charges incurred in respect of such distresses shall be duly entered, and the Chief Clerk or other Officer as aforesaid, of the said Court, shall also enter in the said book all sums realized by sale of the Goods and Chattels distrained and paid over to the landlords, under the provisions of this Act.

No distress for arrears of rent amounting to 100 Dollars, except under this Act.
Penalty.

VII. After the passing of this Act, no distress shall be levied for arrears of rent amounting to one hundred Dollars or less, except under the provisions of this Act, and any person, except such Officer as shall be appointed under this Act, levying or attempting to levy any such distress, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be liable to be punished by fine and imprisonment for the same, in addition to any other liability he may have incurred by such trespass.

Act not to apply to rent due to Government.

VIII. This Act shall not extend to any arrears of rent exceeding one hundred Dollars, nor in respect of any House or Premises situated out of the local jurisdiction of any such Court, nor to any rent due to Government, nor to any seizure, except on the Premises in respect of which such rent is claimed.

Seal of Court.

IX. A Seal shall be made for every Court of Requests in the said Settlement under the direction of the Governor of the said Settlement, and all Summonses or other process issuing out of any such Court shall be sealed or stamped with the Seal of the Court; and every person who shall forge the Seal of any process of any such Court, or who shall serve or enforce any such forged process knowing the same to be forged, or deliver or cause to be delivered to any person any paper falsely purporting to be a copy of any Summons, or other process of such Court, knowing the same to be false, or who shall act, or profess to act under any false color or pretence of the process of the said Court, shall be guilty of felony.

Mode of examining witnesses.

X. Every person who shall give evidence in any Court of Requests in the said Settlement shall be examined on oath, or when exempt by law from taking an oath, on solemn affirmation; and every person, who, in any examination upon oath or solemn affirmation, under this Act, shall wilfully and corruptly give false evidence shall be deemed guilty of perjury.

Summonses to witnesses.

XI. Either of the parties to a suit or any other proceeding in any Court of Requests in the said Settlement may obtain, at the Office of the Clerk of such Court or other Office as aforesaid, Summonses to witnesses, with or without a clause, requiring the production of books, deeds, papers and writings in their possession or control, and in any such Summons any number of names may be inserted.

Penalty for witness not appearing, &c.

XII. Every person, on whom any such Summons shall have been served, either personally or in such other manner as shall be directed by the general rules or practice of the Court of Requests, out of which such Summons shall issue and who shall refuse or neglect, without sufficient cause, to appear or to produce any books, papers, or writings required by such Summons to be produced, and also every person present in any such Court, who shall be required to give evidence, and who shall refuse to be sworn and give evidence, shall forfeit and pay such fine, not exceeding fifty Dollars, as the Commissioners of such Court shall set on him, and the whole or any part of such fine, in the discretion of the Commissioners after deducting the costs, may be applied towards indemnifying the party injured by such refusal or neglect.

Issue of Warrant for arrest of defendant evading process or concealing property.

XIII. The Commissioners of any Court of Requests in the said Settlement, in all suits where the debt or demand exceeds the sum of fifteen Dollars, upon proof before them that any defendant against whom a Summons has been taken out, conceals himself from, or otherwise evades process of such Court, or is disposing of his property and effects, with intent to defraud the plaintiff, or his creditors generally, or is about to withdraw his person or effects from the jurisdiction of such Court, may issue a Warrant for the apprehension of such person, and may commit him to jail, until he shall find security for his appearance in such Court, from time to time, until judgment shall be pronounced in the suit commenced by such Summons, and for payment of the amount and the costs which may be decreed against him therein.

Enforcement of fines.

XIV. Payment of any fine imposed by any Court of Requests under the authority of this Act may be enforced upon the order of the Commissioners of such Court in like manner as payment of any debt adjudged in the said Court, and shall be accounted for as herein provided.

Execution may issue either against person or property of debtor.

XV. Whenever any Court of Requests in the said Settlement shall have made an order for the payment of money, the amount shall be recoverable, in case of default or failure of payment thereof forthwith, or at the time or times and in the manner directed, by execution against the body or the Goods and Chattels of the person against whom such order is made, without further notice or order, and the Clerk of the said Court or other Officer as aforesaid, at the request of the person prosecuting such order, shall issue under the Seal of the Court a Writ of Execution to one of the Bailiffs of such Court, which shall be his Warrant to take the body of such person in execution, or to levy, or cause to be levied by distress and sale of the Goods and Chattels of such person, such sum of money as shall be so ordered, wheresoever they may be found within the district of the Court and also the costs of the execution, and all Constables and other Peace Officers within their several jurisdictions shall aid in the execution of every such Writ.

In case of order to pay by instalments, execution to issue on default of payment, without further notice.

XVI. If any such Court shall have made any order for payment of any sum of money by instalments, execution upon such order shall not issue until after default in payment of some instalment according to such order; and execution or successive executions may then issue without further notice or order for the whole of the said sum of money and costs then remaining unpaid, or for such portion thereof as such Court shall order, either at the time of making the original order, or at any subsequent time, under the Seal of the Court.

Warrants in execution against the body.

XVII. Whenever any Warrant shall issue for taking in execution the body of any person under this Act, the Bailiffs of the Court of Requests out of which such Warrant shall issue, shall be empowered, by virtue thereof, to take and convey him to any prison appointed by the Governor of the Settlement to be the prison of such Court, there to remain for such term as shall be directed by the Warrant, not longer than six calendar months, or until he shall sooner perform the order of such Court.

No person to be twiceimprisoned nor execution against body and goods to issue at the same time under same judgment.

XVIII. No person shall be imprisoned twice under the same judgment, nor shall execution against the body and goods issue at the same time under the same judgment.

Warrants in execution against goods.

XIX. Every Bailiff executing any process of execution issuing out of any such Court against the goods of any person, may, by virtue thereof, sieze and take any of the goods of such person, (excepting the necessary wearing apparel and bedding of such person or his family, and the tools and implements of his trade,) and may also seize and take any money or bank notes, and any cheques, bills of exchange, promissory notes, bonds, specialties, or securities for money belonging to any such person against whom any execution shall have issued as aforesaid.

Penalty for contempts of Court.

XX. If any person shall wilfully insult any Commissioner, Clerk or other Officer of any such Court, for the time being, during his sitting or attendance in Court, or shall wilfully interrupt the proceedings of any such Court, or otherwise misbehave in any such Court, it shall be lawful for any Bailiff or Officer of the Court, with or without the assistance of any other person, by the order of a Commissioner of such Court, to take such offender into custody, and detain him until the rising of such Court; and the Commissioners shall be empowered, if they shall think fit, by a Warrant under their hands, and sealed with the seal of the Court, to commit any such offender to any prison to which they have power to commit offenders under this Act, for any time not exceeding seven days, or to impose upon any such offender a fine not exceeding twenty-five Dollars for every such offence, and in default of payment thereof to commit the offender to any such prison as aforesaid, for any time not exceeding seven days, unless the said fine be sooner paid, or instead of inflicting summary punishment under this Act, may cause the offender to be indicted in the Court of Judicature if the offence be an indictable misdemeanor.

Penalty for assaulting Bailiff, &c., in execution of duty.

XXI. If any Officer or Bailiff of any such Court of Requests shall be assaulted while in the execution of his duty, or if any rescue shall be made or attempted to be made of any person arrested or goods levied under process of any such Court, the person so offending shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty Dollars, to be recovered by order of such Court, or before a Magistrate, and the Bailiff of the Court or any Peace Officer in any such case may take the offender into custody (with or without Warrant) and bring him before such Court or Magistrate accordingly

Penalty for Bailiff neglecting, &c., to execute warrant.

XXII. If any Bailiff of any such Court, who shall be employed to execute any Warrant of any such Court, shall, by neglect, or connivance, or omission, lose an opportunity of executing such Warrant, then, upon complaint of the party aggrieved by reason of such neglect, connivance or omission (and the fact alleged being proved to the satisfaction of the Court), the Commissioners of such Court shall order the Bailiff to pay such damages as it shall appear that the plaintiff has sustained thereby, not exceeding in any case the sum of money for which the said execution is issued, and the Bailiff shall be liable thereto, and upon demand made thereof, and on his refusal so to pay and satisfy the same, payment thereof shall be enforced by such ways and means as are herein provided for enforcing a judgment recovered in the said Court, without prejudice nevertheless to the execution of the original Warrant.

Penalty for misconducton part of Clerk, Bailiff, &c.,

XXIII. If any Clerk, Bailiff, or other Officer of any such Court acting under color or pretence of the process of the said Court shall be charged with extortion or misconduct, or with not duly paying or accounting for any money levied by him under the authority of this Act, the Commissioners of such Court may enquire into such matter in a summary way, and for that purpose may summon and enforce the attendance of all necessary parties in like manner as the attendance of witnesses in any case may be enforced, and may make such order thereupon for the re-payment of any money extorted, or for the due payment of any money so levied as aforesaid, and for the payment of such damages and costs as they shall think just; and also, if they shall think fit, may impose such fine upon the Clerk, Bailiff, or Officer, not exceeding fifty Dollars for each offence, as they shall deem adequate, and in default of payment of any money so ordered to be paid, payment of the same may be enforced by such ways and means as are herein provided for enforcing a judgment recovered in the said Court.

Penalty for Clerk, &c., taking bribe.

XXIV. Every Clerk, Bailiff, or other Officer employed in putting any of the powers of this Act in execution, who shall wilfully and corruptly exact, take, or accept, any fee or reward whatsoever, other than his lawful salary, for any thing done, or to be done by virtue of this Act, or on any account whatsoever, relative to putting this Act into execution, shall upon proof thereof before the Court in which such Clerk, Bailiff, or Officer is employed, and in the case of a Clerk, on confirmation of the finding of the Court by the Governor of the said Settlement, be for ever incapable of serving or being employed under this Act in any office of profit or emolument, and shall also be liable for damages as herein provided.

Provision for cases of erroneous execution of process.

XXV. If any claim shall be made to, or in respect of, any Goods or Chattels taken in execution under the process of any Court of Requests under this Act, or in respect of the proceeds or value thereof, by any person not being the party against whom such process has issued, the Clerk of such Court, or other Officer as aforesaid, upon application of the Officer charged with the execution of such process, as well before as after any action brought against such Officer, may issue a Summons, calling before the said Court, as well the party issuing such process as the party making such claim, and thereupon any action which shall have been brought in the Court of Judicature in respect of such claim, shall be stayed, and the Judge of the Court of Judicature, on proof of the issue of such Summons, and that the Goods and Chattels were so taken in execution, may order the party bringing such action to pay the costs of all proceedings had upon such action, after the issue of such Summons out of such Court of Requests ; and the Commissioners of such Court of Requests shall adjudicate upon such claim, and make such order between the parties in respect thereof, and of the costs of the proceedings, as to them shall seem fit, and such order shall be enforced in like manner as any order made in any suit brought in such Courts.

Limit of damages in actions against Clerk, &c.

XXVI. If any person shall bring any suit in any Court of Judicature in the said Settlement in respect of any grievance committed by the Clerk, Bailiff, or Officer of any Court of Requests within the jurisdiction of such Court of Judicature under color or pretence of the process of the said Court of Requests, and upon the trial of the action no greater damages shall be found for the plaintiff than the sum of two hundred and fifty Dollars, no costs shall be awarded to the plaintiff in such action, unless the Judge shall certify in Court, upon the back of the Record, that the action was fit to be brought in the Court of Judicature.

Form of Conviction.

XXVII. In all cases where any conviction shall be had for any offence committed against this Act the form of conviction may be in the words or to the effect following, (that is to say,) Be it remembered that on this day of in the year A. B. is convicted before a Magistrate for the (or before a Commissioner acting under Act of 1861) of having (state the offence) and I (or we) the said do adjudge the said to forfeit and pay for the same the sum of [or to be committed to for the space of] given under hand ( ) and seal ( ) the day and the year aforesaid.

No order, &c., to be quashed for want of form.

XXVIII. No order, verdict, or judgment, or other proceeding, made concerning the matters aforesaid, shall be quashed or vacated for want of form.

Distress not unlawful on account of defect or informality.

XXIX. Where any distress shall be made for any sum of money to be levied by virtue of this Act, the distress itself shall not be deemed unlawful, nor the party making the same be deemed a trespasser, on account of any defect or want of form in the information, summons, conviction, warrant of distress, or other proceeding relating thereto, nor shall the party distraining be deemed a trespasser from the beginning, on account of any irregularity which shall afterwards be committed by the party so distraining, but the person aggrieved by such irregularity may recover full satisfaction for the special damage in an action upon the case.

Limitation of actions.

XXX. All actions and prosecutions to be commenced against any person for any thing done in pursuance of this Act shall be commenced within three calendar months after the fact committed and not afterwards, and notice in writing of such action, and of the cause thereof, shall be given to the defendant one calendar month at least before the commencement of the action; and no plaintiff shall recover in any such action, if tender of sufficient amends shall have been made before such action is brought, or if after action brought, a sufficient sum of money shall have been paid into Court, with costs by or on behalf of the defendant.

M. WYLIE,

Clerk of the Council.

THE 31ST AUGUST 1861.

THE following Bill was read a second time in the Legislative Council of India on the 31st August 1861, and was referred to a Select Committee who are to report thereon after the 4th of November next:—

A Bill for the Registration of Nijjote and Khamar and other such lands, as well as of Ryottee tenures involving the immediate occupation of the soil for the purposes of cultivation or for other purposes.

Preamble.

WHEREAS in the Lower Provinces of the Bengal Presidency disputes have arisen concerning the possession of Khamar, Nijjote, Ryottee, and other lands, in the immediate occupation of which, for purposes of cultivation, or for other purposes, the several disputants claim to be; and the necessary enquiry into the disputed point of possession, whether made by a Civil Court or by a Magistrate under Act IV of 1840, requires a period of time, so that frequently a sowing season passes by before the possession of the land in dispute can be awarded to either party; and whereas unfounded claims to the possession of such lands are sometimes made vexatiously and acts of forcible and wrongful entry upon such lands are sometimes committed for the purpose of preventing the cultivation by the true possessor; and whereas it is just and expedient to provide a means whereby a person once in the actual, immediate, and uncontested possession of such lands can secure himself therein until ousted by order of a Civil

Court in regular course of law ; It is enacted as follows :—

Register Book to be kept in Collectorates and Sub-Divisions.

I. A Register Book of tenures involving the immediate dominion over, and occupation of, the soil for purposes of cultivation, or for other purposes, shall be kept in every Sub-division for lands within the Sub-division, and in every Collectorate for lands within the District but not comprised within any Sub-division thereof; and such books shall be in the custody of the Sub-divisional Officer having any or all of the powers of a Collector, and of the Collector, respectively. It shall be the duty of the Officer in whose custody the Register Book may be, or of any other Officer of the Revenue Department whom the Collector of the District may depute for the purpose, to make registration entries therein.

Extracts from Register Books to be entered in a book to be kept at every Thannah.

II. A book shall be kept at every Thannah, in the custody of the Police Officer in charge thereof, wherein shall be regularly entered, from time to time, by means of certified extracts from the Collectorate or Sub-divisional Register Books aforesaid, all registrations and mutations of registrations of such tenures as are aforesaid, of lands within the Police jurisdiction of the Thannah.

Particulars of entry in Register Books.

III. The following particulars shall be noted in every entry of a tenure made in the Register Books above mentioned :—

The name of the person in possession ; or in case of more than one person being in joint possession, the names of such persons.

The title under which the possession of the tenure is claimed to be held.

The nature of the tenure and its term, whether perpetual or for a life or lives, or for years or otherwise.

The names of the Village and the Pergunnah within which the tenure is situated.

The extent of the land so possessed, as ascertained by measurement.

As accurate a description as possible of the position and a specification of the boundaries of the land so possessed.

Application for registry.

IV. When any person, being in the actual possession of land in use by him for the purpose of cultivation, or for any other purpose, and claimed by him to be held under a tenure involving the immediate possession of the soil, desires to register his holding under this Act, he may apply by petition on an eight anna Stamp to the Sub-divisional Officer, or to the Collector as aforesaid, in order to have his holding registered. This application must contain a true and correct statement, to the best of the applicant's knowledge, of the particulars required to be entered in the Register Book according to Section III, and it must also contain a statement of the person or persons through or from whom he claims to have derived or obtained the title under which he claims to hold the possession of the land. The Collector or other Officer may call on the applicant to deposit such a reasonable sum as may be sufficient for the expenses of the deputation of any Officer to the spot previous to registry.

Procedure on application.

V. The Registering Officer, on receiving such an application, shall immediately depute a person to identify and measure the land and boundaries described in the application as they may be pointed out by the applicant; and the person deputed shall write a brief report of the result, which report shall be filed with the application. In the report he shall state whether the particulars given in the application are in his opinion correct and sufficient for the future identification of the land. Upon this report the particulars in the application may be amended. The Registering Officer may, if he thinks fit, perform this work of identification and measurement himself.

Issue and publication of notices.

VI. At the same time the Registering Officer shall issue notices stating the particulars of the application. One of such notices shall be affixed in his own Office; one shall be affixed in some conspicuous place in the village wherein the land is situated; one shall be affixed at the Police Thannah within the jurisdiction of which the land lies; one shall be sent to the local Cutcherry of the Zemindar or Talookdar of the village specified, whenever such person may be held to have any lien or interest in the land to be registered; others may be sent to any other persons whom the Registering Officer may seem fit. In this notice, which shall be in the form shown in the Schedule to this Act appended, any person who may deny the fact of actual and immediate possession of the land specified as alleged in the application, shall be required to appear in person, or by accredited Agent, before the Registering Officer within fourteen days from the date of the publication of the notice, or else to forego all right to be heard in opposition to the registration.

Procedure on appearance of any objector.

VII. On the appearance of any objector the Collector or other Officer shall make a summary enquiry into any objections urged that the land in question is not in possession of the applicant, and no opposition to registration shall be heard on any other ground. If the objection is not satisfactorily made out, the Collector or other Officer shall disallow it and proceed to grant the certificate. If the objections shall appear well founded, the applicant shall be referred to the Civil Court, and no further proceedings shall be taken by the Collector or other Officer in order to registration.

Procedure if no objector appears.

VIII. If no person appears to oppose registration within the term allowed in the notice, the Registering Officer shall require the applicant or his Agent, having personal knowledge of the particulars stated in the application, to depose upon oath or solemn affirmation to the truth of the same, as endorsed by the official identification and measurement of the land, and thereupon shall register the holding under this Act.

Fee for registry.

IX. A fee of four annas shall be charged on the making of every registration under this Act.

X. The effect of registration under this Act shall be to establish the person or persons in whose name or names the registration is made, in the right of occupation of the specific land registered, until ousted by order of a competent Civil Court. No suit under Act IV of 1840 shall be admissible regarding any land registered under this Act. It shall be the duty of the Police Officer in charge of the Thanna within the limits of which land registered under this Act lies, summarily to maintain against all attempts at forcible dispossession the person or persons in whose names the said land is registered in the exclusive occupation thereof, referring for his guidance in this respect to the book required by Section II to be kept up in his Thanna, and the Magisterial Officers of the District or Sub-division under whose orders such Police Officers are placed, shall see to the performance of this duty. But no entry in a Register Book under this Act shall remain in force, when the term of the tenure under which possession was claimed to be held, being in its nature temporary, has expired; or when the entry has been cancelled by a subsequent entry in the name of another party.

Effect of registration.

XI. An extract of any uncancelled entry in the District or Sub-divisional Register Book established under this Act, shall be given by the Officer in whose custody such Register Book may be, to any person on applying for the same, on payment of a fee of four annas.

Extracts of entries in Register Books to be given on application, on payment of fee.

XII. Nothing in this Act contained and nothing done under this Act shall affect in any way any person's right or title to any land, or any person's interests in any land. And no registration under this Act shall be held to confer or to alter any right in the land.

Saving of rights in land.

XIII. This Act shall be in force only in the Territories subject to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

Operation of Act.

SCHEDULE.

Form of Notice.

WHEREAS A. B. has applied under Act of 1861 for registration of his possession of certain lands situated in the Village of and the Pergunnah of , notice is hereby given, that any person objecting to the said registration must appear before the Collector [or Officer in charge of the Sub-division] and shall state his objections within fourteen days from this date.

No. 784 of 1861.—The following paragraphs of a Military Letter from the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State for India, No. 302 of the 2nd August 1861, are published for general information:—

1. The Royal Warrant establishing the Staff Corps for India permits Officers now in Staff employment, who may join the Corps on its formation, to count their previous Staff service towards promotion to the extent specified in the 3rd Clause of the Warrant.

2. Many Officers, on joining the Corps, will be entitled to a step of substantive rank under this provision.

3. Unless it be carefully guarded against, Officers entitled, by length of service, to the full pay pension may volunteer for the Staff Corps with the view of obtaining the step of rank, and then immediately retire from the Service.

4. That this is likely to occur is proved by an enquiry recently made by an Officer on Furlough. This Officer, a Regimental Captain, asks whether he can join the Staff Corps, receive the promised step of substantive rank, thus becoming a Major, and then retire from the Service with the Honorary rank of Lieutenant-Colonel.

5. He has been informed that Officers intending to retire from the Service immediately, will not be permitted to join the Corps for the purpose of gaining a step of substantive rank.

6. Previous Staff Service is allowed to reckon for promotion under the Warrant, and the step of rank is conceded for the purpose of inducing experienced Staff Officers to join the Staff Corps, and thus securing the continuance of their services. But it would be quite inconsistent with this object, and would be a gross abuse of the privilege thus conceded, if Officers were permitted to join the Corps with the object of obtaining a step of rank by their transfer to it, and their quitting the Service.

7. This cannot be allowed, and it should be made known that no Officer will be permitted to join the Staff Corps for the purpose of obtaining a step of substantive rank and then retiring immediately.

8. Cases may nevertheless occur, and whenever it shall clearly appear that this has been done intentionally, I desire that each case be reported for my decision, and, under any circumstances, I shall decline to recommend the grant of the step of Honorary rank to which the Officer might otherwise have been eligible.

No. 785 of 1861.—The following promotions in the Regiment of Artillery are made, consequent on the death, in Europe, on the 28th April 1861, of Lieutenant-General Samuel Shaw, subject to Her Majesty's approval :—

No. 60.

Fort William, the 3rd September 1861.

Notification.—The following Account Current of the Receipts and Disbursements of the Calcutta Suburban and Howrah Station Roads' Funds, for the year 1859-60, is published for general information, in accordance with the provisions of Section XXIII of Act XII of 1858.

During the year under notice, the expenditure on the Suburban and Howrah Roads exceeded the income applicable to their maintenance by Rupees 33,140. It became necessary, therefore, to take measures for the adjustment of the excess expenditure; and it is now arranged that the same shall be defrayed partly* from the net proceeds, in 1859-59 and 1859-60, of the Tolls levied at certain Bars on the Imperial Roads in the Suburbs of Calcutta, and partly from the "Amalgamated District Roads' Fund" at the disposal of the Lieutenant-Governor :—

Notification.

Civil Pay-Master's Office.

The attention of Treasury Officers is solicited to the proper mode of filling up the "Monthly Estimate of probable receipts and disbursements," which has been misunderstood in several instances.

The first columns on the debit and credit side are intended to show respectively the amounts of estimated receipts and disbursements for the "current year." The amounts entered should be the amounts sanctioned by Government in the Budget under each head. These columns must consequently remain unaltered throughout the year, unless under special circumstances, and by the authority of Government.

The second columns are intended to exhibit the actual receipts and disbursements of the year up to date, that is to say, the Return for any month should show the total receipts and disbursements under each head, to the close of the preceding month from the commencement of the Official year; thus the Statement for September (due on the 5th of the month) should show all receipts and disbursements in its second columns from 1st May to the 31st August under each head.

The remaining columns exhibit probable receipts and disbursements for the current and two ensuing months.

In cases of estimated remittances, the name of the District to which such remittance is to be made, or from which it is expected, should always be exhibited in the column of "Remarks."

It is requested that the Returns may be prepared with care and forwarded with punctuality. Unnecessary delay on the part of any Officer will immediately be brought to the notice of Government.

CIRCULAR,—No. 16.

From the Auditor General of India,
To all Depy Auditors & Accts. General.

Sir,—In modification of former instructions regarding the preparation of the Budget Estimates, I have the honor to annex extract (paragraph 3*) of letter from the Secretary to the Government of India in the Financial Department, No. 10226, dated 21st ultimo, on the preparation of the Estimate of Cash Requirements for 1862-63, to which I beg to call your particular attention.

2. In accordance with the present orders, the Budget Estimate will be a distinct Return, and will contain only the Revenues and Receipts under the Divisions I. to XV., and the Expenditure under A. to F., of the Budget Forms, without either opening or closing Balances. These Estimates will comprise twelve months' Receipts and Expenditure, embracing the probable transactions from the 1st May 1862 to the 30th April 1863, exclusive of transactions on account of former and future years. The whole of the estimated Receipts and Charges in India, on account of your Government, must be included, whether received or paid within the Presidency or Province, or elsewhere, embracing all stores to be purchased during the year in this country. The value of stores expected to be dispatched from London during the year must be added in a distinct form at the end of the Statement, shewing the amount for each Department (Mint, Stationery, &c.) to which the stores are to be consigned. This charge will be met by a corresponding credit to London in the separate Statement of Cash Requirements, hereinafter mentioned, under XVIII. "Account Current with London."

3. The expenditure on Public Works will be provided for in the Budget of the Public Works Department, and therefore will not be required in your Estimates. Railway Charges borne by Government, and other items of Expenditure under the description of "Public Works," not included in the accounts of the Public Works Department should, however, be provided for in the Civil Budget. The Estimates of the Telegraph and Postal Receipts and Expenditure will be supplied by the respective heads of those Departments for all India.

4. Local Troops having been constituted a substantive portion of the Military Expenditure under Orders of Government of the 26th February last (Calcutta Government Gazette, page 580), will be included in the Estimates of the Military Finance Department and omitted from the Local Estimates. The Military and Indian Navy Estimates, and also the Marine Estimates of the Government of India, will be revised and submitted to Government by the Military Finance Department. The heads C. and D. in the Local Estimates will accordingly be left blank.

5. A separate Budget Estimate for each Province, and also for Political Agencies and all other Treasuries included in the class of "General and Political," under the administration of the Government of India, must be transmitted on the prescribed date to the Secretary to the Government of India in the Financial Department (instead of the Local Government) by the Deputy Auditor and Accountant General, to whom the Accounts of the Province or Treasuries are now rendered for adjustment.

* Para., 3.—"I am also directed to draw your particular attention to the subject of the Cash Requirement Estimates referred to in Report of the Budget and Audit Committee, No. 5, dated 15th October 1860, paras. 54, 55, and 56, which should be as regards classification counterparts of the Budget Estimates. They were not sent in by most of the Deputy Auditors and Accountants General for the year 1861-62, but they will be looked for next year. These documents are of equal importance with the Budget Estimates, and I am instructed to observe should be prepared with the greatest care."

6. The difference between the two sides of the General Abstract for each Presidency or Province will exhibit the probable surplus or deficiency as the result of a comparison of the Revenues and local Charges (minus Public Works) exclusive of the allotment to be subsequently made by the Supreme Government of the Charges in the Imperial Departments, Military, Postal, Telegraph, &c.

7. Your attention is further requested to the Orders of the Supreme Government No. 7391, dated 15th June last, prescribing the dates of preparation of the Departmental and General Estimates. From those Orders you will perceive that your General Estimate above described must reach the Local Governments on the 10th January, and must be followed on the first February following by—

THE ESTIMATE OF CASH REQUIREMENTS.

8. This Return will be a continuous Statement similar to the Annual Receipts and Disbursements with the Actuals* (as far as possible); and Estimates for previous years arranged as in the annexed form, and will embrace the four grand Divisions under which the whole of the Financial operations of the several Governments and Provinces are exhibited in the Financial Returns, viz.,—

First.—"Revenues and Receipts," and "Expenditure," as contained in the Budget Estimates I. to XV. and A. to F. above-mentioned.

Second.—"Public Debt,"—to contain 1*st*, the Receipt and Payment of Interest on Public Loans and other Accounts. 2*nd*, Receipts and Repayments on account of Loans or Bonds—Receipts held as Balance, and Expenditure out of the Debt Balances of every description.

Third.—"Adjusted Receipts and Charges on account of other Governments," and "Provinces."

Fourth.—"Remittances or Supplies to and from other Governments," or "Imperial Departments."

9. The First of these Divisions will exhibit the classification and the figures given in the XYZ Abstracts of your Budget Estimates above-mentioned, but an additional column must be added for the probable payments to be made on account of the Balance of Budget Grants for 1861-62, and former years, as provided for in the annexed form, and the probable Receipts on account of the former and ensuing years must be added.

10. In the Second Division, "Public Debt," you will follow the classification already prescribed for your Financial Statements, the particulars of each head of Receipt and Disbursement being similar to those usually given in your Anticipation Sketch Estimate. The interest to be paid on Local Loans (if any) must be distinguished from the interest on Imperial Loans. Under Local Funds the probable Receipts and Payments during the year must be given, with distinct entries for the Receipts and Expenditure connected with Local Funds on account of Public Works. This division must embrace the usual entries in your Annual Estimates under the denomination of Debt, inclusive of Local Remittances.

11. The Third Division, "Adjusted Receipts and Charges of other Governments and Provinces," will embrace the probable Receipts and Payments during the year that may be susceptible of final adjustment in favor of or against the Government or Province concerned in the Local Books of the Presidency or Province in which the Receipt or Payment occurs. The probable amount payable out of the previous year's Grants should be entered in the column provided for that purpose.

12. The Fourth, "Remittances," will exhibit the probable transactions in Account Current with other Governments or Imperial (not Local) Departments, and which are not susceptible of final adjustment in the Local Books. The distinction between "Arrears" and "Current" does not extend to Remittance transactions.

13. A separate Statement of Cash Requirements must be furnished for each Province to correspond with the separate Budget Etimates prescribed in Clause 5.

14. It may be stated generally that the practice observed in former years in the preparation of the Anticipation Sketch Estimate in respect to Supplies, Debt, &c., will usually indicate the course to be pursued in the preparation of this Statement of Cash Requirements, the chief alteration being in classification. The results required are the same, viz., to exhibit the Financial resources and requirements of the Presidency or Province of every description during the year for which the Statement is prepared, and the probable Cash Balance at the end of the year

15. I have only, in conclusion, to press upon your attention the very great importance attached by the Supreme Government to the submission of these Returns on the prescribed date for which ample provision has now been made, and any default will be visited with extreme severity; and I request that you will at once adopt such measures as may be necessary to ensure the intelligent and ready co-operation of all concerned towards the due attainment of the object in view, furnishing me with a Report in the following Form* of the state of the Returns in your jurisdiction on the 15th December and 5th January next, and entering therein the names of such Officers as have failed to supply their Returns, in order that they may be submitted to the Local and Supreme Governments:—

* Form.

ADVERTISEMENT OF SALE.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the Zemindary right of Government to the several Khas Mehals situated in the District of Midnapore, and mentioned in the Statement hereto annexed, will be put up to Sale, under orders of the Board of Revenue, in the Midnapore Collectorate, on Tuesday, the 1st of October 1861, corresponding with the 17th Assin 1269 Umlee and the 16th Assin 1268 Bengalee.

The purchaser of such Mehals will be subject to the Conditions laid down below :—

CONDITIONS OF SALE.

1*st.*—Estates to be sold to the highest bidders above the upset peace.

2*nd.*—When the amount of purchase money does not exceed Rupees 100, the whole amount to be paid down at once. When the amount of purchase money exceeds Rupees 100, a deposit at Rupees 25 per cent. to be at once made upon the amount bid, the same to be forfeited to Government if the whole amount of purchase money be not paid by noon of the 15th day after the sale, or if the day be a close holiday, then on the first Office day, reckoning the day of sale as one, and the Mehal will be again put up to sale at the risk of the former purchaser.

3*rd.*—The Sale to be subject to existing leases, and to the right conferred by the Settlement proceedings and laws in force, and purchasers to be bound to respect the rights of resident cultivators who have signed the Jummabundee made by the Revenue Authorities.

4*th.*—The Annual Embankment charges of those Mehals which are assessed with such charges will be paid by the purchasers as heretofore paid by Government proportionately with other Zemindars. The existing arrangements for the repairs and maintenance of the Embankments will remain in force.

5*th.*—The amount recorded in the subjoined description of the Mehals under the heading of Sudder Jumma represents the amount for which the new Proprietor will be liable on account of the Government Revenue of each Estate.

6*th.*—The right of Government to all minerals to be reserved.
